PART 16

SELF-ADMINISTRATION OF PRESCRIBED MEDICATIONS AND OTHER TREATMENTS

49-50-1601. Self-administration of pancreatic enzymes.

(a) As used in this section:

(1) "Emergency care plan" (ECP) means a child-specific action plan to facilitate quick and appropriate responses for an individual emergency in the school setting;

(2) "Individualized healthcare plan" (IHP) means a written plan of care developed at the local level to outline the provision of student healthcare services intended to achieve specific student outcomes. The IHP is part of the nursing process that is detailed in the National Association of School Nurses Position Statement: Individualized Healthcare Plans, The Role of the School Nurse (2013);

(3) "Pancreatic insufficiency" means a disorder of the digestive system. Pancreatic insufficiency may include the diagnosis of cystic fibrosis, a chronic disease that affects the lungs and digestive system.

(b) Self-administration in accordance with this section shall permit a student diagnosed with pancreatic insufficiency or cystic fibrosis to self-manage prescribed pancreatic enzyme therapy in the manner directed by the licensed healthcare provider without additional assistance or direction.

(c) An emergency care plan (ECP) may be a component of a student's individualized healthcare plan

(IHP). The ECP shall specify when the emergency number (911) will be called and describe a plan of action when the student is unable to self-administer medication or self-manage treatment as prescribed.

(d)(1) An IHP under this section shall be developed by a registered nurse (RN) in collaboration with the family, student, student's healthcare providers, and school personnel for the management of pancreatic insufficiency or cystic fibrosis while in school, participating in school-sponsored activities, and in transit to or from school or school-sponsored activities.

Acts 2015, ch. 321, § 1.

Compiler's Notes.

Acts 2015, ch. 321, § 1 instructed that this part be enacted as a new chapter to title 49; the language has instead been codified as a new part 16 of title 49, chapter 50 by authority of the Code Commission.

49-50-1602. Assistance in self-administration of medications — Administration of glucagons and anti-seizure medications by volunteers — Possession and self-administration of asthma-reliever inhalers — Diabetes care.

(a) Notwithstanding any law, policy or guideline to the contrary, a local board of education or a governing board for a nonpublic school may permit an employee or a person under contract to the board to assist in self-administration of medications, under the following conditions:

(1)(A) The student must be competent to self-administer nonprescription or prescription medication with assistance;

(B) The student's condition, for which the medication is authorized or prescribed, must be stable;

(C) The self-administration of the medication must be properly documented;

(D) Guidelines, not inconsistent with this section, for the assistance in self-administration of nonprescription or prescription medications by personnel in the school setting, developed by the departments of health and education and approved by the board of nursing, must be followed;

(E) The student's parent or guardian must give permission in writing for school personnel to assist with self-administration of medications. The written permission shall be kept in the student's school records; and

(F) Assistance with self-administration shall primarily include storage and timely distribution of medication;

(2) Health care procedures including administration of medications to students during the school day or at related events shall be performed by appropriately licensed health care professionals in accordance with applicable guidelines of their respective regulatory boards and in conformity with policies and rules of local boards of education or governing boards of nonpublic schools. The student's parent or guardian must give permission in writing for appropriately licensed health care professionals to perform health care procedures and administer medications. The written permission shall be kept in the student's school records;

(3) Any person assisting in self-administration of medication or performing health care procedures, including administration of medications under this section, and any local board of education or governing board for a nonpublic school authorizing the self-administration of medications or the performance of health care procedures shall not be liable in any court of law for injury resulting from the reasonable and prudent assistance in the self-administration of such medication or the reasonable performance of the health care procedures, including administration of medications, if performed pursuant to the policies and guidelines developed by the departments of health and education and approved by applicable regulatory or governing boards or agencies;

(4) The departments of education and health shall jointly compile an annual report of self-administered medications and health care procedures, including administration of medications as provided for in this part, to students served in all public and nonpublic accredited schools in this state. This report shall be provided to the governor and the general assembly by October 31 of each year and shall include recommendations for meeting the needs for comprehensive school health.

(b) In addition to assistance with self-administration of medications provided for in subsection (a), school personnel who volunteer under no duress or pressure and who have been properly trained by a registered nurse employed or contracted by the LEA may administer glucagon in emergency situations and may administer daily insulin to a student based on that student's individual health plan (IHP). However, if a public school nurse is available and on site, the nurse shall provide this service to the student. The public school nurse may train as many school personnel as volunteer and are willing to assist with the care of students with diabetes but should seek to ensure at least two (2) volunteers are available. The nurse shall be under no duress to qualify any volunteer unless such volunteer is trained and deemed by the nurse to be competent. In addition, in order to reduce the number of syringes present in schools, the nurse may encourage the use of an insulin pen, when available and deemed medically appropriate by the student's treating physician. The public school nurse employed or contracted by the LEA shall be responsible for updating and maintaining each IHP. The department of health and the department of education shall jointly amend current Guidelines for Use of Health Care Professionals and Health Procedures in a School Setting to reflect the appropriate procedures for use by registered nurses in training volunteer school personnel to administer glucagon and insulin. The board of nursing shall be afforded the opportunity to review and comment on the guidelines before they take effect and any training begins. The guidelines developed shall be used uniformly by all LEAs that choose to allow volunteer school personnel to administer glucagon and insulin. Training pursuant to subdivision (d)(3) to administer glucagon and insulin shall be repeated annually and competencies shall be documented at least twice a year in the employee's personnel file. The provisions of subdivision (a)(3) regarding protection from liability shall apply also to the volunteers who provide services pursuant to this subsection (b) and the registered nurses who provide their training.

(c) Notwithstanding any provision of this title or any other law or rule to the contrary:

(1) An LEA must permit possession and self-administration of a prescribed, metered dosage asthma-reliever inhaler by any asthmatic student if the student's parent or guardian:

(A) Provides to the school written authorization for student possession and self-administration of the inhaler; and

(B) Provides a written statement from the prescribing health care practitioner that the student suffers from asthma and has been instructed in self-administration of the prescribed, metered dosage asthma-reliever inhaler. The statement must also contain the following information:

(i) The name and purpose of the medication;

(ii) The prescribed dosage;

(iii) The time or times the prescribed inhaler is to be regularly administered, as well as any additional special circumstances under which the inhaler is to be administered; and

(iv) The length of time for which the inhaler is prescribed;

(2) The statements required in subdivision (c)(1) shall be kept on file in the office of the school nurse or school administrator;

(3) The LEA shall inform the student's parent or guardian that the school and its employees and agents shall incur no liability as a result of any injury sustained by the student or any other person from possession or self-administration of the inhaler. The student's parent or guardian shall sign a statement acknowledging that the school shall incur no liability and the parent or guardian shall indemnify and hold harmless the school and its employees against any claims relating to the possession or self-administration of the inhaler. Nothing in this subsection (c) shall be construed to relieve liability of the school or its employees for negligence;

(4) The permission for self-administration of the prescribed, metered dosage asthma-reliever inhaler shall be effective for the school year in which it is granted and must be renewed each following school year upon fulfilling the requirements of subdivisions (c)(1) and (3). The LEA may suspend or revoke the student's possession and self-administration privileges if the student misuses the inhaler or makes the inhaler available for usage by any other person; and

(5) Upon fulfilling the requirements of subdivision (c)(1), an asthmatic student may possess and use the prescribed, metered dose asthma-reliever inhaler when at school, at a school-sponsored activity or before or after normal school activities while on school properties, including school-sponsored child care or after-school programs.

(d)(1) Notwithstanding any law, policy, or guideline to the contrary, a local board of education or a governing board for a nonpublic school may permit school personnel to volunteer to assist with the care of students with diabetes under the following conditions:

(A) The student's parent or guardian and the student's personal health care team must have developed a medical management plan that lists the health services needed by the student at school and is signed by the student's physician, nurse practitioner or physician assistant;

(B) The student's parent or guardian shall have given permission for the school's trained volunteer or school nurse to participate in the care of the student with diabetes. The written permission shall be kept in the student's school records.

(C) Assistance in the care of students with diabetes must be documented in accordance with this subsection (d); and

(D) The department of education and the department of health shall, after considering recommendations from national organizations involved with diabetes care, jointly amend current "Guidelines for Use of Health Care Professionals and Health Care Procedures in a School Setting" to reflect the appropriate procedures for use by the school registered nurse (RN) in training school personnel who volunteer to assist with the care of students with diabetes. The guidelines may not take effect and no training under the guidelines may take place until the board of nursing has been afforded an opportunity to review and comment on the guidelines. The guidelines must be used uniformly by all LEAs that choose to allow school personnel to volunteer to assist with the care of students with diabetes.

(2) The guidelines for assistance with the care of students with diabetes must include the following:

(A) Guidelines for recognition, management and treatment of hypoglycemia and hyperglycemia;

(B) Guidelines for understanding the individual health plan (IHP) for a student with diabetes with regard to blood glucose level target ranges, schedules for meals and snacks and actions to be taken in the case of schedule disruption; and

(C) Guidelines for performing blood glucose monitoring, ketone checking and recording the results and also for performing insulin and glucagon administration.

(3) All school nurses must be educated in diabetes care and must have knowledge of the guidelines. School personnel, who volunteer under no duress to assist with the care of students with diabetes, must receive training pursuant to the guidelines from a school RN. The school RN may use certified diabetes educators and licensed nutritionists to assist with the training. All training must be renewed on an annual basis and competency must be noted in the personnel file. No school personnel shall be required to volunteer for the training. School personnel may not be reprimanded, subject to any adverse employment action or punished in any manner for refusing to volunteer.

(4) If a school nurse is on-site and available to assist, the school nurse must provide any needed diabetes assistance rather than other trained school personnel volunteering to assist the student. In addition, a school RN has primary responsibility for maintaining all student health records.

(5) The following persons shall not be liable in any court of law for injury resulting from reasonable assistance with the care of students with diabetes if performed pursuant to the guidelines developed by the departments of health and education:

(A) Any school RN who provides the training;

(B) Any person who is trained and whose competency is indicated in the person's personnel file as required in subdivision (d)(3); and

(C) Any local board of education or governing board for a nonpublic school that authorizes school personnel to volunteer to assist with the care of students with diabetes.

(6) The activities set forth in this subsection (d) shall not constitute the practice of professional nursing unless performed by an individual licensed by the board of nursing.

(7) Upon written request of the parent or guardian, and if included in the student's medical management plan and in the IHP, a student with diabetes shall be permitted to perform blood glucose checks, administer insulin, treat hypoglycemia and hyperglycemia and otherwise attend to the care and management of the student's diabetes in any area of the school or school grounds and at any school-related activity, and shall be permitted to possess on the student's person at all times all necessary diabetes monitoring and treatment supplies, including sharps. Any sharps involved in diabetes care and management for a student shall be stored in a secure but accessible location, including on the student's person, until use of the sharps is appropriate. Use and disposal of sharps shall be in compliance with the guidelines set forth by the Tennessee occupational safety and health administration (TOSHA).

(8) An LEA shall not assign a student with diabetes to a school other than the school for which the student is zoned or would otherwise regularly attend because the student has diabetes.

(9) School RNs who provide training to volunteers under this subsection (d) shall not be subject to any disciplinary or other adverse licensing action by the board of nursing for injury resulting from assistance with the care of students with diabetes if performed pursuant to the guidelines developed by the departments of health and education.

(e)(1) A student with anaphylaxis is entitled to possess and self-administer prescription anaphylaxis medication while on school property or at a school-related event or activity if:

(A) The prescription anaphylaxis medication has been prescribed for that student as indicated by the prescription label on the medication;

(B) The self-administration is done in compliance with the prescription or written instructions from the student's physician or other licensed health care provider; and

(C) A parent of the student provides to the school:

(i) Written authorization, signed by the parent, for the student to self-administer prescription anaphylaxis medication while on school property or at a school-related event or activity;

(ii) A written statement, signed by the parent, in which the parent releases the school district and its employees and agents from liability for an injury arising from the student's self-administration of prescription anaphylaxis medication while on school property or at a school-related event or activity, except in cases of wanton or willful misconduct; and

(iii) A written statement from the student's physician or other licensed health care provider, signed by the physician or provider, that:

(a) Supports a diagnosis of anaphylaxis;

(b) Identifies any food or other substances to which the student is allergic;

(c) Describes any prior history of anaphylaxis, if appropriate;

(d) Lists any medication prescribed for the child for the treatment of anaphylaxis;

(e) Details emergency treatment procedures in the event of a reaction;

(f) Lists the signs and symptoms of a reaction;

(g) Assesses the student's readiness for self-administration of prescription medication; and

(h) Provides a list of substitute meals that may be offered by school food service personnel.

(2) The physician's statement must be kept on file in the office of the school nurse of the school the student attends or, if there is not a school nurse, in the office of the principal of the school the student attends.

(3) If a student uses the medication in a manner other than prescribed, the student may be subject to disciplinary action under the school codes.

(f)(1) The department of education, in conjunction with the department of health, shall develop and make available guidelines for the management of students with life-threatening food allergies to each LEA. The guidelines shall include, but need not be limited to:

(A) Education and training for school personnel on the management of students with life-threatening food allergies, including training related to the administration of medication with a cartridge injector;

(B) Procedures for responding to life-threatening allergic reactions to food;

(C) Procedures for the maintenance of a file by the school nurse or principal for each student at risk for anaphylaxis;

(D) Development of communication strategies between individual schools and local providers of emergency medical services, including appropriate instructions for emergency medical response;

(E) Development of strategies to reduce the risk of exposure to anaphylactic causative agents in classrooms and common school areas such as the cafeteria;

(F) Procedures for the dissemination of information on life threatening food allergies to school staff, parents and students, if appropriate by law;

(G) Procedures for authorizing school personnel to administer epinephrine when the school nurse is not immediately available;

(H) Procedures for the timely accessibility of epinephrine by school personnel when the nurse is not immediately available;

(I) Development of extracurricular programs related to anaphylaxis, such as nonacademic outings and field trips, before and after school programs and school-sponsored programs held on weekends;

(J) Creation of an individual health care plan tailored to the needs of each individual child at risk for anaphylaxis, including any procedures for the self-administration of medication by the children in instances where the children are capable of self-administering medication and where such self-administration is otherwise in accordance with this title; and

(K) Collection and publication of data for each administration of epinephrine to a student at risk for anaphylaxis.

(2) Each LEA shall implement a plan based on the guidelines developed pursuant to subdivision (f)(1) for the management of students with life-threatening food allergies enrolled in the schools under its jurisdiction.

(3)(A) It is the intent of the general assembly that schools, both public and nonpublic, be prepared to treat allergic reaction in the event a student's personal epinephrine auto-injector is not available or the student is having a reaction for the first time.

(B) Each school in an LEA and each nonpublic school is authorized to maintain at the school in at least two (2) unlocked, secure locations, including, but not limited to, the school office and the school cafeteria, epinephrine auto-injectors so that epinephrine may be administered to any student believed to be having a life-threatening allergic or anaphylactic reaction.

(C) Notwithstanding any provision of title 63 to the contrary, a physician may prescribe epinephrine auto-injectors in the name of an LEA or nonpublic school to be maintained for use in schools when necessary.

(D) When a student does not have an epinephrine auto-injector or a prescription for an epinephrine auto-injector on file, the school nurse or other trained school personnel may utilize the LEA or nonpublic school supply of epinephrine auto-injectors to respond to an anaphylactic reaction, under a standing protocol from a physician licensed to practice medicine in all its branches.

(E) If a student is injured or harmed due to the administration of epinephrine that a physician has prescribed to an LEA or nonpublic school under this subdivision (f)(3), the physician shall not be held responsible for the injury unless the physician issued the prescription or standing protocol with intentional disregard for safety.

(F) Similarly, if a student is injured or harmed due to administration of epinephrine to the student by a school nurse or other trained school personnel under this subdivision (f)(3), the school nurse or school employee shall not be held responsible for the injury unless the school nurse or school employee administered the epinephrine injection with an intentional disregard for safety.

(g)(1) In addition to the assistance with self-administration of medications provided for in subsection (a), public and nonpublic school personnel who volunteer under no duress or pressure and who have been properly trained by a registered nurse employed or contracted by the LEA or governing board for a nonpublic school may administer anti-seizure medications, including diazepam gel, to a student in an emergency situation based on that student's IHP; however, if a school nurse is available, on site, and able to reach the student within the time limit for administration specified in the IHP, then the nurse shall provide this service to the student. All public schools are subject to all requirements in this subsection (g). Nonpublic schools whose governing boards choose to allow volunteer administration of anti-seizure medications are subject to all requirements of this subsection (g) except those in subdivisions (g)(2) and (7).

(2) A nurse employed or contracted by the LEA shall be responsible for updating and maintaining each IHP.

(3) The department of health and the department of education shall jointly amend current guidelines for use of health care professionals and health procedures in a school setting to reflect the appropriate procedures for use by registered nurses in training volunteer school personnel to administer anti-seizure medications, including diazepam gel, to a student in an emergency situation. The board of nursing and the Epilepsy Foundations of Tennessee shall be afforded the opportunity to review and comment on the guidelines before they take effect and any training begins. The guidelines developed shall be used uniformly by all LEAs and the governing boards of nonpublic schools that choose to allow volunteer school personnel to administer anti-seizure medications. In addition, the guidelines shall require at least one (1) school employee to serve as a witness on any occasion a volunteer administers anti-seizure medication during an emergency situation, unless a witness is not available within the time limit for administration specified in the IHP.

(4) Once a public or private school has determined to allow volunteer staff to administer anti-seizure medication in an emergency situation, the training referenced in subdivision (g)(3) shall be conducted as soon as possible, and shall be repeated annually thereafter. In addition, competencies to administer anti-seizure medications shall be documented in the personnel file of all volunteer school personnel. All volunteers trained to administer anti-seizure medications shall also be trained in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR).

(5) Upon the decision of a trained volunteer to administer diazepam gel, school officials shall immediately summon local emergency medical services to the school to provide necessary monitoring or transport to safeguard the health and condition of the student.

(6) Trained volunteer school personnel administering anti-seizure medications under this subsection (g), any registered nurse who provides training to administer such medications and any local board of education or governing board for a nonpublic school authorizing the same shall not be liable in any court of law for injury resulting from the reasonable and prudent assistance in the administration of such medications, if performed pursuant to the policies and guidelines developed by the departments of health and education and approved by applicable regulatory or governing boards or agencies.

(7) An LEA shall not assign a student with epilepsy or other seizure disorder to a school other than the school for which the student is zoned or would otherwise regularly attend because the student has a seizure disorder.

(8) Prior to administration of an anti-seizure medication to a student by volunteer school personnel or a school nurse in an emergency situation, the student's parent or guardian shall provide:

(A) The school with a written authorization to administer the medication at school;

(B) A written statement from the student's health care practitioner, which statement shall contain the student's name, the name and purpose of the medication, the prescribed dosage, the route of administration, the frequency that the medication may be administered, and the circumstances under which the medication may be administered; and

(C) Prior to its date of expiration, the prescribed medication to the school in its unopened, sealed package with the intact label affixed by the dispensing pharmacy.

(9) The written authorization required by subdivision (g)(8)(A) shall be kept on file in the office of the school nurse or school administrator. Unless subsequently rescinded in writing, the authorization shall be effective for the entirety of the school year in which it is granted.

(10) The school nurse or school administrator shall check monthly the expiration date for each anti-seizure medication in possession of the school. At least one (1) month prior to the expiration date of each medication, the school nurse or administrator shall inform the student's parent or guardian of the expiration date.

(11) A student's parent or guardian who has given the student's school written authorization to administer anti-seizure medication shall, in accordance with the student's IHP, notify the school administrator or school nurse if anti-seizure medication or prescription or over-the-counter medicines are administered to the student at a time at which the student is not present at school. The student's IHP shall set forth with specificity the requirements of reporting administration of medication and for the dissemination of such information to volunteer school personnel trained to administer anti-seizure medication. (a) When a person, younger than eighteen (18) years of age, but thirteen (13) years of age or older, commits any offense or engages in any prohibited conduct described in this subsection (a), then at the time the person is convicted of the offense, or adjudicated a delinquent child, unruly child or status offender, the court in which the conviction or adjudication occurs shall prepare and send to the department of safety, driver control division, within five (5) working days of the conviction or adjudication, an order of denial of driving privileges for the offender. This section applies to any criminal offense, status offense, violation, infraction or other prohibited conduct involving the possession, use, sale, or consumption of any alcoholic beverage, wine or beer, or any controlled substance as defined and enumerated in title 39, chapter 17, part 4, or involving the possession or carrying of a weapon on school property, as defined and enumerated in § 39-17-1309(b) or (c). The department shall promulgate a form "order of denial" for use by the courts.

(b) If a court has issued an order of denial of driving privileges pursuant to this section, the court, upon motion of the offender, may review the order and may withdraw the order at any time the court deems appropriate, except as provided in the following:

- (1) A court may not withdraw an order for a period of ninety (90) days after the issuance of the order if it is the first order issued by any court with respect to the petitioning person;

A custodial parent or legal guardian must appear in court with the offender if the offender is an unemancipated juvenile at the time the motion is made. The motion shall state whether any prior orders of denial have been issued by any court and shall include as exhibits any prior orders of denial so issued.

the court is vested with the authority and discretion to issue an order for a restricted motor vehicle operator's license subject to the conditions and requirements of subdivision (a)(3).

This restricted license shall not be granted for travel to and from social events or extracurricular school activities. The offender may obtain a certified copy of the order and within ten (10) days after it is issued present it, together with an application fee of twenty dollars ($20.00), to the department of safety which shall forthwith issue a restricted license embodying the limitations imposed; provided, that the person must first reach proper age and comply with all testing requirements. After proper application and until the restricted license is issued, a certified copy of the order of judgment of the court may serve as the motor vehicle operator's license.

(4) For a motion under this section to be properly before a court for consideration, the local district attorney general must have received at least ten (10) days' prior notice of the motion, together with the time and place it will be considered. The motion must be joined in by a custodial parent or legal guardian of the offender, if the offender is an unemancipated juvenile at the time the motion is made. (b) Any restricted license issued under this section shall be subject to renewal in the same manner as other licenses.

(c) In the prosecution of second or subsequent offenders, the indictment, petition, or charging instrument must allege any prior orders of denial imposed for the violation of any provisions of this part, setting forth the time and place of each order.

(d) If a court orders the issuance of a restricted license to any person pursuant to this section, and the

(2) Except for any statutorily required reporting to health or government authorities and except for access by an interested third-party payer or their designee for the purpose of utilization review, case management, peer reviews or other administrative functions, the name and address and other identifying information of a patient shall not be divulged. The name and address and other identifying information shall not be sold for any purpose. Any violation of this subdivision (b)(2) shall be an invasion of the patient's right to privacy.

PART 1

GENERAL PROVISIONS

68-1-125. Funds for in-home visitation programs — Emphasis on evidence-based programs — Report on findings.

(a) As used in this section, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) “Evidence-based” means a program or practice that meets the following requirements:

(A) The program or practice is governed by a program manual or protocol that specifies the nature, quality, and amount of service that constitutes the program; and

(B) Scientific research using methods that meet high scientific standards, evaluated using either randomized controlled research designs, or quasi-experimental research designs with equivalent comparison groups. The effects of such programs must have demonstrated using two (2) or more separate client samples that the program improves client outcomes central to the purpose of the program;

(2) “In-home visitation” means a service delivery strategy that is carried out in the homes of families of children from conception to school age that provides culturally sensitive face-to-face visits by nurses, other professionals, or trained and supervised lay workers to promote positive parenting practices, enhance the socioemotional and cognitive development of children, improve the health of the family, and empower families to be self-sufficient. “In-home visitation” does not include any medicaid funded disease management or case management services or programs which may include home visits;

(3) “Pilot program” means a temporary research-based or theory-based program or project that is eligible for funding from any source to determine whether or not evidence supports its continuation beyond the fixed evaluation period. A pilot program must provide for and include:

(A) Development of a program manual or protocol that specifies the nature, quality, and amount of service that constitutes the program; and

(B) Scientific research using methods that meet high scientific standards for evaluating the effects of such programs must demonstrate on at least an annual basis whether or not the program improves client outcomes central to the purpose of the program;

(4) “Research-based” means a program or practice that has some research demonstrating effectiveness, but that does not yet meet the standard of evidence-based; and

(5) “Theory-based” means a program or practice that has general support among treatment providers and experts, based on experience or professional literature, may have anecdotal or case-study support, and has potential for becoming a research-based program or practice.

(b)(1) With the long-term emphasis on procuring services whose methods have been measured, tested, and demonstrated to improve client outcomes, the department of health, and any other state agency that administers funds related to in-home visitation programs shall ensure that fifty percent (50%) of state-appropriated funds expended for in-home visitation services are used for evidence-based models during fiscal year 2012-2013 and that seventy-five percent (75%) of such funds are used for evidence-based programs during fiscal year 2013-2014 and each subsequent fiscal year thereafter.

(2) With the goal of identifying and expanding the number and type of available evidence-based programs, the department shall continue the ongoing research and evaluation of sound, theory-based and research-based programs and to that end the department may engage in and fund pilot programs as defined in this section.

(c) The department shall include in any contract with a provider of services related to in-home visitation programs a provision requiring that the provider shall set forth a means to measure the outcome of the services. The measures must include, but not be limited to, the number of people served, the type of services provided, and the estimated rate of success of the population served.

(d) The department of health, in conjunction with a representative of the Tennessee commission on children and youth, and with ongoing consultation of appropriate experts and representatives of relevant providers who are appointed by the commissioner of health to provide such consultation, shall determine which of its current programs are evidence-based, research-based and theory-based, and shall provide a report of those findings, including an explanation of the support of those findings, to the governor, the health and welfare committee of the senate, the civil justice committee of the house of representatives and the judiciary committee of the senate by no later than January 1 of each year. The department of health shall also provide in its report the measurements of the individual programs, as set forth in subsection (c).

(d) The birthing institution or other entity receiving the voluntary acknowledgment of paternity shall forward the original, signed acknowledgment of paternity to the office of vital records, and shall send a copy of the signed and notarized acknowledgment of paternity to the Title IV-D child support agency where the mother resides, if the mother or child is receiving temporary assistance pursuant to title 71, chapter 3, part 1; medicaid; TennCare; or any successor programs. 68-3-305. Father's name on birth certificate — Surname of child.

(a)(1) If the mother was married at the time of either conception or birth, or anytime between conception and birth, to the natural father of the child, the name of the natural father shall be entered on the certificate and the surname of the child shall be entered on the certificate as one of the following:

(A) The surname of the natural father; or

(B) The surname of the natural father in combination with either the mother's surname or the mother's maiden surname.

(2) If the surname of the child includes the mother's surname, mother's maiden surname, or any combination of those two (2) surnames but does not include the surname of the natural father, it may be so entered, but only upon the concurrent submission of a sworn application to that effect signed by both parents who mutually agree to that surname or combination of surnames.

(3) If a surname is not chosen by the parents within the ten (10) days required for filing of the birth certificate, the father's surname shall be entered on the birth certificate as the surname of the child. Within this ten-day period, the father may file and submit a sworn statement to the hospital that states that the parents do not agree on a surname, in which case the father's surname shall be entered on the birth certificate as the surname of the child.

(4) If, within the first year after the child's date of birth, both the mother and the father sign and submit a sworn statement to the office of vital records that both parents wish to change the child's surname, then the office of vital records shall amend the child's birth certificate in accordance with the parents' request to change the child's surname, if the chosen surname is either:

(A) The surname of the natural father;

(B) The surname of the mother;

(C) The mother's maiden surname; or

(D) Any combination of the surnames listed in subdivisions (a)(4)(A)-(C).

(5) If, within the first year after the child's date of birth, the parents cannot mutually agree on a surname, either one can submit a signed, sworn statement that acknowledges the disagreement, states the father was not available within the time allowed by law for filing of the birth certificate to participate in the choice of his child's surname, and requesting that the name be changed to the father's surname, in which case the father's surname shall be entered on the amended birth certificate as the surname of the child.

(b)(1) If the mother was not married at the time of either conception or birth or between conception and birth, the name of the father shall not be entered on the certificate of birth and all information pertaining to the father shall be omitted, and the surname of the child shall be that of either:

(A) The surname of the mother;

(B) The mother's maiden surname; or

(C) Any combination of the surnames listed in subdivisions (b)(1)(A) and (B).

(2)(A) If an original, sworn acknowledgment signed by both the mother and the biological father of a child, on a form provided by the state registrar or the department of human services, is submitted to the office of vital records at any time prior to the child's nineteenth birthday, the legal surname of the father may be entered on the certificate as that of the child, and the father's name and other personal information may be entered in the spaces provided on the birth certificate, notwithstanding the absence of a marriage relationship between the parents of the child.

(B) The acknowledgment form shall be in the form of an affidavit, shall contain the social security numbers of the mother and father of the child and shall be approved by the state registrar and the department of human services. The state registrar and the department of human services shall modify the form to comply with the minimum regulations for the form, which are finalized by the secretary of health and human services. An acknowledgment executed in conformity with this section shall be valid as long as it is executed on a form approved by the state registrar and the department of human services. A voluntary acknowledgment of paternity may be completed by a minor, if a parent or legal guardian of the minor is present and consents at the time of completion of the acknowledgment.

(C) A legitimation by subsequent marriage of the individuals shown on the certificate of birth as the father and mother shall not require a new certificate of birth; and §§ 68-3-310(3), 68-3-311, and 68-3-313 shall not apply.

(3) Upon request of the department of human services or any of its contractors in the child support program established under Title IV-D of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. § 651 et seq.), the office of vital records shall provide to them a certified copy of the acknowledgment of paternity form executed under this part.

(c) In any case in which paternity of a child is determined by a court of competent jurisdiction, the name of the father and surname of the child shall be entered on the certificate of birth in accordance with the finding and order of the court.

(d) In all other cases, the surname of the child shall be either:

- (1) The surname of the mother;

(2) Induced abortion shall not be regarded as treatment; therefore, procedures or services designed to search out disorders in unborn children that are not treatable shall not be provided for under parts 4 and 5 of this chapter, it being the finding of the general assembly that the use of this program to abort unborn children is against the public policy of the state of Tennessee.

(b) The department shall:

(1) Develop and administer statewide genetic and metabolic screening programs to prevent, detect and assure follow-up for birth defects and genetic disorders. The screening programs shall include testing for phenylketonuria and hypothyroidism as provided by part 4 of this chapter, testing for sickle cell disease and other hemoglobinopathies and other testing programs as the department shall deem appropriate for the preventive treatment of intellectual disability or physical dysfunction, as publicly noted through rules and regulations duly promulgated in accordance with the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act, compiled in title 4, chapter 5;

68-5-505. Interstate agreements.

The commissioner shall have the authority to formalize agreements with agencies in other states to provide services as may be needed.

History.

68-5-506. Creation of birth defects registry — Advisory committee — Confidentiality — Penalty for unauthorized disclosure of confidential information.

(a) The general assembly finds and declares that birth defects represent problems of public health importance about which too little is known; that these conditions impose enormous physical, emotional, social, educational and financial burdens on individuals, families, communities and the state; and that a system to obtain more information about these conditions could result in development of preventive measures to decrease their incidence in the future. Therefore, it is the intent of the general assembly in enacting this section to accomplish all of the following:

(1) To maintain an ongoing program of birth defects monitoring statewide. "Birth defect" as used in this section means any structural or biochemical abnormality, regardless of cause, diagnosed at any time before or after birth, that requires medical or surgical intervention or that interferes with normal growth or development;

(2) To provide, on at least an annual basis, information on the incidence, prevalence and trends of birth defects;

(3) To provide information to determine whether environmental hazards are associated with birth defects;

(4) To provide information as to other possible causes of birth defects;

(5) To evaluate the current prevention initiatives undertaken by the state, and to give guidance for improvement of these initiatives or for the addition of new prevention strategies; and

(6) To provide a case referral element whereby the families of children born with birth defects are provided information on public services available to them and their children.

(b)(1) There is established a birth defects registry in the department of health.

(2) The commissioner of health shall establish an advisory committee to guide the department in establishing and maintaining the registry. The committee shall include members representing the disciplines of obstetrics and gynecology, pediatrics, genetics, epidemiology, biostatistics, hospital administration, state agency service providers, parents of children with birth defects, members of interested nonprofit organizations and members of the general public. The advisory committee shall annually evaluate the adequacy of the registry and report their findings annually to the appropriate standing committees of the general assembly.

(3) The department shall maintain a system for the collection of information necessary to accomplish the outlined purposes of this section. For purposes related to the registry, the department shall have access to any medical record that pertains to a diagnosed or suspected birth defect, including the records of the mother. Providers acting pursuant to this section shall not be liable for the release of medical records as authorized by this section. The department shall develop and disseminate information about the birth defects registry to the participating perinatal centers that will be made available to the family, that explains and describes the purpose and process of the registry and how confidentiality will be protected. The information shall be made available in pamphlet format that meets the requirements imposed by § 68-5-508. The commissioner, with guidance from the advisory committee, shall promulgate by rule a mechanism for the active verification of reports through the use of multiple sources.

(4) The registry shall collect information on birth defects, whether they occur as live births, stillbirths, or fetal deaths.

(5) The registry shall collect information on birth defects diagnosed in children up to five (5) years of age.

(6) The registry shall be implemented as a pilot project to include reporting by any of the five (5) designated perinatal centers choosing to be included in the pilot project. Perinatal centers participating in the pilot project shall report to the birth defects registry as required by the commissioner.

(c) The department, with guidance from the advisory committee, shall establish a program in the registry for referring families of children born with birth defects or the mothers of children lost to birth defects to available appropriate state resources. In order for a family of a child with a birth defect to participate in the referral program established by this subsection (c), the child's parents or legal guardian must contact the department and request to be included in the program.

(d) The staff of the registry shall use the information collected pursuant to this section and information available from other reporting systems and health providers to conduct studies to investigate the causes of birth defects, and to determine and evaluate measures designed to prevent their occurrence. The department's investigation shall not be limited to geographic, temporal, or occupational associations, but may include investigation of past exposures.

(e)(1) All information collected and analyzed pursuant to this section shall be confidential insofar as the identity of the individual patient is concerned and shall be used solely for the purposes provided in this section; provided, that the commissioner may provide access to those scientists approved by the advisory committee who are engaged in demographic, epidemiological or other similar studies related to health, and who agree, in writing as nonstate employees, to be identified and coded while maintaining confidentiality as described in this section and to the centers for disease control (CDC) for inclusion in the National Birth Defects Registry.

(2) The department shall maintain an accurate record of all persons who are given access to the information in the registry. The record shall include:

- (A) The name of the persons authorizing access;
- (B) The name, title, and organizational affiliation of persons given access;
- (C) The dates of access;
- (D) The specific purpose for which the information is to be used; and
- (E) The results of the independent research.

(3) Nothing in this section shall prohibit the publishing of statistical compilations relating to birth defects or poor reproductive outcomes that do not in any way identify individual sources of information.

(4)(A) Any individual who willfully discloses information made confidential by this section, unless permitted to do so by subdivisions (e)(1) and (3), commits a Class A misdemeanor.

(B) Any individual who negligently discloses information made confidential by this section, unless permitted to do so by subdivisions (e)(1) and (3), commits a Class B misdemeanor.

The blood sample shall be sent to a laboratory approved by the department for testing for syphilis infection, rubella immunity, and hepatitis B surface antigen (HBsAg). In the same manner, a sample of blood shall be taken during or after the twenty-eighth week of gestation for a woman whom the attending physician determines to be at high risk of hepatitis B or syphilis according to the current standards of care. This second sample shall be sent to a laboratory approved by the department for testing for syphilis infection and HBsAg only. Additional testing for rubella immunity is not required in subsequent pregnancies once a positive result is verified or a documented history of vaccination against rubella is available. However, all pregnant women shall be tested for syphilis and hepatitis B during an early prenatal visit in each pregnancy. A positive test for syphilis and hepatitis B shall be reported to the local health department in accordance with this chapter, and regulations governing the control of communicable diseases in Tennessee.

(b) Every person attending a pregnant woman who is not permitted by law to take blood samples shall cause a sample of blood to be taken by a health provider permitted by law to take the samples at the time of first examination and visit or within ten (10) days after the first examination. 68-143-101. Legislative findings and declarations.

The general assembly finds and declares all of the following:

(1) Shaken baby syndrome is a medically serious, sometimes fatal, matter affecting newborns and very young children. Shaking an infant or child in anger is particularly dangerous;

(2) Vigorous shaking of an infant or child can result in bleeding inside the head, causing irreversible brain damage, blindness, cerebral palsy, hearing loss, spinal cord injury, seizures, learning disabilities, and even death;

(3) While doctors have long recognized that shaking an infant or child can cause injuries, many adults remain unaware of how dangerous this practice can be;

(4) Studies have shown that exposure to materials about the dangers of shaking a baby improved understanding of the effects of shaking an infant or child;

(5) Shaken baby syndrome is preventable. Knowledge about shaken baby syndrome can be significantly raised through education and public awareness campaigns; and

(6) It is the intent of the general assembly to encourage public and private collaboration in developing instructional materials regarding shaken baby syndrome, and to encourage that these materials be supplied to health facilities, nurse midwives, and providers of child care free of charge.

71-3-104. Eligibility for temporary assistance.

(a)(1) A family shall be eligible for temporary assistance pursuant to this part if:

(A) A dependent child resides in this state with a caretaker relative in that family, or an individual who applies for temporary assistance is pregnant, or as otherwise defined by the department;

(B) The family meets income standards based upon the standard of need for a family based upon its size and income and based upon resource limits as determined by the department in its rules;

(C) The family members are engaged in work activities as set forth in subsection (g), except as exempted by this part or by rule of the department;

(D) The caretaker relative has agreed to and complies with a personal responsibility plan as developed by the department in accordance with subsection (h); and

(E) The family or individual of the family is otherwise eligible pursuant to federal or state laws or regulations.

(2)(A) To the extent permitted by federal law and guidance, the department shall create a two-year pilot program establishing an optional alternative temporary assistance pathway offering enhanced educational support services or enhanced cash assistance for families with individuals who are actively pursuing a degree, professional certification, or other educational advancement.

(B) In addition to requirements established by the department by rule pursuant to this subdivision (a)(2), the eligibility requirements of subdivision (a)(1) and this part apply to families or individuals seeking assistance under this subdivision (a)(2).

(C) A family may elect that all enhanced temporary assistance for which the family qualifies under this subdivision (a)(2) be provided as enhanced support services, rather than enhanced cash assistance.

(D) Notwithstanding § 71-3-105(f)(2), the department shall establish by rule the maximum enhanced grant amounts for families participating in the alternative temporary assistance pathway under this subdivision (a)(2), which must not exceed an amount one hundred percent (100%) greater than the maximum grant amounts authorized under § 71-3-105(f)(2).

(E) The annual cost of the pilot program authorized under this subdivision (a)(2) must not exceed the amount of the state's annual federal temporary assistance for needy families block grant award.

(F) The pilot program established under this subdivision (a)(2) terminates two (2) years from the effective date of the first rule promulgated pursuant to this subdivision (a)(2) regarding the program.

(b)(1) A caretaker relative who becomes ineligible for any reason other than a failure to comply with work requirements or to cooperate with child support obligations shall be eligible for transitional childcare assistance for a period specified by the department while the caretaker relative is employed, in school, or in employment training. Childcare assistance terminated due to failure to comply with work requirements shall be reinstated upon verification by the department that the work requirements were, in fact, being met immediately preceding such ineligibility. Childcare assistance shall be paid, on a sliding fee scale based upon the family's income for so long as federal funding or any related waiver is in effect.

(2) Food stamp assistance shall continue to be available to these families as prescribed by federal or state law or regulations.

(3)(A) A family that becomes financially ineligible for temporary assistance due to an increase in a caretaker relative's earned income, but continues to meet all other eligibility criteria, including compliance with the program's work requirements, shall be eligible for transitional temporary assistance for no more than six (6) months.

(B) The amount of the transitional temporary assistance shall be based upon the family's income and household size.

(C) Receipt of transitional temporary assistance shall count toward the recipient's maximum time limit under subsection (d).

(D) The department is authorized to promulgate rules to effectuate this subdivision (b)(3) in accordance with the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act, compiled in title 4, chapter 5.

(c) Persons who are recipients of temporary assistance and who marry while receiving such assistance may disregard the new spouse in determining eligibility for three (3) months after the date of marriage.

(d)(1) Except as provided in this part or as otherwise required by federal law, no family shall receive assistance if that family includes an adult who has received temporary assistance from this program or the program of any other state or territory for a total of sixty (60) months, whether or not consecutive, unless an exemption is granted pursuant to this part.

(2) As to a child who was not the head of a household or who was not married to the head of a household, the sixty (60) month time limit stated in subdivision (d)(1) shall not begin to run during the time that the child was a member of a family receiving assistance under this part.

(3) A family shall be eligible for temporary assistance beyond the sixty-month time limit stated in subdivision (d)(1) if:

(A) The family does not contain an adult;

(B) The caretaker relative is sixty-five (65) years of age or older;

(C) The caretaker relative is caring for a disabled or incapacitated child relative or disabled adult relative, based upon criteria set forth in the department's rules;

(D) The caretaker relative is disabled, based upon criteria set forth in the department's rules; or

(E) As otherwise required by federal and state laws or regulations.

(4) The exemptions in subdivision (d)(3) are subject to the limitations for the percentages of individuals allowed to receive temporary assistance beyond sixty (60) months.

(e)(1) No payment of assistance shall be made for an individual who is not the head of a household, who has not reached eighteen (18) years of age, who has a child who is at least sixteen (16) weeks of age in the person's care, and who has not successfully completed a high school education or its equivalent, unless the individual participates in educational activities directed toward the attainment of a high school diploma or its equivalent.

(2) No payment of assistance shall be made to an individual who is head of a household, who has not reached twenty (20) years of age, who has a child who is at least sixteen (16) weeks of age in the person's care, and who has not successfully completed a high school education or its equivalent unless the individual participates in:

(A) Educational activities directed toward the attainment of a high school diploma or its equivalent; or

(B) Thirty (30) hours of countable work activities as delineated in subsection (g).

