Hoenwald native enlists in Tennessee National Guard

HOENWALD, Tenn. – Pfc. Jordan McFall graduated from the Army’s Basic Combat Training and the Automated Logistics Specialist Course at Fort Lee, Virginia, on February 25.

During this technical 12-week course, McFall was trained to oversee incoming supplies and equipment to her unit. She is now qualified to simplify and standardize maintenance data to raise the quality and accuracy of her unit’s inventory. McFall is now assigned to Detachment 1, 777th Maintenance Company in Hoenwald.

“I’ve received some excellent training and I’ve learned a lot about myself,” said McFall. “My leadership has taught me that I can be a leader just like them.”
