

ACM Limitations

Alabama

- Auburn University limits ACM access to undergraduate programs. Only 25 new ACM participants are accepted each year; and students must be at the junior or senior level to participate in the ACM. Auburn selects applicants on a competitive basis. The deadline is March 15. Applicants should first contact the institutional coordinator's office prior to contacting state coordinator.
- The University of Alabama applies the following two new conditions for participating in approved ACM programs (UA limits ACM access to the programs that are currently listed in the ACM inventory.):
  - (1) For first-time ACM certification, an undergraduate student must have at least a 25 ACT composite score or 1130 SAT composite score (math and verbal only) and at least a 3.00 overall high school GPA.
  - (2) For continuing certification after the first semester of ACM support, each UA ACM student must maintain at least a 3.00 overall GPA on all UA course work attempted. This GPA standard is in addition to the long-standing requirements for maintaining residency and major.
- The University of Alabama will not accept new program requests.

Delaware

- The University of Delaware will not accept new program requests.

Florida

- The state of Florida limits ACM access to graduate programs.

Georgia

- The Georgia Institute of Technology will not accept new program requests.
- Georgia State University limits ACM access to graduate programs.
- The University of Georgia grants ACM access once students have completed at least 60 college credit hours and been formally admitted into the ACM degree program. ACM eligibility at UGA is limited to four academic semesters for undergraduate students.

Maryland

- The University of Maryland, Eastern Shore does not participate in the ACM.

Mississippi

- The state of Mississippi limits the eligibility of Mississippi residents participating in the Academic Common Market program to those enrolled in degree programs on a full-time basis. Full-time enrollment status will be based on the host institution's definition of full-time enrollment.
- The University of Mississippi will not accept new program requests.

North Carolina

- The state of North Carolina limits ACM access to residential graduate programs.

Oklahoma

- The University of Oklahoma will not accept new program requests.

South Carolina

- The state of South Carolina limits the eligibility of South Carolina residents participating in the Academic Common Market program to those enrolled in degree programs on a full-time basis. Full-time enrollment status will be based on the host institution's definition of full-time enrollment.
- The Citadel, College of Charleston, Francis Marion University and the University of South Carolina-Beaufort do not participate in the ACM.
- Clemson University limits ACM access to graduate programs.
- Coastal Carolina University will not add the BSBA in Marketing with a specialization in Professional Golf Management to the ACM during Academic Year 2009-10.
- The state of South Carolina does not include “mode of delivery” as a determinant of program eligibility for state residents.

Texas

- The state of Texas limits ACM access to residential graduate programs.
- The University of Texas at Austin does not participate in the ACM.

Virginia

- The College of William and Mary limits ACM access to graduate programs.
- Students studying at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University may enroll in the engineering programs with ACM benefit only after the general courses in engineering have been completed.
- James Madison University, Mary Washington College, University of Virginia and Virginia Commonwealth University do not participate in the ACM.

West Virginia

- Students studying at the West Virginia University Institute of Technology must have completed the associate's degree in Printing Technology before enrolling in the bachelor's degree in Printing Management through the ACM.