(f)(1) Except as provided in subdivision (f)(2), if a person applying for assistance under this chapter is under eighteen (18) years of age, has never married, and is either pregnant or has the applicant's child in the applicant's care, the applicant is not eligible for assistance if:

(A) The applicant and the applicant's child or children do not live in a place maintained by the applicant's parent, legal guardian, or other adult relative as such person's own home or other suitable living arrangement as otherwise defined by rule of the department; and

(B) The department determines after investigation that the physical or emotional health or safety of the person applying for assistance or the dependent child or children would not be jeopardized if the applicant and the dependent child or children were required to live in one of the situations described in subdivision (f)(1)(A).

(2) Subdivision (f)(1) does not apply if:

(A) The person applying for assistance has no parent, legal guardian or other adult relative whose whereabouts are known;

(B) No parent, legal guardian or other adult relative of the person applying for assistance allows the person to live in the home of that parent, legal guardian or other adult relative as determined by the department's verification; or

(C) The department otherwise determines that there is good cause not to apply subdivision (f)(1).

(g) All family members who are not otherwise exempt pursuant to rules of the department and who receive temporary assistance pursuant to this part shall engage in work, training or educational activities. The department shall define the types of activities by rule. These activities may include, but shall not be limited to, the following:

- (1) Employment;
- (2) Work experience activities;
- (3) On-the-job training;
- (4) Job search and job readiness assistance;
- (5) Community service programs;

- (7) Job skills and educational training related directly to employment;

(8) Education directly related to employment, in the case of a recipient who has not received a high school diploma or a certificate of high school equivalency; and

(9) Satisfactory attendance at a secondary school, in the case of a recipient who:

- (A) Has not completed secondary school; and
- (B) Is a dependent child or a head of a household who is nineteen (19) years of age or younger.

(h)(1) As a condition of eligibility, an applicant for or a recipient of temporary assistance must agree to a personal responsibility plan developed by the department in direct consultation with the applicant or recipient. For all applicants or recipients who are not exempt from the work requirements established by this part, an individualized career plan shall be developed establishing goal-oriented work activities designed to provide the applicant or recipient with an opportunity to move toward self-sufficiency. Supportive services determined essential to successful engagement in the work activities shall be provided. At least once each twelve (12) months throughout the period of continuous temporary assistance provided pursuant to this part, the department shall monitor and evaluate the personal responsibility plan to promote the recipient's success in gaining self-sufficiency.

(2)(A) The personal responsibility plan shall require participation in personal responsibility activities as set forth in subsection (g). The department may provide either a parent education training class for parents or caretakers of children in pre-kindergarten through third grade (pre-K-3) or a program of volunteer service in school in which a parent or caretaker relative who is a recipient of temporary assistance under this part may agree to participate.

(B) The personal responsibility plan shall also require the parent or other caretaker relative, regardless of age or disabling status, to enter a plan that requires, but is not limited to, the following:

- (i) The children in the family attend school;
- (ii) The children in the family receive immunizations and health checks; and
- (iii) The parent or caretaker relative cooperate in the establishment and enforcement of child support, including, but not limited to, the naming of the father of a child for purposes of paternity establishment, unless good cause not to cooperate exists, as defined by the department.

(C) The personal responsibility plan shall include requirements, if the need is identified relative to the child, that:

(i) The parent or a suitable adult or guardian shall attend two (2) or more conferences within a year with the child's teacher to review the child's status in school;

(ii) Attend at least eight (8) hours of parenting classes; or

(iii) The parent shall participate in such support services that the child may need as determined by the department to overcome any school, family, or other barriers that may interfere with the child's and the family's ability to be successful.

(D)(i) Unless exempt, refusal or failure to engage in full-time employment, part-time employment or other training or other work preparation activities as set forth in subsection (g), without good cause, or the failure to cooperate in the establishment or enforcement of child support without good cause, shall result in denial of eligibility for, or termination of, temporary assistance for the entire family unit.

(ii) Failure to comply with the personal responsibility plan as required under subdivisions (h)(2)(B)(i) and (ii), without good cause, shall result in a percentage reduction with regard to the temporary assistance payment in the amount of twenty percent (20%) until such time as compliance occurs.

(E) The personal responsibility plan may provide transportation assistance, if needed to participate in required activities; provided, that the department shall first utilize available community transportation resources before providing such assistance from department funds. The department shall provide childcare services for those individuals who are receiving benefits, participating in work activities delineated in subsection (g), and not exempt from work activities pursuant to this part.

(3) The work requirements shall be excused for:

(A) A parent or caretaker relative who proves to the satisfaction of the department the existence of the person's temporary incapacity or permanent disability;

(B) A parent or caretaker relative who proves to the satisfaction of the department that the person must provide personal care for a disabled relative child or adult relative living in the home;

(C) A single parent with a child under sixteen (16) weeks of age;

(D) A person who is sixty-five (65) years of age or older;

(E) A nonparental caretaker relative who chooses not to be included in the assistance group; and

(F) Other exemptions that may be required by federal law or regulation, as well as other exemptions that may be established by rule of the department in order to promote the purposes of this part.

(4) If, without good cause, a recipient of temporary assistance fails to comply with a child support or work plan requirement imposed by this part or prescribed within the personal responsibility plan, then the family shall be subject to appropriate sanction by the department, which may include termination of assistance for a period to be determined by the department.

(i) The maximum payment standard for a family shall not be increased for a child who is born to a caretaker relative of a temporary assistance unit who, as determined by the statement of a physician, becomes pregnant while receiving temporary assistance, or as otherwise defined by regulation of the department; provided, that if the family loses eligibility for any reason other than a failure to cooperate with the department or a failure to comply with the personal responsibility plan and if the family subsequently becomes eligible again for temporary assistance, then the department shall base the maximum payment standard on the actual size of the family unit including such child.

(j) No payment of temporary assistance shall be made to an individual for ten (10) years from the date of conviction, guilty plea or plea of nolo contendere of that individual in a federal or state court for having made a fraudulent statement or representation with respect to the place of residence of the individual in order to receive assistance simultaneously from two (2) or more states under the temporary assistance program under this part, TennCare or any program of medical services under Title XIX of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. § 1396 et seq.), the Food Stamp Act of 1977 (7 U.S.C. § 2011 et seq.), or under the supplemental security income program under Title XVI of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. § 1381 et seq.).

(2)(A) Pursuant to the option granted the state by 21 U.S.C. § 862a(d), an individual convicted on or before June 30, 2011, under federal or state law of a felony involving possession, use or distribution of a controlled substance shall be exempt from the prohibition contained in 21 U.S.C. § 862a(a) against eligibility for families first program benefits for such convictions, if such person, as determined by the department:

(i)(a) Is currently participating in a substance abuse treatment program approved by the department of human services;

(b) Is currently enrolled in a substance abuse treatment program approved by the department of human services, but is subject to a waiting list to receive available treatment, and the individual remains enrolled in the treatment program and enters the treatment program at the first available opportunity;

(c) Has satisfactorily completed a substance abuse treatment program approved by the department of human services; or

(d) Is determined by a treatment provider licensed by the department of mental health and substance abuse services not to need substance abuse treatment according to TennCare guidelines; and

(ii) Is complying with, or has already complied with, all obligations imposed by the criminal court, including any substance abuse treatment obligations.

(B) Eligibility based upon the factors in subdivision (k)(2)(A) must be based upon documentary or other evidence satisfactory to the department, and the applicant must meet all other factors of program eligibility, including, specifically, being accountable for the requirements of the personal responsibility plan required by this part.

(C) Notwithstanding subdivision (k)(2)(A) or (k)(2)(B) to the contrary, no person convicted of a Class A felony for violating a provision of title 39, chapter 17, part 4 shall be eligible for the exemptions provided by subdivision (k)(2)(A) or (k)(2)(B).

(D) Pursuant to the option granted the state by 21 U.S.C. § 862a(d), an individual convicted on or after July 1, 2011, under federal or state law of a felony involving possession, use or distribution of a controlled substance shall be exempt from the prohibition contained in 21 U.S.C. § 862a(a) against eligibility for families first program benefits for such convictions, if such person meets the following requirements:

(i) Requirements contained in subdivision (k)(2)(A) or (k)(2)(B) and (C);

(ii) If treatment was prescribed according to the requirements in subdivision (k)(2)(A) or (k)(2)(B), successful completion of a substance abuse program must occur within three (3) attempts. If such person does not complete the originally prescribed treatment program within three (3) attempts, the individual shall be ineligible for a period of three (3) years.

(E) Pursuant to the option granted the state by 21 U.S.C. § 862a(d), an individual convicted of a second drug felony under federal or state law of a felony involving possession, use or distribution of a controlled substance on or after July 1, 2011, shall not be eligible for families first program benefits for a period of three (3) years from the date of conviction.

(b) It is the intent of the general assembly that any modifications to the state's welfare programs be implemented that are required by federal law or that are necessary to ensure or enhance federal funding of the state's welfare programs or that are necessary for the implementation of such changes. Acting in accordance with § 4-5-108, the department shall have authority to immediately implement any federal legislative changes by emergency rules; provided, that permanent rules shall be promulgated pursuant to the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act, compiled in title 4, chapter 5.

(c) For purposes of this section, "welfare program" is defined as any federal or state means-tested program administered by the department of human services, or any child support enforcement program administered by the department of human services pursuant to Title IV-D of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. § 651 et seq.), the Carl D. Perkins Vocational and Applied Technology Act authorized by P.L. 101-392 [repealed], and the Adult Education Act, authorized by P.L. 100-297 [repealed], as amended by the National Literacy Act of 1991, P.L. 102-73 [repealed].

(d)(1) The commissioner of human services is authorized to seek and to implement waivers to carry out this part and chapter 5, part 12 of this title to the extent permitted by federal authorities.

(2)(A) If waivers that are necessary to implement any or all of the provisions of this part, chapter 3, parts 9 and 10 and chapter 5, part 12 of this title cannot be obtained, or in those counties for which the continued operation of the existing welfare program may be required by the federal authorities for the evaluation of any waivers granted by the federal government, the department shall continue to administer, pursuant to the requirements of federal statutes and regulations, the federally funded programs of economic or welfare assistance to families and children under Titles IV-A and IV-D of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. § 601 et seq. and 42 U.S.C. § 651 et seq.), respectively, as they may continue to exist on or after September 1, 1996, until such time as such programs may be terminated or modified by the congress of the United States, the United States department of health and human services or its successor, or the general assembly.

(B)(i) If at any time:

(a) The congress of the United States terminates or modifies the Title IV-A block grant program for federally funded economic or welfare assistance to families and children to the states under the temporary assistance to needy families program (TANF) as provided in Public Law 104-193 (1996) (42 U.S.C. § 601 et seq.), as amended;

(b) The congress of the United States, or the United States department of health and human services or its successor terminates, or modifies, Tennessee's Section 1115 waiver obtained pursuant to subdivision (d)(1) on July 26, 1996, that resulted in the creation of the families first program; or

(c) In the future, action by congress, or by the United States department of health and human services or its successor, terminates or modifies any subsequent federally funded economic or welfare assistance program or any waiver that may be obtained for the operation of such a program for families and children, or a waiver that may be obtained for a welfare program demonstration project;

(ii) Then, in that circumstance, the department shall continue to administer, pursuant to the requirements of federal statutes and regulations existing at that time or subsequently enacted, the programs of economic or welfare assistance to families and children under Titles IV-A and IV-D of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. § 601 et seq. and 42 U.S.C. § 651 et seq.), respectively, as they may continue to exist on or after the date of such termination or modification or until the granting of a new waiver, and this part, chapter 3, parts 9 and 10 and chapter 5, part 12 of this title shall be superseded to the extent:

(a) Those provisions are inconsistent with any federal requirements for which no waiver exists; or

(b) No further federal funding is available, unless the general assembly specifically authorizes and funds the continuation of such provisions that do not otherwise conflict with federal law, regulation or waiver requirements.

(C) The termination or modification of any federally funded programs for the economic assistance to families and children shall not result in any entitlement to funding by the state of Tennessee for such programs pursuant to this part, chapter 3, parts, 9 and 10 and chapter 5, part 12 of this title, or otherwise, unless appropriations are made in the appropriations act specifically for such purpose.

(D) Notwithstanding any law to the contrary, the department shall have authority to implement any rules, by emergency rule, that are necessary to:

(i) Maintain compliance with such terminations or modifications;

(ii) Maintain federal funding;

(iv) Comply with any waiver requirements; provided, however, that the department shall promulgate permanent rules pursuant to a rulemaking hearing as required by the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act.

(e) Child support received by the department with respect to recipients of temporary assistance shall be passed on to the recipient in the same manner as was the practice of the department prior to July 1, 1996, with respect to recipients of aid to families with dependent children (AFDC). However, the department shall not be required to pass through any portion of child support that by federal law must be paid to the federal government. The department shall seek any available waiver from a requirement that any portion of child support must be paid to the federal government, and, if a waiver is granted, pass the support through to the recipient of temporary assistance as required in this subsection (e).

(b) The diversion grant:

(A) In the applicant's own behalf or in behalf of any other family member for whom the applicant is applying for or receiving aid; and

(B) That have accrued at the time such assignment is executed.

(2) Each payment shall constitute "receipt" for purposes of determining when the assignment is executed.

(3) During the terms of such assignment, the department shall be subrogated to the rights of the child or children or the person having custody to collect and receive all child support payments.

(4) The department has the right to initiate any support action in its own name or in the name of the recipient under existing laws of this state and to recover any payments ordered by the courts of this or any other state.

(5) In the exercise of its subrogation rights, the department shall give the person having custody prior notice of any action taken to enforce or modify support and shall inform the custodian of the right to intervene to protect any future interest; provided, that failure to provide such notice shall not be a defense to the obligor in any proceeding.

(6)(A) Notwithstanding any law to the contrary, neither the department of human services, nor any Title IV-D child support contractor of the department, nor any recipient of public assistance in this or any other state or territory, shall be required to demonstrate to a court or administrative tribunal in this state that the caretaker of the child for whom child support is sought is vested with any more than physical custody of the child or children in order to have standing to petition for child support from the legal parent of the child or children for whom support is sought, or to seek enforcement or modification of any existing orders involving such child or children.

(B) Legal custody of a child to whom a child support obligation is owed shall not be a prerequisite to the initiation of any support action or to the enforcement or modification of any support obligation, whether or not the obligation has been assigned to this state or any other state or territory by operation of law.

(b) The department shall certify to the clerks of the appropriate state courts that an assignment of any and all rights, title and interest in support rights has been made to this state by a public assistance or temporary assistance recipient of this state. The department may also, in its discretion, certify to the clerk of the appropriate court in this state that a recipient of public assistance or temporary assistance in another state has assigned support rights to that state pursuant to federal law. Upon receipt of this certification, the clerks of the appropriate state courts shall transmit support payments that they receive on behalf of such public assistance or temporary assistance recipient. The clerk shall transmit the amount directly to the agency specified by the department in accordance with § 36-5-101. The clerks are to identify these payments by the names of the parties involved in the cause of action and by the docket number of the cause of action. These support payments shall be transmitted to the department or the specified agency continuously until the department notifies the clerks of the appropriate state courts that it is no longer necessary to do so. The department shall send to each recipient notice of payments received in such recipient's behalf quarterly.

The department or its contractors may file such legal actions without the necessity of intervening in an existing action or naming the state as a party to the action. The department or its contractors shall not be required to provide proof that the obligor, the obligee or the child has applied for or is receiving Title IV-D child support services in order to meet the requirements for conducting Title IV-D child support judicial or administrative actions.

(d) The provision of services under a child support enforcement program that includes services by an attorney or an attorney's representative employed by, under contract to, or representing the department shall not create an attorney-client relationship with any party other than the state. Attorneys employed by or under contract to the department shall have an affirmative duty to notify individuals applying for child support services or temporary assistance for needy families (TANF) recipients or recipients of any successor program providing temporary assistance whose rights to support have been assigned, who contact or are contacted by the attorney or other child support enforcement program staff that any legal services provided by the child support enforcement program are solely on behalf of the state, and that no incidents of the lawyer-client relationship, including the confidentiality of lawyer-client communications, exist between the attorney and the applicant or recipient. No such duty shall exist when the applicant for services is another governmental agency acting on behalf of an individual and there is no direct contact between the child support enforcement program and the individual seeking support.

(e)(1) As a condition of eligibility for consideration of the caretaker relative in the request for assistance under the TANF program or any successor program providing temporary assistance, each applicant for or recipient of benefits under this program shall cooperate, unless good cause not to cooperate is shown to exist in accordance with 45 Code of Federal Regulations, Sections 232.40 through 232.49 as they may be amended, with the department and its Title IV-D contractors in:

(A) Identifying and locating the parent of a child for whom aid is claimed;

(B) Establishing the paternity of a child born out of wedlock for whom aid is claimed;

(C) Obtaining support payments for the applicant or recipient and for a child for whom aid is claimed; and

(D) Obtaining any other payments or property due the applicant or recipient of the child.

(2) Cooperation with the department and its Title IV-D contractors shall be defined by the department in rules that are consistent with federal regulations.

(3) If a caretaker relative fails to cooperate with the department or its Title IV-D contractors under subdivision (e)(1), the department shall, consistent with federal regulations, deny assistance to that caretaker relative of a child or children who are otherwise eligible for TANF or any successor program providing temporary assistance and it shall, consistent with federal regulations, provide assistance to the eligible child in the form of a protective payment, but such assistance will be determined without regard to the needs of the caretaker relative.

(4) The commissioner shall promulgate rules to carry out this section.

Compiler’s Notes.

Acts 1992, ch. 1030, § 2 provided: “The general assembly hereby takes official notice of the fact that alternatives currently available to families with medically and/or technology-dependent children are difficult, if not intolerable. Too often, limited alternatives dictate that medically and/or technology-dependent children remain hospitalized for extended periods at great financial and emotional cost to parents and children. Too often, limited alternatives dictate that such children be maintained at home using extensive, private duty nursing services at great financial as well as emotional cost to parents and children who endure the long-term effects of isolation. Too often, limited alternatives dictate that single working parents, and families who must rely on two (2) incomes for economic survival, permanently leave their medically and/or technology-dependent children in institutional settings and suffer grave financial and emotional consequences. Prescribed child care centers offer the potential of providing a much needed alternative for these families. While assisting in the containment of health care costs, prescribed child care centers also offer medically and/or technology-dependent children and their families a comprehensive, developmentally appropriate nonresidential environment of coordinated medical, developmental, and parental training services. Through this enactment, it is the intent of the general assembly to encourage and support the increased availability and affordability of prescribed child care centers of quality.”

71-3-502. Licensing of child care agencies — Regulations of child care agencies — Assistance in meeting child care standards — Application for license — Provisional license — Transfer of license prohibited — Denial of license — Quality assessment and rating system — Curriculum guideline addressing personal safety.

(a)(1) All persons or entities operating a child care agency as defined in this part, unless exempt as provided in § 71-3-503, must be licensed by the department as a child care agency.

(2)(A) The department has the authority to issue regulations pursuant to the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act, compiled in title 4, chapter 5, part 2, for the licensing of any persons or entities subject to any provisions of this part and for enforcement of appropriate standards for the health, safety and welfare of children in their care.

(B) To the extent they are not inconsistent with the statutory provisions of this part, the regulations of the department that are in effect July 1, 2021, shall remain in force and effect until modified by regulatory action of the department.

(3) The department’s regulations of child care agencies shall be developed based upon consideration of the criteria in subdivisions (a)(3)(A)-(F). In determining whether to initially grant a license or whether to take any licensing action involving a licensed child care agency, the statutory criteria in subdivisions (a)(3)(A)-(F) may be cited and considered by the department and by the child care agency board of review as the basis for such action in addition to the regulations:

(A) The safety, welfare and best interests of the children in the care of the agency;

(B) The capability, training and character of the persons providing or supervising the care of the children;

(C) Evidence that the expected performance of the caregivers, supervisors or management of the child care agency seeking initial licensure or renewal of licensure will be such as to protect children in care from injury, harm or the threat of injury or harm; or, during licensure, that the actual performance of any of the duties of caregivers, supervisors or management of a licensed child care agency demonstrates or has demonstrated a level of judgment that a reasonable person would exercise or would have exercised, under existing or under reasonably foreseeable circumstances, that would prevent or would have prevented injury, harm, or the threat of injury or harm, to any child in care;

(D) The quality of the methods of care and instruction provided for the children;

(E) The suitability of the facilities provided for the care of the children; and

(F) The adequacy of the methods of administration and the management of the child care agency, the agency's personnel policies, and the financing of the agency.

(4) The department shall promulgate regulations that address the following areas:

(A) Training for directors and care givers as follows:

(i) Preemployment training for directors, including, but not limited to, training in interviewing and evaluating care givers for service in an agency;

(ii) Training for caregivers that includes, but is not limited to, preservice orientation as well as additional training within the first six (6) months of employment as provided by rule; and

(iii) The department of human services shall promulgate rules that consider the prior education and experience of a registered nurse who is seeking approval under the department's rules as a director of a child care agency that operates as part of a facility licensed under title 68 as a nursing home;

(B) Liability and accident insurance coverage, including minimum amounts of coverage based upon insurance industry standards, for both facilities and vehicles owned, leased or contracted for by the child care agency; provided, that this requirement shall not apply to a child care agency that is under the direct management of a self-insured administrative department of the state, a county, a municipality or any combination of those three (3);

(C)(i) Education of the parents of children in day care regarding the benefits of immunizing their children against influenza.

(ii) The department of human services shall work to increase immunization awareness and participation among parents of children in child care agencies by working with the department of health in publishing on the department's website information about the benefits of annual immunization against influenza for children six (6) months of age to five (5) years of age;

(iii) The department shall work with child care agencies and providers to ensure that the information is annually distributed to parents in August or September.

(5) The department shall enact these regulations by emergency rule to be effective July 1, 2000; provided, however, permanent rules shall be promulgated pursuant to the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act.

(6)(A) The department of human services licensure rules for child care centers serving preschool children contained in Tenn. Comp. R. & Regs. 1240-4-3-.07(4)(e), and licensure rules for child care centers serving school-age children contained in Tenn. Comp. R. & Regs. 1240-4-6-.07(4)(f), and in any other portions of those rules, that were part of the amendments filed as permanent rules for each rule on September 29, 2000, enacted on December 13, 2000, and effective on July 1, 2001, and that define or reference the age groups for "infants" as being comprised of children who are six (6) weeks to twelve (12) months of age, and the age groups for "toddlers" as being comprised of children who are thirteen (13) months to twenty-three (23) months of age, shall expire on July 19, 2001.

(B) "Infant" and "toddler" categories of children in the care of a child care agency licensed pursuant to this part shall be defined as follows, unless otherwise modified by rule of the department:

(i) "Infants" shall be comprised of children six (6) weeks to fifteen (15) months of age; and

(ii) "Toddlers" shall be comprised of children twelve (12) months to thirty (30) months of age.

(C) All other department rules not specifically designated to expire by subdivision (a)(6)(A), or affected by the definitions in subdivision (a)(6)(B), including, but not limited to, the definitions or references to the age range for the "2 year old" category in the care of a child care agency, descriptions or definitions of any other age groups of children, adult to child ratios, and, except as modified by ch. 436 of the Public Acts of 2001, and the effective dates of the rules, shall remain in full force and effect or shall become effective in accordance with the department's regulations.

(D) The department of human services shall have authority to immediately implement emergency rules effective on July 19, 2001, or as soon thereafter as possible, to define the age groups for "infants" and "toddlers" as defined by subdivision

(a)(6)(B) and to make any conforming rule changes in the text or in the adult to child supervision charts contained in Tenn. Comp. R. & Regs. 1240-4-3 or 1240-4-6 or in any other rule of the department that may be necessary to implement the changes made by this section relative to the age range definition for the “infant” and “toddler” groups. Permanent rules shall be implemented as otherwise provided by the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act.

(b)(1) The department shall assist applicants or licensees in meeting the child care standards of the department unless the circumstances demonstrate that further assistance is not compatible with the continued safety, health or welfare of the children in the agency’s care and that regulatory action affecting the agency’s license is warranted. All costs and expenses arising from or related to meeting the child care standards of the department shall be borne entirely by the applicant or licensee; provided, the department may, in its discretion, provide from available funds for technical assistance to child care agencies, and the training of child care givers.

(2) If a license is revoked or an application for licensure is denied, then the department shall offer reasonable assistance to the parent, guardian, or custodian of children in care in planning for the placement of the children in licensed child care agencies or other suitable care.

(c) Application for a license to operate a child care agency shall be made in writing to the department in such manner as the department determines and shall be accompanied by the appropriate fee established by rule as provided in subsection (f).

(d)(1) A person or entity that does not have an existing license may apply for a provisional license. The purpose of the provisional license is to permit the license applicant to begin the operation of a child care agency after meeting certain minimum requirements and to demonstrate during the provisional licensing period that it has the ability to attain and maintain compliance with all licensing laws and regulations.

(2) An applicant shall receive a provisional license upon the presentation of satisfactory evidence that:

(A) The facility that is proposed for the care of children has received fire safety and environmental safety approval, and that, after appropriate inspection, the department has determined that the site does not endanger the safety or welfare of children;

(B) The applicant and the personnel who will care for the children are capable in all substantial respects of caring for the children;

(C) The applicant has the ability to attain and maintain compliance with the licensing laws and regulations, both during and after the provisional licensing period;

(D) The applicant, owner, director or an employee of the agency has not previously been associated in an ownership or management capacity with any child care agency that has been cited by the department for violations of this part or the department’s regulations, including the agency for which the application is pending, unless the department determines that a reasonable basis exists to conclude that such individual is otherwise qualified to provide child care; and

(E) The criteria in subdivision (a)(3) support the issuance of a provisional license.

(3) If the department determines that any of the criteria in subdivision (d)(2) has not been, or cannot be met, then it may deny the application for a provisional license.

(4)(A) If the department determines that the applicant has fully complied with subdivision (d)(2) and with all other laws and regulations governing the specific classification of child care agency for which the application was made, that the child care agency has demonstrated the ability to maintain compliance with all licensing regulations following the provisional licensure period, and that it has a reasonable likelihood of maintaining licensure, then the department shall issue a license.

(B) If the applicant has not satisfactorily demonstrated compliance with the requirements for licensing as determined by the department, a license may be denied by the department.

(5) The licensee shall post the license in a clearly visible location as determined by the department so that parents or other persons visiting the agency can readily view the license and all the information on the license.

(6)(A)(i) The license shall describe the ownership of the child care agency, the person who is charged with the day-to-day management of the child care agency, and, if the agency is owned by a person other than the director, or if the agency is under the ownership or direction or control of any person or entity who is not also the on-site director or manager of the agency, the license shall also state the corporate or other name of the controlling person or entity, its address and telephone number where the parents, guardians or custodians may have contact regarding the agency’s operations.

(ii) If the child care agency is operated by a public or private nonprofit entity and is subject to the control or direction of a board of directors or other oversight authority, the license shall list the name, address and telephone number of the chair of the board or other executive head of such controlling body.

(B) In order for a child care agency to offer before or after-school services under this part, the department must issue a license bearing a notation that the agency is authorized to provide before or after-school care services. An agency may not offer such services unless its license bears such notation.

(7)(A) In granting any license, the department may limit the total number of children who may be enrolled in the agency regardless of the agency’s physical capacity or the size of its staff.

(B) Adult/child ratios and group sizes in group child care homes and child care centers may exceed requirements set by rule of the department of human services by up to ten percent (10%), rounded to the nearest whole number, for no more frequently than three (3) days per week; provided, however, infant and toddler groups may never exceed the required ratios and group sizes.

(C)(i) The department may promulgate rules, under the Uniform Administrative Procedure Act, to provide for the amounts of liability coverage for any personal vehicles that are not owned, operated by, or contracted by the child care agency for the transportation of children enrolled in the agency, but which are utilized by parents, staff or volunteers only for occasional field trips for children enrolled at the agency.

(ii) Such rules must provide that any vehicles not owned, operated by, or contracted for by the agency for any transportation of children enrolled at the agency, and which are utilized only as described in subdivision (d)(7)(C)(i) for field trips must provide evidence of currently effective liability coverage for such nonagency vehicles in amounts sufficient to provide adequate coverage for children being transported by such vehicles.

(iii) Subject to department rule, all vehicles used by or on behalf of a child care center to provide transportation of children, that are designed to transport six (6) or more passengers, shall be equipped with a child safety monitoring device that shall prompt staff to inspect the vehicle for children before an alarm sounds. In order to facilitate the affordability of such devices for centers, the department is authorized to establish a grant program to subsidize a portion or all of the cost of such devices for centers; provided, however, that the department may only use private donations that it receives for such purpose to fund the grants. Only devices approved by the department are authorized for use on such a vehicle. This subdivision (d)(7)(C)(iii) shall not apply:

(a) When all children in a vehicle are five (5) years of age and in kindergarten, or older than five (5) years of age, except that if any one (1) of such children is developmentally or physically disabled or nonambulatory then this subdivision (d)(7)(C)(iii) shall apply; or

(b) To vehicles used exclusively for the provision of occasional field trips.

(iv) Vehicles used by a licensed child care agency for the transportation of children shall be subject only to color and marking requirements promulgated by the department and shall be exempt from any other such requirements that may be set forth in state law or local ordinance. Color and marking requirements shall be issued by the department, in consultation with the department of safety, as deemed appropriate for the safe operation, proper identification, or registration of the vehicle.

(v) Such rules shall prohibit a newly hired employee or existing employee who is full-time or part-time, or, as defined by the department, a substitute employee of a child care agency, or a contractor or other persons or entities providing any form of transportation services for compensation to a child care agency, from engaging in any form of driving services involving children in a child care agency until the employee or substitute employee has undergone a drug test and the results are negative for illegal drug use. The rules shall provide exceptions for emergency transportation requirements in limited circumstances, as deemed appropriate by the department.

(8) If the department fails to issue a license within one hundred twenty (120) days of the granting of the provisional license, then the provisional license continues in effect, unless suspended, as provided in § 71-3-509, until such determination is made. If a license is denied following the issuance of a provisional license, and if a timely appeal is made of the denial of a license, then the provisional license remains in effect, unless suspended, until the board of review renders a decision regarding the denial of a license.

(9) If a provisional license is denied or a license is denied following the issuance of a provisional license, the applicant may appeal the denial or restriction as provided in § 71-3-509.

(e)(1) Except as provided in this subsection (e), no license for a child care agency shall be transferable, and the transfer by sale or lease, or in any other manner, of the operation of the agency to any other person or entity shall void the existing license immediately and any pending appeal involving the status of the license, and the agency shall be required to close immediately. If the transferee has made application for, and is granted, a provisional license, the agency may continue operation under the direction of the new licensee. The new licensee in such circumstances may not be the transferor or any person or entity acting on behalf of the transferor.

(2) If the department determines that any person or entity has transferred nominal control of an agency to any persons or entities who are determined by the department to be acting on behalf of the purported transferor in order to circumvent a history of violations of the licensing law or regulations or to otherwise attempt to circumvent the licensing law or regulations or any prior licensing actions instituted by the department, the department may deny the issuance of any license to the applicant. The denial of the license may be appealed as provided in § 71-3-509.

(3)(A) The license of any agency shall not be voided nor shall any pending appeal be voided pursuant to this subsection (e) solely for the reason that the agency is subject to judicial orders directing the transfer of control or management of a child care agency or its license to any receiver, trustee, administrator or executor of an estate, or any similarly situated person or entity.

(B) If the current licensee dies, and provided that no licensing violations require the suspension, denial or revocation of the agency's license, the department may grant family members of the licensee, or administrators or executors of the licensee, a new provisional license to continue operation for a period of one hundred twenty (120) days. At the end of such period, the department shall determine whether a license should be granted to a new licensee as otherwise provided in this section.

(C) Nothing in this subsection (e) shall be construed to prevent the department from taking any regulatory or judicial action as may be required pursuant to the licensing laws and regulations that may be necessary to protect the children in the care of such agency.

(f)(1) Prior to January 1, 2022, the licensure application fees as they existed for child care agencies on June 30, 2021, apply. On or after January 1, 2022, licensure fees apply only to applications for provisional licenses for child care agencies licensed pursuant to this part in amounts established by rules promulgated by the department pursuant to the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act, compiled in title 4, chapter 5.

(2) In order to address the need for and encourage the development of extended child care for parents working during nights or on weekends, or for any other nontraditional child care needs for which the department determines that available child care is inadequate or unavailable in all or any part of the state, the department may promulgate rules pursuant to the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act, compiled in title 4, chapter 5, providing for alternative fee schedules in order to recognize and encourage the development of child care to meet such needs.

(g) [Deleted by 2021 amendment.]

(h) All licensure application fees collected by the department from family child care homes, group child care homes, child care centers and drop-in centers shall be paid into the general fund, but shall be earmarked for, and dedicated to, the department. Such earmarked fees shall be used by the department exclusively to improve child care quality in this state by funding activities that include child care provider training activities, but excluding any costs associated with conducting criminal background checks. Increased fees shall be used solely for a variety of training options, which can be accessed by agencies, organizations and individuals for grants for workshops, conferences and scholarships that improve the quality of child care in this state.

(i) Notwithstanding any provisions of title 13, chapter 7, to the contrary, upon adoption of a resolution by a two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) vote of the county legislative body, any zoning authority, in determining the suitability of a request for any use of property for the establishment or alteration of any child care agency, may consider the criminal background of the person or persons making a request to such board, or may consider the criminal background of any person or persons who will manage or operate such child care agency. The board may require the person to submit a fingerprint sample and a criminal history disclosure form and may submit the fingerprint sample for comparison by the Tennessee bureau of investigation pursuant to § 38-6-109, or it may conduct the background check by other means as it deems appropriate. The zoning authority shall be responsible for all costs associated with obtaining such criminal background information.

(j)(1)(A) The department shall establish and implement a quality assessment and rating system for the purpose of evaluating, individually and collectively, child care agencies licensed or approved by the department pursuant to this part so that parents or other caretakers of children enrolled, or being considered for enrollment, at a child care agency, may make more informed decisions regarding the care of their children by comparing the quality of services offered by child care agencies, to encourage the improvement of out-of-home child care for children in this state, and to support child care providers in continuously improving the quality of services and support they provide families. The quality assessment and rating system established pursuant to this subsection (j) must be developed in a manner easily usable by parents or other caretakers of children to make informed choices related to child care.

(B) For purposes of this subsection (j), "child care agencies" includes child care centers, group child care homes, and family child care homes.

(2)(A) The department shall promulgate rules establishing the quality assessment and rating system under this subsection (j). Each child care agency must receive a quality assessment and rating evaluation after the rules establishing the quality assessment and rating system under this subsection (j) become effective, and annually thereafter. This quality assessment and rating system must include an annual evaluation of each child care agency by the department and must reflect key indicators of performance comparison among all child care agencies in this state, which may include information related to the following:

(i) Health and safety practices; and

(ii) Teacher-child interactions.

(B) The department shall not discriminate or fail to recognize the credentials of any accrediting agency based upon religious affiliation, race, age, color, sex, or national origin.

(C) Upon completion, the quality assessment and rating results of each child care agency must be available on the department's website and posted in a clear and visible location at each child care agency for review by the parents or other caretakers of children enrolled, or being considered for enrollment, at the child care agency.

(3) Any child care agency that accepts the department's child care assistance subsidy payments may receive higher subsidy payments or other financial performance incentives, as determined by the department, based upon the child care agency's quality assessment and rating results, subject to available funding in the department's budget.

(4) The commissioner and the comptroller of the treasury may, in their discretion, conduct audits of the records of any child care providers as necessary to verify that the expenditures by a child care provider of state or federal child care subsidy funds are being made according to state or federal requirements.

(5) A child care agency is subject to denial or revocation of the agency's license by the department and may also be subject to a civil penalty of five hundred dollars ($500) imposed by the department if the child care agency knowingly:

(A) Provides false information or fails to provide any information to the department, the comptroller, or their agents or designees that is required or necessary to perform any of the requirements of this title or to enforce state or federal law or regulations, or child care subsidy or licensing requirements;

(B) Fails to allow entrance by any person designated by the department to perform the evaluation required by this subsection (j); or

(C) Continues to display expired or revoked quality assessment and rating results after written notice by the department.

(k) The department is authorized to review possible dangers to children and workers in child care facilities from carbon monoxide gas and to issue such rules and regulations as it may deem necessary.

(l)(1) The department of human services shall make available to child care providers licensed by the department a curriculum guideline in any suitable format addressing personal safety containing a component related to the prevention of child sexual abuse and shall allow child care providers licensed by the department to choose terminology and instructional methods that accomplish the goal of providing clear, effective and appropriate instruction in personal safety. The department is encouraged to distribute a sample curriculum that is developmentally-appropriate and age-appropriate, child-friendly and family-friendly, and designed to be acceptable to a broad range of providers, parents and legal guardians.

(2) The personal safety curriculum that will be implemented by the child care provider must be made available so parents and legal guardians have the opportunity to review it and so parents and legal guardians will be aware of this component of the child care provider's curriculum. The department shall develop a standard notification form to be provided to the parents or legal guardians by the child care agency. The notification form shall contain the following information:

(A) The method of instruction and sample terminology used in the personal safety/child sexual abuse curriculum;

(B) The availability of the instructional materials for review by the parents or legal guardians;

and

(C) A place for the parents or legal guardians to sign acknowledging they have been provided an opportunity to review the personal safety curriculum, have been notified of the child sexual abuse/personal safety curriculum for their child and the individual record for each child shall include a copy of the signed notification form.

(3) If a parent has questions regarding the personal safety component of the quality early childhood education curriculum, then the provider or a representative of the provider shall meet with the parent and discuss the personal safety component of the curriculum.

(4) The department of human services is expressly authorized and directed to implement by emergency rules, effective October 1, 2008, a rule regarding implementation of this requirement for the personal safety curriculum; provided, that any permanent rules shall be promulgated pursuant to the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act.

Former § 71-3-502 (Acts 1953, ch. 228, § 2 (Williams, § 4765.139); T.C.A. (orig. ed.), §§ 14-1402, 14-10-102), concerning the approval of a charter or amendment, was repealed by Acts 2000, ch. 981, § 1. For current provisions, see this section.

Acts 2001, ch. 453, § 26 provided that § 6 of that act, which amended subdivisions (j)(1) and (2) and added subdivisions (j)(3) through (5) (now (j)(3) though (4)), shall become void and cease to be of effect on the last day of the fiscal year following the fiscal year during which federal funding is terminated and not available to fund the positions and operations that were initially funded with federal funds and that are required by the provisions of § 6 for the operation of the annual report card and the rated licensing system. Section 26 further provided: "Nothing herein shall prevent the general assembly from the continuation of the report card and rated licensing system by use of state funds for all or a portion of those programs, and, if this is done by any appropriations act passed prior to the date upon which the provisions of § 71-3-502(j)(1)-(5) would otherwise become void pursuant to this section, such provisions shall remain in effect."

Acts 2004, ch. 713, § 1 purported to amend this section; however, the clerk of the house of representatives found that the act did not pass the house and the senate in the same form and was not given effect. Acts 2005, ch. 453, § 2 repealed Acts 2004, ch. 713, effective July 1, 2005.

Acts 2009, ch. 566, § 12 provided that the Tennessee code commission is directed to change all references to public necessity rules, wherever such references appear in this code, to emergency rules, as sections are amended and volumes are replaced.

71-3-503. Program and facilities exempt from licensing.

(a) A program or activity that falls within the definition of a child care agency shall be exempt from the licensing requirements of this part upon demonstration of clear and convincing evidence that it meets one (1) of the following exemptions in subdivisions (a)(1)-(11), or, if no specific exemption exists in subdivisions (a)(1)-

(11), there is clear and convincing evidence demonstrating that the program or activity meets the criteria of subsection (c):

(1) Entities or persons licensed or otherwise regulated by other agencies of the state or federal government providing health, psychiatric or psychological care or treatment or mental health care or counseling for children while the entity or person is engaged in such licensed or regulated activity;

(2) Preschool or school age child care programs, a Title I program, a school-administered head start or an even start program, and all state-approved Montessori school programs, that are subject to regulation by the department of education or other departments of state government;

(3) Private or parochial kindergartens for five-year-old children if such kindergartens operate on the public school kindergarten schedule;

(4) Child care centers operated by church-related schools, as defined by § 49-50-801, which shall be subject to regulation by the department of education pursuant to title 49, chapter 1, part 11;

(5) Educational programs. To qualify for an educational program exemption, a child care agency must meet the following criteria:

(A) That the sole or primary purpose of the program is:

(i) To prepare children for advancement to the next educational level through a prescribed course of study or curriculum that is not typically available in a department-regulated child care setting;

(ii) To provide specialized tutoring services to assist children with the passage of mandatory educational proficiency examinations; or

(iii) To provide education-only services to special needs children; and

(B) That the program time scheduled to be dedicated to the educational activity is reasonably age appropriate for the type of activity and the ages served;

(6)(A) "Parents' Day Out" or similar programs operated by a religious institution or religious organization that provide custodial care and services for children of less than school age, with no child attending more than twelve (12) hours in each calendar week;

(B) Existing and all future programs shall register with the department their intent to operate a Parents' Day Out program prior to offering the service, and, as evidence of their exempt status, these programs shall maintain records that include, at a minimum, dates and times of each child's attendance;

(C) The records and forms shall be made available during regular business hours to the commissioner or commissioner's designee;

(D) Each separate location or campus of a religious institution or religious organization shall be considered a separate religious institution or religious organization for the purpose of Parents' Day Out or any similar program;

(7) Recreational programs. To qualify for a recreational program exemption, a child care agency must meet the following criteria:

(A) That the sole or primary purpose of the program or activity is to provide recreational services, e.g., organized sports or crafts activities;

(B) That the sole or primary purpose of the program or activity is dedicated to recreational activities for a substantial portion of the hours of operation;

(C) That the majority of program staff responsible for the direct delivery of services possesses specialized qualifications that are directly related to the recreational services being offered;

(D) That at least seventy-five percent (75%) of any individual child's program time is spent engaging in the recreational activities that are reasonably age appropriate for the type of activity and the ages served;

(E) That the supervision or care of children, or other types of child care-related services, is incidental to its overall purpose; and

(F) That no individual child could participate in the program or activity:

(i) For more than seven (7) hours per day; or

(ii) If a child participates for more than seven (7) hours per day, that such child could not continue to participate for more than seven (7) consecutive weeks and for no more than one hundred twenty (120) days per calendar year;

(8) Camp programs. To qualify for a camp program exemption, a child care agency must meet the following criteria:

(A) That the primary purpose of the program or activity is to provide intensive recreational, religious, outdoor or other activities that are not routinely available in full-time child care;

(B) That the program or activity operates exclusively during the summer months and less than ninety (90) days in any calendar year; and

(C) That the enrollment periods for participation in the program or activity clearly define the duration of the program or activity and exclude drop-in child care;

(9)(A) "Casual care" operations consisting of places or facilities operated by any person or entity that provides child care, at the same time, for a minimum of five (5) children, but less than fifteen (15) children, who are not related to the primary caregiver, during short periods of time that do not exceed ten (10) hours per week or six (6) hours per day for any individual child while the parents or other custodians of the children are engaged in short-term activities, not including employment of the parent or other custodian of the child;

(B) These operations shall register with the department their intent to conduct casual care of children, and, as evidence of their exempt status, these operations shall maintain records that include, at a minimum, the children's names, ages, addresses, dates and times of attendance, the parents' or custodians' names, addresses, and intended whereabouts while the children are in care, and the telephone numbers of persons to contact in the event of an emergency. All records shall be made available at any time to any authorized representative of the department;

(C) Failure to comply with the requirements of this subdivision (a)(9) shall subject the violator to a civil penalty by the department not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500) for the first violation and not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) for subsequent violations, and the department may seek injunctive relief in the chancery or circuit court of the county where the place or facility is located to prevent further operation of the place or facility or to obtain entry to conduct any inspection of the operation;

(10)(A) Any program or facility operated by, or in affiliation with, any Boys and Girls Club that provides care for school-aged children and that holds membership in good standing with Boys and Girls Clubs of America and that is certified as being in compliance with the purposes, procedures, voluntary standards and mandatory requirements of Boys and Girls Clubs of America;

(B) Any such Boys and Girls Club that applies to participate in state or federally funded programs that require child care licensing by the state as a term of eligibility may elect to apply to the department for child care licensing and regulation. Upon meeting departmental standards, the Boys and Girls Club may be licensed as a child care center/provider;

(C) The department is hereby authorized to grant a waiver from any rule concerning grouping of children and adult/child ratios for child care centers to any Boys and Girls Club that falls within both subdivisions (a)(11)(A) and (a)(10)(A) and (B), and that is providing after-school child care to mixed groups of school-aged children; and

(11) Nurseries, babysitting services and other children's activities that are not ordinarily operated on a daily basis, but are associated with religious services or related activities of churches or other houses of worship. Such services or activities may include limited special events that shall not exceed fourteen (14) days in any calendar year.

