SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

Record Group 218 embodies the volumes containing the manuscripts accession numbers for State collection in the Tennessee State Library and Archives, Nashville Tenn. These accession numbers encompass the years 1958 through approximately 1985, and consist of six loose-leaf notebooks.

Manuscript accession numbers are given to manuscript collections in order to identify collections and additions to collections. The TSL&A accession number lists begin with the first collection to be given a manuscript accession number, the Jacob McGavock Dickinson Papers, 1867-1956, (MSS ac. No. 1) processed sometime after the creation of the Manuscripts Division at the State Library and Archives. In 1967, the decision was made to use the year in the accession number, henceforth all accession numbers are listed by the last two digits of the year (i.e. 67) – (ascending number). The accession numbers in this record group end with the year 1985, during which additions to these notebooks was discontinued.

This collection has been microfilmed with the internet of historical preservation.
