A graduated system? Good Idea! with less passengers in a car there will not be as many crashes. limit the hours a person can drive then you won't have kids out till midnight. this will keep kids from getting into trouble.

With less passengers in a car there won't be as many crashes Kids will watch the road Not whats going on in the back seat

With a limited time a person can drive. kids won't be out all night just driving around.

So think if you won't a safe place to drive then this is what you won't. less passengers limited hours to drive this will make the roads a little safer