(b)(1) Exempt programs under subdivisions (a)(3), (6) and (9) shall post a sign stating, "This facility is not required to be licensed by the state as a child care agency."

(2) When a parent, custodian or guardian initially registers a child with an exempt program under subdivisions (a)(3), (6) and (9), which is required to post a sign pursuant to this subsection (b), the parent, custodian or guardian shall sign a form indicating that the parent, custodian or guardian has been advised and understands that the program is not licensed and is not required to be licensed by the state as a child care agency. The same language that is required to be placed on the sign shall be printed on such form at least in 16-point type with a signature line for the parent, custodian or guardian immediately following such language. The signed form shall be maintained with the records of the exempt entity.

diately following such language. The signed form shall be maintained with the records of the exempt entity.

(c) In analyzing whether the program or activity is exempt pursuant to this section, unless the department determines upon clear and convincing evidence that the program or activity qualifies for an exemption based upon the criteria set forth in subdivisions (a)(1)-(11), the department shall consider the following non-exclusive criteria to determine if the program or activity is clearly distinguishable from child care services typically regulated by the department and otherwise qualifies for exemption from licensing:

(1) The sole or primary purpose of the program or activity is to provide specialized opportunities for the child's educational, social, cultural, religious or athletic development, or to provide the child with mental or physical health services;

(2) The time period in which the program or activity provides these opportunities is consistent with a reasonable time period for the completion of the program or activity, considering the age of each child served and the nature of the program;

(3) The primary purpose of the program or activity is not routinely available or could not be made routinely available in the typical child care settings regulated by the department;

(4) Parents could reasonably be expected to choose the program or activity because of the unique nature of what it offers, rather than as a substitute for full-time, before or after school, holiday or weather-related child care; and

(5) If the program or activity is regulated by any other federal, state or local agency, it is required by such other agency to comply with standards that substantially meet or exceed department licensing regulations.

(d)(1) The department shall not be required to grant exemptions to programs or activities that offer otherwise exempt opportunities or services as a mere component of a program or activity that the department determines primarily constitutes substitute child care.

(2) No program or activity shall be exempt from licensing solely for the reason that the care and supervision of children that constitutes child care is offered only on a part-time or periodic basis.

(3) Exemption from licensure does not exempt the program or activity from compliance with any other local, state or federal requirements.

(e) A child care agency claiming an exemption pursuant to this section may submit to the department's licensing director, or designee, a sworn, written request for exemption in such manner and form as the department may require. The request shall provide a detailed description of the operation of the program or activity, the program's or activity's purpose and the applicant's basis for claiming an exemption. The department shall provide a written response to the exemption request stating the reasons the exemption was granted or denied.

(b) In charging any defendant in a complaint for such injunction, it shall be sufficient to charge that such defendant did, upon a certain day and in a certain county, establish, conduct, manage or operate a place, home or facility of any kind that is a child care agency, as defined in this part or to charge that the defendant is about to do so without having in effect a license as required by law, or that the defendant continues to operate any such place or facility following suspension of a license, or following the effective date of the denial or revocation of a license, without averring any further or more particular facts concerning the case.

(3) A violation of subdivision (c)(1) is a Class A misdemeanor.

(4) This subsection (c) includes statements made in any child care agency license application that misrepresents or conceals a material fact that would have resulted in the license being denied.

(B) A person who is a new substitute staff person, paid or unpaid, and who is to be used by the childcare agency to meet childcare standards and who serves as a substitute for more than thirty-six (36) hours in any one (1) calendar year; or

(C) A person fifteen (15) years of age or older who resides in a childcare agency that is being licensed initially or who moves into a childcare agency following initial licensure.

(2)(A) Persons subject to the requirements of subdivision (a)(1) shall also supply a fingerprint sample in a manner prescribed by the department and by the Tennessee bureau of investigation (TBI), and shall submit to a fingerprint-based background review of criminal history records, and juvenile records that are available to the TBI, to be conducted by the TBI, and shall submit to a review of the person's status on the department of health's vulnerable persons registry under title 68, chapter 11, part 10, and on the state sex offender registry, and, pursuant to § 71-3-515, a review of the person's status in the department of children's services and the department of human services records of indicated perpetrators of abuse or neglect of children or adults, as well as equivalent administrative registries in any jurisdiction in which the person has resided in the past five (5) years and a review of any available juvenile records in juvenile court.

(B) All persons subject to the requirements of subdivision (a)(1), and all persons applying to work with the department in any position in which any significant contact with children is likely in the course of the person's employment with the department, shall have the fingerprint-based background review, including juvenile records available to the TBI, and the registry and perpetrator records and juvenile records reviews required by subdivision (a)(2)(A) completed as required by this section prior to assuming any role described in subdivision (a)(1) or prior to employment with the department; and if the person is fifteen (15) years of age or older and:

(i) The person is a resident of a childcare agency, the person must have the fingerprint-based background review, including juvenile records available to the Tennessee bureau of investigation (TBI), and the registry and perpetrator records reviews, and, if determined necessary by the department, juvenile court records reviews, required by subdivision (a)(2)(A) completed prior to the granting of a license to the childcare agency in which the person resides at the time of initial application; or

(ii) If the person is to become a resident of the childcare agency, the person must have the reviews required by subdivision (a)(2)(B)(i) completed prior to the person's becoming a resident of the childcare agency.

(C) The person or entity with which a person subject to subdivision (a)(1) will be or is associated shall be responsible for obtaining and submitting the fingerprint sample, as directed by the department, and any information necessary to process the fingerprint-based background reviews and reviews required by this section prior to the person's assumption of any role described in subdivision (a)(1). If the person is not employed directly by a licensed child care agency but is employed by a substitute pool or staffing agency and assigned to work as a substitute employee at a licensed child care agency, then the substitute pool or staffing agency is responsible for obtaining and submitting the fingerprint sample, as directed by the department, and any information necessary to process the fingerprint-based background reviews and reviews required by this section prior to the person's assumption of any role described in subdivision (a)(1) at a licensed child care agency.

(3) The disclosure forms shall include at a minimum the following information:

(A) The social security number of the applicant, substitute or resident;

(B) The complete name of the applicant, substitute or resident;

(D) A space for the person to state any circumstances that should be considered in determining whether to allow the person who has a criminal, juvenile, registry or abuse or neglect records history to be employed or to provide substitute services or to remain as a resident in the agency; and

(E) A listing of the residences of the applicant, substitute, or resident for the past five (5) years.

(4) The form shall notify the person that falsification of required information may subject the person to criminal prosecution, and that the person's employment, licensing, or other status or circumstances in the child care agency or the department is dependent upon the person's criminal and available juvenile records history status, the person's status on the department of health's vulnerable persons registry pursuant to title 68, chapter 11, part 10, and on the state's sex offender registry, and, pursuant to § 71-3-515, the person's status as an indicated perpetrator of abuse or neglect of children or adults as contained in the records of the department of children's services and the department of human services, or in the equivalent administrative registries in any jurisdiction in which the person has resided in the past five (5) years.

(5) A copy of the disclosure form shall be maintained in the childcare agency's records for review by the department, and the department shall maintain a copy of the disclosure form in the records of the applicant for a license or as operator or for employment with the department.

(6) The child care agency, substitute pool, or staffing agency shall notify the department within thirty (30) days of an employee leaving employment.

(b)(1) The disclosure form and information contained on the form obtained pursuant to this section, together with the fingerprints of the person, shall be submitted by the child care agency for its applicants, licensees, operators, substitutes, or residents, and by the department for its applicants, to the appropriate department staff or state contractors providing fingerprinting services, in the format required by the department and the TBI. The child care agency shall attest on the disclosure form that the person is required to undergo a criminal background check or state registry review, and is either a resident or has been selected by the child care agency to fill a position as an employee or substitute who will work directly with children. A substitute pool or staffing agency assigning persons to work as substitute employees at a licensed child care agency shall submit the disclosure form for such persons and shall also attest on the disclosure form that the person is required to undergo the criminal background check or state registry review, and has been selected by the substitute pool or staffing agency to fill a position as an employee or substitute who will work directly with children. The department or contractor shall transmit the necessary information to the TBI for completion of the fingerprint-based background review of criminal records and juvenile records that are available to the TBI.

(2) The TBI shall compare the information and the fingerprint sample received with the computer criminal history files maintained by the bureau and, to the extent permitted by federal law, with federal criminal databases and shall conduct the fingerprint and criminal history background check for the person pursuant to § 38-6-109. It shall report the existence of any criminal or juvenile history involving the person to the department, which shall inform the childcare agency and the person regarding the person's ability to assume a position for which a background review is required by this section.

(3) The childcare agency shall document in its records the clearance or exclusion letter regarding the person's ability to assume a position for which a background review is required, and the department shall maintain a record of the results of all persons for whom a criminal background history is received.

(4) The department shall notify in writing the appropriate district attorney general of any falsification of the information on the disclosure form.

(5)(A) The department shall pay to the TBI or state contractors providing fingerprinting services the cost of obtaining, handling, and processing the criminal history background fingerprint check requested by the agency or by the department as set forth in § 38-6-109. Payment of the costs is to be made in accordance with §§ 38-6-103 and 38-6-109.

(B) The department shall only be responsible for payment of one (1) processing fee that is required by the TBI. If the fingerprint sample is rejected and if any further costs are required to process the fingerprint, the child care agency is responsible for any further costs, regardless of the number of efforts required to obtain a valid fingerprint sample. The child care agency, substitute pool, or staffing agency will be responsible for repayment to the department for any processing fees if it submits a person's disclosure form more than one (1) time for the criminal history background check within a thirty (30) day period, or if it submits a person for a criminal history background check who is not a resident or a person who has been selected by the child care agency, substitute pool, or staffing agency to fill a position as an employee, or substitute who will work directly with children.

(c)(1) All persons subject to subsection (a), and employees of the department's licensing division, shall also be subject to a review by the department of their status on the department of health's vulnerable persons registry pursuant to title 68, chapter 11, part 10, and on the state's sex offender registry and a review conducted pursuant to § 71-3-515, of their status in the department of children's services and the department of human services records of indicated perpetrators of abuse or neglect of children or adults or in the equivalent administrative registries in any jurisdiction in which the person has resided in the past five (5) years and a review of any available juvenile records in juvenile court.

(2) The department shall conduct the review for license applicants and operators.

(3) The results of the inquiry to the registries and the departments' records shall be maintained with the department.

(d)(1) The child care agency or the department shall not permit a person to assume any role described in subdivision (a)(1) prior to the completion of a review of the criminal history and juvenile records available to the TBI and the juvenile court, including the fingerprint-based background review, review of the department of health's vulnerable persons registry and the state's sex offender registry, and, pursuant to § 71-3-515, a review of the department of children's services and the department of human services records of indicated perpetrators of abuse or neglect of children or adults, or in the equivalent administrative registries in any jurisdiction in which the person has resided in the past five (5) years, and juvenile court records reviews. The reviews must demonstrate that the person is not subject to a criminal history, a juvenile history, or a history on the registries or in the records of the department of children's services or the department of human services or the equivalent administrative registries in any jurisdiction in which the person has resided in the past five (5) years that would, as described in this part, disqualify or otherwise exclude the person from any role described in subdivision (a)(1).

(2) The criminal history, juvenile records, and administrative registry review provided for in subdivision (d)(1) shall additionally be completed at least once every five (5) years.

(e)(1)(A)(i) Whether obtained by use of the procedures established in this section or whether information is obtained by any other means, no person shall be employed with, be a licensee or operator of, provide substitute services to, or have any access whatsoever to children in a childcare agency as defined by this part, nor shall the person be employed with the department in a position having significant contact with children, whose criminal or available juvenile background records, registry or perpetrator records demonstrate that the person has been convicted of, pled guilty or no contest to an offense or lesser included offense, is the subject of a juvenile petition or finding that would constitute an offense or lesser included offense, or whose criminal or juvenile background history report or other information demonstrates the existence of a pending warrant, indictment, presentment or petition, involving:

(a) The physical, sexual or emotional abuse or neglect of a child;

(b) A crime of violence against a child or any person;

(c) Any offense determined by the department, pursuant to properly promulgated rules, to present a threat to the health, safety or welfare of children;

(d) The identification of the person on the department of health's vulnerable persons registry pursuant to title 68, chapter 11, part 10, or on the state's sex offender registry, or, whose status, pursuant to a review under § 71-3-515, of the department of children's services and the department of human services records of indicated perpetrators of abuse or neglect of children or adults, reviews of equivalent administrative registries in any jurisdiction in which the person has resided in the past five (5) years, or reviews of available juvenile court records, demonstrate a history that would require the person's exclusion under this part.

(ii) No person who is currently charged with or who has been convicted of or pled guilty to a violation of § 39-13-213, § 55-10-101, § 55-10-102 or § 55-10-401, or any felony involving use of a motor vehicle while under the influence of any intoxicant, may, for a period of five (5) years after the date of the conviction or felony plea, be employed as or serve as a driver transporting children for a childcare agency.

(B)(i) Upon receipt from the department of the criminal and juvenile fingerprint-based background report or other information regarding the criminal, juvenile, vulnerable persons, sex offender or perpetrator records histories of a person about whom this information was obtained, the department shall notify the childcare agency and the person of the person's clearance to assume a position with the childcare agency or that the person must be excluded from positions or circumstances with the agency described in subdivision (a)(1) or from any access to children.

(ii) The childcare agency, and the department for its employees, shall immediately exclude any person from employment, from substitute services or from any access whatsoever to children in the childcare agency or, if a resident of a childcare agency, the agency shall exclude the resident from access to children in the childcare agency, if the criminal, juvenile, registry, perpetrator records history or other information regarding the person place the person within the prohibited categories established in subdivision (e)(1)(A). The department shall deny the license or operator status of any such person. If an exemption from the exclusion is provided for by rule of the department pursuant to subsection (f), the person shall remain excluded or that person's license or operator status shall be denied until it is determined by the department that there is a basis for an exception from the exclusion.

(iii) The failure of a childcare agency to exclude a person with a prohibited criminal, juvenile, vulnerable persons or sex offender registry or perpetrator records history at a childcare agency from employment with the agency, or from the provision of substitute services to children in the agency, or the failure, as determined by the department, to adequately restrict the access of a resident or any other person in a childcare agency to children being cared for by the agency, shall subject the childcare agency to immediate suspension of the agency's license by the department.

(C) The child care agency, substitute pool, or staffing agency shall immediately notify the department on the same business day of an arrest, pending indictment, or other information regarding a person who is an employee, substitute, volunteer, or resident which places the person within the prohibited categories established in subdivision (e)(1)(A) if the child care agency, substitute pool, or staffing agency knows or reasonably should know of such arrest, pending indictment, or other information. The child care agency, substitute pool, or staffing agency shall immediately exclude the person if the person must be excluded from positions or circumstances described in subdivision (a)(1) or from any access to children.

(2) Any person who is excluded pursuant to this section or whose license or operator status is denied or revoked based upon the results of a disclosure form statement, fingerprint-based background, criminal or juvenile records history, registry or perpetrator history review pursuant to this part, or other records review, may appeal the exclusion to the department within ten (10) days of the mailing date of the notice of such exclusion to the subject person.

(3) If timely appealed, the department shall provide an administrative hearing pursuant to the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act, compiled in title 4, chapter 5, part 3, in which the appellant may challenge the accuracy of the determination.

(4) The appellant may not collaterally attack the factual basis of an underlying exclusionary record except to show that the appellant is not the person identified on the record. Further, except to show that the appellant is not the person identified on the record, the appellant may not collaterally attack or litigate the facts that are the basis of a reported pending criminal or juvenile charge except to show that the charge was, or since the report was generated, has been dismissed, nolle, has resulted in an acquittal or has been expunged.

(f)(1) The department may by rule provide for a review process that utilizes an advisory group of law enforcement personnel, persons experienced in child protective services, persons experienced in child development issues and childcare providers, or other persons it determines are appropriate, to consider and, if appropriate, recommend to the department exemptions from the exclusions established by this section, or for any other exclusions of persons established pursuant to the department's rules, that are based on the person's criminal background or juvenile background history or from the records of the person maintained in the vulnerable persons or sex offender registries or contained in the indicated perpetrator records of the departments of children's services or human services.

(2) Any exemption granted must be based upon extenuating circumstances that would clearly warrant the exemption, and this determination shall be made in writing in the record of the department and of the childcare agency and shall be open to public inspection.

(3) If an exemption rule is promulgated by the department under this part or by any state agencies utilizing the methods authorized by subsection (g) or (h), the person who is not granted an exemption from the exclusion upon review of the person's criminal, juvenile, registry or other records history pursuant to this part may have this issue considered in an administrative appeal as provided by subsection (e). (g)(1)(A) A child care agency as defined in § 37-5-501 or § 71-3-501, a child care program as defined in § 49-1-1102, the department of children's services, the department of education, the department of human services, the department of mental health and substance abuse services, the department of intellectual and developmental disabilities and any other state agency or any person or entity that contracts with the state may require the persons set forth in subdivisions (g)(1)(A)(i)-(iii) to undergo a background or records review of any kind, to complete a disclosure form stating the person's criminal and juvenile records history and agree to release all records involving the person relating to the criminal, juvenile and perpetrator records history of the person to the entities described in this subdivision (g)(1)(A), and, if further required by the requesting entity, to supply a fingerprint sample and submit to a fingerprint-based review of criminal and juvenile records available to the TBI to be conducted by the TBI. The person may also be required to submit to a review of the person's status on the department of health's vulnerable persons registry under title 68, chapter 11, part 10, and on the state's sex offender registry, and pursuant to § 71-3-515, a review of the department of children's services and the department of human services records of indicated perpetrators of abuse or neglect of children or adults, and, if determined necessary by the agency, department or contractor, a review of any available juvenile records in juvenile court. The department shall maintain the results of these inquiries. Failure or refusal of a person to submit to or complete the disclosures, background and records reviews required by the entities in this subdivision (g)(1)(A) shall result in the immediate exclusion of the person from any position or status for which these reviews are required by this section:

(i) A person applying to work or substitute, or currently working, in any capacity as a paid employee, licensee or operator, substitute or volunteering, with children with the entities in subdivision (g)(1)(A) or who otherwise has access to children in those entities;

(ii) An applicant for a foster parent position or an applicant to be an adoptive parent, or a current foster parent or a current prospective adoptive parent with the department of children's services; or

(iii) A person fifteen (15) years of age or older who resides in a childcare agency licensed pursuant to this part or title 37, chapter 5, part 5, and who is not otherwise required by subdivision (a)(1), or who is not otherwise required by any other law.

(B) Nothing in this subsection (g) shall be construed to mean that any other law that mandates that fingerprint-based background, registry or any records review be conducted on applicants for employment, licensee, operator, substitute, volunteer or agency resident status is made voluntary, repealed or superseded in any manner by this subsection (g), and this section is supplementary to, and is not in lieu of, any mandatory provisions for such other statutorily required background, registry or records checks.

(2) The disclosure form shall contain the information described in subdivisions (a)(3) and (4).

(3) A copy of the disclosure form shall be maintained in the requesting entity's records of the persons for whom the background check is sought.

(4)(A) The fingerprints of the person shall be submitted to the TBI in the format required by the bureau.

(B) The TBI shall compare the information received and the fingerprints of the person with the computer criminal history files, and juvenile history files available to and maintained by the bureau and, to the extent permitted by federal law, with federal criminal databases to verify the accuracy of the criminal or juvenile violation information pursuant to § 38-6-109, and shall report the existence of any criminal or juvenile history involving the person to the department or relevant state agency.

(C)(i) For a person who was not subject to a fingerprint-based or other records screening prior to assuming a role described in subdivision (g)(1)(A), that person's existing status in the role shall be conditional upon the satisfactory outcome of any requested fingerprint-based background review, criminal, and available juvenile records review, and upon vulnerable persons and sex offender registries and department of children's services and department of human services perpetrator records, reviews, and, if determined necessary by the entity, a review of any available juvenile records in juvenile court, that may be conducted pursuant to this section; provided, however, that if a person is initially applying to assume any type of role described in subdivision (g)(1)(A), and an entity described in subdivision (g)(1)(A) utilizes this subsection (g) as a preemployment screening procedure, the person shall not assume the role until satisfactory completion of the reviews.

(ii) In either circumstance in subdivision (g)(4)(C)(i), the criminal and available juvenile history and fingerprint-based background review, the vulnerable persons and sex offender registry review and any review of the perpetrator records of the departments of children's services and human services must demonstrate that the person is not subject to a criminal or juvenile history or a history on these registries or in such records that would, as described in this part, disqualify or otherwise exclude that person from any role described in subdivision (g)(1)(A). If the fingerprint-based background or records review, or any other information from any other source confirms that subsection (e) is applicable, that person shall not be permitted to have further contact with children in such role, except as otherwise permitted by this section.

(iii) A person's employment or contract status shall not remain in a conditional status for a position with any state agency for which federal law or regulations do not permit the state agency to license or approve the position until all necessary licensing requirements are met, unless specifically authorized by state or federal law or regulation to the contrary.

(iv) The employment status of persons for whom a post-employment fingerprint-based background, registry or record review was conducted, or the status of existing licensees or operators, substitutes, volunteers or residents of a childcare agency for whom these reviews were conducted after license approval, and who were not otherwise subject to prestatus applicant or access reviews and to the exclusionary provisions provided in this section, shall be governed by any regulations that may govern their status in a regulated entity or by applicable employment law.

(D) The results of the inquiry to the TBI or other registry or records review shall be documented in the records of the department.

(E) If the information submitted on the disclosure form appears to have been falsified, the entity requesting the background check, or if the entity is regulated by or has a contract with this state, the regulatory or contracting agency shall notify the district attorney general of the falsification in writing.

(F) Any costs incurred by the TBI in conducting the investigations of the applicants shall be paid by the entity that requests the investigation and information. Payment of the costs is to be made in accordance with §§ 38-6-103 and 38-6-109.

(h)(1)(A) The department or appropriate state agency as listed in subdivision (g)(1) may require the following persons to submit a disclosure form as set forth in subdivisions (a)(3) and (4), a copy of which the department shall maintain in the department's records as a supplemental method of criminal and juvenile background history review, and agree to release all records involving the following persons relating to the criminal and available juvenile history of the persons:

(i) For an applicant for employment, for license or operator status, or for substitute or volunteer status with childcare agencies or childcare programs, or with the state agencies or their contractors, as listed in subdivision (g)(1) or with the entities that the state agencies may regulate;

(ii) For residents of new childcare agencies;

(iii) For current employees, licensees, operators, substitutes, or volunteers of childcare agencies; or

(iv) For current residents of childcare agencies.

(B) The department or appropriate state agency, as listed in subdivision (h)(1)(A) may then access directly the TBI's Tennessee crime information computer (TCIC) system and conduct a name search of Tennessee criminal and available juvenile history records by using only the information contained on the disclosure form completed pursuant to subdivision (h)(1)(A), or by using other information available to the searching entity.

(2) The results of the search must be maintained in the records of the department and are subject to review by the entities regulating the department.

(3) This subsection (h) does not make voluntary, repeal, or supersede other law that mandates that criminal and juvenile background reviews be conducted on applicants for employment, for license or operator status, for substitute or volunteer service positions, or for resident status. This subsection (h) is supplementary to, and is not in lieu of, mandatory provisions for other statutorily required criminal and juvenile background reviews.

(i) Subsections (e) and (f), including, but not limited to, the exclusion of persons from providing care or being licensed for the care of children or having access to children upon determination of the criminal, available juvenile, registry or perpetrator records background of such persons, the suspension of operations of or the denial or regulation of any license, certification or approval of any entities that fail to exclude persons with an exclusionary history, and the exemptions from the exclusionary provisions shall be applicable to those persons having exclusionary backgrounds or histories determined by the processes established by subsections (g) and (h) or by any other means.

(j) Any person disqualified by a state agency from care for or access to children based upon the results of any fingerprint-based, criminal, juvenile, registry, perpetrator records or other records review conducted under subsections (g) and (h), or by any other means may, as provided in subdivisions (e)(2)-(4), appeal that determination to a state agency that has made the request.

(k) Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the exclusion of any person from providing care for, from being licensed or certified or approved for the care of children pursuant to this part or from having access to a child in a child caring situation if a criminal or juvenile proceeding background history or other record that would require the person's exclusion under this part is discovered and verified in any other manner other than through a procedure established pursuant to this section. All procedures, rules and appeal processes established pursuant to this section for the protection of children and the due process rights of excluded persons shall also be applicable to those persons.

(l) It is unlawful for any person to falsify any information required on the disclosure form required by this section. A person who knowingly fails to disclose on the disclosure form required information or who knowingly discloses false information or who knowingly assists another to do so commits a Class A misdemeanor.

Acts 2010, ch. 1100, § 153 provided that the commissioner of mental health and developmental disabilities, the commissioner of mental health, the commissioner of intellectual and developmental disabilities, and the commissioner of finance and administration are authorized to promulgate rules and regulations to effectuate the purposes of the act. All such rules and regulations shall be promulgated in accordance with the provisions of the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act, compiled in title 4, chapter 5.

71-3-508. Inspection of entities providing child care.

(a) It is the duty of the department, through its duly authorized agents, to inspect at regular intervals, without previous notice, all child care agencies or suspected child care agencies, as defined in § 71-3-501.

(b)(1) The department is given the right of entrance, privilege of inspection, access to accounts, records, and information regarding the whereabouts of children under care for the purpose of determining the kind and quality of the care provided to the children and to obtain a proper basis for its decisions and recommendations.

(2) If refused entrance for inspection of a licensed, approved or suspected child care agency, the chancery or circuit court of the county where the licensed, approved or suspected child care agency may be located may issue an immediate ex parte order permitting the department's inspection upon a showing of probable cause, and the court may direct any law enforcement officer to aid the department in executing such order and inspection. Refusal to obey the inspection order may be punished as contempt.

(3) Except where court orders prohibit or otherwise limit access, parents or other care takers of children in the care of a child care agency licensed pursuant to this part shall be permitted to visit and inspect the facilities and observe the methods for the care of their children at any time during which the children are in the care of the agency and, except those records of other children in the care of the agency and their parents or caretakers, shall further be permitted to inspect any records of the agency that are not privileged, or are not otherwise confidential, as provided by law or regulation, and the parents' or caretakers' access for these purposes shall not be purposely denied by the agency.

(c)(1) In the conduct of any investigations of any child care agency, the department, if it determines such to be necessary, may require the child care agency to enter into a plan for the safety of children in the agency's care pending the outcome of any investigation by the departments of human services or children's services, or by any law enforcement or regulatory agency.

(2)(A) Such plan may require, but is not limited to:

- (i) The exclusion or restriction of any individuals from access to the children in care;
- (ii) The closure or restricted use of any part or parts of the agency's facilities;
- (iii) The reinspection of any of the agency's facilities by any other health, fire or safety agency;
- (iv) The modification or elimination of any service provided, or of any procedures utilized or any program conducted by the agency; or
- (v) The receipt of further training by the agency's management, staff or volunteers.

(B) The plan may be based upon any preliminary or upon any final findings by the department. The plan may be established in coordination with:

- (i) The conduct of any child abuse or neglect investigation by the department of children's services;
- (ii) Any criminal investigation by a law enforcement agency;
- (iii) Any investigation of the child care agency by any other regulatory agency; or
- (iv) In any combination of these investigations, and may be based upon any preliminary or final findings of such departments or agencies. The plan may also incorporate any recommendations of such departments or agencies based upon their preliminary or final findings.

(3) The department may enforce the provisions of the safety plan by civil penalty not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500), by suspension of the agency's license if appropriate, by issuance of a restricted license to the child care agency, by denial or revocation of the child care agency's license, or by any combination of these penalties.

(4) Any plan that exceeds ninety (90) days when proposed or that continues for more than ninety (90) days may be appealed to the child care agency board of review.

(d) Any violation of the inspection rights established in this section is a Class A misdemeanor.

71-3-509. Violations of licensing regulations — Probation — Civil penalties — Suspension, denial and revocation of licenses — Appeal procedures.

(a) If any complaint is made to the department concerning any alleged violation of the laws or regulations governing a child care agency, the department shall investigate such complaint and shall take such action as it deems necessary to protect the children in the care of such agency.

(b)(1) If the department determines that a child care agency is not in compliance with the laws and regulations governing its operation, the department may place the agency on probation for a definite period of not less than thirty (30) days nor more than sixty (60) days, as determined by the department. Upon a determination by the department to place an agency on probation, the department shall serve written notice to the agency by personal delivery describing the violations of the licensing laws or rules that support the basis for the probationary status and the procedures for appeal of the probationary status. Ten (10) business days after the service of the probation notice on the agency, the department shall require the agency to post the notice of probation as directed by the department.

(2)(A) If placed on probation, the agency shall immediately post a copy of the probation notice, together with a list provided by the department of the violations that were the basis for the probation, in a conspicuous place as directed by the department and with the agency's license, and the agency shall immediately notify in writing the custodians of each of the children in its care of the agency's status, the basis for the probation and of the agency's right to an informal review of the probationary status.

(B) If the agency requests an informal review within two (2) business days of the imposition of probation, either verbally or in writing to the department's licensing staff that imposed the probation, the department shall informally review the probationary status by a licensing supervisor or other designee who was not involved in the decision to impose the probation. The agency may submit any written or oral statements as argument to the licensing supervisor or designee within five (5) business days of the imposition of the probation. Written and oral statements may be received by any available electronic means. The licensing supervisor or designee shall render a decision in writing upholding, modifying or lifting the probationary status within seven (7) business days of the imposition of the probation.

(3) If the licensing supervisor or designee does not lift the probation under subdivision (b)(2)(B), the agency may also appeal such action in writing to the commissioner within five (5) business days of the receipt of the notice of the licensing supervisor or designee's decision regarding the agency's probationary status as determined in subdivision (b)(2)(B). If timely appealed, the department shall conduct an administrative hearing pursuant to the contested case, provisions of the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act, compiled at title 4, chapter 5, part 3, concerning the department's action within fifteen (15) business days of receipt of the appeal, and shall render a decision in writing within seven (7) business days following conclusion of the hearing. The hearing officer may uphold, modify or lift the probation.

(4) This subsection (b) shall be discretionary with the department, and shall not be a prerequisite to any licensing action, to impose a civil penalty or to suspend, deny or revoke a license of a child care agency.

(c)(1) If the department determines that there exists any violation with respect to any person or entity required to be licensed pursuant to this part, the department may assess a civil penalty against such person or entity for each separate violation of a statute, rule or order pertaining to such person or entity in an amount ranging from fifty dollars ($50.00) for minor violations up to a maximum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for major violations or violations resulting in death or injury to a child as defined in the rules of the department. Each day of continued violation constitutes a separate violation.

(2) The department shall by rule establish a graduated schedule of civil penalties designating the minimum and maximum civil penalties that may be assessed pursuant to this subsection (c). In developing the graduated civil penalty procedure, the following factors may be considered:

(A) Whether the amount imposed will be a substantial economic deterrent to the violator;

(B) The circumstances leading to the violation and the agency's history of violations;

(C)(i) The extent of deviation from the statutes, rules or orders governing the operation of the child care agency;

(ii) The severity of the violation, including specifically the level of risk of harm to the children in care of the person or entity caused by the violation; and

(iii) The penalty may be further classified based upon whether the violation resulted in the issuance of an order of summary suspension, denial or revocation of the license of the agency and whether death or injury of a child occurred as a result of violation;

(D) The economic benefits gained by the violator as a result of noncompliance;

(E) The agency's efforts to comply with the licensing requirements; and

(F) The interest of the public.

(3) The department shall assess the civil penalty in an order that states the reasons for the assessment of the civil penalty, the factors used to determine its assessment and the amount of the penalty.

(4) The order may be served on the licensee personally by an authorized agent of the department who shall complete an affidavit of service, or the order may be served by certified mail, return receipt requested.

(5) The licensee may appeal the penalty to the board of review by filing a request for an appeal in writing with the commissioner within ten (10) days of the service of the order.

(6)(A) Civil penalties assessed pursuant to this subsection (c) shall become final ten (10) days after the date an order of assessment is served if not timely appealed, or, if timely appealed, within seven (7) days following entry of the board's order unless the board's order is stayed.

(B) If the violator fails to pay an assessment when it becomes final, the department may apply to the chancery court for a judgment and seek execution of such judgment.

(C) Jurisdiction for recovery of such penalties shall be in the chancery court of Davidson County.

(7) All sums recovered pursuant to this subsection (c) shall be paid into the state treasury, but shall be earmarked to be used by the department exclusively to improve child care quality in this state by funding activities that include, but are not limited to, child care provider training activities, but excluding any costs associated with conducting criminal background checks.

(8) This subsection (c) relative to civil penalties shall be discretionary with the department, and shall not be a prerequisite to any licensing action to suspend, deny or revoke a license of a child care agency. Civil penalties may also be imposed in conjunction with the probation, suspension, denial or revocation of a license.

(d)(1) If the department determines that any applicant for a provisional license has failed to attain, or an existing licensee has failed to maintain, compliance with licensing laws or regulations after reasonable notice of such failure and a reasonable opportunity to demonstrate compliance with licensing laws or regulations, the department may deny the license following the issuance of a provisional license or may revoke the existing license; provided, that the department at any time may deny a provisional license if the applicant fails to meet the initial requirements for its issuance; and, provided, further, that if the department determines that repeated or serious violations of licensing laws or regulations warrant the denial or revocation of the license, then, notwithstanding any provisions of § 4-5-320 or this subsection (d) to the contrary, the department may seek denial or revocation of the license regardless of the licensee's demonstration of compliance either before or after the notice of denial of the application or before or after notice of the revocation.

(2) Notwithstanding § 4-5-320, the notice of denial or revocation may be served personally by an authorized representative of the department who shall verify service of the notice by affidavit, or the notice may be served by certified mail, return receipt requested.

(3) If application for a provisional license is denied, a license is denied following the issuance of a provisional license, or if an existing license is revoked, the applicant may appeal the denial or revocation by requesting in writing to the department a hearing before the child care agency board of review within ten (10) days of the personal delivery or mailing date of the notice of denial or revocation. Failure to timely appeal shall result in the expiration of any existing license immediately upon the expiration of the time for appeal.

(4) The hearing upon the denial or revocation shall be heard by the board of review within thirty (30) days of the date of service of the notice of denial or revocation; provided, that, for good cause as stated in an order entered on the record, the board or the administrative law judge may continue the hearing. In order to protect the children in the care of the agency from any risk to their health, safety and welfare, the board or administrative law judge shall reset the hearing at the earliest date that circumstances permit.

(5)(A) If timely appeal is made, pending the hearing upon the denial or revocation, the child care agency may continue to operate pending the decision of the board of review unless the license is summarily suspended as provided in subsection (e).

(B) The board, as part of its decision regarding the status of the applicant's application for a license or the licensee's license, may direct that the child care agency be allowed to operate on a probationary or conditional status, or may grant or continue the license with any restrictions or conditions on the agency's authority to provide care.

(e)(1) Subject to this subsection (e), if the department determines at any time that the health, safety or welfare of the children in care of the child care agency imperatively requires emergency action, and incorporates a finding to that effect in its order, summary suspension of the license may be ordered by the department pending any further proceedings for revocation, denial or other action. If the department determines that revocation or denial of the license is warranted following suspension, those proceedings shall be promptly instituted and determined as authorized by this part.

(2) The department shall set forth with specificity in its order the legal and factual basis for its decision, stating in the order the specific laws or regulations that were violated by the agency, and shall state with specificity in the order the reasons that the issuance of the order of summary suspension is necessary to adequately protect the health, safety or welfare of children in the care of the child care agency. Summary suspension may be ordered in circumstances that have resulted in death, injury or harm to a child or that have posed or threatened to pose a serious and immediate threat of harm or injury to a child based upon the intentional or negligent failure to comply with licensing laws or regulations.

(3) In issuing an order of summary suspension of a license, the department shall use, at a minimum, the following procedures:

(A) The department shall proceed with the summary suspension of the agency's license and shall notify the licensee of the opportunity for an informal hearing within three (3) business days of the issuance of the order of summary suspension;

(B) The notice provided to the licensee may be provided by any reasonable means and, consistent with subdivision (e)(2), shall inform the licensee of the reasons for the action or intended action by the department and of the opportunity for an informal hearing as permitted by subdivision (e)(3)(C);

(C)(i) The informal hearing described by this subdivision (e)(3) shall not be required to be held under the contested case provisions of the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act;

(ii) The hearing is intended to provide an informal, reasonable opportunity for the licensee to present to the hearing official the licensee's version of the circumstances leading to the suspension order;

(iii) The sole issues to be considered are:

(a) Whether the public health, safety or welfare imperatively require emergency action by the department;

(b) What, if any, corrective measures have been taken by the child care agency following the violation of licensing laws or regulations and prior to the issuance of the summary suspension order that eliminate the threat to the public health, safety or welfare of the children in the care of the agency; and

(c) Whether the agency demonstrates a reasonable ability to maintain or continue compliance with all relevant licensing laws and regulations; and

(iv) The hearing official may lift, modify or continue the order of summary suspension;

(D) Subsequent to the hearing on the summary suspension, the department may proceed with revocation or denial of the license or other action as authorized by this part, regardless of the decision concerning summary suspension of the license.

(4) The department shall by rule establish any further necessary criteria that it determines are required for the determination of circumstances that warrant imposition of the summary suspension order and any other necessary procedures for implementation of the summary suspension process.

(5) If the conditions existing in the child care agency present an immediate threat to the health, safety or welfare of the children in care, the department may also seek a temporary restraining order from the chancery or circuit court of the county in which the child care agency is located, seeking immediate closure of the agency to prevent further harm or threat of harm to the children in care, or immediate restraint against any violations of the licensing laws or regulations that are harming or that threaten harm to the children in care. The department may seek any further injunctive relief as permitted by law in order to protect children from the violations, or threatened violations of the licensing laws or regulations. The use of injunctive relief as provided by this subdivision (e)(5) may be used as an alternative, or supplementary measure, to the issuance of an order of summary suspension or any other administrative proceedings.

(f)(1) In determining whether to deny, revoke or summarily suspend a license, the department may choose to deny, revoke or suspend only certain authority of the licensee to operate and may permit the licensee to continue operation, but may restrict or modify the licensee's authority to provide certain services or perform certain functions, including, but not limited to, transportation or food service, enrollment of children at the agency, the agency's hours of operation, the agency's use of certain parts of the agency's physical facilities or any other function of the child care agency that the department determines should be restricted or modified to protect the health, safety or welfare of the children. The board of review, in considering the actions to be taken regarding the license, may likewise restrict a license or place whatever conditions on the license and the licensee it deems appropriate for the protection of children in the care of the agency.

(2) The actions by the department or the board authorized by this subsection (f) may be appealed as otherwise provided in this part for any denial, revocation or suspension.

(g)(1) When an application for a license has been denied, or a license has been revoked, on one (1) occasion, the child care agency may not reapply for a license for a period of one (1) year from the effective date of the denial or revocation order if not appealed, or, if appealed, from the effective date of the board's or reviewing court's order.

(2) If application for a license has been denied, or a license has been revoked, on two (2) occasions, the child care agency may not reapply for a license for a period of two (2) years from the effective date of the denial or revocation if not appealed, or, if appealed, from the effective date of the board's or reviewing court's order.

(3) If an application for a license has been denied, or a license has been revoked, on three (3) occasions, the agency shall not receive another license for the care of children.

(4) No person who served as full or part owner or as director or as a member of the management of a child care agency shall receive a license to operate a child care agency if that person participated in such capacity in a child care agency that has been denied a license, or that had a license revoked, on three (3) occasions.

(5)(A) The time restrictions of subdivisions (g)(1) and (2) may be waived by the board of review in the hearing in which the denial or revocation is sustained, or, if requested by the former licensee in writing to the commissioner, in a separate subsequent hearing before the board of review or, in the discretion of the commissioner, upon review by the commissioner.

