We Can Make a Difference

Many Tennesseans realize that protecting our shared natural environment is everyone's responsibility. Our state is blessed with beautiful scenic mountains, native hardwood forests, pristine rivers and streams, unique glades and barrens, each with diverse plant and animal communities. It takes all of us to sustain Tennessee's natural resources for future generations.

The Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation has designed a program to help all citizens do their part for Tennessee's environment. Tennesseans can choose to participate from their home, school, or workplace.

The Tennessee Pollution Prevention Partnership (TP3) is a great way for your household, school, government agency, organization, business, or industry to learn about and practice pollution prevention and natural resource conservation. Most members realize the additional benefit of cost savings.

As a member of TP3, you are part of a growing network of Tennesseans making smart choices to benefit the environment. You can prevent pollution of our air, land, and water by saving energy, reducing waste, and eliminating hazardous chemicals. Your actions, together with others, will improve the quality of life in our homes, workplaces, and communities.

Membership Information

TP3 boasts a diverse membership of households, schools, government agencies, organizations, businesses, and industries. We welcome members who are new to pollution prevention principles, as well as those who already have a well-developed environmental management system. No matter what your interest, there is a TP3 membership level to suit your needs and goals:

Prospect - Show interest and receive more information on pollution prevention and environmental protection by joining TP3.

Pledge - Commit to positive environmental action by pledging to take advantage of simple pollution prevention opportunities.

Partner - Develop a five-project plan addressing air quality, energy use, hazardous chemicals, land and water conservation, and solid waste reduction. Complete one project and submit the success story.

Performer - Complete the four remaining projects, submit success stories, involve the community in pollution prevention activities, and mentor others in the partnership.

Partners and Performers are given public recognition in newspapers, on our web site, and in presentations at conferences and workshops. Partners and Performers are environmental leaders that complete exemplary projects from which others can learn.

Membership Benefits

TP3 members learn specific ways to practice pollution prevention and natural resource conservation. They are part of our statewide network of like-minded households, schools, government agencies, organizations, businesses, and industries. Making contacts and sharing successful project ideas are significant benefits of TP3 membership.

Members receive information on scheduled pollution prevention conferences, seminars, and projects.

Through these opportunities, TP3 members discover new ideas to prevent pollution, save money, and protect Tennessee's natural resources.

Each level attained in the partnership provides the TP3 member with the following material rewards:

- Pledge - Frameable certificate
- Partner - Frameable certificate
TP3 Partner banner
TP3 Partner decal
- Performer - Frameable certificate
TP3 Performer flag
Use of TP3 logo
