Write your final composition here.

I would go back to wherever Hurricane Katrina was, so I could remember to bring some of the stuff with us, or to our neighbors above us since they were pretty much fine. The flood went up to the floor on the 2nd floor.

Essay #3

Score Point: 1

This essay demonstrates fundamental deficiencies in expository writing skills. The writer chooses a specific event in the past to visit and provides reasons for traveling to that place in time. The writer commits relatively few errors in writing conventions (misspelling “stuff” and “neighbors”), but he/she also fails to develop the response.