(B) The agency must show to the board's or the commissioner's satisfaction that the agency has corrected the deficiencies that led to the denial or revocation, and that the child care agency can demonstrate that it has the present and future ability, and is willing, to maintain compliance with licensing laws or regulations. The decision of the board or the commissioner shall be reduced to an order, which shall be a final order pursuant to the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act, and may be appealed pursuant to § 4-5-322.

(C) No waiver may be granted for any permanent restriction that has been imposed pursuant to subdivision (g)(3).

(h)(1) In conducting hearings of the appeal of a denial or revocation of a license before the board of review or for review of summary suspension orders, it is the legislative intent that such hearings be promptly determined consistent with the safety of the children in the care of the child care agency appealing the department's licensing action and with the due process rights of the license applicants or licensees.

(2) If, however, the administrative procedures division of the office of the secretary of state certifies by letter to the recording secretary of the board of review that the division's contested case docket prevents the scheduling of a hearing on the appeal of the denial or revocation of a license before the board of review within the initial time frames set forth in this part, then the department shall have the authority to obtain an attorney who shall act as the administrative law judge to conduct the proceedings before the board. The substitute administrative law judge may be obtained by contract with a private attorney or by contract or agreement with another state agency. The substitute administrative law judge shall have all authority as an administrative law judge of the department of state. The hearing may be continued by order of the board for the purpose of obtaining a substitute judge.

(3) Hearings on summary suspension orders shall be heard by an administrative law judge from the administrative procedures division of the secretary of state's office, if the administrative law judge is available within the time frames for a summary suspension hearing. If the administrative procedures division of the secretary of state's office informs the department that an administrative law judge is unavailable, the department may obtain an administrative law judge or hearing officer who is not an employee of the department who may be obtained by the department by contract with a private attorney or by contract or agreement with another state agency. The administrative law judge or hearing officer shall have authority, as otherwise permitted in this section, to enter orders binding on the department resulting from show cause hearings involving summary suspension orders. If the administrative procedures division of the office of the secretary of state informs the department that the division's contested case docket prevents the scheduling of a hearing on the issuance of a summary suspension order within the initial time frames set forth in this part, and if the department is unable to obtain a private or state agency administrative law judge or hearing officer to hear the show cause hearing on the summary suspension order within the time frames set forth in this part, the department may utilize a hearing officer from the department's administrative review section.

(i) By July 1, 2000, any initial rules to implement this section shall be by emergency rules of the department; provided, however, that any permanent rules shall be promulgated pursuant to the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act.

(d) The commissioner of education or the commissioner's designee shall serve as the chair of the board until a chair is selected by the board. The board shall elect a vice chair who shall serve in the absence of the chair. If the chair resigns, is unable to perform the duties of the chair or is removed, or the chair's term on the board expires, the commissioner of education shall appoint a new chair until the board can elect a chair. The vice chair shall have authority to sign all orders of the board in the absence of the chair and for actions of the panels under subsection (f).

(e) The recording secretary for the board shall be a member of the professional staff of the department of human services based upon an inter-agency agreement for the services of the recording secretary as the commissioners of children's services and human services may deem appropriate, and any person selected by the agreement of the departments shall serve as recording secretary for the board. Any orders of the panel shall be signed by the chair of the panel, or by the board chair or vice chair.

(g) Any necessary regulations governing the board's procedure shall be promulgated by the department of human services, in consultation with the department of children's services, in accordance with the Uniform

Administrative Procedures Act, compiled in title 4, chapter 5, part 2.

(h) Any applicant or licensee may petition the chancery court of Davidson County pursuant to § 4-5-322 for judicial review of the board's decision.

(i)(1) All members of the review board shall serve without pay.

(2) The four (4) members at-large who are selected to serve on the board and the members from the standards committees of the departments shall receive reimbursement in conformity with law and regulations for their expenses incurred in the performance of their official duties pursuant to this part. Such expenses for the representatives from the standards committees from the respective department shall be paid from the funds appropriated to the departments.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this section, in making appointments to the standards committees, the departments shall strive to ensure that the membership of the standards committees includes a balance of representatives of the regulated industry and persons whose expertise would be of assistance to the departments. The departments shall appoint child advocates, social workers, attorneys, and other such persons with knowledge and expertise in the specified area, as well as citizen members to the committees.

71-3-514. Establishment of drug testing policy.

(a)(1) All persons or entities operating a child care agency as defined in this part, unless exempt as provided in § 71-3-503, shall establish a drug testing policy for employees, directors, licensees and operators of child care agencies and for other persons providing services under contract or for remuneration for the agency, who have direct contact, as defined by the department, with a child in the care of the agency.

(2) The policy shall specify how testing should be completed by the child care agency and provide for immediate and effective enforcement action involving such persons by the child care agency in the event of a positive drug test.

(3) The policy shall be provided by the child care agency to persons employed or engaged for contract or remunerative services prior to July 1, 2009, and to all such persons upon initial employment or initial engagement in contract or remunerative services for the agency.

(4) The policy established pursuant to this section shall not supersede the requirements of § 71-3-502(d)(7)(C)(v) that all persons described in § 71-3-502(d)(7)(C)(v) satisfactorily complete a drug test prior to engaging in transportation services for children in a child care agency.

(b)(1) The policy shall require drug testing based upon reasonable suspicion that employees, directors, licensees, or operators of a child care agency, or other persons providing services under contract or for remuneration for the agency are engaged in the use of illegal drugs.

(2) The policy shall require persons employed or engaged for contract or remunerative services prior to July 1, 2009, to have a drug test based upon reasonable suspicion that the persons are engaged in the use of illegal drugs.

(3) Events that may give rise to reasonable suspicion for purposes of requiring a drug test include, but are not limited to:

(A) Deterioration in job performance or changes in personal traits or characteristics;

(B) Appearance in a specific incident or observation which indicates that an individual is under the present influence of drugs;

(C) Changes in personal behavior not attributable to other factors;

(D) Involvement in or contribution to an accident where the use of drugs is reasonably suspected, regardless of whether the accident involves actual injury; or

(E) Alleged violation of or conviction of criminal drug law statutes involving the use of illegal drugs or prescription drugs.

(c) A child care agency shall, at no expense to the state, maintain for five (5) years and immediately make available to the department upon request a copy of drug testing results for an individual who is employed as a caregiver, director, licensee or operator at the child care agency, or for other persons providing services under contract or for remuneration for the agency, who have direct contact with children in the care of the agency.

(d) It shall be the responsibility of the individual who is to be tested to pay the appropriate fees necessary to obtain a drug test pursuant to the policy established by a child care agency. Drug testing results obtained under this section are confidential and may be disclosed only for purposes of enforcing this part.

(A) Continue coverage for enrollees currently in the program;

(B) Extend coverage to potential new enrollees, or categories of new enrollees, at current, higher or lower income levels;

(d) The bureau of TennCare shall have the authority to develop and implement initiatives or program modifications to control the costs of the TennCare program to the extent permitted under federal law and the TennCare waiver. Such cost-saving measures may include, but are not limited to, the elimination of covered benefits or limitations on the scope, intensity, or duration of such benefits; implementation of cost sharing requirements for enrollees, including the medicaid population; increases in cost sharing requirements for the expansion population; enforcement of cost sharing requirements through denial of service for failure to meet co-payment requirements with alternative access to medically necessary care through established safety net providers; enforcement of collection of required co-payments by providers; reassignment of enrollees into different eligibility categories; restrictions on eligibility for non-mandatory medicaid or waiver expansion categories; and the elimination from TennCare eligibility of some or all of the non-mandatory medicaid or waiver expansion categories. The bureau of TennCare may implement a premium-assistance initiative for persons disenrolled from TennCare. The bureau of TennCare shall also be authorized, in establishing or modifying benefits or cost sharing requirements, to define, through rules and regulations, categories of eligible enrollees who may be exempted from some or all benefit limits or cost sharing requirements, along with any requirements that must be met by such enrollees to prove or maintain exempted status. (a)(1) The departments of health and human services, as may be designated by the governor, shall make the determination of eligibility under this part, subject to approval of the finance, ways and means and health and welfare committees of the senate and the finance, ways and means and health committees of the house of representatives. Such determination of eligibility may be accomplished through contractual agreement with agencies of the federal government. Eligibility for assistance shall be determined in a manner that will ensure that medical assistance is provided, within the limits of available resources subject to federal financial participation, to all persons who, although ineligible for supplementary security income (SSI), complied under Title XVI of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. § 1381 et seq.), or are medically needy.

(2)(A) A notice that awards medicaid benefits shall include the following statement:

"A person with both medicare and medicaid does not usually need other health insurance. Did you buy a medicare supplement policy after November 4, 1991? If so, you can have the insurance company put your policy and your payments on hold. The insurance company can do this for up to twenty-four (24) months while you are on medicaid. If you lose medicaid during the twenty-four-month period, you can get your policy back.

"To put your policy on hold, contact your insurance company within ninety (90) days of when you get medicaid. To get your policy back, you must tell your insurance company within ninety (90) days after you lose medicaid."

(B) A notice that terminates medicaid benefits shall include the following statement:

"Did you have medicare supplement insurance that you put on hold while you had medicaid? You may be able to get your policy back if you have put it on hold less than two (2) years ago. Contact your insurance company within ninety (90) days after you lose medicaid. Tell the insurance company that you want your policy reinstated."

(b) In determining the eligibility of an individual for benefits under this chapter, resources that have been previously owned and transferred by the individual, or such individual's spouse, shall be treated in a manner consistent with Title XIX of the Social Security Act.

(c) Any transaction described in subsection (b) shall be presumed to have been for the purpose of establishing eligibility for benefits or assistance under this part, unless such individual or eligible spouse furnishes convincing evidence to establish that the transaction was exclusively for some other purpose.

(d) For purposes of subsection (b), the value of such a resource or interest shall be the fair market value of such resource or interest at the time it was sold or given away, less the amount of compensation received for such resource or interest, if any.

(e) In the event that any resource, or interest in any resource, is given away or sold for less than fair market value by a person holding a power of attorney by the owner of the resource or interest, such resource or interest shall not be counted as a resource to the owner of the property pursuant to subsections (b)-(d) under the following circumstances:

(1) The power of attorney was not executed for the purpose of establishing or continuing medicaid eligibility;

(2) The owner of the property has, at the time of the transfer, neither actual nor constructive knowledge of the transfer or is unable because of mental or physical incapacity to take reasonable and necessary steps to prevent such sale or transfer.

(f) If any resource or interest in any resource is given away or sold for less than fair market value by a person holding a power of attorney by the owner of such resource, the sale or gift shall be set aside by a court of competent jurisdiction as being in defraud of the state upon motion of the state of Tennessee or of any party representing the owner of the resource, unless the person holding the power of attorney proves by a preponderance of the evidence that the sale or gift was exclusively for some other purpose than the establishment or continuance of medicaid eligibility.

(g) In addition to the requirements of subsection (f), the person exercising the power of attorney and the person to whom the resource is given or sold for less than fair market value shall be jointly and severally liable to the state of Tennessee for any costs incurred by it in providing medicaid benefits to the owner of the resource, until such time as the conveyance is set aside, for any costs, including attorney fees, court costs, and any other related expenses, incurred by it in having the conveyance set aside, and for any losses incurred as a result of any damage, destruction, expenditure, waste, transfer of the resources or other act of the persons involved that diminishes the value of the resource. Such liability shall be limited to the actual value of the resource.

(h) In the event that a person otherwise eligible for medicaid has filed an action in court to set aside a transfer for less than value because of fraud, duress, trick or otherwise, such person shall be or shall remain eligible, or both, and the state of Tennessee shall have recourse under subsections (f) and (g) to set aside the transfer and recover.

(i) In addition to the other categories of eligibility under this section, there shall be a category of medical assistance eligibility for those children who:

- (1)(A) Were born after September 30, 1967;
- (B) Are eighteen (18) years of age or younger; and

(C) Are in intact families that meet the TANF income and resource requirements; or

(2) As provided in Title IV of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. § 601 et seq.), have been determined to be a child with special needs, for whom there is in effect an adoption assistance agreement between the department of children's services and an adoptive parent or parents, and who the department of children's services has determined cannot be placed with an adoptive parent or parents without medical assistance because such child has special needs for medical, mental health, or rehabilitative care.

(j) Subsections (b)-(i) shall not limit the ability of the state to extend medical assistance to persons who are medically needy pursuant to any federal waiver received by the state that waives any or all of the provisions of Title XIX or pursuant to any other federal law as adopted by amendment to the required Title XIX state plan.

(k) Effective January 1, 1998, if the actual enrollment of non-previously enrolled children under eighteen (18) years of age that began on April 1, 1997, has not reached seventy-five percent (75%) of anticipated enrollment level of fifty thousand (50,000) children, the commissioner of health shall offer enrollment in the Title XIX waiver program, TennCare, to children under eighteen (18) years of age whose family income is below two hundred percent (200%) of the federal poverty level schedule in effect for calculation of TennCare premiums. Such offer of enrollment in the TennCare program shall be made in accordance with TennCare promulgated rules and regulations. It is the legislative intent that this section be implemented only to the extent that it is determined to be consistent with the terms, conditions and eligibility criteria of the TennCare waiver as approved by the United States department of health and human services and that state and federal funding is available for such purpose.

(l) Beginning January 1, 2003, the bureau of TennCare or its designee shall determine eligibility for TennCare on an annual basis as follows:

(1) All non-medicaid eligible TennCare enrollees will have the responsibility to complete an eligibility process each year; in the absence of reapplication and completion of the process, coverage will expire;

(2) Upon notification by the bureau of TennCare, the enrollee must submit application for continuation of eligibility within ninety (90) days; once an application has been timely submitted, the enrollee must provide all required documentation to verify continued eligibility in accordance with TennCare rules and regulations;

(3) Notification to the enrollee is presumed when a notice is mailed to the last known address;

(4) Lack of receipt of the notification does not excuse the responsibility of the enrollee to submit an application and provide documentation for continuation of eligibility as required by TennCare rules and regulations if the enrollee has changed addresses and failed to notify the bureau of TennCare or its designee; and

(5) Failure of the enrollee to contact the bureau of TennCare or its designee concerning a change in address relieves the bureau of responsibility for contacting the enrollee.

(m) To the extent permitted by federal law, the state may impose a reasonable fee for costs of eligibility determinations for applicants applying for medical assistance as part of the medically eligible expansion population under the TennCare waiver.

(n) In the TennCare waiver expansion population, except for persons medically eligible as uninsurable persons, enrollment shall not be permitted for individuals from households with incomes of greater than two hundred fifty percent (250%) of federal poverty levels.

(o) Except as may be required by federal law or the TennCare waiver, no person shall be eligible to receive TennCare benefits, except employee health insurance subsidy payments, as part of the TennCare waiver expansion population if such person is enrolled in a health insurance plan as such coverage is defined in TennCare rules and regulations, or if such person is eligible for participation in medicare or group health insurance offered through an employer or family member's employer, or COBRA coverage.

(p) All determinations of eligibility for persons medically eligible as uninsurable in the TennCare waiver's expansion population shall be made on the basis of health conditions that prevent the person from obtaining health insurance. Such a determination will be based upon a review of medical records and information in accordance with TennCare rules and regulations.

(q) To the extent permitted by the terms of relevant court orders and decrees, any applicable federal waiver under Title XIX of the federal Social Security Act or any other federal law, the bureau of TennCare may not remove persons from eligibility for or participation in medical assistance provided pursuant to this chapter for reasons relating to restricting eligibility or enrollment for fiscal or other reasons that are not required by federal law until the bureau has complied with both of the following:

(1) The bureau has verified at the time of application the validity of the social security number of every person enrolled in the medical assistance program provided pursuant to this chapter with appropriate federal databases in order to determine whether persons who are not lawful residents of the United States are present in the program, or are otherwise fraudulent applicants; and

(2) Removed from the program all such ineligible persons who are current recipients in the program but are not lawful residents of the United States, or are otherwise fraudulent applicants.

(r)(1) An individual who is an inmate of a public institution shall have eligibility for medical assistance suspended but not terminated during periods of actual incarceration.

(2) An individual who is an inmate of a public institution shall be eligible for temporary reinstatement of medical assistance for care received outside of a jail or correctional facility in a hospital or other health care facility for more than twenty-four (24) hours.

(3) A public institution may make efforts to establish eligibility for or renew assistance for such individuals prior to their release from the public institution.

"(b) The fiscal review committee, in consultation with the bureau of TennCare and the select oversight committee on TennCare (repealed), shall evaluate the responses from potential contractors and shall, no later than January 1, 2003, report its findings to the general assembly, the commissioner of finance and administration, the comptroller of the treasury and the governor, relative to whether eligibility and re-verification services should be contracted and procured through competitive proposals."

and the use of opioids by women of childbearing age constitute a critical problem for enrollees in the TennCare program, healthcare providers, the TennCare program, public health, and the fiscal well-being of the state.

(c) In order to address issues raised by births of children with neonatal abstinence syndrome and the use of opioids by women of childbearing age in the TennCare program, the bureau is directed to promptly fully review these issues and to develop an appropriate and accountable policy response that includes both primary prevention and secondary prevention.

(h) The bureau shall recommend to the general assembly any legislation necessary to implement initiatives selected under subsection (g) on or before January 15, 2018.

(i) If the commissioner of finance and administration, in consultation with the bureau, determines that a federal waiver or an amendment to an existing federal waiver is necessary in order to implement initiatives under this section, the commissioner shall promptly apply for an appropriate waiver or waiver amendment to the United States department of health and human services.

(3) Must provide children applying for or enrolled in Part A of the program with the same appeal rights accorded all other TennCare applicants and enrollees; and

(4) Must determine eligibility for services based solely upon medical necessity; and

(5) Must provide children applying for or enrolled in Part B of the program with the same appeal rights accorded all other TennCare and department of intellectual and developmental disabilities applicants and enrollees.

(d) If the bureau of TennCare finds it cost-effective and all necessary federal waivers are obtained, then parents or guardians of a child meeting the criteria in subsection (b) or (c) may be authorized to hire and manage care providers for specified wraparound services using a consumer direction model.

(e) Beginning February 1, 2020, and no later than February 1 of each year thereafter, the bureau of TennCare and the department of intellectual and developmental disabilities shall issue an annual joint report to the insurance committee of the house of representatives and the health and welfare committee of the senate on the status of the Katie Beckett program that includes, but is not limited to, the following information:

In administering these programs, the department with authority over each program:

(1) Shall divide all funds received under this part equally, with fifty percent (50%) of the funds to be allocated to the department of finance and administration for family violence shelters and shelter services and fifty percent (50%) to be allocated to the department of children's services for child abuse prevention services, unless the statute or appropriations bill allocating the funds provides otherwise;

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

Rule 101. Title of Rules — Scope — Purpose and Construction.

- (a) TITLE. These rules shall be known and cited as the Tennessee Rules of Juvenile Practice and Procedure.
- (b) SCOPE. These rules apply to delinquent, unruly, and dependent and neglect proceedings.
 - (c) EXCLUSIONS.
 - (1) Traffic offenses are governed by T.C.A. § 37-1-146.
 - (2) Surrenders of parental rights are governed by T.C.A. §§ 36-1-111 and 112.
 - (3) The Tennessee Rules of Civil Procedure shall govern the following proceedings:
 - (A) termination of parental rights pursuant to T.C.A. § 36-1-113;
 - (B) parentage pursuant to T.C.A. § 36-2-301, et seq;
 - (C) guardianship and mental health commitment involving children;
 - (D) child custody proceedings under T.C.A. §§ 36-6-101, et seq., 36-6-201, et seq., and 37-1-104(a)(2) and (e);

(E) grandparent visitation proceedings pursuant to T.C.A. § 36-6-306; and

(F) civil contempt pursuant to T.C.A. §§ 29-9-104 and 105.

(4) The procedures employed in general sessions court under the Tennessee Rules of Criminal Procedure shall govern the following proceedings:

(A) child abuse prosecutions, pursuant to T.C.A. §§ 37-1-412 and 39-15-401;

(B) nonsupport of children pursuant to T.C.A. § 39-15-101, et. seq.;

(C) contributing to the delinquency or unruly behavior of a child, pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-156;

(D) contributing to the dependency and neglect of a child, pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-157;

(E) offenses involving adults arising under T.C.A. § 49-6-3001, et. seq.; and

(F) criminal contempt pursuant to T.C.A. § 29-9-102.

(5) The Rules of the Tennessee Supreme Court shall govern proceedings under T.C.A. §§ 37-10-303 and 304.

(d) PURPOSE AND CONSTRUCTION. These rules are designed to implement the purposes of the juvenile court as expressed in T.C.A. § 37-1-101 by providing speedy and inexpensive procedures for the hearing of juvenile cases that assure fairness and equity and that protect the rights and interests of all parties; by promoting uniformity in practice and procedure; and by providing guidance to judges, magistrates, attorneys, parties, youth services and probation officers, and others participating in the juvenile court. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. These rules are promulgated pursuant to statutory authority granting rule-making power to the Supreme Court. They are intended to provide a simple and practical means of operating in juvenile court in a manner which will adequately implement the law.

These rules are not comprehensive. For example, they do not provide specific procedures for proceedings for the transfer between Tennessee and another state of children found to be delinquent, unruly, or dependent and neglected, for disposition as provided in T.C.A. §§ 37-1-141 - 37-1-144; nor do they deal with proceedings under the Interstate Juvenile Compact as found at T.C.A. §§ 37-4-101 - 37-4-106; with proceedings under the Interstate Compact on the Placement of Children as found at T.C.A. §§ 37-4-201, 37-4-202; with proceedings in which children seek to obtain judicial consent to marriage, employment, or enlistment in the armed services; nor with special medical proceedings pursuant to T.C.A. § 33-8-301, et. seq. It is intended that these rules be applied in every instance in which they address the procedure involved. If they do not expressly or by clear implication relate to the procedure in question, then existing law is to be applied.

The Commission recommends that local juvenile courts adopt their own written rules consistent with these rules and with relevant statutory and case law, to cover particular circumstances not presently addressed by these rules. Examples of areas which might be addressed by local rules are suggested in the comments to these rules.

Rule 1.01(c) identifies the proceedings not covered by these rules and denotes the statutes or rules that are applicable to each type of proceeding.

The 2016 amendments revised and re-ordered the rules, dividing them into four sections: (1) general, (2) delinquent and unruly, (3) dependent and neglected, and (4) foster care.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 101, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 101 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 102. [Reserved]

Rule 103. Service of process and summons.

(a) GENERAL PROVISIONS. After the petition has been filed the clerk shall schedule a time for a hearing. The clerk shall, without delay, issue the summonses to the parties, including a child alleged to be delinquent or unruly, requiring them to appear before the court to answer the allegations of the petition. The summons shall also be directed to the child alleged to be dependent and neglected and 14 or more years of age. A copy of the petition shall accompany the summons unless the summons is served by publication in which case the published summons shall indicate the general nature of the allegations and where a copy of the petition can be obtained.

(b) ORDER TO APPEAR AND BRING CHILD TO HEARING. The court may endorse upon the summons an order directing the parents, guardian or other custodian of the child to appear personally at the hearing and directing the person having custody, possession or control of the child to bring the child to the hearing.

(c) SERVICE OF SUMMONS.

(1) With the exception of an emergency hearing, preliminary hearing, or detention hearing, if a party to be served with a summons is within this state and can be found, the summons shall be served upon the party personally at least 3 days before the hearing. If the party is within this state and cannot be found, but the party's address is known or can with reasonable diligence be ascertained, the summons may be served upon the party by mailing a copy by registered or certified mail at least 5 days before the hearing. If the party is without this state but can be found or the party's address ascertained, service of the summons may be made either by delivering a copy to the party personally or by mailing a copy to the party by registered or certified mail at least 5 days before the hearing. Service by mail shall not be the basis for the entry of a judgment by default unless the record contains a return receipt showing personal acceptance by the party. If service by mail is unsuccessful, it may be tried again or other methods authorized by these rules or by statute may be used. If a party refuses to accept delivery by mail and it is so stated in the return receipt of the United States Postal Service, the written return receipt if returned and filed in the action shall be deemed an actual and valid service of the summons, process, or notice. Service by mail is complete upon mailing.

(2) If the child has been removed from the home, an attempt must be made to serve the summons and petition prior to an emergency hearing, preliminary hearing, or detention hearing. If service cannot be achieved prior to the hearing, the parties shall be notified as soon as possible of the date, time and place of the hearing, the child's custody status and the reasons for the child's removal.

(3) If after reasonable effort the party cannot be found and the party's mailing address cannot be ascertained, the court may order service of the summons upon the party by publication in accordance with T.C.A. §§ 21-1-203 and 204. The hearing shall not be earlier than 5 days after the date of the last publication.

(4) Service of the summons may be made by any suitable person who is not a party and is not less than 18 years of age.

(5) The court may authorize the payment of the costs of service and of necessary travel expenses incurred by persons summoned or otherwise required to appear at the hearing, as provided by law.

(6) Service of a summons upon a party in a foreign country shall be pursuant to the Tennessee Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 4A - Service Upon Defendant In a Foreign Country.

(d) WAIVER OF SERVICE. A party other than a child may waive service of summons by written stipulation or voluntary appearance. A delinquent or unruly child may waive service of summons in accordance with Rule 205. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. The 2016 amendment adds a distinction in subdivision (c) between the requirements for emergency, preliminary and detention hearings and the requirements for other types of hearings. There may be a circumstance where a party has been notified of the hearing but has not been served. This does not relieve the petitioner of the obligation to effect service.

The time to serve a summons is excluded from Rule 110 regarding the calculation and extension of time. See Rule 201 regarding the initiation of cases in delinquent and unruly proceedings and Rule 301 for dependent and neglect proceedings.

If a party appears voluntarily at a hearing and has not been served, the court should provide the party with a copy of the petition and memorialize the service in an order or return.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 103, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 103 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 104. Appearance of attorney.

(a) ENTRY OF APPEARANCE. An attorney who undertakes to represent a party in any juvenile court action shall immediately notify the court, unless appointed by written order of the court. An attorney must notify all parties of the entry or appointment. For the purpose of this rule, the filing of any pleading signed by an attorney constitutes an entry of appearance.

(b) CONTINUED REPRESENTATION. An attorney who has entered an appearance or who has been appointed by the court shall continue such representation until relieved by order of the court.

(c) PROSECUTING ATTORNEY. Whenever required by statute or rule, or at his or her discretion, the district attorney general shall appear in the juvenile court and prosecute on behalf of the state. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. The Commission cautions attorneys to pay special attention to subdivision (b). In the absence of a court order relieving the attorney, that attorney remains attorney of record in any case to which the attorney was appointed or entered an appearance.

In no event should a youth services officer or other employee of the court appear as prosecutor in juvenile court or fulfill in any way such role. This does not, however, prevent the youth services officer from being the petitioner or a witness in a proceeding.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 104, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate

Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 104 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 105. Responsive pleadings and motions.

(a) ANSWER. A written answer to a petition shall not be required.

(b) MOTION.

(1) An application to the court for an order shall be by motion which, unless made during a hearing or trial, shall be in writing, shall state with particularity the grounds relied upon, and shall set forth the relief or order sought.

(2) Upon the filing of the motion, the clerk shall schedule a tentative date for the motion to be heard.

(3) All motions shall include the date upon which the motion is expected to be heard and shall be served on the parties a reasonable time prior to that date.

(4) A written response to a motion shall not be required. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. This rule was formerly Rule 20 of the Tennessee Rules of Juvenile Procedure.

The Commission notes that, although a written response to a pleading or motion is not required under these rules, it is not prohibited.

The Commission suggests that local rules would be an appropriate place to establish guidelines for what a "reasonable time" under this rule would be. This may differ among various localities due to the differences in dockets and available hearing dates. A best practice would be to consult with opposing counsel and any unrepresented parties in advance in order to set a date for hearing of any motion to ensure that all necessary persons are available.

Effective July 1, 2012, the Supreme Court adopted Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 10B governing motions seeking disqualification or recusal of a judge. Section 1 of Rule 10B provides a procedural framework for determining when the judge of a court of record should not preside over the case. In summary, Section 1 provides for the filing of a motion for disqualification or recusal and also provides for the judge's prompt ruling on the motion. Section 2 of Rule 10B governs appeals from the denial of such motions, and it provides that such appeals may be affected either by filing an interlocutory appeal as of right authorized by the rule or by raising the disqualification or recusal issue in an appeal as of right at the conclusion of the case. Under Section 2.01, those two methods of appeal are "the exclusive methods for seeking appellate review of any issue concerning the trial court's ruling on a motion filed pursuant to this Rule." (Emphasis added.) As a result, "neither Tenn. R. App. P. 9 nor Tenn. R. App. P. 10 may be used to seek an interlocutory or extraordinary appeal by permission concerning the judge's ruling on such a motion." Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 10B, Explanatory Comment to Section 2.

The Explanatory Comment to Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 10B § 1 notes that juvenile courts are courts of record and that juvenile court judges therefore are included within Section 1 of this Rule. Section 4 of Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 10B, however, governs motions for disqualification of judicial officers other than a judge of a court of record (e.g. magistrates, referees, and masters).

Attorneys or self-represented litigants should consult Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 10B, concerning the procedure for filing motions seeking the disqualification or recusal of a juvenile court judge or other judicial officer and for appealing from a denial of such a motion.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 105, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 105 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 106. Filing and service of pleadings and other papers.

(a) SERVICE — WHEN REQUIRED. Unless the Court otherwise orders, every order required by its terms to be served; every pleading subsequent to the original petition; and every written motion (other than ex parte), notice, appearance, or similar papers shall be served upon each of the parties, including the child alleged to be delinquent or unruly. Service shall also be made on a child alleged to be dependent and neglected, if age 14 or over. If a court appointed special advocate (CASA) is appointed, the CASA volunteer shall be served in the same manner as a party.

(b) SERVICE — HOW MADE.

(1) Whenever service of a pleading is required or permitted to be made on a party represented by an attorney or guardian ad litem, the service shall be made upon the attorney or guardian ad litem unless service on the party is ordered by the court. Service upon the attorney, guardian ad litem or upon a party shall be made by delivering a copy of the document to be served either in person, by leaving it at the person's office, by leaving it at the person's home in a conspicuous place or with a person of suitable age and discretion residing therein, or by mailing it to such person's last known address. If no address is known, service is completed by leaving a copy with the clerk of the court. Service by mail is complete upon mailing. Items which may be filed by facsimile transmission pursuant to this rule may be served by facsimile transmission.

(2) If all parties, their attorneys or guardians ad litem agree, in writing, service of documents may be made via email in Adobe PDF format in lieu of service by mail. A signed notice of such agreement, containing the email addresses of parties and the attorneys, shall be filed with the clerk.

(c) SERVICE — PROOF OF. Whenever any pleading or other paper is served, proof of the time and manner of such service shall be filed before action is taken thereon by the court or the parties. Proof may be by certificate of an attorney of record, the clerk, by affidavit of the person who served the papers, or by any other proof satisfactory to the court.

(d) FILING. All papers after the petition required to be served upon a party shall be filed with the court either before service or within a reasonable time thereafter. Discovery need not be filed, unless ordered by the court.

(e) FILING WITH THE COURT DEFINED. The filing of pleadings and other papers with the court as required by these rules shall be made by filing them with the clerk of the court, except that the judge may permit the papers to be filed with the judge, in which event the judge shall note thereon the filing date and immediately transmit them to the office of the clerk. The clerk shall endorse upon every pleading and other papers filed with the clerk in an action the date and hour of the filing. If papers required or permitted to be filed are prepared by or on behalf of a pro se litigant incarcerated in a correctional facility and are not received by the clerk of the court until after the deadline for filing, filing shall be timely if the papers were delivered to the appropriate individual at the correctional facility within the time allowed for filing. This provision shall also apply to service of papers by such litigants. "Correctional facility" shall include a prison, jail, county workhouse or similar institution in which the pro se litigant is incarcerated. Should timeliness of filing or service become an issue, the burden is on the pro se litigant to establish compliance with this provision.

(f) FACSIMILE FILING. The juvenile court clerk shall accept papers for filing by facsimile transmission as provided in Rule 5A of the Rules of Civil Procedure.

(g) FACSIMILE FILING EXCEPTIONS. The following documents shall not be filed by facsimile transmission:

(1) Any pleading or similar document for which a filing fee must be paid (excluding the facsimile service charge), including, without limitation, a petition, a request for a hearing before the judge from the magistrate's order, or a notice of appeal to a trial court or appellate court; or

(2) A summons; bond; a document requiring an official seal; or a document the court has previously ordered to be filed under seal.

(h) ELECTRONIC FILING, SIGNING, OR VERIFICATION. Any juvenile court may, by local rule, allow papers to be filed, signed or verified by electronic means that comply with technological standards promulgated by the Supreme Court. Pleadings and other papers filed electronically under such local rules shall be considered the same as written papers. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. Subdivision (a) addresses service of documents upon the parties subsequent to the filing of the original petition. This is intended to include service of any proposed permanency plan for a child in foster care prior to the initial or any subsequent ratification hearing.

Subdivision (b) allows for items which may be filed by facsimile to be served in the same manner. In addition, service upon a party, attorney, or guardian ad litem may be made by email upon a signed agreement of all parties, attorneys or guardians ad litem. Documents served by email are required to be attached as Adobe PDF files. Adobe PDF format was chosen because it is required for federal court filings and for service by email pursuant to Rule 5.02 of the Tennessee Rules of Civil Procedure.

Subdivision (f) requires the juvenile court clerk accept papers for filing by facsimile transmission as provided in Rule 5A of the Rules of Civil Procedure. Rule 5A.04 sets out the charge for facsimile filing, and specifies the procedure for collecting the charge when the sending party has been allowed to proceed on a paupers oath. The documents excepted from facsimile filing in subdivision (g) of this Rule are consistent with the exceptions in Rule 5A of the Rules of Civil Procedure. When filing by facsimile, the sender bears the risk of ineffective transmission and should confirm the clerk received the facsimile.

Subdivision (g) provides for the electronic filing, signing and verification of papers in juvenile court by local rule. The local rule must comply with technological standards promulgated by the Supreme Court, published at Electronic Filing for Civil Cases, Policy & Technical Standards, Administrative Office of the Courts, adopted September 2011, or any future standards. This amendment is modeled after Rule 58 of the Rules of Civil Procedure.

When applicable, attorneys of record and unrepresented parties are encouraged to file a notice of change of address with the court and to serve copies of the notice on all attorneys of record and unrepresented parties. Failure to do so may result in a party not receiving important documents and information.

Attorneys and unrepresented parties are responsible for inquiring whether the juvenile court has local rules that allow for facsimile or electronic filing.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 106, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 106 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 107. Subpoenas.

(a) FORM — ISSUANCE. Every subpoena shall be issued by the clerk. Each subpoena shall state the name of the court and the title of the action. Each subpoena shall command the person to attend and give testimony at a hearing and shall specify the time and place and the name of the party for whom testimony will be given. The clerk shall issue a subpoena or a subpoena for the production of documentary evidence, signed but otherwise in blank, to a party requesting it, who shall fill it in before service.

(b) SUBPOENA OF PERSONS. With the exception of emergency hearings, preliminary hearings, detention hearings, or for good cause shown, all subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses shall be served at least 5 calendar days prior to the hearing.

(c) SUBPOENA FOR PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS AND THINGS. With the exception of emergency hearings, preliminary hearings, and detention hearings, all subpoenas for the production of documents, images, records, data or like information shall be served at least 10 calendar days prior to the hearing, unless otherwise provided by law. Copies of the subpoena must be served pursuant to Rule 106 on all parties, and all material produced must be made available for inspection, copying, testing, or sampling by all parties, except as otherwise provided by law.

(d) SERVICE. A subpoena may be served by any person authorized to serve process or the witness may acknowledge service in writing on the subpoena. Service of the subpoena shall be made by delivering or offering to deliver a copy to the person to whom it is directed in accordance with this or any local rule. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016; and by order filed January 8, 2018, effective July 1, 2018.]

Advisory Commission Comments. The original Rules of Juvenile Procedure did not contain a rule regarding the issuance of subpoenas. The rule only applies to serving a subpoena for a court hearing. See Rule 206 regarding discovery in delinquent and unruly cases and Rule 305 in dependent and neglect cases.

This rule provides for a minimum time in which a subpoena must be served prior to a court hearing. The time limits do not apply to emergency, detention or preliminary hearings, though subpoenas should be served as far in advance of the hearing as practicable.

The time to serve a subpoena is excluded from Rule 110 regarding the calculation and extension of time.

Subdivision (c) is applicable to a subpoena for the production of documents and things. Note that other laws may override this provision. For example, the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA; Pub.L. 104-191), contains specific provisions regarding the disclosure of health care records in response to a subpoena. See 45 CFR 164.512.

Subdivision (d) allows juvenile courts to have local rules addressing acceptable methods of service of subpoenas.

This rule does not preclude the filing of a motion to quash a subpoena.

Advisory Commission Comments [2018]. The 2018 amendment adds a new sentence to the end of subsection (c), so that the procedure here conforms to Rule 45.02, Tennessee Rules of Civil Procedure.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 107, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 107 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

In its order filed January 8, 2018, the Supreme Court adopted amendments to this rule, effective July 1, 2018, subject to approval by resolution of the General Assembly.

The amendment of Rule 107, which amended subdivision (c) and added the [2018] Advisory Commission Comments, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated January 8, 2018, was ratified and approved by 2018 House Resolution 208 and Senate Resolution 167. The order promulgating the amendment of subdivision (c) and the addition of the [2018] Advisory Commission Comments, provided that it take effect July 1, 2018.

Rule 108. Injunctive relief.

(a) HOW OBTAINED.

(1) A request for injunctive relief shall be in the form of a motion or a petition, or on the court's own initiative, and may be obtained by:

(A) An ex parte restraining order;

(B) An injunction issued during the pendency of a matter; or

(C) An injunction issued as part of a dispositional order.

(2) Every request for injunctive relief shall state whether a previous application for the relief has been refused by any court.

(b) IN GENERAL.

(1) Every ex parte restraining order or injunction shall be specific in terms and shall describe in reasonable detail the act restrained or enjoined.

(2) Every ex parte restraining order or injunction shall be indorsed with the date and hour of issuance, shall be signed by the judge or magistrate granting it, and shall be filed in the clerk's office.

(3) Every ex parte restraining order or injunction shall be binding upon the parties to the action, their officers, agents and attorneys; and upon other persons in active concert or participation with them who receive actual notice of the ex parte restraining order or injunction by personal service or otherwise.

(c) EX PARTE RESTRAINING ORDER.

(1) An ex parte restraining order shall only restrict the doing of an act.

(2) An ex parte restraining order may be issued by the judge of the court in which the matter is pending or is to be filed, or by any magistrate serving such court.

(3) An ex parte restraining order may be issued when the court finds: (1) that a child may abscond or be removed from the court's jurisdiction; or (2) that there is a danger of immediate harm to a child such that a delay for a hearing would be likely to result in severe or irreparable harm.

(4) The standard of proof applicable in issuance of an ex parte restraining order shall be probable cause. The court may consider a motion, petition, sworn affidavit, sworn testimony or reliable hearsay.

(5) A copy of the ex parte restraining order shall be promptly served on each party by a person authorized to serve a summons. If an ex parte restraining order is issued at the commencement of an action, a copy shall be served with the summons.

(6) An ex parte restraining order becomes effective and binding on the party to be restrained at the time of service or when the party to be restrained is informed of the order, whichever is earlier.

(7) An ex parte restraining order shall expire by its terms and shall not exceed 15 days unless within such time period: (1) the court extends the order after affording the party to be restrained an opportunity to be heard, or (2) the party to be restrained consents to the extension. Any such extension of an ex parte restraining order shall be in the form of an injunction.

(8) If the request for an ex parte restraining order is brought against a parent of a child and the relief requested would interfere with the parent's constitutional right to have care and control of the child, the court shall proceed with a preliminary hearing within 72 hours of entry of the ex parte order, pursuant to Rule 302, rather than the 15 day timeframe prescribed above.

(d) INJUNCTION.

(1) An injunction may restrict or mandatorily direct the doing of an act, either temporarily or permanently.

(2) Prior to the issuance of an injunction, the court shall afford the party to be enjoined notice, grounds therefore, and an opportunity to be heard.

(3) An injunction may be issued, modified or dissolved by the judge or magistrate of the court in which the matter is pending. The court shall only modify or dissolve an injunction when the court finds such to be consistent with the child's best interests.

(4) During the pendency of a matter, the court may issue an injunction when the court finds that the conduct of the person to be enjoined is or may be detrimental or harmful to the child.

(5) As part of a dispositional order, the court may issue an injunction when the court finds that the conduct of the person to be enjoined is or may be detrimental or harmful to the child and would tend to defeat the execution of a dispositional order.

(6) The standard of proof applicable in issuance of injunctive relief shall be preponderance of the evidence. Evidence shall be admitted in accordance with the Rules of Evidence. In the court's discretion, any evidence so admitted may be admissible in the underlying matter and need not be repeated if all parties participated in the hearing for injunctive relief.

(7) The court may issue an injunction upon such terms and conditions, and the injunction shall remain in force for such time, as the court determines to be consistent with the child's best interests.

(e) INJUNCTIVE RELIEF AGAINST NON-PARTY. The court may issue an ex parte restraining order, injunction, or no contact order against a person who is not a party to the dependent and neglected, delinquent, or unruly proceeding if that person's conduct is or may be detrimental or harmful to the child. In such cases, the person to be restrained or enjoined shall be a party only to the petition or motion for injunctive relief. Neither the request for injunctive relief nor the order granting injunctive relief shall confer party status in the underlying case on the person to be enjoined. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016; and as amended by order filed December 21, 2016, effective July 1, 2017.]

Advisory Commission Comments. Injunctive relief may be issued pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-152.

The Commission has chosen to use the term "restraining order" to refer only to an ex parte order granted by the court, while the term "injunction" applies to all orders granted after a hearing. The Commission chose the term "injunction" to clarify that the court may restrain an act or mandatorily direct the doing of an act.

A dependent and neglect matter is an inquiry as to the status of a child rather than a proceeding to determine guilt or to apportion blame or liability among various persons. As the court stated in State Dep't of Children's Servs. v. Huffines-Dalton, No. M2008-01267-COA-R3-JV, 2009 Tenn. App. LEXIS 364, at *18, 2009 WL 1684679 (Tenn. Ct. App. June 15, 2009):

Under Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-1-129, the court must first hold a hearing and make findings whether a child is dependent and neglected within the meaning of the statute. "The function of the adjudicatory hearing is to determine whether the allegations of dependency, neglect, or abuse are true." Accordingly, the adjudication is not against either parent or the custodian but addresses the question of whether the child is dependent and neglected for any of the reasons enumerated by the statute. During this adjudicatory phase, the parties are "entitled to the opportunity to introduce evidence and otherwise be heard in the party's own behalf and to cross-examine adverse witnesses," Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-1-127(a), and the Rules of Evidence apply.

Because a dependent and neglect proceeding may involve persons other than parents or guardians, such as "caretakers" as referenced in the definition of "abuse" in T.C.A. § 37-1-102(b)(1), or "persons with whom the child lives" under T.C.A. § 37-1-102(b)(12)(B), the Commission intended to clarify that injunctive relief may be sought against such persons. Such persons may not enjoy a legal relationship with the child but such person's conduct may have caused or contributed to the child being found to be dependent and neglected. As the Court stated in In re: Melanie T., 352 S.W.3d 687, 697 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2011):

[I]t is clear that a biological or legal parent/child relationship is not essential to uphold a finding that a minor is "dependent and neglected." The statute expressly states that a "child" is "dependent and neglected" if that child lives with a "parent, guardian or person" who "by reason of cruelty, ... immorality or depravity is unfit to properly care for such child." By using the words "parent, guardian or person with whom the child lives," the General Assembly made it perfectly clear that a dependent and neglect claim ... does not require that the "unfit" person be a biological or legal parent of the child at issue. Therefore, a person who lives with a child need not be a biological or legal parent of the child in order for a "dependent and neglected" action to be maintained against that person.

Thus, the seeking of injunctive relief against such non-parent persons is allowed and does not, in and of itself, confer party status on such persons in the underlying dependent and neglect matter. Further, the proceeding regarding the issuance of injunctive relief may be separate from the underlying matter.

The issue of who, exactly, is a "party" to a dependent or neglect proceeding is not as straightforward as it first appears. Those with a legal relationship to the child, such as parents, are, of course, proper parties and are named respondents in such matters. The analysis grows more complex when the matter involves a step-parent or a boyfriend or girlfriend to a parent, those who have no legal interest in the child. Such persons may have caused or contributed to the child's dependent and neglect status, and whose conduct is in issue in the proceeding, but may not be appropriate persons to take steps to regain entrance to the child's life. The better practice is to view those more remote, legally, from the child as respondents in an injunction proceeding, but not as respondents in the underlying dependent and neglect matter.

The Commission notes City of Chattanooga v. Swift, 442 S.W.2d 257, 258 (Tenn. 1969) ("By the term 'party', in general, is meant one having a right to control proceedings, to make a defense, to adduce and cross-examine witnesses, and to appeal from the judgment") (citing Boyles v. Smith, 37 Tenn. 105, 107 (Tenn. 1857)).

See Rule 110 for the computation of time.

Advisory Commission Comments [2017]. The rule is amended by deleting subdivision 108(a)(1)(D), which referred to no contact orders pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-152. Also, the last paragraph of the original Advisory Commission comment is deleted. These changes were necessary due to an amendment to T.C.A. § 37-1-152.

The rule is also amended by deleting a paragraph in the original Advisory Commission Comments and adding the substance of that paragraph as the new subdivision (c)(8) of the rule.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 108, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 108 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

The amendment of Rule 108, which amended subdivisions (a) and (c), amended the original Advisory Commission Comments and added the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 21, 2016, was ratified and approved by 2017 House Resolution 18 and Senate Resolution 15. The order promulgating the amendment of subdivisions (a) and (c), the amendment of the original Advisory Commission Comments and the addition of the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, provided that it take effect July 1, 2017.

Rule 109. Orders for the attachment of children.

(a) REQUIREMENTS FOR ISSUANCE OF ORDERS FOR ATTACHMENT. Orders for the attachment of children shall be based upon a judicial determination that there is probable cause to believe that the child is in need of the immediate protection of the court because:

(1) The conduct, condition or surroundings of the child are endangering the child's health or welfare or that of others; or

(2) The child may abscond or be removed from the jurisdiction of the court; or

(3) Service of a summons or subpoena would be ineffectual or the parties are evading service.

The statement of a person requesting the order of attachment must be by affidavit or sworn testimony reduced to writing and must provide sufficient factual information to support an independent determination that probable cause exists for the issuance of the order. If hearsay evidence is relied upon, the affidavit or testimony must include the basis for the credibility of both the declarant and the declarant's statements.

(b) An attachment for a violation of pretrial diversion, judicial diversion, probation, or home placement (aftercare) supervision shall not issue unless:

(1) The child poses a significant likelihood of significant injury to another person or significant likelihood of damage to property;

(2) The child cannot be located by the supervising person, persons, or entity after documented efforts to locate the child by the supervising person, persons, or entity; or

(3) The child fails to appear for a court proceeding.

If the child has an attorney of record, that attorney must be served with the attachment request made to the court.

(c) FAILURE TO APPEAR. When a child fails to appear at a hearing or other court-scheduled proceeding to which the child has been properly served or directed by appropriate court personnel to appear, the court may, on its own initiative or on the basis of a sworn writing, issue an attachment.

(d) TERMS OF ORDER. The order for attachment shall order that the child be brought immediately before the court or that the child be taken into custody in accordance with Rule 203 or 302. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016; adopted by order dated January 8, 2019, effective October 1, 2019.]

Advisory Commission Comments. Ordinarily, proceedings in juvenile court will be initiated and conducted pursuant to the issuance of a petition and summons rather than the issuance of attachment. Attachments should be used only when necessary to further the goals and purposes of the juvenile court. The Commission notes that the offense of failure to appear is a defined offense and may provide independent grounds for the issuance of an order to take a child into custody if charged.

The issuance of an order of attachment does not determine what should occur once that child is taken into custody. There may be instances in which an order to take a child into custody is warranted but, once accomplished, that child may not meet the requirements to be held in a secure facility pending hearing. In addition, the purpose of an order to take a child into custody may vary from case to case. The order should give specific instructions as to how the attachment order should be carried out.

Subdivision (b) [subdivision (c)] allows the court to issue an attachment in the event the child fails to appear at a court-scheduled hearing, meeting or conference after the child has been duly summoned to appear and fails to do so. The attachment may direct the appropriate authorities to take the child to a detention facility or to court or to another place. Prior to issuing an attachment for failure to appear, whether or not the child is charged with the delinquent act of failure to appear, the child must have received appropriate notice specifying the date, time and location of the proceeding in issue. Accordingly, the Commission encourages each court to implement notice procedures which satisfy due process and afford court participants ample notice of proceedings. For instance, a summons generally is required to initiate most court proceedings, unless the child is served with an arrest warrant or has been issued a citation, while notice of subsequent court dates may be accomplished by less formal means so long as the method chosen is effective.

This rule clarifies the evidentiary requirements for the issuance of orders for the attachment of children based on the provisions of T.C.A. §§ 37-1-113(a)(2), 114(a)(2), 117(b), and 122.

This rule will apply to the process of obtaining an "arrest order" for a child pursuant to T.C.A. §§ 37-1-113(a)(2).

As only attachments of children are addressed in this rule, reference to T.C.A. § 37-1-122, regarding attachments of parents, guardians, and other persons having custody of children under juvenile court jurisdiction, was omitted from the rule. That code section should be consulted for guidance in regard to such action.

Advisory Commission Comments [2017]. The rule is amended by adding this 2017 Advisory Commission Comments as further explanation. Additionally, the fourth paragraph of the original Advisory Commission Comment is amended by changing two references to T.C.A. § 37-1-128(b) to T.C.A. § 37-1-117(b), in light of the amendments to the statutes.

An attachment is distinguished from an order for the removal of custody or order of detention, in that it addresses only the physical taking of the person of the child, under terms specified by the court, for the purposes specified in this rule. An attachment may accompany an order of removal of custody, order of detention, or other order, if necessary to accomplish the taking of child's person, but will not be necessitated in every case, as where the child is already in the physical custody of the intended entity.

If the probable cause determination in subdivision (a) is based on a written affidavit reciting the facts, it may be sworn to in person or by audio-visual means. Black's Law Dictionary defines affidavit as "(a) voluntary declaration of facts written down and sworn to by the declarant before an officer authorized to administer oaths." Black's Law Dictionary 66 (9th ed. 2009).

Advisory Commission Comments [2019]. Rule 109 is amended by adding new subdivision (b) to address the amendment to Tenn. Code Ann. §37-1-122(c) (2018 Tenn. Pub. Acts, ch. 1052, § 16 (effective July 1, 2018)). As a result of the statutory changes, the reference to subsection (b) in the third paragraph of the original Advisory Commission Comment changes to point to subsection (c) of the rule. Also, the statutory references in the fourth and fifth paragraphs of the original Advisory Comment should point to Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-1-113(a)(2) but originally the comment inadvertently omitted the (a); the cross-reference is corrected here to point to Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-1-113(a)(2).

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 109, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 109 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

The amendment of Rule 109 by the amendment of the original Advisory Commission Comments and the addition of the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 21, 2016, was ratified and approved by 2017 House Resolution 18 and Senate Resolution 15. The order promulgating the amendment of Rule 109 by amending the original Advisory Commission Comments and adding the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, provided that it take effect July 1, 2017.

The amendment of Rule 109, which added current (b), redesignated subsections (b)-(c) as subsections (c)-(d) and added the [2019] Advisory Commission Comment, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated January 8, 2019, was ratified and approved by 2019 Special Session House Resolution 3 and 2019 Regular Session Senate Resolution 13. The order promulgating amendment of Rule 109 by the addition of current (b), redesignation of subsections (b)-(c) as subsections (c)-(d) and the addition the [2019] Advisory Commission Comment, provided that it take effect October 1, 2019.

Rule 110. Time.

(a) COMPUTATION. In computing any period of time prescribed or allowed by these rules, by order of court, or by any applicable statute, the date of the act, event or default is not to be included. The last day of the period so computed shall be included unless:

(1) it is a Saturday, a Sunday, or a legal holiday as defined in Tenn. Code Ann. § 15-1-101, or

(2) the act to be done is the filing of a paper in court, and the last day is a day on which the office of the court clerk is closed or on which weather or other conditions have made the office of the court clerk inaccessible.

In either instance, the event period runs until the end of the next day which is not one of the aforementioned days. Absent statutory authority or a Rule of Juvenile Procedure to the contrary, when the period of time prescribed or allowed is less than 11 days, intermediate Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays shall be excluded in the computation.

(b) EXTENSION. For cause shown, the court may extend the period of time to perform an act if the request is made prior to the expiration of the period originally prescribed. However, upon motion made after the expiration of the specified period of time to perform an act, the court may permit the act to be done where the failure to act was the result of excusable neglect. This subdivision does not apply to the time for scheduling a detention or preliminary hearing, holding hearings regarding the violation of a valid court order, filing a notice of appeal or request for hearing before the judge from the magistrate's order.

(c) EXCEPTIONS. This rule does not apply to the time provided to:

(1) serve a summons or subpoena;

(2) make a probable cause determination pursuant to Rules 203 and 302;

(3) ratify a permanency plan pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-2-403(a); or

(4) hold a permanency hearing pursuant to T.C.A. §§ 37-1-166(g)(5) and 37-2-409. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. Rule 110 adopts the same formula as that provided by T.C.A. § 1-3-102, with two additions: (1) If the last day of a period falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, the period runs until the end of the next day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday. Thus, if the period would normally expire, for example, on November 9, but November 9 fell on a Saturday, November 10 was a Sunday, and November 11 was a legal holiday, the rule makes it clear that the period would run until the end of the day, Tuesday, November 12. When the prescribed period is less than 11 days, intermediate Saturdays, Sundays and holidays are excluded. When the time allowed is so short, the party limited by the time should not be further handicapped by losing 1 or more days because normal business operations are suspended by Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday observances.

Subdivision (b) establishes a single standard for the courts to follow in granting enlargement of the time periods within which various acts must be done. The Rules of Civil Procedure allow for extensions to be liberally granted, but this should not be the case in juvenile court. Extension is to be allowed, even after expiration of the original period, where the failure to take timely action was due to excusable neglect. This subdivision does not apply to the time for scheduling a detention or preliminary hearing, holding hearings regarding the violation of a valid court order, filing a notice of appeal or request for hearing before the judge from the magistrate's order.

See Rule 117 regarding the entry of orders. Prior to the entry of an order, a lawyer or party may request that a copy of the order be mailed upon entry. If the clerk fails to mail a copy of the order immediately after entry, the parties prejudiced may pursue relief through Rule 213 in delinquent or unruly cases and Rule 310 in dependent and neglect cases, rather than pursuant to this rule.

Subdivision (c) provides that the entire rule is not applicable to the time provided to serve a summons, make a probable cause determination pursuant to Rules 203 and 302, ratify a permanency plan pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-2-403(a), or hold a permanency hearing pursuant to T.C.A. §§ 37-1-166(g)(5) and 37-2-409. The time period of 48 hours for making the probable cause determination pursuant to Rules 203 and 302 is compulsory and may not be extended by the court. The timeframes for ratification of the permanency plan and holding permanency hearings are federally mandated and tied to funding requirements for children in foster care. Service of a summons or subpoena is also excepted from this rule.

Subdivision (c) also tolls the time for a child charged with a delinquent offense and found to be incompetent to stand trial. An adjudicatory hearing or hearing to transfer the child to criminal court may not be held until such time as the child is found to be competent to stand trial.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 110, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 110 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 111. Scheduling conferences and orders.

(a) CONFERENCE. In any action, the court may in its discretion, or upon motion of any party, conduct a conference with the attorneys for the parties and any unrepresented parties, in person, by telephone, or other suitable means, and thereafter enter a scheduling order that limits the time to:

- (1) join other parties and to amend the pleadings;
- (2) file and hear motions;
- (3) complete discovery; and
- (4) set the matter for adjudication.

(b) SCHEDULING ORDER. After any conference held pursuant to this rule, an order shall be entered reciting the action taken. This order shall control the subsequent course of the action unless modified by a subsequent order.

(c) SANCTIONS. The court may sanction a party or a party's attorney if:

- (1) a party or party's attorney fails to obey a scheduling order, or
- (2) no appearance is made on behalf of a party at a scheduling conference, or
- (3) a party or party's attorney is substantially unprepared to participate in the conference, or
- (4) a party or party's attorney fails to participate in good faith,

In lieu of or in addition to any other sanction, the court may require the party or the attorney representing the party or both to pay the reasonable expenses incurred because of any noncompliance with this rule, including attorney's fees, unless the court finds that the noncompliance was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. The 2016 amendments added this rule for the purpose of reducing unnecessary delays. It is based on parts of Rule 16 of the Tennessee Rules of Civil Procedure. This rule does not preclude a court entering a scheduling order without holding a pretrial conference.

Judges may consider entering a scheduling order at a preliminary hearing in a dependent and neglect proceeding. The scheduling order may include, but is not limited to, the dates of the Department's child and family team meeting, ratification hearing, foster care review board, adjudication, and dispositional hearings.

See Rule 37.02 of the Tennessee Rules of Civil Procedure for guidance regarding sanctions.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 111, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 111 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 112. Attendance of parties and other necessary persons.

(a) INITIAL INQUIRY BY COURT. At the beginning of each hearing, the court shall ascertain whether all necessary persons are before the court, which may include the child, parents (including alleged biological fathers), guardian or other custodian, and other parties and participants to the proceeding. If a necessary person is not present, the court shall determine whether notice of the hearing was provided to that person and whether the hearing may proceed.

(b) RESPONSIBILITY OF DEPARTMENT WHEN PARTY TO PROCEEDING. If a parent's identity or whereabouts are unknown and the Department of Children's Services is a party to the proceedings, the court shall ascertain whether the Department has made reasonable efforts to determine the identity and the whereabouts of the absent parent and include such finding in its order.

(c) PARTICIPATION BY CONTEMPORANEOUS MEANS. In any proceeding, for good cause shown in compelling circumstances and with appropriate safeguards, the court may permit participation in open court by contemporaneous audio-visual transmission from a different location. However, during a delinquent or unruly adjudicatory hearing, a witness may only testify from a different location if the child has waived the right to confrontation. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. The 2016 amendment is based on the requirements of the previous rule regarding permanency hearings. It is important that juvenile courts make the same inquiries at all hearings. If the court determines that an absent party did not receive adequate notice of the hearing, then the hearing should be continued.

Statutory law should be consulted in determining whether a participant is a necessary person pursuant to subdivision (a). T.C.A. § 37-1-149(b) provides for the appointment of a court appointed special advocate (CASA) to act in the best interests of the child "during and after court proceedings." T.C.A. § 37-2-416 specifies that foster parents, prospective adoptive parents, or a relative providing care for a child in state custody should be notified of any hearing or review to be held with respect to the child. The statute indicates these persons have a right to be heard at any hearing or review. However, these statutes do not confer party status to CASA volunteers, foster parents, prospective adoptive parents, or a relative providing care for a child. If these participants are to testify, they should be treated as any other witness.

When a parent, who is absent due to that parent's incarceration, expresses a desire to participate by audio-visual means, the court should request that the facility make reasonable accommodations to allow that parent's participation possible. If the facility where the parent is incarcerated is able to transport and guard the parent for the purpose of in-person participation, the court should assist with coordinating those efforts.

When the court is determining whether or not the Department of Children's Services has made reasonable efforts to ascertain the identity and whereabouts of an absent parent, the court may find it helpful to consult the Department's Administrative Policies and Procedures on conducting diligent searches.

Subdivision (c) is similar to Tenn. R. Civ. P. 43.01 and allows for participation by a party or witness by contemporaneous audio-visual transmission from a different location. This should be allowed only for good cause, in compelling circumstances, and with appropriate safeguards. Additionally, a number of statutes permit telephonic testimony in certain types of cases. See, e.g., Tenn. Code Ann. § 24-7-121(d) (2000) (permitting telephonic testimony regarding payment records in child support cases); Tenn. Code Ann. § 34-8-106(b) (Supp. 2014) (permitting witnesses located in other states to testify by telephone in conservatorship or guardianship proceedings); Tenn. Code Ann. § 36-1-113(f)(3) (2014) (permitting an incarcerated parent or guardian to participate by telephone in a hearing to terminate parental rights); Tenn. Code Ann. § 36-5-2316(f) (2014) (permitting a witness located in another state to testify by telephone in cases under the Uniform Interstate Family Support Act); Tenn. Code Ann. § 36-6-214(b) (2014) (permitting a witness located in another state to testify by telephone in cases under the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction and Enforcement Act). Participation by an attorney from a different location may be appropriate in preliminary or administrative matters.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 112, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 112 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 113. [Reserved]

Rule 114. Confidentiality of proceedings.

(a) DEPENDENT AND NEGLECT PROCEEDINGS. Dependent and neglect cases shall not be open to the public.

(b) DELINQUENT AND UNRULY PROCEEDINGS. Delinquent and unruly cases are open to the public. However, in the discretion of the court, the general public may be excluded from any proceeding. On application of a party or on the court's own initiative, the court may determine that a proceeding, in whole or in part, should be closed except to those persons having a direct interest in the case. In determining whether to close the proceedings, and thereby balancing the interests of the parties and the public's interests in open proceedings, the court shall apply the following rules:

(1) When closure is sought by a party:

(A) The party seeking to close the hearing shall have the burden of proof;

(B) The court shall not close proceedings to any extent unless it determines that failure to do so would result in particularized prejudice to the party seeking closure that would override the public's compelling interest in open proceedings;

(C) Any order of closure must not be broader than necessary to protect the determined interests of the party seeking closure;

(2) The juvenile court must consider reasonable alternatives to closure of proceedings; and

(3) The juvenile court must make adequate written findings to support any order of closure. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. This rule clarifies that dependent and neglect cases should be closed and not open to the public. This proceeding should be open to only those persons who are necessary to the particular proceeding.

State v. James, 902 S.W.2d 911 (Tenn. 1995) authorizes the closure process specified in subdivision (b) for delinquent and unruly cases. Such proceedings “may” be closed only through the process as outlined above.

Compiler’s Notes. The adoption of Rule 114, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 114 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 115. Recording hearings. All hearings, except ex parte hearings, shall be audio recorded by the clerk of the court and retained for a minimum of one year from the date of the final disposition of the case. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. In accordance with T.C.A. §§ 37-1-124(c) and 37-1-159(a), the juvenile court is a court of record. Under this rule, all juvenile courts must create and maintain an audio recording of all hearings in juvenile court, in addition to keeping and maintaining appropriate minutes of hearings. Alternative means of recording, e.g. audio-visual equipment, are acceptable. This rule does not preclude simultaneous recording by a court reporter or other means of recording by a party.

This rule is not applicable to reviews conducted by a foster care review board.

Compiler’s Notes. The adoption of Rule 115, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 115 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 116. Standard of proof. In any hearing in which the standard of proof is not expressly designated by statute or rule, the standard of proof shall be preponderance of the evidence. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. Most hearings in juvenile court apply an appropriate standard of proof found in statute or rule. However, the standard of proof in some hearings is not expressly stated. For example, the rule governing competency hearings does not designate a specific standard of proof. Other examples would be court approval of pretrial diversion under these rules or hearings to terminate home placement under T.C.A. § 37-1-137(e). In any such hearing, and in the absence of appellate court guidance, the appropriate standard of proof to be applied by the court would be preponderance of the evidence.

Compiler’s Notes. The adoption of Rule 116, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 116 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 117. Entry of order.

(a) EFFECTIVE. Entry of a court order is effective when an order containing one of the following is marked on the face by the clerk as filed for entry:

(1) the signatures of the judge or magistrate and all parties or counsel, or

(2) the signatures of the judge or magistrate and one party or counsel with a certificate of counsel that a copy of the proposed order has been served on all other parties or counsel, or

(3) the signature of the judge or magistrate and a certificate of the clerk that a copy has been served on all other parties or counsel.

(b) DUTIES OF CLERK. Following the entry of order, the clerk shall make appropriate docket notations and shall copy the order on the minutes, but failure to do so will not affect the validity of entry of the order. When requested by counselor self-represented parties, the clerk shall without delay mail or deliver a copy of the entered order to all parties or counsel. If the clerk fails to do so, a party prejudiced by that failure may seek relief under Rule 213 in delinquent or unruly cases and Rule 310 in dependent and neglect cases. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. This rule is designed to make uniform across the state the procedure for the entry of an order and to make certain the effective date of the order. Under this rule, unless otherwise ordered by the court, the effective date of the order is the date of its filing with the clerk after being signed by the judge or magistrate, even though it may not be copied or entered on the minute book until a later date.

Prior to entry of a written order, parties are usually bound by the terms of the court’s oral command, assuming the command is specific and unambiguous. Blackburn v. Blackburn, 270 S.W.3d 42 (Tenn. 2008). See also Ross v. Ross, No. M2008-00594-COA-R3-CV, 2008 Tenn. App. LEXIS 729, 2008 WL 5191329 (Tenn. Ct. App. Dec. 10, 2008) (holding that violating the court’s oral command may constitute contempt if the command is specific and unambiguous in all respects).

Subdivision (a) specifies that an order of the court cannot be filed until it bears not only signature of the judge or magistrate, but also (1) the signatures of all parties or their counselor (2) a certificate of counselor the clerk that copies of the order have been served on all parties or counsel of record. The purpose is to provide notice to all parties or their counsel before the order becomes final to allow any party to file a timely appeal.

Occasionally, it is foreseeable that an order will not be entered promptly upon submission to the judge or magistrate although a party contemplates filing an appeal or post-trial motion. When a party anticipates such an order will not be promptly entered, the party may be assured of notice of entry by employing this rule. A lawyer or party who requests a copy of the order stamped with the entry date should not be prejudiced by a clerk’s failure to comply with the request. Upon request, the clerk is to immediately mail or deliver a copy of the order to all concerned. The request and mailing, or failure to mail, do not affect the time for filing a post-trial motion or a notice of appeal. Parties prejudiced by clerical negligence may pursue relief pursuant to Rule 213 in delinquent or unruly cases and Rule 310 in dependent and neglect cases.

Rule 106 requires service on counsel when a party is represented.

Delivery of the order by the clerk may be accomplished by physically providing the order to the person, or through facsimile or electronic transmission of the order.

Advisory Commission Comments. [2018] Pursuant to Rule 118(c), the right to an appeal attaches upon entry of the final order.

Compiler’s Notes. The adoption of Rule 117, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 117 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

The amendment of Rule 117 by the addition of the [2018] Advisory Commission Comments, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated January 8, 2018, was ratified and approved by 2018 House Resolution 208 and Senate Resolution 167. The order promulgating the amendment of Rule 117 by adding the [2018] Advisory Commission Comments, provided that it take effect July 1, 2018.

Rule 118. Appeals.

(a) GENERAL. Appeals shall be taken pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-159.

(b) RIGHT TO AN ATTORNEY. The right to an attorney at all stages of the proceedings shall include the right to an attorney in an appeal.

(c) WHEN RIGHT ATTACHES. The right to an appeal attaches upon entry of the final order.

(d) NOTIFICATION. At any hearing which will result in a final order, the judge shall notify all parties of their right to appeal and the time limits for and manner in which the right to appeal can be perfected, and the right to an attorney on appeal.

(e) FILING. An appeal may be filed with the clerk of the juvenile court within 10 days of the entry of the final order. A prematurely filed notice of appeal shall be treated as filed on the day of entry of the order from which the appeal is taken.

(f) PERFECTION. An appeal is perfected when a notice of appeal is filed and:

(1) a filing fee is paid, or bond in lieu of the filing fee is posted;

(2) an affidavit of indigency is filed within the applicable time period and an order allowing filing on a pauper's oath is subsequently entered; or

(3) the court has previously determined the appellant to be indigent.

(g) INDIGENT STATUS. If leave to proceed as an indigent person is denied, the clerk of the juvenile court shall serve notice of the denial to the parties.

(h) RECORD ON APPEAL. When an appeal has been perfected, the clerk shall cause the entire record in the case, including the juvenile court's findings and written reports from probation officers, court employees or professional consultants, to be taken to the circuit court, where the case shall be set for a de novo hearing.

(i) PARTIES TO THE APPEAL. All parties to the juvenile court proceeding shall be parties to the de novo hearing. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. Appeals under this rule do not include the request for a hearing before the juvenile court judge after entry of a magistrate's order. Such requests are controlled by T.C.A. § 37-1-107 governing magistrates.

The right to appeal accrues upon entry of a final order. Prior to the 2016 amendment, the previous language read "upon entry of the order of final disposition." The Commission modified the language to make clear that orders other than an order entered following a dispositional hearing may be considered "final orders." Black's Law Dictionary defines final order as "an order that is dispositive of the entire case." Black's Law Dictionary 1206 (9th ed. 2009). Tennessee case law holds that a judgment is final "when it decides and disposes of the whole merits of the case leaving nothing for the further judgment of the court." Richardson v. Board of Dentistry, 913 S.W.2d 446, 460 (Tenn. 1995) (citing Saunders v. Metropolitan Gov't of Nashville & Davidson County, 383 S.W.2d 28, 31 (Tenn. 1964)). Examples of final orders in juvenile court include, but are not limited to, orders revoking probation or terminating home placement, an order finding a child violated a valid court order pursuant to § 31.303 (f)(2) & (3) of Title 28 of the Code of Federal Regulations, dispositional orders, and the same orders issued by a magistrate that have not been appealed to the judge. This list is not exclusive, and other orders may be considered final orders. The Commission also notes the case of In re Valentine, 79 S.W.3d 539, 547 (Tenn. 2002), in which the court held that ratification of a permanency plan is not a final order.

This rule clarifies that a notice of an appeal, pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-159, must be filed with the clerk of the juvenile court and not with the youth services officer or any other office.

Pursuant to subdivision (i) and T.C.A. § 37-1-159, all parties subject to the final order are parties to the appeal.

This rule clarifies that an appeal is perfected when the notice of appeal is filed and the required filing fee is paid or otherwise satisfied.

Such satisfaction includes payment of the fee or by proceeding in forma pauperis. See T.C.A. § 20-12-127.

See Rule 110 for the computation of time.

T.C.A. § 37-1-103, regarding the juvenile court's exclusive jurisdiction, has been amended to make clear that the juvenile court retains jurisdiction to the extent needed to complete any reviews or permanency hearings for children in foster care during the pendency of the appeal to administer the case until the appeal has been decided or further orders entered by the circuit court.

The constitutional prohibition against being placed twice in jeopardy for the same offense applies to juvenile court proceedings as well as adult proceedings. Breed v. Jones, 421 U.S. 519 (1975); State v. Jackson, 503 S.W.2d 185 (Tenn. 1973). Normally, jeopardy attaches in a non-jury proceeding when a witness is sworn to testify. State v. Pennington, 952 S.W.2d 420, 422 (Tenn. 1997). See also, State v. Bryan, W1999-00620-CCA-R3-CD, 2000 WL 33288749, 2000 Tenn. Crim. App. LEXIS 511 (Tenn. Crim. App. June 27, 2000). The constitutional prohibition against being placed twice in jeopardy for the same offense precludes the state from seeking de novo appeal in a delinquent or unruly case which has been dismissed following a hearing on the merits. State v. Jackson, supra.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 118, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 118 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

DELINQUENT/UNRULY PROCEEDINGS

Rule 201. Preliminary inquiry and informal adjustment.

(a) PURPOSES. The juvenile court preliminary inquiry is intended to:

(1) Provide for resolution of complaints by excluding from the juvenile court at its inception:

(A) Those matters over which the juvenile court has no jurisdiction;

(B) Those matters in which there appears to be insufficient evidence to support a petition or citation; or

(C) Those matters in which sufficient evidence may exist to bring a child within the jurisdiction of the juvenile court but which are not serious enough to require official action under the juvenile court law or which may be suitably referred to a non-judicial agency available in the community;

(2) Provide for the commencement of proceedings in the juvenile court by the filing of a petition or citation only when necessary for the welfare of the child or the safety and protection of the public.

(b) RECEIPT OF COMPLAINT. Any person or agency having knowledge of the facts may file a complaint with the juvenile court or an officer designated by the court alleging facts to indicate a child is delinquent or unruly. The court representative accepting the complaint shall note thereon the date and time of receipt of the complaint.

(c) DUTIES OF DESIGNATED COURT OFFICER. Upon receipt of the complaint, the designated court officer shall:

(1) Interview or otherwise seek information from the complainant, victim and any witness to the alleged offense.

(2) Conduct an interview with the child who is the subject of the complaint and the child's parents, guardian or legal custodian. At the beginning of the interview, the officer shall explain the nature of the complaint and inform the child of the right to counsel, where applicable, that if the child cannot afford an attorney one will be appointed if applicable, and that the child has a right to remain silent and any statements made by the child will not be admissible in any proceeding prior to the dispositional hearing.

(A) If the child invokes the right to an attorney, the designated court officer shall immediately suspend the interview, allow for the appointment or retention of counsel, and reschedule the matter.

(B) If the child chooses to proceed with the interview without counsel, the designated court officer shall obtain a written waiver from the child and proceed with the interview.

(3) If the designated court officer determines that the juvenile court does not have jurisdiction over the matter or there appears to be insufficient evidence to support the complaint, then the complaint shall be closed and no further action taken by the court.

(d) INFORMAL ADJUSTMENT.

(1) If the designated court officer determines that the matter is not serious enough to require official action before the juvenile court judge, then the designated court officer may remedy the situation by giving counsel and advice to the parties through an informal adjustment. No admission of the allegation contained in the complaint shall be required of the child when determining whether to proceed with an informal adjustment. In determining whether informal adjustment should be undertaken, the designated court officer may consider:

(A) Whether the child has had a problem in the home, school or community which indicates that counsel and advice would be desirable;

(B) Whether the child and the parents, guardian or legal custodian seem able to resolve the matter with the assistance of the designated court officer or other court staff, and without formal juvenile court action;

(C) Whether further observation or evaluation by the designated court officer is needed before a decision can be reached;

(D) The attitude of the child, parents, guardian, or legal custodian;

(E) The concerns of the victim, child, the parents, guardian, or legal custodian, and/or any other affected persons or agencies;

(F) The age, maturity and mental condition of the child;

(G) The prior history or record, if any, of the child;

(H) The recommendation, if any, of the referring party or agency;

(I) The results of any mental health, drug and alcohol or other assessments or screenings of the child; and

(J) Any other circumstances which indicate that informal adjustment would be consistent with the best interest of the child and the public.

(2) The informal adjustment shall not occur without the consent of the child and the child's parents, guardian or other legal custodian. Prior to giving consent, the child must be notified that participation is optional and may be terminated by the child at any time.

(3) The informal adjustment process shall not continue beyond a period of 3 months from its commencement unless such extension is approved by the court for an additional period not to exceed a total of 6 months. The terms of the informal adjustment agreement may not include the imposition on the child of any financial obligations or the obligation to pay restitution.

(4) Upon successful completion of a period of informal adjustment, the complaint shall be closed and no further action taken by the court. If a petition has been filed, then the petition shall be dismissed with prejudice.

(5) The designated court officer may terminate the informal adjustment and proceed with formal court action if at any time the child or the child's parents, guardian or legal custodian:

(A) Declines to participate further in the informal adjustment process;

(B) Denies the jurisdiction of the juvenile court over the instant matter;

(C) Expresses a desire that the facts be determined by the court;

(D) Fails to comply with the terms of the informal adjustment program.

(6) Upon termination of the informal adjustment process, the designated court officer shall notify the child and the child's parent, guardian or legal custodian thereof, and the victim. The termination shall be reported to the court. Such notification shall include the basis for the termination.

(e) INFORMAL ADJUSTMENT DETERMINED INAPPROPRIATE. If the designated court officer determines informal adjustment to be inappropriate, then formal court proceedings shall commence with the filing of a petition or citation.

(f) STATEMENTS OF CHILD. Any statements made by the child during the preliminary inquiry or informal adjustment are not admissible in the delinquent or unruly subject proceeding prior to the dispositional hearing. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016; and as amended by order filed December 21, 2016, effective July 1, 2017; adopted by order dated January 8, 2019, effective October 1, 2019.]

Advisory Commission Comments. The 2016 amendment combines two previous rules regarding intake in and informal adjustment in delinquent and unruly cases. The intent of this rule is to allow local courts flexibility in how they handle informal adjustment, but also to spell out those basic procedures which must take place in every case in which informal adjustment is undertaken to ensure that informal adjustment is voluntary, as required in T.C.A. § 37-1-110.

The requirement in subdivision (b) that the court representative accepting a complaint shall note thereon the date and time of receipt of the complaint has been added to ensure that complaints are reduced to writing and documentation exists as to when the complaint was received. The term "complaint" includes, but is not limited to, a petition or citation. The complaint may be filed with the clerk of the court or another person designated by the court. The term "complaint" as used in these rules is not equivalent to a complaint referenced in the Rules of Civil Procedure.

As part of the preliminary inquiry, subdivision (c) requires the designated court officer to notify the child of the child's right to an attorney at the beginning of the interview with the child. T.C.A. § 37-1-126 provides that a child is entitled to be represented by an attorney in any delinquent proceeding. A child is entitled to an attorney when charged with an unruly offense when the child is in jeopardy of being removed from the home pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-132(b). Not all children charged with an unruly offense are entitled to an attorney. The right attaches when the child is in jeopardy of being placed outside the child's home with a person, agency or facility. Prior to placing custody of an unruly child with the Department of Children's Services, the court is obligated to refer the child to the Department's juvenile-family crisis intervention program pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-168. A child's assertion of the right to counsel should not preclude an informal adjustment when appropriate.

It should be noted that, although attitude may be a factor under subdivision (d)(1)(iv) to consider in determining whether to undertake informal adjustment, it should not be the sole basis for denying informal adjustment. Each locality is encouraged to adopt and implement standardized risk and needs assessment tools in order to assist in this process.

In many instances, the child or the child's family may desire to pay the alleged victim for any harm done. If the child and the victim agree to restitution, this can be done independently of the informal adjustment.

Subdivision (e) provides that when an informal adjustment is determined to be inappropriate then formal court proceedings shall commence with the filing of a petition or citation. If a petition has not been filed at this point in time, then such petition should be filed with the clerk of the court. If a citation has been filed that meets the requirements of T.C.A. § 40-7-118, then a petition need not be filed in order to commence formal proceedings. If an informal adjustment is determined to be inappropriate, the designated court officer should assess whether a pretrial diversion is appropriate.

Courts should develop written local procedures and criteria for initiating informal adjustments. Such criteria might include a listing of the types of cases, or charges, which might be handled by informal adjustment. Local rules should include a process by which the district attorney general, petitioner, or victim of the offense may object to an informal adjustment.

Advisory Commission Comments [2017]. The rule is amended by deleting the last sentence of subdivision 201(d)(3). That sentence (which provided, "The process shall only include counsel and advice, or referral to an agency available in the community for successful completion of a suitable treatment program, class or some form of alternative dispute resolution") was intended to have been deleted in the comprehensive revision of the Rules of Juvenile Procedure effective July 1, 2016, but was inadvertently included in the revision.

Additionally, the fifth paragraph of the original Advisory Commission Comment is amended by deleting references to subdivision 201(d)(3), which also should have been removed in the comprehensive revision of the Rules of Juvenile Procedure.

Advisory Commission Comments [2019]. Rule 201 is amended by adding the words "or citation" to subsections (a)(1)(B) and (a)(2) as Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-1-115(c) specifically provides for the issuance of a citation in certain cases, after the passage of 2018 Tenn. Pub. Acts, ch. 1052, § 12. Subsections (d)(1) and (d)(3) are amended to conform to Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-1-110(a)(2) and (d) (2018 Tenn. Pub. Acts, ch. 1052, §§ 10-11 (effective July 1, 2018)). Subdivision (f) is amended by deleting the word "any" and substituting "the delinquent or unruly subject" before the word "proceeding" to clarify the original intent of the rule that statements made by the child during the preliminary inquiry or informal adjustment are not admissible prior to the dispositional hearing in the subject case only Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-1-110(d).

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 201, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 201 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

The amendment of Rule 201, which amended subdivision (d)(3), amended the original Advisory Commission Comments and added the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 21, 2016, was ratified and approved by 2017 House Resolution 18 and Senate Resolution 15. The order promulgating the amendment of subdivision (d)(3), the amendment of the original Advisory Commission Comments and the addition of the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, provided that it take effect July 1, 2017.

The amendment of Rule 201, amended subdivisions (a)(1)(B), (a)(2), (d)(1), (d)(3), and (f) and added the [2019] Advisory Commission Comment, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated January 8, 2019, was ratified and approved by 2019 Special Session House Resolution 3 and 2019 Regular Session Senate Resolution 13. The order promulgating amendment of Rule 201 by amendment of subdivisions (a)(1)(B), (a)(2), (d)(1), (d)(3), and (f) and the addition the [2019] Advisory Commission Comment, provided that it take effect October 1, 2019.

Rule 202. Pretrial diversion.

(a) PRETRIAL DIVERSION AGREEMENT. If the designated court officer determines that the matter is appropriate for pretrial diversion, the pretrial diversion agreement shall be in writing and signed by the child, the child's parent, guardian or other legal custodian and the designated court officer. No admission of the allegation contained in the petition shall be required of the child when determining whether to proceed with a pretrial diversion. The agreement must be approved by the court before it is of any force and effect.

(b) CONSENT. The pretrial diversion shall not occur without consent of the child and the child's parent, guardian or other legal custodian.

(c) TIME LIMITS. The pretrial diversion process may continue for a period up to 6 months, unless the child is discharged sooner by the court. Upon application of any party made prior to the expiration of the initial time period, and after notice and a hearing, the diversion may be extended for a period not to exceed an additional 6 months.

(d) MODIFICATION. The parties, by mutual consent and with court approval, may modify the requirements of the agreement at any time before its termination.

(e) VIOLATION OF PRETRIAL DIVERSION. If failure to comply with the agreement is alleged, the child shall be given written notice of the alleged violation and an opportunity to be heard on that issue prior to the reinstatement of proceedings pursuant to the original charge. Notice of the failure to comply must be filed prior to the expiration of the pretrial diversion. The filing of the notice extends the period of pretrial diversion pending a prompt hearing on the merits of the alleged violation.

(f) STATEMENTS OF CHILD. Any statements made by the child during the preliminary inquiry or pretrial diversion are not admissible in the delinquent or unruly subject proceeding prior to the dispositional hearing. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016; and as amended by order filed December 21, 2016, effective July 1, 2017; adopted by order dated January 8, 2019, effective October 1, 2019.]

Advisory Commission Comments. The procedures set forth in this rule essentially allow for a process similar to informal adjustment, with no official finding as to guilt; however, because conditions of a pretrial diversion may be more demanding than those allowed in an informal adjustment there must be court approval of any agreement. Prior to determining whether a case is appropriate for pretrial diversion, the designated court officer should follow the procedures in Rule 201(a)-(c), regarding the preliminary inquiry.

Courts should develop written local procedures and criteria for initiating pretrial diversion. Such criteria might include a listing of the types of cases, or charges, which might be handled by pretrial diversion. Pretrial diversion might be initiated by the parties or by the court itself, through motion or through whatever other procedure the court determines is appropriate. Local rules and procedures should ensure the district attorney general is notified of cases in which pretrial diversion is being considered, in light of the legitimate public interest in the disposition of more serious cases.

Pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-110, if the child completes the pretrial diversion agreement, the case is dismissed. If the court, or the designated court officer, determines that the case is serious enough that such dismissal should not occur, the case should proceed to court as in any other case warranting official court action, and, if the child readily admits guilt and wishes to negotiate a settlement based upon a plea of guilty, such negotiated settlement should be handled in accordance with Rule 209.

Advisory Commission Comments [2017]. The rule is amended by deleting the first sentence of subdivision 202(d) and changing the title to “Modification.” That sentence (which provided, “In addition to any counsel and advice authorized for an informal adjustment, sanctions, including, but not limited to community service work and monetary restitution may be made a part of the agreement”) was intended to have been deleted in the comprehensive revision of the Rules of Juvenile Procedure effective July 1, 2016, but was inadvertently included in the revision.

Additionally, the last sentence of the first paragraph of the original Advisory Commission Comment is deleted, because it also should have been removed in the comprehensive revision of the Rules of Juvenile Procedure.

Advisory Commission Comments [2019]. Rule 202(a) is amended to conform to Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-1-110(d) (2018 Tenn. Pub. Acts, ch. 1052, § 11) (effective July 1, 2018). Subdivision (f) is amended by deleting the word “any” and substituting “the delinquent or unruly subject” before the word “proceeding” to clarify the original intent of the rule that statements made by the child during the preliminary inquiry or informal adjustment are not admissible prior to the dispositional hearing in the subject case only Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-1-110(d).

Compiler’s Notes. The adoption of Rule 202, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 202 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

The amendment of Rule 202, which amended subdivision (d), amended the original Advisory Commission Comments and added the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 21, 2016, was ratified and approved by 2017 House Resolution 18 and Senate Resolution 15. The order promulgating the amendment of subdivision (d), the amendment of the original Advisory Commission Comments and the addition of the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, provided that it take effect July 1, 2017.

The amendment of Rule 202, amended subsections (a) and (f) and added the [2019] Advisory Commission Comment, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated January 8, 2019, was ratified and approved by 2019 Special Session House Resolution 3 and 2019 Regular Session Senate Resolution 13. The order promulgating amendment of Rule 202 by amendment of subsections (a) and (f) and the addition the [2019] Advisory Commission Comment, provided that it take effect October 1, 2019.

Rule 203. Procedures upon taking a delinquent child into custody.

(a) DELINQUENT CHILD TAKEN INTO CUSTODY AND RELEASED. When a child is taken into custody and is not detainable, the child shall be released to the child’s parent, guardian or other custodian within a reasonable time. The child and the person to whom a child is released shall be served a summons requiring the child’s return to court at such time and place as the court directs.

(b) DELINQUENT CHILD TAKEN INTO CUSTODY AND NOT RELEASED.

(1) If a child is taken into custody without an order and:

(A) The child is alleged to be delinquent and held in secure detention, a probable cause determination that an offense has been committed by the child shall be made by a magistrate within 48 hours of the child being taken into custody; or

(B) The child is alleged to be delinquent and detained under the special circumstances exception pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-114(c)(3), a probable cause determination that an offense has been committed by the child and a finding of special circumstances shall be made by a magistrate within 24 hours, excluding nonjudicial days, but no later than 48 hours of the child being taken into custody.

In either case, if the magistrate does not make the required findings, the child shall be immediately released to the child’s parent, guardian or other custodian. If the required findings are made and the child remains in secure detention, a detention hearing must be held within the timeframes outlined in subdivision (b)(2). “Magistrate” means a person designated as such pursuant to the provisions of T.C.A. §§ 37-1-107 or 40-1-106. Probable cause determinations shall be based on a written affidavit, which may be sworn to in person or by audio-visual electronic means.

(2) If a child alleged to be delinquent is taken into custody pursuant to an order of attachment or if a probable cause determination is made pursuant to paragraph (b), the child shall not remain in detention longer than 72 hours, excluding nonjudicial days, but in no event more than 84 hours, unless a detention hearing is held. For a child so detained, a petition setting forth the allegations against the child and the basis for asserting the court’s jurisdiction shall be filed prior to the child’s detention hearing.

(c) SECURE DETENTION OF DELINQUENT CHILD.

(1) A child alleged to be delinquent and not released shall be placed in a juvenile detention facility. The court and the child’s parent, guardian or other custodian shall immediately be notified of the child’s location and of the reason for the child’s detention.

(2) A child not released shall be informed upon being placed in the detention facility, both verbally and in writing, by a person designated by the court of:

(A) The reason for being detained, including the nature of the alleged offense;

(B) The child’s right to a detention hearing and an explanation of the purpose of a detention hearing;

(C) The child’s right to an attorney and that an attorney will be appointed to represent the child as soon as possible prior to the detention hearing if the child’s parent or custodian is financially unable or refuses to retain an attorney for the child;

(D) The right not to say anything about the charges being placed against the child and that anything the child says may be used against the child in court;

(E) The right to communicate with the child’s attorney and parent, guardian or other custodian, and that provision will be made by the detention facility to allow for such private communication.

(d) DETENTION HEARING.

(1) ADVISEMENT OF RIGHTS. At the beginning of the detention hearing, the court shall inform the parties of the purpose of the hearing and the possible consequences of the detention hearing, and shall inform the child of the child’s rights pursuant to Rule 205.

(2) EVIDENCE. Any finding that there is probable cause to believe that an offense has been committed, and that the child committed it, shall be based on evidence admitted pursuant to the Rules of Evidence, except that such evidence may include reliable hearsay.

(3) REQUIRED DETERMINATIONS. The court, in making the decision on whether to detain the child, shall:

(A) Determine whether probable cause exists as to whether the charged offense or a lesser included offense has been committed and whether the child committed

it; and

(B) If probable cause has been determined, whether the offense is one which qualifies for continued detention under T.C.A. § 37-1-114; and

(C) If probable cause has been determined and the offense qualifies for continued detention, determine whether it is in the best interest of the child and the community that the child remain in detention pending further hearings. In making this best interest determination, the court should consider the likelihood that the child would abscond or be removed from the jurisdiction of the court; and

(D) Determine whether any less restrictive alternatives to detention are available which would satisfy the court's best interest determination above. The court may impose conditions on release such as the setting of bail, restrictions on the child's movements and activities, requirements of the child's parent, guardian, or custodian, or other community-based alternatives as an alternative to continued detention.

(4) RELEASE OF CHILD. If the court does not find the child is detainable as above, the child shall be released to an appropriate parent, guardian or responsible adult. The court may impose conditions on release as above, and a hearing shall be scheduled.

(5) CONTINUED DETENTION OF CHILD. If the court orders the child to be detained, or if the child waives a the detention hearing, the court shall ensure that the child's case will be scheduled so as to limit the time the child spends in secure detention.

(6) WAIVER OF TIME LIMIT FOR DETENTION HEARING. The time limit for the hearing may be waived by a knowing and voluntary written waiver by the child. Any such waiver may be revoked at any time, at which time a detention hearing shall be held within the time frame outlined in T.C.A. § 37-1-117. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016; and as amended by order filed December 21, 2016, effective July 1, 2017.]

Advisory Commission Comments. This rule applies only to children alleged to be delinquent. A child alleged to be unruly and taken into custody may not be held in a secure facility for a period longer than allowed in T.C.A. § 37-1-114.

Subdivision (b) clarifies that upon a warrantless arrest of a child alleged to be delinquent, a neutral and detached magistrate must make a probable cause determination that the child has committed the delinquent offense within 48 hours of the arrest. This determination may be made ex parte. Under the Fourth Amendment, in order for a state to detain a person arrested without a warrant, a judicial officer must determine that probable cause exists to believe the person has committed a crime. Gerstein v. Pugh, 420 U.S. 103 (1974). The judicial officer must make this determination "either before or promptly after arrest." Id. at 124. Seventeen years later, the Court further refined its Gerstein decision, holding that probable cause determinations must be made within 48 hours of a warrantless arrest. County of Riverside v. McLaughlin, 500 U.S. 44, 57 (1991) ("A jurisdiction that chooses to offer combined [probable cause and arraignment] proceedings must do so as soon as is reasonably feasible, but in no event later than 48 hours after arrest"). Although the Supreme Court has not addressed whether Gerstein hearings are required for juveniles, the Sixth Circuit has answered this question affirmatively. Cox v. Turley, 506 F.2d 1347, 1353 (6th Cir. 1974) ("Both the Fourth Amendment and the Fifth Amendment were violated because there was no prompt determination of probable cause — a constitutional mandate that protects juveniles as well as adults"). See also State v. Bishop, No. W2010-01207-SC-R11-CD, 2014 Tenn. LEXIS 189, 2008 WL 888198 (Tenn. 2013), and State v. Huddleston, 924 S.W.2d 666 (Tenn. 1996).

The probable cause determination in subdivision (b)(1) must be based on a written affidavit reciting the facts, which may be sworn to in person or by audio-visual electronic means. Black's Law Dictionary defines affidavit as "(a) voluntary declaration of facts written down and sworn to by the declarant before an officer authorized to administer oaths." Black's Law Dictionary 66 (9th ed. 2009).

Subdivision (b)(2) refers to an "order of attachment." The Commission uses the phrase "order of attachment" to refer to any court order commanding that the child be taken into custody. Some jurisdictions may refer to these orders as orders of arrest or arrest warrants. Such orders of attachment may direct the appropriate authorities to take the child to a detention facility, to the police station, to court, or to another place.

Wherever possible, community-based alternatives to secure detention facilities should be used. This preference is in keeping with the prohibition in T.C.A. § 37-1-114 against any detention or shelter care of children unless "there is no less drastic alternative to removal of the child from the custody of his parent, guardian or legal custodian available which would reasonably and adequately protect the child's health or safety or prevent the child's removal from the jurisdiction of the court pending a hearing."

The Commission recognizes that detention is a severe curtailment of the child's liberty and affects not only the child, but the child's parent, guardian or custodian. A child in detention is presumed to be innocent and retains all rights guaranteed to children facing charges but who are not detained. Accordingly, detention should be as brief as possible and should be used only when absolutely necessary to accomplish the objectives of the statute. The court should determine, on an individual basis, whether the child's continued detention is warranted under T.C.A. § 37-1-114 and that there are no less drastic alternatives available. The court should make specific findings of fact justifying continued detention.

A child alleged to be delinquent has the right to an attorney at the detention hearing, as well as all other stages of a delinquency proceeding. The court must inform the child of the right to an attorney at the beginning of the hearing, pursuant to the procedures in Rule 205. Also, in order for a child to effectively waive the right to an attorney, the court must comply with the process to obtain a knowing and voluntary waiver in that rule.

Courts should have an established practice in place for the appointment of attorneys as soon as possible prior to detention hearings. If at all practicable, detention hearings should not be continued for the sole reason of locating and appointing attorneys. The Commission recognizes that time constraints may interfere with this objective, but would stress that continued deprivation of liberty is a significant event in the life of a child.

Advisory Commission Comments [2017]. A new sentence (which reads, "If the required findings are made and the child remains in secure detention, a detention hearing must be held within the timeframes outlined in subdivision (b)(2)") is added to subdivision (b)(1) to provide further clarification that a detention hearing must be held even though the required 48-hour probable cause findings are made.

The order promulgating the amendment of subdivision (b) and the addition of the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, provided that it take effect July 1, 2017.

Rule 204. Use of restraints on children in the courtroom.

(a) Children appearing in juvenile court may be restrained if the court determines that:

(1) The behavior of the child represents a threat to his or her safety or the safety of other people in the courtroom; or

(2) The behavior of the child presents a substantial risk of flight from the courtroom; and

(3) There are no less restrictive alternatives to restraints that will prevent flight or risk of harm to the child or another person in the courtroom.

(b) Any party may request to be heard as to whether or not restraints are necessary, and upon request, a judge shall make findings on the record regarding the decision to restrain the child. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. The general statutory requirement is to “remove the taint of criminality” from children appearing in our juvenile courts.

It is not anticipated by this Commission that juvenile courts will be required to engage in an extensive fact-finding hearing prior to ruling that restraints on a particular child are appropriate. It is further understood that Tennessee juvenile courtrooms vary greatly in structure, availability of security personnel and their ability to handle security concerns. A few of the factors the court may wish to consider prior to ruling restraints are appropriate are:

- 1) The seriousness of the charges;
- 2) The delinquency history of the child;
- 3) Any past disruptive courtroom behavior by the child;
- 4) Any past escape attempts by the child;
- 5) Any security risks at a particular time in a courtroom due to structure and/or low staffing levels of security personnel.

The Commission is seeking to promote an individual determination by the court as to whether a child should be restrained in the courtroom. The focus of this rule should be balancing between the child's best interest and the safety of the courtroom. This rule only addresses children within the courtroom. It does not address transportation to and from the courthouse and to and from the courtroom.

A large number of children in delinquency proceedings have suffered neglect or abuse, and/or have physical or mental disabilities. Restraints on these children are particularly inappropriate in most circumstances. Communication between a child and an adult attorney is often difficult, and restraints compound that problem. Children disengage from communication with their attorneys even more than adult defendants because “juveniles have limited understanding of the criminal justice system and the roles of the institutional actors within it.” Graham v. Florida, 560 U.S. 48, 51 (2010).

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 204, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 146 and Senate Resolution 78. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 204 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 205. Notification and waiver of rights of children.

(a) RIGHT TO ATTORNEY.

(1) NOTIFICATION OF RIGHT TO ATTORNEY. In all proceedings in which a child is by law entitled to representation by an attorney, the court shall expressly inform the child of the right to an attorney. If a child waives the right to an attorney, the court shall inform the child of the continuing right to an attorney at all stages of the proceedings.

(2) WAIVER OF RIGHT TO AN ATTORNEY. No child shall be deemed to have waived the assistance of an attorney until and unless:

- (A) The child has been fully informed of the right to an attorney;
- (B) The child subsequently knowingly and voluntarily waives the right to an attorney; and
- (C) The waiver is confirmed in writing by the child.

(3) APPOINTMENT OF ATTORNEY. When a child who is entitled to a court-appointed attorney does not knowingly and voluntarily waive the right to an attorney and cannot afford an attorney, or when the child's parents or other persons legally obligated to care for and support the child are able to afford an attorney but refuse to hire one, the court shall appoint an attorney and assess attorney's fees pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-150.

(b) NOTIFICATION AND WAIVER OF ADDITIONAL RIGHTS AT A HEARING.

(1) NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS TO A CHILD WHO HAS WAIVED THE RIGHT TO AN ATTORNEY. At the outset of any juvenile court hearing, the court shall advise any child who has waived the right to an attorney of:

- (A) The right to remain silent;
- (B) The right to plead not guilty;
- (C) The right to a trial;
- (D) The right to confront and cross-examine adverse witnesses;
- (E) The right to present testimony on the child's behalf;
- (F) The right to subpoena evidence on the child's own behalf;
- (G) The right to appeal any final order, the time limits for and manner in which the right to appeal can be perfected, and the right to an attorney on appeal.

(2) NOTIFICATION AND WAIVER WHERE CHILD REPRESENTED BY AN ATTORNEY. When the child is represented by an attorney, the attorney shall fully advise the child of the child's rights under the Constitution of the United States, the Constitution of Tennessee, any other law, and any rule of court. The child shall make the decision whether or not to waive those rights, after full consultation with the child's attorney. The obligation of the attorney to advise the child of the child's rights in no way diminishes the Court's obligations both to advise the child of the child's rights and to ascertain whether waivers of those rights are made knowingly and voluntarily.

(3) WAIVER OF RIGHTS WHERE CHILD NOT REPRESENTED BY AN ATTORNEY. When the child is not represented by an attorney, the child may not waive any rights guaranteed to the child under the Constitution of the United States, the Constitution of Tennessee, any other law, or any rule of court unless the Court has fully advised the child of the child's rights and has determined that the child knowingly and voluntarily waives those rights. The court shall not accept a waiver or deem a waiver to be knowing and voluntary unless or until the child has consulted with a knowledgeable adult who has no interest adverse to the child.

(c) KNOWING AND VOLUNTARY WAIVERS.

(1) CRITERIA FOR KNOWING AND VOLUNTARY WAIVERS. The court shall only accept a waiver if the child is able to make an intelligent and understanding decision based on the child's mental condition, age, education, experience, the nature or complexity of the case, or any other relevant factor.

(2) PROCEDURE FOR MAKING AND CONFIRMING WAIVERS. Any and all waivers of rights at a hearing shall be made orally and in open court, and shall be confirmed in writing by the child and the judge. When the child is not represented by an attorney, the court shall advise the child in open court of the right to an appointed attorney. The court shall not proceed with the hearing unless the child has waived the right to an attorney in accordance with the provisions of this rule. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. Children alleged to be delinquent and children alleged to be unruly and in jeopardy of being removed from the home have the right to an attorney pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-126. In addition, this statute also mandates appointment of an attorney for a child who is “not represented by the child’s parent, guardian, guardian ad litem, or custodian” and who is alleged to be delinquent, or unruly and in jeopardy of being removed from the home. The statute contemplates that a child will not appear in court without adult guidance and representation. Parents are not automatically disqualified from fulfilling this function. However, as the Supreme Court has observed in a different context, “As a general rule, counsel should be provided, and ... any doubt should be resolved in favor of appointment of counsel.” State ex rei. Gillard v. Cook, 528 S.W.2d 545, 548 (Tenn. 1975).

A “knowledgeable adult who has no interest adverse to the child,” referenced in subdivision (b)(3), is a person who can provide advice to the child and who will have no interests that interfere with providing dispassionate and mature advice to the child. This person should have no interests that prevent the person from keeping the child’s best interests and the child’s desires in the forefront. A person who now or in the past brought charges against the child generally does not qualify. Where possible, this person should have a pre-existing relationship with the child. While parents generally satisfy this requirement, the court should determine the level of trust between the child and the child’s parents before allowing the parent to satisfy this requirement. When a child is in the custody of the Department, its employees do not satisfy the requirement of this rule. Depending on the circumstances, a foster parent may qualify.

It is the responsibility of the attorney representing the child charged with a delinquent or unruly offense to fully advise the child of his or her rights. If a child chooses to waive his or her rights, the child can only do so once the court has determined that the child has been advised of each and every right and knowingly and voluntarily is waiving each of the rights.

All waivers of rights shall be made orally and in open court and confirmed in a writing signed by both the judge and the child waiving the rights. The confirming document can be a preprinted form, but must specify the rights that are being waived and must acknowledge that the individual is choosing to waive those rights.

Subdivision (c) provides that the court shall only accept a waiver by a child of his or her rights only if the child is able to make an intelligent and understanding decision based on certain factors. The Tennessee Supreme Court has applied the totality-of-the-circumstances test in analyzing juvenile waivers. See State v. Callahan, 979 S.W.2d 577 (Tenn. 1998).

The court should address the child, not the parents or other adults who are present in the courtroom, and should always take into account the child’s age, mental condition, education, experience and the nature and complexity of the case when deciding how to question the child about the child’s understanding of the rights and whether the child waives those rights. The court must address the child in language appropriate to that particular child.

Compiler’s Notes. The adoption of Rule 205, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 205 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 206. Discovery.

(a) Each juvenile court shall ensure that the parties in delinquent and unruly proceedings have access to any discovery materials consistent with Rule 16 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure.

(b) An informal request for discovery is encouraged, but if the parties cannot agree as to discovery, then a formal discovery request shall be made. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. In drafting this rule, the Commission was concerned with potential burdens and delays that might be caused if existing criminal discovery methods were applied without modification to juvenile court proceedings. This does not preclude adoption by each court of local rules of procedure to implement the discovery mechanisms found in the Tennessee Rules of Criminal Procedure. The Commission emphasizes the mandate of Supreme Court Rule 18, which limits local rules to those “not inconsistent with ... the Rules of Juvenile Procedure[.]”

State v. Willoughby, 594 S. W.2d 388 (Tenn. 1980) holds that discovery rules do not apply to preliminary examinations and hearings. Therefore, this rule would not apply to any probable cause hearing in juvenile court with the caveat that this rule is not the exclusive procedure for obtaining discovery. Please note that some discovery may be critical in a transfer hearing. The Court should use its discretion in granting access to information necessary to defend or prosecute a transfer case. The state must disclose any exculpatory evidence to the child’s attorney per Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963).

If the parties cannot agree on discovery, then the Tennessee Rules of Criminal Procedure shall be utilized to ensure that each side has access to discovery materials in each case. If a request for discovery is made on behalf of the child and the district attorney is not prosecuting the case, the person prosecuting the case must comply with Rule 16 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure.

Juvenile court practitioners are advised to fully acquaint themselves with Rule 16 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure.

Compiler’s Notes. The adoption of Rule 206, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 206 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 207. Procedures related to child’s mental condition.

(a) AT TIME OF ADJUDICATORY HEARING.

(1) If at any time prior to or during the adjudicatory hearing in a delinquent or unruly case, the court has reasonable grounds to believe the child named in the petition may be incompetent to proceed with an adjudicatory hearing, the court shall stay the proceedings pending a determination of the child’s competency to stand trial. Reasonable grounds to believe that the child is incompetent to proceed may be based upon an oral or written motion by any party or upon the court’s own initiative.

(2) The court shall order one or more evaluations of a child to assist in determining whether the child is mentally competent to stand trial. The evaluations are to be performed by a licensed psychologist or psychiatrist who has expertise in child development and has received training in forensic evaluation procedures through formal instruction, professional supervision, or both.

(3) If the issue of a child’s competency to stand trial arises prior to the child having either a retained or appointed attorney, no further action will occur until an attorney is in place to represent the child.

(4) In any case in which such an evaluation is ordered, the court shall schedule a hearing in order to determine competency.

(5) If the child is found to be incompetent to proceed with the adjudicatory hearing, the adjudication shall be stayed pending further proceedings and time limits shall be tolled. If the court finds that the provision of services or treatment to the child may result in the child achieving competence, then the court may order such treatment or services. In addition, the court may inform the parties as to procedures for voluntary admission to public and private mental health facilities in lieu of judicial commitment. If the child does not meet the standards for involuntary hospitalization, but remains incompetent to stand trial, the child shall be released to the appropriate guardian or custodian pending further hearings in juvenile court.

(6) If the child is found to be competent the court shall proceed with an adjudicatory hearing.

(7) The child's mental competence to stand trial may be raised at any stage of the proceeding by motion, and the court has a continuing obligation to consider the issue when raised.

(b) AT TIME OF THE OFFENSE; AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE.

(1) If the child named in the petition intends to introduce expert testimony relating to a mental disease, defect, or other condition bearing upon the issue of whether the child had the mental state required for the offense charged, the child shall, within the time provided for the filing of pretrial motions or at such later time as the court may direct, notify the court in writing of such intention and file a copy of such notice with the clerk. Upon filing of the notice, upon motion of the state, or on its own initiative, the court may cause the child to be examined in accordance with the procedures set forth in this rule and consistent with the procedures outlined in Rule 12.2 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure.

(2) The court, upon good cause shown and in its discretion, may waive the requirements in subdivision (b)(1) and permit the introduction of such defense, or may continue the hearing for the purpose of an examination in accordance with the procedures set forth in this rule. A continuance granted for this purpose tolls the time limits for adjudicatory hearings.

(c) INADMISSIBILITY OF CHILD'S STATEMENTS DURING COMPETENCY EXAMINATION. No statement made by the child in the course of any examination relating to his or her competency to stand trial (whether conducted with or without the child's consent), no testimony by any expert based on such statement, and no other fruits of the statement are admissible in evidence against the child in a delinquent or unruly adjudicatory hearing. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. There are no reported cases in Tennessee addressing the question of whether or under what circumstances an insanity defense is available in juvenile court proceedings. Application of this defense in juvenile proceedings has been recognized in various jurisdictions. See, e.g. In re Two Minor Children, 592 P.2d 166 (Nev. 1979); State ex rel. Causey, 363 So. 2d 472 (La. 1978); Winburn v. State, 145 N.W.2d 178 (Wis. 1966); see also In re Ramon M., 584 P.2d 524 (Cal. 1978); and State v. Ferrell, 209 S.W.2d 642 (Tex. Civ. App. 1948). The leading case holding the insanity defense inapplicable to delinquency proceedings, In re H.C., 256 A.2d 322 (N.J. 1969), was subsequently held to be overridden by modifications of the New Jersey Juvenile Court Act. In re R.G. W., 342 A.2d 869 (N.J. 1975), aff'd, 358 A.2d 473 (N.J. 1976). However, at least one jurisdiction continues to preclude the insanity defense from being asserted at the adjudicatory hearing (although recognizing the claim of incompetence to stand trial). See In re C. W.M., 407 A.2d 617 (D.C. 1979); see also Golden v. State, 21 S.W.3d 801 (Ark. 2000).

This rule is not intended to alter the substantive law respecting the applicability of the insanity defense to juvenile court proceedings in Tennessee or to delineate those circumstances under which such a defense may be available. Rather, it provides procedures for those cases in which "the child intends to introduce expert testimony relating to mental disease, defect or other condition bearing upon the issue of whether the child had the mental state required for the offense charged."

The 2016 amendment was drafted to articulate a clear difference between a finding of incompetency by the court and an affirmative defense of diminished capacity. In addition, the rule clarifies that a child's statements made during an evaluation of their competency shall not be used against them in court as an admission of guilt.

Rule 110 provides that in a delinquency proceeding the computation of time shall toll during the period in which the child is found to be incompetent to stand trial.

The adoption of Rule 207, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 207 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 208. Transfer to criminal court.

(a) NOTICE OF INTENT TO SEEK TRANSFER OF JURISDICTION OF CHILD TO CRIMINAL COURT. The state must file written notice, in good faith and not for the purpose of delay, of the intent to seek transfer in accordance with Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-1-134. The decision on whether or not the state will seek transfer must be made within 90 days of the child being charged with an offense and no less than 14 days prior to the transfer hearing or the adjudicatory hearing, whichever occurs first. This time period may be extended by the court for good cause. The written notice of intent to seek transfer must be filed at least 14 days prior to the transfer hearing. Once that notice is filed, the court shall not hear the case on its merits, but shall proceed to conduct a hearing only in accordance with Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-1-134.

(b) TRANSFER HEARING.

(1) At the transfer hearing:

(A) A prosecutor shall represent the state;

(B) The child shall be represented by an attorney;

(C) The child may testify as a witness in his or her own behalf, and may call and examine other witnesses and produce other evidence on his or her own behalf, however no plea shall be accepted by the court; and

(D) Each witness shall testify under oath or affirmation and be subject to cross-examination.

(2) The same rules of evidence shall apply as are applicable to a preliminary examination, pursuant to the Tennessee Rules of Criminal Procedure.

(3) Unless the child appears in any way to be mentally ill or intellectually disabled, and unless personally or through counsel asserts that the child is mentally ill or intellectually disabled, it shall be presumed that the child is not committable to an institution for the mentally ill or intellectually disabled, and the court may so find. If mental illness is alleged, the court shall order psychological or psychiatric examination at any stage of the proceeding.

(4) If the court determines that the criteria for transfer have been satisfied and finds that there is probable cause for transfer, the child may be transferred to criminal court.

(5) Any order of transfer shall specify the grounds for transfer and set bond if the offense is bailable pursuant to state law. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016; and as amended by order filed December 21, 2016, effective July 1, 2017.]

Advisory Commission Comments. When considering whether “reasonable grounds” is equivalent to “probable cause,” the courts in Tennessee have opined: “While no definition of ‘reasonable grounds’ is provided in the statute, the term has been used interchangeably with ‘probable cause’ by the courts of this state.” State v. Bowers, 189 S.W.3d 240, 248 (Tenn. Crim. App. 2004); State v. Melson, 638 S.W.2d 342, 350 (Tenn. 1982); State v. Humphreys, 70 S.W.3d 752, 761 (Tenn. Crim. App. 2001).

Regarding the provision in subdivision (b)(1) that the child shall be represented by an attorney, the child must have the benefit of an attorney at the transfer hearing due to the significant ramifications if the child’s case is transferred to adult court.

The U. S. Supreme Court’s rulings in Miller v. Alabama, 132 S. Ct. 2455 (2012), Graham v. Florida, 560 U.S. 48 (2010), and Roper v. Simmons, 543 U.S. 551 (2005) recognized that courts must consider a juvenile’s “lessened culpability” and greater “capacity for change”. In accordance with these cases, the child must be represented by counsel in order to ensure consideration by the courts of all issues involving a minor defendant in a delinquency action, especially the unique nature of the juvenile offender.

Under T.C.A. § 37-1-134, the court must find reasonable grounds to believe that (i) the child committed the delinquent act as alleged, (ii) the child is not committable to an institution for the intellectually disabled or mentally ill, and (iii) the interests of the community require that the child be put under legal restraint or discipline. Regarding subdivision (b)(3) and § 37-1-134, it has been held by both the Tennessee Court of Appeals and Court of Criminal Appeals that, although the burden of proof is on the prosecution on such issue, there is a presumption of noncommittability similar to that relating to sanity in criminal trials. Such presumption can be rebutted by evidence introduced by the defendant, and in such event the burden would shift back to the prosecution to persuade the court the child is not committable. See Howell v. Hodge, 710 F.3d 381, 386 (6th Cir. 2013). The Commission suggests, however, that it is good practice in any case for the court to arrange for testing and evaluation, evidence of which may be introduced by either of the parties or the court on the issue of committability.

Subdivision (b)(1)(C) provides that no plea shall be accepted by the court during the transfer hearing. This does not preclude the parties from agreeing to terminate the transfer hearing prior to its completion and holding an adjudicatory hearing. Once a plea is accepted by the juvenile court, double jeopardy attaches and the matter may not be transferred to criminal court. See Breed v. Jones, 421 U.S. 519, 95 S. Ct. 1779 (1975) and State v. Jackson, 503 S.W.2d 185 (Tenn. 1973).

If the case is not transferred to criminal court, T.C.A. § 37-1-134 prohibits the judge who conducted the transfer hearing from presiding over the adjudicatory hearing on the petition if a party objects. Also, T.C.A. § 37-1-134 prohibits a judge who has conducted a transfer hearing from presiding at a hearing in the same case in criminal court. Such a situation might arise if a judge were sitting specially in criminal court, or if a person who was formerly the juvenile court judge were elected to the criminal court or to any other court which might hear such a case by special arrangement.

Advisory Commission Comments [2017]. Subdivision (b)(4) is amended to substitute the term “probable cause” for the term “reasonable grounds” because T.C.A. § 37-1-134 was amended to use the term “probable cause.”

The amendment of Rule 208, which amended subdivision (b) and added the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 21, 2016, was ratified and approved by 2017 House Resolution 18 and Senate Resolution 15. The order promulgating the amendment of subdivision (b) and the addition of the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, provided that it take effect July 1, 2017.

Rule 209. Plea of guilty or no contest — Judicial diversion.

(a) COURT’S INQUIRY OF CHILD. Before accepting a plea of guilty or no contest, and in addition to the requirements set out in Rule 205, the court must address the child personally in open court and inform the child of, and determine that the child understands, the following:

(1) The nature of the charge to which the plea is offered and the possible dispositional consequences of the plea; if a specific disposition is the basis of the plea, the child should be informed specifically of the nature of that disposition;

(2) That if the child is not represented by an attorney, the child has a right to be represented by an attorney at every stage of the proceedings including the guilty plea, and that, if necessary, one will be appointed;

(3) That the child has the right to plead not guilty or to persist in that plea if it has already been made;

(4) That if the child has been charged with a delinquent offense, the child has a right to a trial to determine whether the child is guilty of the charged offense; and that, at that trial, the judge may only find the child guilty if the judge finds that the state has proven the child’s guilt of the offense or a lesser included offense beyond a reasonable doubt;

(5) That if the child has been charged with being unruly, the child has a right to a trial to determine whether the child is unruly; and that, at that trial, the judge may only find the child unruly if the judge finds that the charge has been proven by clear and convincing evidence;

(6) At the trial, the child has the right to call witnesses and present evidence, including the right to subpoena witnesses and documents to the proceeding and the right to confront and cross-examine adverse witnesses, and the right to testify;

(7) That the child has the right against self-incrimination, including the right not to testify at the trial;

(8) That if the child pleads guilty or no contest, there will not be a trial (except as to the disposition in cases in which disposition is not part of the plea agreement), and that by pleading guilty, the child waives the right to a trial on the merits;

(9) That if the child pleads guilty or no contest, the child admits there is a need of treatment and rehabilitation;

(10) That if the child pleads guilty or no contest, the child waives the right to appeal the adjudication to the circuit court or to have a hearing before the judge on the issue of adjudication if the matter is being heard by a magistrate;

(11) That if the plea includes an agreement as to disposition, the child also waives the right to appeal the disposition to the circuit court or to have a hearing before the judge on the issue of disposition if the matter is being heard by a magistrate;

(12) That if the child pleads guilty or no contest, the court may ask the child questions about the offense to which the plea was made; if the child answers these questions falsely under oath, the child’s answers may later be used against the child in a prosecution for perjury or false statement, unless the plea is a best interest guilty plea; and

(13) That if the child pleads guilty or no contest, the plea may have an effect upon the child's immigration or naturalization status, and, if the child is represented by counsel, the court shall determine that the child has been advised by counsel of the immigration consequences of a plea.

(b) DETERMINATION OF VOLUNTARINESS OF PLEA. The court shall not accept a guilty or no contest plea without first, by addressing the child personally in open court, determining that the plea is voluntary and not the result of force or threats or promises apart from a plea bargain agreement. If a child stands mute or pleads evasively, a plea of not guilty shall be entered by the court.

(c) FACTUAL BASIS FOR GUILTY PLEA. The court shall neither enter a judgment upon a guilty plea nor approve an agreed disposition without satisfying itself that there is a factual basis for the guilty plea.

(d) NO CONTEST. A child may plead no contest only with the consent of the court. Before accepting a plea of no contest, the court shall consider the views of the parties and the interest of the public in the effective administration of justice.

(e) AGREEMENT ON DISPOSITION. If the court accepts a guilty or no contest plea pursuant to an agreement on disposition, the court shall approve the agreed disposition. If the court rejects a guilty or no contest plea, the dispositional agreement shall be null and void.

(f) JUDICIAL DIVERSION. If the court accepts a guilty or no contest plea pursuant to a judicial diversion and approves the conditions of probation, the plea shall not be entered as a judgment of guilty and the child shall not be found delinquent. If the child violates the terms of the diversion and the court so finds, then the plea may be entered as a judgment of guilty, and the child shall be found delinquent. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. Pursuant to North Carolina v. Alford, 400 U.S. 25 (1970), and with the consent of the court, a child may enter a "best interests" guilty plea. This is not a no contest plea. When the child enters an Alford plea, he or she is pleading guilty because it is in his or her best interests, but he or she does not necessarily agree to the factual basis of the plea as set out by the state's attorney. A guilty plea entered pursuant to Alford has all the legal effects of a guilty plea, except that the child cannot be charged with perjury or false statement if he or she later disputes the facts that serve as a basis for the guilty plea or denies his or her guilt of the offense.

The 2016 amendment to this rule adds a provision to allow the child to enter a no contest (nolo contendere) plea. Latin for "I do not wish to contend," Black's Law Dictionary defines a nolo contendere plea as follows: "A plea by which the defendant does not contest or admit guilt." Black's Law Dictionary 1269 (9th ed. 2009). See also Tenn. R. Crim. Proc. 11(a)(1) and (2). The no contest plea requires the court's approval and is similar in legal effect to an Alford plea.

The court is required to inquire about any prior discussions the child may have had regarding potential dispositions. The court should properly make itself aware of such interactions and "bargains," and of their effect on the child's willingness to plead guilty or no contest, before it makes a decision whether to accept any such plea. The court should also ascertain, through this inquiry, with whom any such discussions took place, and whether the child's attorney or parent, guardian or custodian was present.

The 2016 amendment adds the provision that if the child pleads guilty or no contest, the child waives the right to appeal the adjudication to the circuit court, or to have a hearing before the judge on the issue of adjudication if the matter is being heard by a magistrate.

The court may at any time prior to the beginning of a dispositional hearing permit a plea of guilty or no contest to be withdrawn, and if an adjudication has been entered thereon, set aside such adjudication and allow another plea to be substituted for the plea of guilty or nolo contendere. In the subsequent adjudicatory hearing, the court may not consider the plea which was withdrawn as an admission. Evidence of a guilty or no contest plea, later withdrawn, or of statements made in connection therewith, would not be admissible in any proceeding against the child.

The 2016 amendment adds that if the plea includes an agreement as to disposition, the child waives the right to appeal the disposition to the circuit court or to have a hearing before the judge on the issue of disposition, if the matter is being heard by a magistrate.

Finally, the 2016 amendment allows the court to accept a plea of guilty or no contest on a judicial diversion, pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-129(a), and defer further proceedings while placing a child on probation. In doing so, the plea shall not be entered as a judgment, and the child shall not found delinquent.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 209, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 209 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 210. Adjudicatory hearings.

(a) SCOPE OF HEARING. The adjudicatory hearing is the proceeding at which the court determines whether the evidence supports a finding that a child is delinquent or unruly, and whether the child is in need of treatment and rehabilitation. The adjudicatory hearing shall be held in accordance with T.C.A. § 37-1-129.

(b) TIME LIMITS ON SCHEDULING ADJUDICATORY HEARINGS. In all cases, except violations of valid court orders, in which a child is in detention or otherwise has been placed out of the home by court order shall be heard within 30 days of the date the child was placed outside of the home. For good cause shown, the adjudicatory hearing may be continued beyond the 30 day time limit to a date certain as the court may direct. All other cases shall be heard within 30 days of the date of the filing of the petition if such scheduling appears to the court to be reasonable and possible considering the circumstances of the case, including without limitation, whether service on all parties has been achieved. Every case shall be heard within 90 days of the date of the filing of the petition. For good cause shown, the adjudicatory hearing may be continued beyond the 90 day time limit to a date certain as the court may direct.

(c) BEGINNING ADJUDICATORY HEARING. At the beginning of each hearing, the court shall:

(1) Ascertain whether the parties before the court are represented by attorneys;

(2) Verify the name, age and residence of the child who is the subject of the case, and ascertain the relationship of the parties, each to the other;

(3) Ascertain whether all necessary parties are present;

(4) Ascertain whether notice requirements have been complied with, and if not, whether the affected parties knowingly and voluntarily waive compliance;

(5) Explain to the parties the purpose of the hearing and the possible consequences thereof; and

(6) Explain to the parties their rights as set forth in Rule 205.

(d) EVIDENCE ADMISSIBLE. The court shall consider only evidence which has been formally admitted at the adjudicatory hearing. All testimony shall be under oath and may be in narrative form. Evidence shall be admitted as provided by the Tennessee Rules of Evidence. Evidence illegally seized or obtained shall not be received over objection to establish the allegations in the petition. In addition, no statement made by a child to the youth services officer or designated intake officer shall be admissible against the child prior to the dispositional hearing.

(e) ADJUDICATION; STANDARD OF PROOF; AND FINDINGS IN DELINQUENT CASES. At the conclusion of the adjudicatory hearing, the court shall enter an order in accordance with the following provisions:

(1) If the court finds that the delinquent offense has not been proved beyond a reasonable doubt, it shall dismiss the petition.

(2) If the court finds that the delinquent offense has been proved beyond a reasonable doubt, it shall enter an order finding the child guilty and shall immediately proceed to a hearing to determine whether the child is in need of treatment or rehabilitation, or shall schedule it for a later date. At that hearing:

(A) If the court does not find that the child is in need of treatment or rehabilitation, no further proceedings shall be held and the court shall discharge the child from any detention or other restriction previously ordered. In such event, the court shall enter an order finding that the child is not in need of treatment or rehabilitation. The child shall not be adjudicated delinquent.

(B) If the court finds the child is in need of treatment and rehabilitation, it shall enter an order finding that the child is in need of treatment or rehabilitation and that the child is adjudicated delinquent. The court shall immediately proceed to a dispositional hearing or schedule it to be heard on a later date.

(f) ADJUDICATION; STANDARD OF PROOF; AND FINDINGS IN UNRULY CASES. At the conclusion of the adjudicatory hearing, the court shall enter an order in accordance with the following provisions:

(1) If the court finds that the unruly offense has not been proved by clear and convincing evidence, it shall dismiss the petition.

(2) If the court finds that the unruly offense has been proved by clear and convincing evidence, it shall enter an order finding the child guilty and shall immediately proceed to a hearing to determine whether the child is in need of treatment or rehabilitation, or shall schedule it for a later date. At that hearing:

(A) If the court does not find that the child is in need of treatment or rehabilitation, no further proceedings shall be held and the court shall discharge the child from any detention or other restriction previously ordered. In such event, the court shall enter an order finding that the child is not in need of treatment or rehabilitation. The child shall not be adjudicated unruly.

(B) If the court finds the child is in need of treatment and rehabilitation, it shall enter an order finding that the child is in need of treatment or rehabilitation and that the child is adjudicated unruly. The court shall immediately proceed to a dispositional hearing or schedule it to be heard on a later date.

(g) TRANSFER TO HOME COUNTY. The case of an out-of-county resident may be transferred to the child's county of residence for disposition. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. It is the Commission's intent that the court consider only evidence which has been properly admitted during the adjudicatory hearing. The Commission recognizes that the court may have held one or more hearings prior to the adjudicatory hearing which may have resulted in the admission of evidence. Furthermore, the Commission recognizes that the court's file may contain reports and other items submitted by the Department, CASA, law enforcement, or service providers. Such reports and items may not be considered by the court unless properly admitted during the adjudicatory hearing.

This rule combines previous Rule 17 regarding Time Limits on Scheduling Adjudicatory Hearings and Rule 28 Adjudicatory Hearings. The Commission felt this to be logically consistent and would aid practitioners' use of the rule. This rule highlights the statutory framework of a delinquent or unruly case with regard to the adjudicatory hearing.

This rule does not apply to a violation of a Valid Court Order.

During the adjudicatory hearing and prior to disposition, the court makes two distinct findings with regard to each child charged as a delinquent or unruly child: whether the evidence is sufficient to sustain the allegations in the petition, and, if so, whether the child is in need of treatment or rehabilitation. Upon making these findings, the court then proceeds to the dispositional hearing. T.C.A. § 37-1-129(b) states that upon a finding of guilt the court must "proceed immediately or at a postponed hearing" to determine whether the child is "in need of treatment or rehabilitation." This is consistent with the definition of "delinquent child" under T.C.A. § 37-1-102(b) ("delinquent child" means a child who has committed a delinquent act and is in need of treatment or rehabilitation"), and T.C.A. § 37-1-129(f), which allows the court to continue the adjudicatory hearing to receive evidence bearing upon the issue of treatment and rehabilitation. Similarly, the definition of "unruly child" under T.C.A. § 37-1-102(b) also requires a finding of "in need of treatment and rehabilitation" in order to adjudicate the child to be an unruly child.

The Commission understands that many courts may, in an effort to achieve judicial economy, and absent contrary circumstances, elect to conduct both the "treatment and rehabilitation" phase of the adjudicatory hearing and the dispositional hearing immediately after the guilt phase of the adjudicatory hearing. In the event the court continues the adjudicatory hearing to receive evidence bearing upon the issue of treatment and rehabilitation, the court has the authority pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-129(f) to issue orders regarding the child pending the resumption of the hearing.

The Commission notes that T.C.A. § 37-1-129(b) states that the commission of acts which constitute a felony or that reflect recidivistic delinquency is sufficient to sustain a finding that the child is in need of treatment or rehabilitation.

The Commission notes that the Juvenile Offender Act, T.C.A. § 55-10-701 et. seq., also known as the Drug Free Youth Act, requires the adjudicatory court to send to the Department of Safety an order of denial of driving privileges when the child is "convicted of the offense." As explained above, a conviction does not necessarily lead to an adjudication of delinquency due to the added requirement that the court find that the child is in need of treatment and rehabilitation. All parties must be aware of the court's duty under the Act.

The new rule changes the requirement that the adjudicatory hearing be "scheduled for adjudication" within either 30 or 90 days to a requirement that the adjudicatory hearing be "heard."

The varying time limits in these rules for children in custody or detention and children not in custody indicate the Commission's strong intent that cases involving children in custody, and especially in secure detention, be given priority on the docket. Of course, all hearings should be scheduled and held as speedily as possible in the interest of providing timely treatment for children. The Commission recognizes the fact that a child's perception of time is quite different from that of an adult, with shorter periods of time being felt as being much extended, so that it is important that whatever action is taken be taken expeditiously, within the limits of practicability.

There are instances, however, where it will be quite appropriate to allow for a relatively longer period of time prior to disposition, in particular, for the child to prove to the court that a less restrictive disposition may be desirable in the case, for example. This is the purpose of the longer 90-day limit in cases in which children are not being held in custody, and of the provisions allowing for extensions of the time limits. Another valid reason for extensions of the limits would be to obtain psychological evaluations and testing which could not be obtained within the specified time limits.

In any case in which the time limits prescribed are not complied with, or in which the provisions for continuances are not complied with, the court may dismiss the charges with prejudice where it determines that failure to comply with the time limits constitutes a violation of the child's right to a speedy trial. In any case in which the time limits prescribed are not complied with, or in which the provisions for extensions are not complied with, the court may discharge the child from the jurisdiction of the juvenile court if the court determines that the interests of justice so require.

These rules do not require a pretrial conference; however, the Commission encourages courts to schedule a pretrial conference or settlement date during which negotiations may occur with the parties and counsel, law enforcement, victims, and the district attorney.

Advisory Commission Comments [2017]. The last sentence of the third paragraph of the Advisory Commission Comments rule is deleted. That sentence (which provided "See the Appendix to these rules regarding Valid Court Orders") should have been deleted in the comprehensive revision of the Rules of Juvenile Procedure effective July 1, 2016, because the appendix to which it referred was deleted at that time.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 210, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 210 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

The amendment of Rule 210 by the amendment of the original Advisory Commission Comments and the addition of the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 21, 2016, was ratified and approved by 2017 House Resolution 18 and Senate Resolution 15. The order promulgating the amendment of Rule 210 by amending the original Advisory Commission Comments and adding the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, provided that it take effect July 1, 2017.

Rule 211. Dispositional hearings.

(a) TIME LIMITS ON SCHEDULING DISPOSITIONAL HEARINGS. Dispositional hearings shall be held within 15 days of the adjudicatory hearing if the child is in detention or otherwise has been placed out of the home by court order, and within 90 days of the adjudicatory hearing in all other cases. Upon good cause shown, the dispositional hearing may be continued to a date certain.

(b) SEPARATE FROM ADJUDICATORY HEARING. A dispositional hearing shall be separate and distinct from the adjudicatory hearing to which it relates. However, it may be held immediately following the adjudicatory hearing or at a later date.

(c) NOTICE OF RIGHT TO APPEAL. At the conclusion of the dispositional hearing, the court shall advise the child of the right to appeal the dispositional order.

(d) TEMPORARY ORDER. Where a continuance of the dispositional hearing is ordered, the court may enter such temporary order that is in the best interest of the child. Detention may be ordered, but only where such detention appears to be necessary for the protection of the child or others, or where necessary to assure the child's appearance at the subsequent dispositional hearing.

(e) EVIDENCE ADMISSIBLE; STANDARD OF PROOF. In arriving at its dispositional decision, the court shall consider only evidence which has been formally admitted and the juvenile court record of the child. All testimony shall be under oath and may be in narrative form. The rules of evidence shall apply except that reliable hearsay, including, but not limited to, documents such as psychiatric or psychological screenings or evaluations of the child or the child's parents or custodian or reports or assessments prepared by a probation officer, youth services officer or the Department of Children's Services, may be admitted provided that the opposing party is accorded a fair opportunity to rebut any hearsay evidence so admitted. However, this subdivision shall not be construed to authorize the introduction of any evidence secured in violation of the Constitution of the United States or of the Tennessee Constitution. The parties shall have the right to examine any person who has prepared any report admitted into evidence. The standard of proof at the dispositional hearing is preponderance of the evidence. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. The purpose of a dispositional hearing is to design an appropriate plan to meet the needs of the child and to achieve the objectives of the state in exercising jurisdiction. When possible, the initial approach should involve working with the child and the family in their own home so that the appropriate community resources may be involved in care, supervision, and treatment according to the needs of the child.

In choosing among statutorily permissible dispositions in delinquent and unruly cases, the judge should select the least restrictive disposition both in terms of kind and duration that is appropriate to the seriousness of the offense, the degree of culpability indicated by the circumstances of the particular case, and the age and prior record of the child. The preference is for the child to be treated and rehabilitated through community-level resources when appropriate and available. The Commission encourages the making of written findings of fact and reasons for ordering particular dispositions within the law.

If a child alleged to be unruly is placed under a "valid court order" pursuant to § 31.303(f)(3) of Title 28 of the Code of Federal Regulations, the dispositional hearing and order shall be in accordance with the federal regulations.

At the dispositional hearing, it is appropriate that youth services and probation officers be witnesses regarding admissible evidence of which they have knowledge. Youth services officers or probation officers may act as a fact witness.

Although a report may be admissible as reliable hearsay, all the contents of the report may not be reliable hearsay. This is especially important when the source gives an opinion that the person is not qualified to give.

Advisory Commission Comments [2017]. The third paragraph of the Advisory Commission Comments is amended by deleting a reference to the appendix that was deleted in the comprehensive revision of the Rules of Juvenile Procedure, effective July 1, 2016.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 211, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 211 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

The amendment of Rule 211 by the amendment of the original Advisory Commission Comments and the addition of the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 21, 2016, was ratified and approved by 2017 House Resolution 18 and Senate Resolution 15. The order promulgating the amendment of Rule 211 by amending the original Advisory Commission Comments and adding the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, provided that it take effect July 1, 2017.

Rule 212. Probation or home placement supervision violation.

(a) PROCEDURE. Proceedings to establish a violation of the conditions of probation or home placement supervision shall be conducted in the same manner as proceedings on petitions alleging delinquent conduct. The child whose probation or home placement supervision is sought to be modified or revoked shall be entitled to all rights that a child alleged to be delinquent is entitled to under law and these rules. A petition is required for a violation of probation. A petition is also required for a violation of home placement supervision when the child has been released from the custody of the Department of Children's Services. The petition shall identify the remedy being sought and the factual basis for the action.

(b) BURDEN OF PROOF. The burden of proof shall be a preponderance of the evidence.

(c) DISPOSITION. If the child violates the conditions of probation or home placement supervision, the court may make any other disposition which would have been permissible in the original proceeding, subject to T.C.A. § 37-1-137. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. The term "probation" refers to a child on either state or county probation, and a petition is required to initiate a proceeding to violate.

The term "home placement supervision" refers to a child who has been in state custody and is now placed at home for a trial period. A child on home placement supervision remains in state custody until discharged by operation of law at the expiration of 30 days. During that 30 day period the Department of Children's Services is authorized to remove the child from the home at its discretion. A petition is not required to remove the child, but notice must be filed with the court. A review hearing must be scheduled within 30 days of the child's removal, pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-137(d)(2) or within 7 days if the child is placed in detention, pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-137(e).

Upon discharge from custody, the child may continue on home placement supervision, a program that the Department refers to as "aftercare." When a child who is not in the legal custody of the Department violates home placement supervision (aftercare), a violation petition is required. A hearing is required and must occur within 7 days if the child is placed in detention. See T.C.A. § 37-1-137(e).

Advisory Commission Comments [2019]. The original Advisory Commission Comment provided: "A hearing is required and must occur within 7 days if the child is placed in detention." After the amendment to Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-1-137(e) (2018 Tenn. Pub. Acts, ch. 1052, § 41), the hearing must occur within seven (7) days of filing of the violation petition; in applying the rule, be aware that the original time frame described in the Advisory Commission Comment has been superseded by statute: the time for conducting the hearing now runs from the date of filing the petition alleging a violation.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 212, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 212 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

The amendment of Rule 212, added the [2019] Advisory Commission Comment, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated January 8, 2019, was ratified and approved by 2019 Special Session House Resolution 3 and 2019 Regular Session Senate Resolution 13. The order promulgating amendment of Rule 212 by the addition the [2019] Advisory Commission Comment, provided that it take effect October 1, 2019.

Rule 213. Modification of or relief from judgments or orders.

(a) Except in cases where the petition has been heard upon the merits and dismissed, the procedures herein shall be followed to obtain appropriate relief under this rule.

(b) MODIFICATION OF ORDERS.

(1) CLERICAL MISTAKES. Clerical mistakes and errors arising from oversight or omission in orders or other parts of the record may be corrected by the court at any time on its own initiative or on motion of any party.

(2) MODIFICATION FOR CHANGED CIRCUMSTANCES. An order of the court may be modified on the ground that, since the entry of the order, changed circumstances and the best interests of the child require it; however, an order committing a delinquent or unruly child to the Department of Children's Services or an order of dismissal may not be modified on these grounds.

(3) MODIFICATION FOR NEWLY DISCOVERED EVIDENCE. A dispositional order may be modified on the ground that newly discovered evidence so requires. The court, in making this determination, shall make any modification consistent with the best interests of the child.

(c) RELIEF FROM JUDGMENTS OR ORDERS. An order of the court shall be set aside if it is determined that:

(1) It was obtained by fraud or mistake sufficient to satisfy the legal requirements for relief in any other civil action;

(2) The court lacked jurisdiction over a necessary party or of the subject matter; or

(3) Newly discovered evidence so requires. The court must determine that, with regard to such newly discovered evidence, the movant was without fault in failing to present such evidence at the original proceeding, and that such evidence may have resulted in a different judgment at the original proceeding.

(d) PROCEDURE. Any party to a proceeding, a probation officer, or other person having supervision or legal custody of or an interest in a child may seek the relief provided in this rule. A motion shall set forth in concise language the grounds upon which the relief is requested. Notice of the date and time for a hearing on the motion shall be given to the parties to the proceeding and to those affected by the relief sought.

(e) DISPOSITION. After the hearing, the court shall deny or grant relief as the evidence warrants. Where a modification of an order is granted, the court may order any disposition which would be permissible at the original dispositional hearing, or the court may schedule a dispositional hearing in accordance with these rules. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. T.C.A. § 37-1-139 authorizes the modification of and relief from orders under certain circumstances. Note that a motion, and not a petition, is to be filed when seeking relief pursuant to this rule.

The procedures in this rule regarding setting aside of orders draws from the concepts contained in T.C.A. § 40-26-105, writ of error coram nobis in criminal matters. Relief pursuant to this statute is limited to "subsequently or newly discovered evidence" and requires the court to find that the defendant was without fault in failing to present such evidence at the original proceeding and that such evidence "may have resulted in a different judgment" had it been presented at the original proceeding.

In the event an order is set aside, the District Attorney General will, of course, decide if a delinquency matter should be retried. The petitioner in an unruly matter will likewise make such a decision. The court, however, is to reschedule the hearing and proceed as it did with the original proceeding.

Placements after a child has been committed to the Department of Children's Services shall be reviewed as provided in T.C.A. § 37-1-137 and these rules.

DEPENDENT AND NEGLECT PROCEEDINGS

Rule 301. Initiation of cases. A dependent and neglect case is commenced by the filing of a petition. When the petitioner is not the Department of Children's Services, the court shall promptly refer the case to the Department for investigation. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. This rule is intended to define the commencement of a dependent and neglect case in juvenile court. The former practice of informally adjusting dependent and neglect cases has been eliminated.

A dependent and neglect case may be initiated by the Department of Children's Services, a private party, or the court. The clerk shall not prevent any person from filing a petition in accordance with the law.

When an intake court officer receives information alleging facts that, if true, indicate that a child is dependent and neglected and is subject to the jurisdiction of that court, the officer shall assist in the filing of a petition and refer the allegations for investigation by the Department of Children's Services. A private party shall be permitted to file a petition with the court clerk regardless of whether the officer assisted with the preparation of the petition. If a private party chooses not to file a petition, the officer may still make a referral to the Department.

There are situations in which a court must exercise its authority on an emergency basis to protect a child already under the jurisdiction of the court on a previously filed petition other than a dependent and neglect petition. The exercise of that authority is typically done in a bench order. In such circumstances, a dependent and neglect petition must be filed within 2 judicial days, pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-128.

Unless there are new dependent and neglect allegations, any subsequent petition alleging material change of circumstances, filed after the disposition of the original case, shall be considered a continuation of that original case.

Advisory Commission Comments. [2018] The 2018 amendment modifies the Advisory Commission Comment only: the terminology and cross reference in the last sentence of the fourth paragraph of the 2016 Advisory Commission Comment is amended to correspond with statutory amendments to Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-1-117 and § 37-1-128, and says: "In such circumstances, a dependent and neglect petition must be filed within 48 hours excluding non-judicial days, pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-117.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 301, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 301 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

In its order filed, September 25, 2017, the Supreme Court provided that "The Advisory Commission on the Rules of Practice & Procedure annually presents recommendations to the Court to amend the Tennessee Rules of Appellate, Civil, Criminal, and Juvenile Procedure, and the Tennessee Rules of Evidence. With its meeting on August 4, 2017, the Advisory Commission completed its 2016-2017 term, and the Commission thereafter transmitted its recommendations to the Court.

"The Court hereby solicits written comments from the bench, the bar, and the public concerning the Advisory Commission's recommended amendments set out in Appendix I (proposed amendments to the Rules of Appellate Procedure, the Rules of Evidence, the Rules of Civil Procedure, and the Rules of Criminal Procedure) and Appendix II (proposed amendments to the Rules of Juvenile Procedure) to this order. The deadline for submitting written comments is Wednesday, November 22, 2017. The proposed amendment to Tennessee Rules of Juvenile Procedure, Rule 301, promulgated by the Supreme Court in its order dated September 25, 2017, would add a 2018 Advisory Commission Comment that would read, "The 2018 amendment modifies the Advisory Commission Comment only: the terminology and cross reference in the last sentence of the fourth paragraph of the 2016 Advisory Commission Comment is amended to correspond with statutory amendments to Tenn. Code Ann. §37-1-117 and §37-1-128, and says: "In such circumstances, a dependent and neglect petition must be filed within 48 hours, excluding non-judicial days, pursuant to T.C.A. §37-1-117."

In its order filed January 8, 2018, the Supreme Court adopted amendments to this rule, effective July 1, 2018, subject to approval by resolution of the General Assembly.

The amendment of Rule 301 by the addition of the [2018] Advisory Commission Comments, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated January 8, 2018, was ratified and approved by 2018 House Resolution 208 and Senate Resolution 167. Rule 302. Procedures upon taking child into custody.

(a) CHILD TAKEN INTO CUSTODY WITHOUT COURT ORDER. When a child is taken into custody without a court order pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-113(a)(3), a written protective custody order for the removal of legal custody, containing the probable cause determination required by T.C.A. § 37-1-114(a)(2), shall issue from a magistrate, as defined by T.C.A. §§ 37-1-107 or 40-1-106, within 48 hours of the taking of physical custody. The probable cause determination shall be based on a written affidavit, which may be sworn to in person or by audio-visual electronic means. If the court denies the protective custody order, the child shall be returned to the parent, guardian, or legal custodian. If the protective custody order is issued, a preliminary hearing shall be held within 72 hours, excluding non-judicial days, of the child being taken into custody.

(b) CHILD TAKEN INTO CUSTODY PURSUANT TO COURT ORDER. If a child is removed from the home of a parent, guardian or legal custodian pursuant to a protective custody order, the child shall not remain in protective custody longer than 72 hours, excluding non-judicial days, unless a preliminary hearing is held.

(c) FINDINGS OF PROTECTIVE CUSTODY ORDER. A protective custody order issued pursuant to subdivision (a) or (b) shall include findings of fact supporting the probable cause determination required by T.C.A. § 37-1-114(a)(2). In addition, if the protective custody order places the child in the custody of the Department of Children's Services, the order shall include facts supporting a finding that it is contrary to the welfare of the child to remain in the home.

(d) PRELIMINARY HEARING.

(1) APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIAN AD LITEM. The court shall make every effort to appoint a guardian ad litem for the child prior to the preliminary hearing.

(2) NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS. At the beginning of the preliminary hearing, the court shall inform the parties of the purpose of the hearing and the possible consequences of the preliminary hearing, and shall inform the parties of their rights pursuant to Rule 303.

(3) EVIDENCE. Reliable hearsay may be considered at the preliminary hearing.

(4) REQUIRED DETERMINATIONS. The court, in making a decision on whether the child's continued removal from the home is warranted, shall:

(A) Determine whether probable cause exists that the child is a dependent and neglected child; and

(B) If probable cause is found, determine whether the child is subject to an immediate threat to the child's health or safety, or whether the child may be removed from the jurisdiction of the court; and

(C) Determine whether any less drastic alternative is available to the removal of the child from the custody of the parent, guardian or legal custodian.

(5) DETERMINATION AT PRELIMINARY HEARING. If the court finds that the child's continued removal from the home is not warranted, the court shall return the child to the person from whom custody was removed. If the court determines at the hearing that the child's removal is required, the court may order that the child be placed in the custody of a suitable person, persons, or agency. If the court returns the child to the person from whom custody was removed, the court may enter a temporary order setting forth conditions of the return designed to protect the rights and interests of the child and the parties pending further hearing.

(6) WAIVER OF TIME LIMIT FOR PRELIMINARY HEARING. The time limit for the hearing may be waived by a knowing and voluntary written waiver by the respondent. Any such waiver may be revoked at any time, at which time a preliminary hearing shall be held within the time frame outlined in T.C.A. § 37-1-117. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. Subdivision (a) establishes the procedure for obtaining a probable cause determination when the child has been removed from the home due to the existence of exigent circumstances and without a court order. T.C.A. § 37-1-117(b) currently requires both the probable cause determination defined in T.C.A. § 37-1-114(a)(2) and a court order for removal of a child from the child's parent, guardian, legal custodian or the person who physically possesses or controls the child. T.C.A. § 37-1-113(a)(3) also references the probable cause determination contained in T.C.A. § 37-1-114(a)(2). Reading these three statutes in conjunction, T.C.A. § 37-1-113(a)(3) must be interpreted to allow the taking of physical possession of the child only, prior to the judicial probable cause determination and order. Subdivision (a) provides a time limit for the judicial probable cause determination and issuance of the statutorily-required order prior to the preliminary hearing. The judge or magistrate should be contacted after removal to make the probable cause determination and to issue a written order within the 48 hour limit. These requests and determinations are made ex parte as to the parent, guardian, or legal custodian. Non-judicial days are included in the time computation and shall not extend the 48 hour limit. As these requests address the immediate protection of the child, as referenced by T.C.A. § 37-1-117(b), the time limit requires that judges and magistrates be available at inconvenient hours to make probable cause determinations.

The probable cause determination in subdivision (a) must be based on a written affidavit reciting the facts, which may be sworn to in person or by audio visual electronic means. Black's Law Dictionary defines affidavit as "(a) voluntary declaration of facts written down and sworn to by the declarant before an officer authorized to administer oaths." Black's Law Dictionary 66 (9th ed. 2009).

The time limit of 48 hours tracks the time period in Rule 203 regarding the probable cause determination required after a warrantless arrest of a child alleged to be delinquent. That time limit is based on Gerstein v. Pugh, 420 U.S. 103 (1974), County of Riverside v. McLaughlin, 500 U.S. 44,57 (1991), Cox v. Turley, 506 F.2d 1347, 1353 (6th Cir. 1974), State v. Bishop, No. W2010-01207-SCR11- CD, 2014 Tenn. LEXIS 189, 2008 WL 888198 (Tenn. 2013), and State v. Huddleston, 924 S.W.2d 666 (Tenn. 1996). It is reasonable to apply the same time limits for a probable cause determination by an independent magistrate to (1) a delinquent child arrested without a warrant, and (2) a parent whose child is removed without a prior court order, as well as the child who is removed in a dependent and neglect case.

If a child is taken into custody pursuant to either subdivisions (a) or (b) (which is applicable to the situation where the court issues a protective custody order prior to the child being removed from the home), a preliminary hearing must be held within 72 hours, excluding non-judicial days, of when the child was taken into custody, pursuant to

T.C.A. § 37-1-117. Pursuant to Rule 111, judges may consider entering a scheduling order at a preliminary hearing, especially when the child is in the custody of the Department of Children's Services. The scheduling order may include, but is not limited to, the dates of the Department's child and family team meeting, ratification hearing, foster care review board, adjudication, and dispositional hearings.

The second sentence of subdivision (c) is applicable to a child who is placed in custody of the Department of Children's Services. Federal law requires a "contrary to the welfare" finding in the first order that removes the child from the home in order for the child to be eligible for Title IV-E funding. 45 C.F.R. § 1356.21(E).

Advisory Commission Comments [2017]. The first paragraph of the original Advisory Commission Comment is amended by changing two references to T.C.A. § 37-1-128(b) to T.C.A. § 37-1-117(b), in light of the amendments to the statutes.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 302, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 302 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

The amendment of Rule 302 by the amendment of the original Advisory Commission Comments and the addition of the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 21, 2016, was ratified and approved by 2017 House Resolution 18 and Senate Resolution 15. The order promulgating the amendment of Rule 302 by amending the original Advisory Commission Comments and adding the [2017] Advisory Commission Comments, provided that it take effect July 1, 2017.

Rule 303. Notification and waiver of rights.

(a) RIGHT TO ATTORNEY.

(1) NOTIFICATION OF RIGHT TO AN ATTORNEY. In all proceedings in which a party is by law entitled to representation by an attorney, the court shall expressly inform the party of the right to an attorney. If a party waives the right to an attorney, the court shall inform the party of the continuing right to an attorney at all stages of the proceedings.

(2) WAIVER OF RIGHT TO AN ATTORNEY. No party shall be deemed to have waived the assistance of an attorney until and unless:

(A) The party has been fully informed of the right to an attorney;

(B) The party subsequently knowingly and voluntarily waives the right to an attorney; and

(C) The waiver is confirmed in writing by the party.

(3) APPOINTMENT OF ATTORNEY. When an indigent party who is entitled to an attorney does not knowingly and voluntarily waive the right to an attorney, the court shall appoint an attorney to represent that party.

(b) NOTIFICATION AND WAIVER OF ADDITIONAL RIGHTS.

(1) NOTIFICATION AND WAIVER WHERE PARTY REPRESENTED BY AN ATTORNEY. When the party is represented by an attorney, the attorney shall fully advise that party of the party's rights under the Constitution of the United States, the Constitution of Tennessee, any other law, and any rule of court. The party shall make the decision whether or not to waive those rights, after full consultation with the party's attorney. The obligation of the attorney to advise the party of the party's rights in no way diminishes the court's obligations both to advise the party of the party's rights and to ascertain whether waivers of those rights are made knowingly and voluntarily.

(2) WAIVER OF RIGHTS WHERE PARTY NOT REPRESENTED BY AN ATTORNEY. When the party is not represented by an attorney, that party may not waive any rights guaranteed to the party under the Constitution of the United States, the Constitution of Tennessee, any other law, or any rule of court unless the Court has fully advised the party of the party's rights and has determined that he or she knowingly and voluntarily waives those rights.

(3) NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS TO A PARTY WHO HAS WAIVED THE RIGHT TO AN ATTORNEY. At the outset of any juvenile court hearing, the court shall advise any party who has waived the right to an attorney or who does not have an attorney of:

- (A) The privilege against self-incrimination;
- (B) The right cross-examine adverse witnesses;
- (C) The right to present testimony on the party's behalf;
- (D) The right to subpoena evidence on the party's behalf;
- (E) The right to appeal any final order, the time limits for and manner in which the right to appeal can be perfected, and the right to an attorney on appeal.

(c) KNOWING AND VOLUNTARY WAIVER.

(1) CRITERIA FOR KNOWING AND VOLUNTARY WAIVERS.

A court shall not accept a waiver or deem a waiver to have been made voluntarily and knowingly if the party is or was unable to make an intelligent and understanding decision because of the party's mental condition, education, experience, the nature or complexity of the case, or any other relevant factor.

(2) PROCEDURE FOR MAKING AND CONFIRMING WAIVERS. Any and all waivers of rights shall be made orally and in open court, and shall be confirmed in writing by the party and the judge. When the party is not represented by an attorney, the court shall advise that party in open court of the right to an attorney. The court shall not proceed with the hearing unless that party has waived the right to an attorney in accordance with the provisions of this rule. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. In a proceeding in which a party is entitled to counsel and in which the court has determined the individual is not indigent, the court should allow the party a reasonable time to retain counsel. However, if a party engages in a "cat and mouse" game with the court in order to impede the judicial process, then the court may make a determination that the party has effectively waived the right to counsel. State v. Houston, 2013 Tenn. Crim. App. LEXIS 112, 2013 WL 500231 (Tenn. Crim. App., Feb. 11, 2013).

A waiver of any right shall be made orally and in open court and confirmed in a writing signed by both the judge and the party waiving the rights. The confirming document may be a preprinted form, but it must specify the rights that are being waived and must acknowledge that the individual is choosing to waive those rights.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 303, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 303 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 304. Intervention.

(a) INTERVENTION AS OF RIGHT. Upon timely application, anyone shall be permitted to intervene in an action: (1) when a provision of the Tennessee Constitution, the United States Constitution, or a statute confers an unconditional right to intervene; or (2) when the applicant claims an interest relating to the subject matter of the action and the applicant is so situated that the disposition of the action may, as a practical matter, impair or impede the applicant's ability to protect that interest unless the applicant's interest is adequately represented by an existing party; or (3) by written stipulation of all of the parties.

(b) PERMISSIVE INTERVENTION. Upon timely application, anyone may be permitted to intervene in an action: (1) when a statute confers a conditional right to intervene; or (2) when an applicant's claim or defense and the main action have a question of law or fact in common. In exercising its discretion, the court shall consider whether intervention will unduly delay or prejudice the adjudication of the rights of the original parties.

(c) PROCEDURE. Except for interventions for the purpose of modification of an order pursuant to Rule 310, anyone desiring to intervene shall serve a written motion to intervene upon the parties as provided in Rule 103. The motion shall state the grounds for the requested intervention and shall further state the claim or defense for which intervention is sought. For a person seeking to intervene as a matter of right, the motion shall state the statute or constitutional provision which gives the person the right to intervene. The court shall conduct a hearing on the motion to intervene as soon as practicable after filing of the motion. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. The original Rules of Juvenile Procedure did not contain a process for seeking intervention. The Tennessee Supreme Court concluded that intervention in juvenile court should be analyzed under the provisions of Rule 24 of the Tennessee Rules of Civil Procedure, specifically finding that application of the rule "would not compromise the efficacy of juvenile proceedings." Gonzalez v. Tennessee Department of Children's Services, 136 S.W. 3d 613, 617 (Tenn. 2004). Other jurisdictions have concluded that the state's rules of civil procedure should govern intervention in juvenile court. See In re T.H., 753 S.E. 2d 207, 211 (N.C. App. 2014). Consequently, the language of this Rule is taken nearly verbatim from Rule 24 of the Tennessee Rules of Civil Procedure.

Subdivision (a) preserves any statutory right to intervene in a specific action and allows interventions by right when an applicant can show that the disposition of the action will, as a practical matter, impair that person's ability to protect the asserted interest. Permissive intervention, which is directed to the discretion of the juvenile court, is allowed when the person seeking intervention can show a claim or defense which is in common with or has questions of fact or law common to the claims and defenses of an original party. Allowing intervention is designed to prevent multiple litigation without unduly delaying the proceeding in the juvenile court. The court's discretion to permit intervention under subdivision (b) should be exercised in the context of the purposes of the Juvenile Court Act — particularly the provision of a "simple judicial procedure ... in which the parties are ensured a fair hearing[!]" T.C.A. § 37-1-101.

For the purposes of intervention, the term "person" includes any public or private agency — in particular, the Department of Children's Services when the Department is not the original petitioner. A person's application to intervene must be "timely"; that concept again is to be considered within the purposes of the Juvenile Court Act. The procedure established in subdivision (c) presumes that the court will address the issue of intervention as soon as practicable without delaying the resolution of the action in question and without compromising the best interest of the child involved.

The rule does not attempt to define which persons can automatically intervene and which are to be automatically excluded from intervention. That determination will be made on an individual basis depending upon the particular facts of the case and the stage of the proceeding in which intervention is sought. A court also has the authority to allow intervention on a limited basis. See In re Marquise T.G., No. M2011-00809-COA-R3-JV, 2012 Tenn. Ct. App. LEXIS 324, 2012 WL 1825766 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2012) (grandmother allowed to intervene for the purpose of seeking visitation, but not allowed to intervene to seek custody).

When a person seeks to intervene for the purpose of modification of an order, the person should refer to Rule 310.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 304, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 304 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 305. Discovery.

(a) Each court shall ensure that the parties in dependent and neglect proceedings have access to information which would be available in circuit court.

(b) Parties shall attempt to achieve any necessary discovery informally, in order to avoid undue expense and delay in the resolution of cases. Only when such attempts have failed, discovery may be sought and effectuated in accordance with the Tennessee Rules of Civil Procedure without a court order.

(c) Leave to obtain discovery pursuant to the Tennessee Rules of Civil Procedure for reasons other than a failed attempt at informal discovery shall be freely given by the court when justice so requires.

(d) Upon motion of a party or upon the court's own initiative, the court may order that the discovery be completed by a certain date.

(e) Any motion to compel discovery, motion to quash, motion for protective order, or other discovery related motion shall:

(1) quote verbatim the interrogatory, request, question, or subpoena at issue, or be accompanied by a copy of the interrogatory, request, subpoena, or excerpt of a deposition which shows the question and objection or response, if applicable;

(2) state the reason or reasons supporting the motion; and

(3) be accompanied by a statement certifying that the moving party or counsel has made a good faith effort to resolve by agreement the issues raised and that agreement has not been achieved. Such effort shall be set forth with particularity in the statement.

(f) The court shall decide any motion relating to discovery in accordance with the Tennessee Rules of Civil Procedure.

(g) A child shall be required to respond to discovery requests only if the child is the petitioner or a respondent to the action.

(h) A guardian ad litem shall not testify at a deposition.

(i) Except as provided in subdivision (e) above, discovery materials shall not be filed with the court. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. This rule permits parties to utilize the discovery rules found in the Tennessee Rules of Civil Procedure if: (1) an attempt to conduct informal discovery fails; or (2) if the party has obtained permission in a court order. A party may utilize subdivision (c) of this rule only when informal discovery is not possible or practical, e.g., the party may need to depose a non-party witness prior to trial. When attempts at informal discovery fail or are at an impasse, the parties should then presume that they are participating in formal discovery.

In order to reduce the cost of depositions, attorneys and parties should note that Rule 30.02 of the Tennessee Rules of Civil Procedure allows for non-stenographic recording and for telephone depositions. Likewise, Rule 26.03 of the Tennessee Rules of Civil Procedure permits the court to issue a protective order when a party seeks to limit discovery in order to avoid undue burden or expense, as well as for other reasons.

The Commission recognizes that formal discovery could potentially lengthen the time it takes to set and conclude dependent and neglect proceedings. Courts, attorneys, and parties should note that subdivision (d) permits a court ordered deadline for the completion of discovery. The Tennessee Rules of Civil Procedure allow the court to shorten deadlines for responding to discovery requests. Courts are encouraged to conduct scheduling conferences and issue scheduling orders as permitted under Rule 111.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 305, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 305 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 306. Taking children's testimony.

(a) Any examination of a child witness shall be conducted in a manner that takes into account the child's age and developmental level. Such testimony shall be recorded.

(b) When a child testifies, the examination shall be conducted either in chambers or in a courtroom which has been cleared of observers and non-party witnesses.

(c) Upon motion of any party or upon its own initiative and upon good cause shown based upon the best interest of the child, the court may order one or more of the following accommodations:

(1) Arrangement of the courtroom or chambers so that certain individuals are not within the child's line of vision;

(2) Exclusion of the parties from chambers or the courtroom while the child is testifying; any motion for exclusion of the parties shall be made prior to trial, except in extraordinary circumstances;

(3) Examination of the child through written questions and written answers;

(4) Observation by the parties of the child's testimony by closed circuit television or other contemporaneous audio-visual transmission;

(5) Examination of the child by the court rather than directly by the parties or attorneys;

(6) Allowing the presence of a properly trained comfort animal;

(7) Permitting the child to have a stuffed animal or similar comfort toy while the child is testifying; or

(8) Permitting the child to be accompanied by a support person who is not a party or a witness.

(d) If the court excludes the parties from chambers or the courtroom while the child is testifying, the court shall ensure the following procedures are followed:

(1) Counsel for the parties and child(ren), including the guardian(s) ad litem, shall be permitted to be present during the child's testimony.

(2) The court shall inform any party who is not represented by counsel of the right to be represented by counsel and shall appoint counsel if requested by an indigent party who is entitled to an attorney.

(e) If the court examines the child rather than permitting the parties or attorney to directly examine the child, the court shall ensure the following procedures are followed:

(1) The parties or their counsel if represented, the guardian(s) ad litem, and attorney(s) ad litem shall submit written questions to the court prior to the child's testimony. The court shall ask the questions as written.

(2) If a party or attorney has an objection to a question, he or she may make the objection by raising his or her hand and then submitting the objection in writing. The written objection shall be provided to the party or attorney who wrote the question, and he or she shall be provided an opportunity to respond to the objection, before the court may sustain the objection.

(3) After all of the submitted questions have been asked by the court, the court shall take a recess. During the recess, the attorneys shall have an opportunity to consult with their clients. If a party or attorney wishes to ask additional questions, he or she shall submit the questions in writing prior to the end of the recess.

(4) The court shall continue the above process until there are no further questions for the child from any party or attorney. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. The Commission drafted this rule in order to provide guidelines to courts and attorneys as they seek to balance the due process rights of the respondents with the need to protect child witnesses from unnecessary trauma.

Subdivision (b) requires that when a child testifies the examination must be conducted either in chambers or in a courtroom which has been cleared of observers and non-party witnesses. Court appointed special advocates (CASAs) appointed pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-149, as well as foster parents, prospective adoptive parents, and relatives providing care for a child in state custody are not parties to the dependent and neglected action and should be excluded from the courtroom while the child is testifying.

When an unrepresented party requests appointment of an attorney or time to retain an attorney due to the court's decision to allow a child's testimony to be taken pursuant to subdivision (d), the hearing will likely need to be continued. In addition to the time it takes to appoint or retain the attorney, the attorney will need reasonable time to prepare.

Courts and attorneys should note that it is neither necessary nor desirable for the alleged perpetrator to be made a party to the dependent and neglect proceeding unless that person is the child's parent or legal guardian. In cases where the alleged perpetrator is not the parent or legal guardian, and where a court order limiting the alleged perpetrator's access to the child is appropriate, a related petition for a restraining order pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-152 and Rule 108 could accomplish the goal of protecting the child without granting the alleged perpetrator party status in the underlying action. In addition to other benefits, this strategy could limit or eliminate the alleged perpetrator's participation in the dependent and neglect case hearings and increase the child's comfort level.

Courts and attorneys may find it helpful to refer to Rule 112 concerning when testimony may be taken by audio-visual means.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 306, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 306 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 307. Adjudicatory hearings.

(a) SCOPE OF HEARING. The adjudicatory hearing is the proceeding at which the court determines whether the evidence supports a finding that a child is dependent and neglected. The adjudicatory hearing shall be held in accordance with T.C.A. § 37-1-129.

(b) TIME LIMITS ON SCHEDULING ADJUDICATORY HEARINGS.

(1) All cases in which a child has been placed out of the home by court order shall be heard within 30 days of the date the child was placed outside of the home. All other cases shall be heard within 30 days of the date of filing of the petition if such early scheduling appears to the court to be reasonable and possible considering the circumstances of the case, including but not limited to, whether service on all parties has been achieved. In any event, every case shall be heard for adjudication within 90 days of either the date the child was placed outside the home or date of filing of the petition, as applicable.

(2) Upon good cause shown, the adjudicatory hearing may be continued to a date certain.

(c) BEGINNING ADJUDICATORY HEARING.

(1) At the beginning of each hearing, the court shall:

(A) Ascertain whether the parties before the court are represented by attorneys;

(B) Verify the name, age and residence of the child who is the subject of the case, and ascertain the relationship of the parties, each to the other;

(C) Ascertain whether all necessary parties are present;

(D) Ascertain whether notice requirements have been complied with, and if not, whether the affected parties knowingly and voluntarily waive compliance;

(E) Explain to the parties the purpose of the hearing and the possible consequences thereof; and

(F) Explain to the parties their rights as set forth in Rule 303.

(d) EVIDENCE ADMISSIBLE. The court shall consider only evidence which has been formally admitted at the adjudicatory hearing. All testimony shall be under oath and may be in narrative form. Evidence shall be admitted as provided by the Tennessee Rules of Evidence.

(e) ADJUDICATION OF STATUS, STANDARD OF PROOF, AND FINDINGS.

(1) At the conclusion of the adjudicatory hearing, the court shall enter an order in accordance with the following provisions:

(A) If the court finds that the allegations have not been proved by clear and convincing evidence, it shall dismiss the petition.

(B) If the court finds that the allegations have been proved by clear and convincing evidence, it shall adjudicate the child dependent and neglected. The court shall immediately proceed to a dispositional hearing or schedule it to be heard on a later date.

(C) If the court finds that the child is dependent and neglected, the court shall additionally make a finding whether the parents or either of them or another person who had custody of the child committed severe child abuse.

(2) The court shall include findings of fact in its adjudicatory order. The adjudicatory order shall be filed within 30 days of the close of the hearing or, if a petition for certiorari is filed, within 5 days thereafter.

(f) TRANSFER TO HOME COUNTY FOR DISPOSITION. The case of an out-of-county resident may be transferred to the child's county of residence for disposition. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. The varying time limits in these rules for children placed out of the home by court order versus those who remain in the home indicate that cases involving children placed out of the home be given priority on the docket. All hearings should be scheduled and held as speedily as possible in the interest of providing timely resolution for children and families. It is important that whatever action is taken be completed expeditiously, within the limits of practicability, given the fact that a child's perception of time is quite different from that of an adult, with shorter periods of time perceived as being much extended.

Some proceedings may be so complex that the court and parties may benefit from a pretrial conference to narrow or limit issues, decide evidentiary issues, and address other pretrial matters so as to achieve judicial economy.

This rule clarifies that the court must file its written adjudicatory hearing order within 30 days from the closing of the hearing, or, if a petition for certiorari is filed, within 5 days thereafter, pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-1-129(a). See Rule 110 for the computation of time.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 307, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 307 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 308. Dispositional hearings.

(a) TIME LIMITS ON SCHEDULING DISPOSITIONAL HEARINGS. Dispositional hearings shall be held within 15 days of the adjudicatory hearing if the child is placed out of the home by court order, and within 90 days of the adjudicatory hearing in all other cases. Upon good cause shown, the dispositional hearing may be continued to a date certain.

(b) SEPARATE FROM ADJUDICATORY HEARING. A dispositional hearing shall be separate and distinct from the adjudicatory hearing to which it relates. However, it may be held immediately following the adjudicatory hearing or at a later date.

(c) NOTICE OF RIGHT TO APPEAL. At the conclusion of the dispositional hearing, the court shall advise the parties of the right to appeal the dispositional order.

(d) TEMPORARY ORDER. Where a continuance of the dispositional hearing is ordered, the court may enter a temporary order that is in the best interest of the child.

(e) EVIDENCE ADMISSIBLE; STANDARD OF PROOF. In arriving at its dispositional decision, the court shall consider only evidence which has been formally admitted, and the juvenile court record of the child. All testimony shall be under oath and may be in narrative form. The Rules of Evidence shall apply except that reliable hearsay including, but not limited to, documents such as psychiatric or psychological screenings or evaluations of the child or the child's parents or custodian or reports or assessments prepared by a probation officer, youth services officer or the Department of Children's Services, may be admitted provided that the opposing party is accorded a fair opportunity to rebut any hearsay evidence so admitted. However, this subdivision shall not be construed to authorize the introduction of any evidence secured in violation of the Constitution of the United States or the Tennessee Constitution. The parties shall have the right to examine any person who has prepared any report admitted into evidence. The standard of proof at the dispositional hearing is preponderance of the evidence. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. The purpose of dispositions in juvenile court actions is to design an appropriate order to meet the needs of the child and to achieve the objectives of the state in exercising jurisdiction. When possible, the initial approach should involve working with the child and the family in their own home so that the appropriate community resources may be involved in care, supervision, and treatment according to the needs of the child and family.

At the dispositional hearing, it is appropriate that youth services and probation officers be witnesses regarding admissible evidence of which they have knowledge. Youth services officers or probation officers may be a fact witness but shall not engage in the unauthorized practice of law.

Although a report may be admissible as reliable hearsay, all the contents of the report may not be reliable hearsay. This is especially important when the source gives an opinion that the person is not qualified to give.

Though this rule allows for the dispositional hearing to be held within 15 days of the adjudicatory hearing when the child is placed out of the home by court order or 90 days in all other cases, it should be noted that under these rules the dispositional hearing may be held immediately following the adjudicatory hearing if the court determines that delay for preparation by the parties is not necessary.

Rule 309. Agreed orders.

(a) GENERAL PROVISIONS. Any or all issues within a case may be resolved by a written agreement between all parties, submitted to the court in the form of an agreed order. An agreed order, signed by all parties or counsel, upon being approved by the court and entered in its minutes, becomes the order of the court. An agreed order should recite that the parties are aware that the agreement is the order of the court and that failure to comply with the order may constitute contempt of court.

(b) MODIFICATION. An agreed order may be modified in accordance with Rule 310. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. This rule clarifies that unless previously dismissed from the proceeding all parties to the original proceedings, including the Department of Children's Services and any interveners, are required to agree to an order for it to constitute an agreed order. Any party not wishing to participate in further proceedings may seek approval from the court to be dismissed as a party.

Advisory Commission Comments. [2018] This rule does not prohibit a court from accepting stipulations entered by the parties during a pending case.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 309, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 309 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

The amendment of Rule 309 by the addition of the [2018] Advisory Commission Comments, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated January 8, 2018, was ratified and approved by 2018 House Resolution 208 and Senate Resolution 167. The order promulgating the amendment of Rule 309 by adding the [2018] Advisory Commission Comments, provided that it take effect July 1, 2018.

Rule 310. Modification of or relief from judgments or orders.

(a) MODIFICATION OF ORDERS.

(1) CLERICAL MISTAKES. Clerical mistakes and errors arising from oversight or omission in orders or other parts of the record may be corrected by the court at any time on its own initiative or on motion of any party. During the pendency of an appeal such mistakes may be so corrected before the record on appeal is transmitted to the appellate court and thereafter, while the appeal is pending, may be so corrected with leave of the appellate court.

(2) MODIFICATION FOR NEWLY DISCOVERED EVIDENCE. A dispositional order may be modified on the ground that newly discovered evidence so requires. The court, in making this determination, shall make any modification consistent with the best interests of the child.

(3) MODIFICATION FOR CHANGED CIRCUMSTANCES. An order of the court may be modified on the ground that, since the entry of the order, changed circumstances and the best interests of the child require it.

(b) RELIEF FROM JUDGMENTS OR ORDERS. An order of the court shall be set aside if it is determined that:

(1) It was obtained by fraud or mistake sufficient to satisfy the legal requirements for relief in any other civil action;

(2) The court lacked jurisdiction over a necessary party or of the subject matter; or

(3) Newly discovered evidence so requires. The court must determine that, with regard to such newly discovered evidence, the movant was without fault in failing to present such evidence at the original proceeding, and that such evidence may have resulted in a different judgment at the original proceeding.

(c) PROCEDURE. Any party to a proceeding, the guardian ad litem, or other person having legal custody of or an interest in a child may seek the relief provided in this rule. A request for relief under this rule shall set forth in concise language the grounds upon which the relief is requested. If relief is sought under subdivisions (a)(1) and (2) or (b), a motion shall be filed and notice shall be given pursuant to Rule 106. If relief is sought under subdivision (a)(3), a petition shall be filed and served pursuant to Rule 103.

(d) DISPOSITION. After the hearing, the court shall deny or grant relief as the evidence warrants. Where a modification of an order is granted, the court may order any disposition which would be permissible at the original dispositional hearing, or the court may schedule a dispositional hearing in accordance with these rules. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016; and by order filed January 8, 2018, effective July 1, 2018.]

Advisory Commission Comments. T.C.A. § 37-1-139 authorizes the modification of and relief from orders under certain circumstances. A motion is filed if relief is sought under subdivisions (a)(1) and (2) or (b). However, a petition is required if relief is sought because of changed circumstances under subdivision (a)(3).

The Commission anticipates that persons not a party to the original proceeding will request relief under this rule. In such cases, the motion should include a request to intervene as a party. In the event that the person is making new allegations that the child is dependent and neglected, the person should file a dependent and neglect petition under T.C.A. §§ 37-1-119 and 120, rather than a petition to modify.

Advisory Commission Comments [2018]. The 2018 amendment modifies subsection (a)(1) by adding the last sentence, which was inadvertently deleted in the comprehensive revision of the Rules of Juvenile Procedure effective July 1, 2016. Reference should be made to Rule 24(e), Tennessee Rules of Appellate Procedure for certain procedures for correcting the record during the pendency of an appeal.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 310, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate

Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 310 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

In its order filed January 8, 2018, the Supreme Court adopted amendments to this rule, effective July 1, 2018, subject to approval by resolution of the General Assembly.

The amendment of Rule 310, which amended subdivision (a)(1) and added the [2018] Advisory Commission Comments, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated January 8, 2018, was ratified and approved by 2018 House Resolution 208 and Senate Resolution 167. The order promulgating the amendment of subdivision (c) and the addition of the [2018] Advisory Commission Comments, provided that it take effect July 1, 2018.

FOSTER CARE PROCEEDINGS

Rule 401. Ratification hearings.

(a) PURPOSE OF RATIFICATION HEARING. The court shall explain on the record the purpose of the hearing.

(b) NOTIFICATION OF PARTIES. The court shall verify all parties have been properly served. In the event a party's whereabouts are unknown and the party could not be notified of the ratification hearing, the court shall determine the Department of Children's Services' reasonable efforts to notify the party of the contents of the permanency plan. If the court finds the Department has made reasonable efforts to notify the party of the contents of the plan, then the court shall proceed with the ratification of the plan.

(c) REVIEW OF PERMANENCY PLAN. The court shall review the permanency plan for each child in foster care. In reviewing the permanency plan, the court shall address the following:

(1) Whether the parties participated in the development of the plan and are in agreement with the provisions of the plan;

(2) Whether the permanency goals are appropriate, and if a concurrent goal is needed;

(3) Whether the plan includes outcomes and corresponding action steps for each permanency goal;

(4) Whether the child's placement is safe and appropriate;

(5) Whether the child's well-being is appropriately addressed through health, education and independent living skills if applicable;

(6) Whether the visitation schedule is sufficient to maintain the bond between the child and parent, and the child and siblings, who are not residing in the same placement; and

(7) Whether the statement of responsibilities for each party are reasonably related to remedying the conditions that necessitate foster care or prevent the child from safely returning home.

(d) INCLUSION OF RECOMMENDATIONS OF FOSTER CARE REVIEW BOARD. If a foster care review board hearing has occurred prior to the ratification hearing, the court shall review the recommendations of the board. If the board's recommendations are in the best interest of the child, the court shall incorporate the recommendations into the plan.

(e) EVIDENTIARY HEARING. An evidentiary hearing shall be required to ratify the plan if the following occur:

(1) The parties do not agree on the provisions of the plan;

(2) The guardian ad litem objects to the provisions of the plan; or

(3) The court determines the Department has not prioritized the outcomes and corresponding action steps for each party in the statement of responsibilities.

(f) AGREEMENT — MODIFICATION. If the parties are in agreement to the provisions of the plan and the plan is found to be in the best interest of the child, or at the conclusion of the hearing, the court shall ratify the plan upon making fact-specific findings pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-2-403. If the court modifies the plan, and a party is not present at the hearing, the court shall direct the Department to make reasonable efforts to notify the party of the modified provisions of the plan.

(g) ABANDONMENT CRITERIA. The court shall explain on the record the law relating to abandonment and the possible consequences of termination of parental rights.

(h) RIGHTS OF PARTY NOT SERVED. The court may issue a temporary order ratifying the plan. Such order shall be without prejudice to the rights of any party who has not been served with the original petition. If a party was not served, the court shall set a hearing within 60 days to determine whether the Department has conducted a diligent search.

(i) FINDINGS — ORDER. The court shall make fact-specific findings pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-2-403 and shall enter an order within 30 days of the hearing. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. Permanency planning is the process of carrying out within a time-limited period a set of goal directed activities designed to help the foster child live with a permanent family. The permanency planning process requires the juvenile court to identify a permanency goal and oversee the implementation and modification of the permanency plan for each child in foster care. The permanency planning process includes, but is not limited to, the ratification hearing, periodic progress review hearing, foster care review board hearing and permanency hearing.

The purpose of the ratification hearing is for the court to review the permanency plan for the child prepared by the Department and approve the plan if it is in the best interest of the child. The permanency plan becomes an order of the court once ratified and should outline the responsibilities of each party to achieve one or more specific goals for the child. If court determines the permanency plan is not in the best interest of the child, the court should order that the plan be modified accordingly. In determining whether the permanency plan is in the child's best interest, the plan is to be reviewed by the court as described in subdivision (c) and T.C.A. § 37-2-403.

A ratification hearing is held to approve the initial permanency plan and all subsequent permanency plans. The initial permanency plan must be ratified within 60 days of the date the child is placed in foster care, except as provided in T.C.A. § 37-1-166. A subsequent plan must be ratified within 12 months of the original plan if the child remains in foster care. T.C.A. § 37-2-403.

The ratification hearing is separate and distinct from a periodic progress review (previously termed judicial review) or a permanency hearing. At the ratification hearing the court is not determining the compliance of the parties to the plan; it is reviewing the plan being presented for ratification and determining if the plan is in the best interest of the child.

T.C.A. § 37-2-403 provides that the permanency plan should be reevaluated and updated annually. However, new plans should be submitted to the court for ratification more frequently when the priority of responsibilities change, new facts are discovered which prevent the child from safely returning home, or there is a change in the goal on the plan. After the initial permanency plan is ratified, a subsequent permanency plan presented to the court for ratification should not be a duplicate of the initial plan. The subsequent plan should reflect the changes that have occurred in the child's case since the ratification of the prior plan.

A child adjudicated to be delinquent or unruly is a party to the proceeding and should attend the ratification hearing, as well as all hearings associated with permanency planning. Also, a child alleged or found to be dependent and neglected who is 14 years of age or older, should attend the ratification hearing, as well as all hearings associated with permanency planning.

Subdivision (d) provides that the court include in the permanency plan the recommendations of the foster care review board if the court finds the recommendations to be in the best interest of the child.

Subdivision (e) requires that an evidentiary hearing be held if the parties do not agree or if the guardian ad litem objects to the permanency plan. In addition, if the Department has not prioritized the outcomes and corresponding action steps for each party in the statement of responsibilities, an evidentiary hearing must be held and testimony presented regarding the priority of responsibilities. The reason for this requirement is that when the court does review compliance of the parties at the periodic progress review or permanency hearing, the court is required to determine the weight assigned to each action step in order to determine whether the Department has made reasonable efforts and whether the parent is in substantial compliance.

If the parties are in agreement to the permanency plan, the court must also find that the plan is in the best interest of the child. This may be done without an evidentiary hearing.

Subdivision (g) requires the court to explain on the record the law relating to abandonment, pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-2-403(a)(2)(B).

Subdivision (h) provides that, if a party has not been served with the original petition, the court may enter a temporary order ratifying the permanency plan without prejudice to that person's rights. The court must schedule a hearing to determine whether the Department has conducted a diligent search. Absent parties, especially parents, should be included as soon as possible in the child's case in order to prevent a delay in permanency for the child.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 401, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 401 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 402. Periodic progress reviews.

(a) A periodic progress review hearing shall occur when the court has not established a foster care review board or has elected to review certain cases instead of assigning the cases to the board.

(b) The court shall explain on the record the purpose of the hearing and review the following:

(1) The continued appropriateness of the permanency goals, and if a concurrent goal is needed;

(2) Whether the child's placement is safe and appropriate;

(3) Whether the child's well-being is being appropriately addressed through health, education, and independent living skills if applicable;

(4) Whether the visitation schedule continues to be sufficient to maintain the bond between the child and parent, and the child and siblings, who are not residing in the same placement;

(5) The reasonableness of the Department of Children's Services' efforts to identify or locate the parent or child whose identity or whereabouts are unknown;

(6) The reasonableness of the Department's efforts based on the prioritization of the outcomes and corresponding action steps in the statement of responsibilities; and

(7) The compliance of the parents or child with the statement of responsibilities in the plan.

(c) If a foster care review board hearing has occurred prior to the periodic progress review, the court shall review the recommendations of the board. If the court finds the board's recommendations are in the best interest of the child, the court shall incorporate the recommendations into the plan.

(d) If in addition to the periodic progress review the Department requests the court also ratify a new permanency plan, the periodic progress review and ratification hearing on the new plan shall be bifurcated.

(e) At the conclusion of the hearing, the court shall make fact-specific findings including a timeline for goal completion and shall enter an order within 30 days of the hearing. If the court finds additional services are necessary to mitigate the causes necessitating foster care, the court shall order the Department to incorporate the services into the permanency plan. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. The periodic progress review (formerly known as judicial review) of the permanency plan is held pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-2-404. Either a foster care review board or periodic progress review must be held within 90 days of the date of custody and no less often than every 6 months thereafter.

The purpose of this hearing is to ensure that the child is safe, that provisions are being made for the child's well-being, and that the permanency plan and goals remain in the best interest of the child. The court has a duty to monitor and determine compliance with the terms of the permanency plan by the parties, and issue such orders as may be appropriate to enforce compliance by reviewing those matters outlined in subdivision (b). The periodic progress review is an opportunity for the court to correct potential delays or barriers to permanency for the child prior to the permanency hearing.

A child adjudicated to be delinquent or unruly is a party to the proceeding and should attend the periodic progress review. The Commission notes that there is a distinction between visitation and home passes when reviewing a child adjudicated delinquent or unruly and placed in a residential facility. The child may not be eligible for home passes, but this should not deter visitation between the parent or prior legal guardian and child at the facility.

If the Department is seeking ratification of a new permanency plan at this hearing, the hearings are to be bifurcated as the purpose of the hearings is different. See Rule 401.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 402, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 402 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 403. Foster care review board.

(a) SCHEDULING AND NOTICE. The court shall determine the date, time and location of each foster care review board and shall notify the Department of Children's Services and the board members no later than 14 calendar days prior to the scheduled review. Each case shall be set at a specific time that allows for a comprehensive review. All parties, their attorneys, guardians ad litem, and foster parents shall be notified in writing of the review not less than 10 calendar days prior to the scheduled review.

(b) DOCUMENTATION. The Department shall provide supporting documentation in regard to the child's safety, well-being, and permanency as determined by local rule. Documentation should be provided to the court facilitator no less than 7 calendar days prior to review for distribution to the board members.

(c) QUORUM AND ATTENDANCE. Prior to the beginning of each review, the court facilitator shall verify that a quorum of members exists. In verifying the quorum, the court facilitator shall inquire as to any conflicts of interest of the board members requiring recusal. The review shall proceed only if it is determined that all necessary persons who are not present were properly notified. If timely notification was not provided, the court facilitator will reschedule the matter as soon as possible.

(d) CONDUCT OF THE REVIEW.

(1) The board shall use a summary form to gather information.

(2) Information provided to the board shall only come from persons before the board during the review or from documentation provided by the parties.

(3) Only the parties, their attorneys, the child, and the guardian ad litem or attorney for the child have the right to be present during the entire review. Necessary persons may be present during the entire review if agreed to by all the parties. Necessary persons are to present information to the board in the presence of the parties.

(4) The board may hear from the child outside the presence of the parties.

(e) RECOMMENDATIONS. The board shall make written recommendations that address the child's safety, well-being, and permanency. The board shall deliberate to develop recommendations. All deliberation shall occur outside the presence of the parties, their attorneys, and other persons present for the review. Recommendations shall be made addressing the needs pursuant to Rule 402(b) of these rules. All recommendations should be agreed upon by a majority of board. If there is no majority agreement for each recommendation, the court facilitator shall:

(1) Identify the conflict;

(2) Instruct the board to review all relevant documentation and testimony;

(3) Instruct the board to ensure that the recommendations provide for the safety, well-being, permanency of the child, and are in the child's best interest; and

(4) In the event no consensus can be reached, make a direct referral to the court.

(f) ANNOUNCEMENT OF RECOMMENDATIONS — SCHEDULING NEXT REVIEW. After deliberation, the board will announce its recommendations to the parties and set a date for the next review. No additional information may be presented during the announcement of the recommendations. The court facilitator shall ensure the signatures of all parties present at the review are obtained on the summary form, noting those persons were present for the review. The court facilitator shall also note anyone else who was present for the review.

(g) SUMMARY FORM FILED WITH CLERK. The court facilitator shall file the summary form with the clerk of the court, who shall record the date and time of the filing. The clerk of the court shall send a copy of the summary form to all parties and their attorneys of record or guardians ad litem.

(h) REVIEW BY JUDGE OR MAGISTRATE. The court shall establish a procedure to provide the recommendations to the judge or magistrate within 10 judicial days of the review for the court to review the recommendations, determine if they are in the best interest of the of the child, and confirm as an order of the court at the next ratification hearing, periodic progress review, or permanency hearing.

(i) DIRECT REFERRAL. When the board makes the determination that a direct referral shall be made by the court, the court facilitator will determine the type of direct referral as provided by T.C.A. § 37-2-406(c)(2). The court facilitator will file the direct referral with the clerk of the court. The court facilitator shall inform the review board of the outcome of the direct referral at the next review of the child's case before the foster care review board.

(j) STATEMENTS OF CHILD. Any statements made by a child at the review are not admissible in a delinquent or unruly proceeding prior to a dispositional hearing. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 403, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 403 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

Rule 404. Permanency hearings.

(a) REVIEW OF PREVIOUS ORDERS/RECOMMENDATIONS BY COURT. Prior to the beginning of a permanency hearing, the court shall review previous ratification orders, periodic progress review orders, and foster care review board recommendations.

(b) PURPOSE OF HEARING. The court shall explain on the record the purpose of the hearing.

(c) TESTIMONY. The court shall receive testimony from the parties related to the following:

(1) Whether the Department's efforts to assist the parent or child in complying with the statement of responsibilities are reasonable based on the Department's prioritization of the outcomes and corresponding action steps in the statement of responsibilities in the permanency plan;

(2) Whether the parent or child is in substantial compliance with the statement of responsibilities in the plan;

(3) If the child is able to communicate, the child's views on the provisions in the plan;

(4) Whether the independent living plan or transitional living plan is designed to assist and prepare foster youth in making the transition from foster care to adulthood by providing opportunities to obtain life skills for self-sufficiency, independence, and permanency;

(5) If the youth is seventeen years old, testimony from the Department regarding extension of foster care services available to the youth at the age of eighteen and testimony from the youth as to whether the youth understands the available services;

(6) Whether the proposed permanency goals and timelines for achieving the goals are in the best interest of the child; and

(7) Whether barriers exist to successfully achieving the proposed permanency goals, and if services are needed to eliminate the barriers.

(d) REASONABLE EFFORTS FINDING AS TO GOAL. At the conclusion of the hearing, if the goal on the existing permanency plan is to return home, the court shall make fact-specific findings as to whether the Department has provided reasonable efforts for the child to return home safely. If the plan contains a goal other than return home, the court shall make fact-specific findings as to whether the Department has provided reasonable efforts to place the child consistent with the specific goal. If the permanency plan contains concurrent goals, the court shall make reasonable efforts findings as to both goals.

(e) HEARING FOR YOUTH SEVENTEEN YEARS OR OLDER PRIOR TO RELEASE FROM DEPARTMENT. A permanency hearing shall be held 3 months prior to the release from foster care of a youth who is 17 years or older. The court shall hold an evidentiary hearing on the transition living plan and review the plan to ensure the plan sufficiently addresses the following, if applicable: support person or system, education, employment, health needs, information on available benefits through other agencies, available transportation, youth has received all essential documentation including government issued identification, and any special factors.

(f) YOUTH PLANNING TO ACCEPT EXTENSION OF FOSTER CARE. At the permanency hearing to approve the transition plan for a youth who plans to accept extension of foster care, the court shall set a hearing date within 60 days of the youth's eligibility for extension of foster care for the purpose of confirming the voluntary placement agreement and ratification of the transition plan.

(g) BIFURCATED PERMANENCY HEARING AND RATIFICATION HEARING. If, in addition to the permanency hearing, the Department requests the court also ratify a new permanency plan, the permanency hearing and ratification hearing on the new plan shall be bifurcated with the permanency hearing occurring first. [Added by order filed December 29, 2015, effective July 1, 2016.]

Advisory Commission Comments. A permanency hearing is a separate and distinct hearing from the ratification and periodic progress review hearings. The purpose of the permanency hearing is to decide upon the final permanency outcome for the child. In determining the final permanency outcome, the court is to review the compliance of all parties and decide on a final permanency outcome for the child that is in the child's best interest. The court must outline a specific timetable and plan for the child to return home or to achieve another permanency goal, if returning home is not in the child's best interest.

In order to make a decision regarding the final permanency outcome of the case, the permanency hearing must be bifurcated from any ratification hearing on a new permanency plan. The decisions made during the permanency hearing dictate the contents of a new permanency plan. The permanency plan that is ratified after a permanency hearing should not be a revision of a previous plan. Rather, it should be a detailed and comprehensive schedule that charts the child's final path to permanency subsequent to the permanency hearing.

At the beginning of the hearing, the court must determine if all necessary persons are present pursuant to Rule 112. All children are required to attend the permanency hearing pursuant to T.C.A. § 37-2-409, except any child under a doctor's care who is prevented by the doctor from attending, a child placed outside the state, or a child on runaway status. The court should consider allowing a child who cannot attend because of the first two exceptions to participate by another means as prescribed in Rule 112. The court must hear directly from the child on the child's views on the provisions in the plan. When receiving testimony from the child, the court shall comply with the provisions of Rule 306.

Compiler's Notes. The adoption of Rule 404, as promulgated and adopted by the Supreme Court in its order dated December 29, 2015, was ratified and approved by 2016 House Resolution 145 and Senate Resolution 79. The order promulgating the adoption of Rule 404 provided that it take effect July 1, 2016.

APPENDIX

The appendix to the Tennessee Rules of Juvenile Procedure shall consist of sections 37-1-101, 37-1-102, 37-1-105, 37-1-106, 37-1-111, 37-1-113, 37-1-114, 37-1-116 and 37-1-117 of the Tennessee Code Annotated and the following § 31.303(f)(3) of Title 28 of the Code of Federal Regulations, known as the “valid court order” regulations:

§ 31.303 Substantive requirements.

(f) * * *

(2) For the purpose of monitoring for compliance with section 223(a)(12)(A) of the Act, a secure detention or correctional facility is any secure public or private facility used for the lawful custody of accused or adjudicated juvenile offenders or nonoffenders, or used for the lawful custody of accused or convicted adult criminal offenders. Accused status offenders or nonoffenders in lawful custody can be held in a secure juvenile detention facility for up to twenty-four hours, exclusive of weekends and holidays, prior to an initial court appearance and for an additional twenty-four hours, exclusive of weekends and holidays, following an initial court appearance.

(3) Valid Court Order. For the purpose of determining whether a valid court order exists and a juvenile has been found to be in violation of that valid order all of the following conditions must be present prior to secure incarceration:

(i) The juvenile must have been brought into a court of competent jurisdiction and made subject to an order issued pursuant to proper authority. The order must be one which regulates future conduct of the juvenile. Prior to issuance of the order, the juvenile must have received the full due process rights guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States.

(ii) The court must have entered a judgment and/or remedy in accord with established legal principles based on the facts after a hearing which observes proper procedures.

(iii) The juvenile in question must have received adequate and fair warning of the consequences of violation of the order at the time it was issued and such warning must be provided to the juvenile and to the juvenile’s attorney and/or legal guardian in writing and be reflected in the court record and proceedings.

(iv) All judicial proceedings related to an alleged violation of a valid court order must be held before a court of competent jurisdiction. A juvenile accused of violating a valid court order may be held in secure detention beyond the 24-hour grace period permitted for a noncriminal juvenile offender under OJJDP monitoring policy, for protective purposes as prescribed by State law, or to assure the juvenile’s appearance at the violation hearing, as provided by State law, if there has been a judicial determination based on a hearing during the 24-hour grace period that there is probable cause to believe the juvenile violated the court order. In such case the juveniles may be held pending a violation hearing for such period of time as is provided by State law, but in no event should detention prior to a violation hearing exceed 72 hours exclusive of nonjudicial days. A juvenile alleged or found in a violation hearing to have violated a Valid Court Order may be held only in a secure juvenile detention or correctional facility, and not in an adult jail or lockup.

(v) Prior to and during the violation hearing the following full due process rights must be provided:

(A) The right to have the charges against the juvenile in writing served upon him a reasonable time before the hearing;

(B) The right to a hearing before a court;

(C) The right to an explanation of the nature and consequences of the proceeding;

(D) The right to legal counsel, and the right to have such counsel appointed by the court if indigent;

(E) The right to confront witnesses;

(F) The right to present witnesses;

(G) The right to have a transcript or record of the proceedings; and

(H) The right of appeal to an appropriate court.

(vi) In entering any order that directs or authorizes the placement of a status offender in a secure facility, the judge presiding over an initial probable cause hearing or violation hearing must determine that all the elements of a valid court order (paragraphs (f)(3) (i), (ii) and (iii) of this section) and the applicable due process rights (paragraph (f)(3)(v) of this section) were afforded the juvenile and, in the case of a violation hearing, the judge must obtain and review a written report that: reviews the behavior of the juvenile and the circumstances under which the juvenile was brought before the court and made subject to such order; determines the reasons for the juvenile’s behavior; and determines whether all dispositions other than secure confinement have been exhausted or are clearly inappropriate. This report must be prepared and submitted by an appropriate public agency (other than a court or law enforcement agency).

(vii) A non-offender such as a dependent or neglected child cannot be placed in secure detention or correctional facilities for violating a valid court order.

RULES OF THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF TENNESSEE

[Effective January 28, 1981]

Rule 13. Appointment, Qualifications, and Compensation of Counsel for Indigent Defendants.

Section 1. Right to counsel and procedure for appointment of counsel.

(a)(1) The purposes of this rule are:

(A) to provide for the appointment of counsel in all proceedings in which an indigent party has a statutory or constitutional right to appointed counsel;

(B) to provide for compensation of appointed counsel in non-capital cases;

(C) to establish qualifications and provide for compensation of appointed counsel in capital cases, including capital post-conviction proceedings;

(D) to provide for payment of expenses incident to appointed counsel's representation;

(E) to provide for the appointment and compensation of experts, investigators, and other support services for indigent parties in criminal cases, parental rights termination proceedings, dependency and neglect proceedings, delinquency proceedings, and capital post-conviction proceedings;

(F) to establish procedures for review of claims for compensation and reimbursement of expenses; and

(G) to meet the standards set forth in Section 107 of the Antiterrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act of 1996.

(2) The failure of any court to follow the provisions of this rule shall not constitute grounds for relief from a judgment of conviction or sentence. The failure of appointed counsel to meet the qualifications set forth in this rule shall not be deemed evidence that counsel did not provide effective assistance of counsel in a particular case.

(b) Each trial court exercising criminal jurisdiction shall maintain a roster of attorneys from which appointments will be made. However, a court may appoint attorneys whose names are not on the roster if necessary to obtain competent counsel according to the provisions of this rule.

(c) All general sessions, juvenile, trial, and appellate courts shall appoint counsel to represent indigent defendants and other parties who have a constitutional or statutory right to representation (herein "indigent party" or "defendant") according to the procedures and standards set forth in this rule.

(d)(1) In the following cases, and in all other cases required by law, the court or appointing authority shall advise any party without counsel of the right to be represented throughout the case by counsel and that counsel will be appointed if the party is indigent and requests appointment of counsel:

(A) Cases in which an adult is charged with a felony or a misdemeanor and is in jeopardy of incarceration;

(B) Contempt of court proceedings in which the defendant is in jeopardy of incarceration;

(C) Proceedings initiated by a petition for habeas corpus, early release from incarceration, suspended sentence, or probation revocation;

(D) Proceedings initiated by a petition for post-conviction relief, subject to the provisions of Tennessee Supreme Court Rule 28 and Tenn. Code Ann. §§ 40-30-101 et seq.;

(E) Parole revocation proceedings pursuant to the authority of state and/or federal law;

(F) Judicial proceedings under Tenn. Code Ann., Title 33, Chapters 3 through 8, Mental Health Law;

(G) Cases in which a superintendent of a mental health facility files a petition under the guardianship law, Tenn. Code Ann., Title 34;

(H) Cases under Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-10-304 and Tennessee Supreme Court Rule 24, relative to petitions for waiver of parental consent for abortions by minors; and

(I) Proceedings initiated pursuant to Tenn. R. Crim. P. 36.1 and in which the trial court, pursuant to Tenn. R. Crim. P. 36.1(b), has determined that the motion states a colorable claim for relief.

(2) In the following proceedings, and in all other proceedings where required by law, the court or appointing authority shall advise any party without counsel of the right to be represented throughout the case by counsel and that counsel will be appointed if the party is indigent and, except as provided in (C), (D), and (F) below, requests appointment of counsel:

(A) Cases in which a juvenile is charged with juvenile delinquency for committing an act which would be a misdemeanor or a felony if committed by an adult;

(B) Cases under Titles 36 and 37 of the Tennessee Code Annotated involving allegations against parents that could result in finding a child dependent or neglected or in terminating parental rights;

(C) Reports of abuse or neglect or investigation reports under Tenn. Code Ann. §§ 37-1-401 through 37-1-411. The court shall appoint a guardian ad litem for every child who is or may be the subject of such report. The appointment of the guardian ad litem shall be made upon the filing of the petition or upon the court's own motion, based upon knowledge or reasonable belief that the child may have been abused or neglected. The child who is or may be the subject of a report or investigation of abuse or neglect shall not be required to request appointment of counsel. A single guardian ad litem shall be appointed to represent an entire sibling group unless the court finds that conflicting interests require the appointment of more than one guardian. For purposes of this subsection, the compensation limits established in Section 2 apply to each guardian ad litem appointed rather than to each child;

(D) Proceedings to terminate parental rights. The court shall appoint a guardian ad litem for the child, unless the termination is uncontested. The child who is or may be the subject of proceedings to terminate parental rights shall not be required to request appointment of counsel. A single guardian ad litem shall be appointed to represent an entire sibling group unless the court finds that conflicting interests require the appointment of more than one guardian. For purposes of this subsection, the compensation limits established in Section 2 apply to each guardian ad litem appointed rather than to each child;

(E) Cases alleging unruly conduct of a child which place the child in jeopardy of being removed from the home pursuant to § 37-1-132(b); and

(F) Adoption proceedings in which the court appoints a guardian ad litem for the child or children pursuant to Public Chapter 409 of the 111th General Assembly [T.C.A. § 36-1-146].

(e)(1) Except in cases under Sections 1(d)(1)(F) proceedings under the mental health law, 1(d)(1)(G) proceedings for guardianship under Title 34, and 1(d)(2)(A) juvenile delinquency proceedings, whenever a party to any case in Section 1(d) requests the appointment of counsel, the party shall be required to complete and submit to the court an Affidavit of Indigency Form provided by the Administrative Office of the Courts, herein “AOC”.

(2) Upon inquiry, the court shall make a finding as to the indigency of the party pursuant to the provisions of Tenn. Code Ann. § 40-14-202, which finding shall be evidenced by a court order.

(3) Upon finding a party indigent, the court shall enter an order appointing counsel unless the indigent party rejects the offer of appointment of counsel with an understanding of the legal consequences of the rejection.

(4)(A) When appointing counsel for an indigent defendant pursuant to Section 1(e)(3), the court shall appoint the district public defender’s office, the state post-conviction defender’s office, or other attorneys employed by the state for indigent defense (herein “public defender”) if qualified pursuant to this rule and no conflict of interest exists, unless in the sound discretion of the trial judge appointment of other counsel is necessary. Appointment of public defenders shall be subject to the limitations of Tenn. Code Ann. §§ 8-14-201 et seq.

(B) If a conflict of interest exists as provided in Tennessee Rules of Professional Conduct 1.7 or the public defender is not qualified pursuant to this rule, the court shall designate counsel from the roster of private attorneys maintained pursuant to Section 1(b).

(C) The court shall appoint separate counsel for indigent defendants having interests that cannot be represented properly by the same counsel or when other good cause is shown.

(D) The court shall not make an appointment if counsel makes a clear and convincing showing that adding the appointment to counsel’s current workload would prevent counsel from rendering effective representation in accordance with constitutional and professional standards.

(E) When the court appoints counsel pursuant to this subsection, the order of appointment shall assess the non-refundable administrative fee provided by Tennessee Code Annotated section 37-1-126(c)(1) or section 40-14-103(b)(1). Additionally the court shall consider the financial ability of the indigent party to defray a portion or all of the cost for representation by the public defender or a portion or all of the costs associated with the provision of court appointed counsel as provided by Tennessee Code Annotated sections 8-14-205(d)(1); 37-1-126(c)(2); or 40-14-103(b)(2). If the court finds the indigent party is financially able to defray a portion or all the cost of the indigent party’s representation, the court shall enter an order directing the indigent party to pay into the registry of the clerk of such court such sum as the court determines the indigent party is able to pay as specified by Tennessee Code Annotated section 40-14-202(e).

(5) Appointed counsel shall continue to represent an indigent party throughout the proceedings, including any appeals, until the case has been concluded or counsel has been allowed to withdraw by a court. See Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 14 (setting out the procedure for withdrawal in the Court of Appeals and Court of Criminal Appeals); Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 8, RPC 1.16.

(f)(1) Indigent parties shall not have the right to select appointed counsel. If an indigent party refuses to accept the services of appointed counsel, such refusal shall be in writing and shall be signed by the indigent party in the presence of the court.

(2) The court shall acknowledge thereon the signature of the indigent party and make the written refusal a part of the record in the case. In addition, the court shall satisfy all other applicable constitutional and procedural requirements relating to waiver of the right to counsel. The indigent party may act pro se without the assistance or presence of counsel only after the court has fulfilled all lawful obligations relating to waiver of the right to counsel. [As amended by order filed June 25, 2013; and by order filed June 28, 2019, effective upon filing.]

Explanatory Comment: Section 1(d)(2)(F) has been added pursuant to Public Chapter 409 of the 111th General Assembly. Section 1(e)(1) has been revised for simplicity and organization. Section 1(e)(2) emphasizes that the finding of indigency must be evidenced by a court order. Section 1(e)(4)(A) is stricter than the former rule and emphasizes that trial courts “shall” appoint the public defender to represent criminal defendants unless a conflict of interest exists or in the sound discretion of the trial court, appointment of another counsel is necessary. Section 1(e)(4)(D) includes a specific standard that must be satisfied before counsel may refuse an appointment. Section 1(e)(4)(E) emphasizes that courts have a statutory duty to assess the administrative fee when appointing counsel as well as a statutory duty to consider whether the indigent party can afford to defray a portion or all of the costs of representation. Section 1(e)(5) clarifies that appointed counsel is obligated to represent the indigent party until a court allows counsel to withdraw. Section 1(f) delineates the rights of indigent parties and the obligations of courts when an indigent party chooses to proceed without counsel.

Compiler’s Notes. Supreme Court order dated June 28, 2019 provided that: “Pursuant to Senate Bill 559/House Bill 628, the General Assembly added a new section to Tennessee Code Annotated, Title 36, Chapter 1, Part 1. Based upon this legislation, the Court has determined that it is appropriate to amend Tennessee Supreme Court Rule 13, sections 1 and 2.”

“After due consideration, the Court hereby amends Rule 13 as set out in the Appendix to this Order. These amendments shall be effective immediately upon the filing of this Order.”

Section 2. Compensation of counsel in non-capital cases.

(1) Appointed counsel, other than public defenders, shall be entitled to reasonable compensation for services rendered as provided in this rule. Reasonable compensation shall be determined by the court in which services are rendered, subject to the limitations in this rule, which limitations are declared to be reasonable.

(2) These limitations apply to compensation for services rendered in each court: municipal, juvenile, or general sessions; criminal, circuit, or chancery; Court of Appeals or Court of Criminal Appeals; Tennessee Supreme Court; and United States Supreme Court.

(b) Co-counsel or associate attorneys in non-capital cases shall not be compensated.

(c) The hourly rate for appointed counsel in non-capital cases shall not exceed fifty dollars ($50) per-hour for time reasonably spent preparing the case and time reasonably spent before a judge on the case to which the attorney has been appointed to represent the indigent party.

(1) The maximum compensation allowed shall be determined by the original charge or allegations in the case. Except as provided in section 2(e), the compensation allowed appointed counsel for services rendered in a non-capital case shall not exceed the following amounts:

(2) Five hundred dollars ($500) for:

(A) Contempt of court cases where an adult or a juvenile is in jeopardy of incarceration;

(B) Parole revocation proceedings pursuant to the authority of state and/or federal law;

(C) Judicial proceedings under Tennessee Code Annotated, Title 33, Chapters 3 through 8, Mental Health Law;

(D) Cases in which a superintendent of a mental health facility files a petition under the guardianship law, Tennessee Code Annotated, Title 34;

(E) Cases under Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-10-304 and Tennessee Supreme Court Rule 24, relative to petitions for waiver of parental consent for abortions by minors;

(F) Cases alleging unruly conduct of a child which place the child in jeopardy of being removed from the home pursuant to § 37-1-132(b); and

(G) Guardian ad litem representation for the child or children in adoption cases in accordance with section 1(d)(2)(F). Pursuant to Public Chapter 409 of the 111th General Assembly [T.C.A. § 36-1-146], there is a rebuttable presumption that the guardian ad litem's fees shall be divided equally between the parties, excluding the person being adopted.

(3) One thousand dollars ($1,000) for:

(A) Cases in which an adult or a juvenile is charged with a misdemeanor and is in jeopardy of incarceration;

(B) Direct and interlocutory appeals in the Court of Appeals or Court of Criminal Appeals;

(C) Direct and interlocutory appeals in the Tennessee Supreme Court;

(D) Cases in which a defendant is applying for early release from incarceration or a suspended sentence;

(E) Non-capital post-conviction and habeas corpus proceedings;

(F) Probation revocation proceedings;

(G) All other non-capital cases in which the indigent party has a statutory or constitutional right to be represented by counsel.

(4) One thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) for:

(A) Preliminary hearings in general sessions and municipal courts in which an adult is charged with a felony;

(B) Cases in which a juvenile is charged with a non-capital felony;

(5)(A) Two thousand dollars ($2,000) for cases in trial courts in which the defendant is charged with a felony other than first-degree murder or a Class A or B felony;

(B) Three thousand dollars ($3,000) for cases in trial courts in which the defendant is charged with first-degree murder or a Class A or B felony;

(6) Maximum compensation for juvenile dependency and neglect proceedings and termination of parental rights proceedings is as follows:

(A) One thousand dollars ($1,000) for:

(i) Dependent or neglected child cases, from the filing of the dependency petition through the dispositional hearing, including the preliminary hearing, ratification of the initial permanency plan, adjudicatory and dispositional hearings;

(ii) Guardian ad litem representation in accordance with section 1(d)(2)(C) for a child or sibling group who is or may be the subject of a report of abuse or neglect or an investigation report under Tennessee Code Annotated sections 37-1-401 through 37-1-411, from the filing of the dependency petition through the dispositional hearing, including the preliminary hearing, ratification of the initial permanency plan, adjudicatory and dispositional hearings; and

(iii) Counsel appointed pursuant to Tennessee Supreme Court Rule 40(e)(2) and in accordance with section 1(d)(2)(C) for a child or sibling group who is or may be the subject of a report of abuse or neglect or an investigation report under Tennessee Code Annotated sections 37-1-401 through 37-1-411, from the filing of the dependency petition through the dispositional hearing, including the preliminary hearing, ratification of the initial permanency plan, adjudicatory and dispositional hearings;

(B) One Thousand, Two Hundred Fifty Dollars ($1,250) for:

(i) Dependent or neglected child cases, for all post-dispositional proceedings, including foster care review board hearings, post-dispositional court reviews and permanency hearings;

(ii) Guardian ad litem representation in accordance with section 1(d)(2)(C) for a child or sibling group who is or may be the subject of a report of abuse or neglect or an investigation report under Tennessee Code Annotated sections 37-1-401 through 37-1-411, for all post-dispositional proceedings, including foster care review board hearings, post-dispositional court reviews, and permanency hearings;

and

(iii) Counsel appointed pursuant to Tennessee Supreme Court Rule 40(e)(2) and in accordance with section 1(d)(2)(D) for a child or sibling group who is or may be the subject of a report of abuse or neglect or an investigation report under Tennessee Code Annotated sections 37-1-401 through 37-1-411, for all post-dispositional proceedings, including foster care review board hearings, post-dispositional court reviews, and permanency hearings;

(C) One thousand, Two Hundred Fifty dollars ($1,250) for:

(i) Proceedings against parents in which allegations against the parents could result in termination of parental rights;

(ii) Guardian ad litem representation in termination of parental rights cases in accordance with section 1(d)(2)(D); and

(iii) Counsel appointed pursuant to Tennessee Supreme Court Rule 40(e)(2) and in accordance with section 1(d)(2)(C) for a child or sibling group in termination of parental rights cases.

(1) Notwithstanding the provisions of section (2)(d), an amount in excess of the maximum, subject to the limitations of section (2)(e)(3), may be sought by filing a motion in the court in which representation is provided. The motion shall include specific factual allegations demonstrating that the case is complex or extended. The court shall enter an order which evidences the action taken on the motion. The following, while neither controlling nor exclusive, indicate the character of reasons that may support a complex or extended certification:

(A) The case involved complex scientific evidence and/or expert testimony;

(B) The case involved multiple defendants and/or numerous witnesses;

(C) The case involved multiple protracted hearings;

(D) The case involved novel and complex legal issues.

(E) If the motion is granted, an order shall be forwarded to the Director of the AOC (herein “director”) certifying the case as complex or extended. The order shall either recite the specific facts supporting the finding or incorporate by reference and attach the motion which includes the specific facts supporting the finding. To qualify for payment under this section, the order certifying the claim as extended or complex must be signed contemporaneously with the court’s approval of the claim. Nunc pro tunc certification orders are not sufficient to support payment under this section.

(2) All payments under Section 2(e)(1) must be submitted to the director for approval. If a payment under Section 2(e)(1) is not approved by the director, the director shall transmit the claim to the chief justice for disposition. The determination of the chief justice shall be final.

(3) Upon approval of the complex or extended claim by the director or the chief justice, the following maximum amounts apply:

(A) One thousand dollars ($1,000) in those categories of cases where the maximum compensation is otherwise five hundred dollars ($500);

(B) Except as provided in Section (2)(e)(3)(D), two thousand dollars ($2,000) in those categories of cases where the maximum compensation is otherwise one thousand dollars ($1,000);

(C) Two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) in those categories of cases where the maximum compensation is otherwise one thousand two hundred fifty dollars ($1,250).

(D) Four thousand dollars ($4,000) in cases in trial courts in which the defendant is charged with a felony other than first-degree murder or a Class A or B felony; and

(E) Six thousand dollars ($6,000) in cases in trial courts in which the defendant is charged with first-degree murder or a Class A or B felony. Where the felony charged is first-degree murder, the director may waive the six thousand dollar ($6,000) maximum if the order demonstrates that extraordinary circumstances exist and failure to waive the maximum would result in undue hardship.

(f) Attorneys shall not be compensated for time associated with traveling to a court in another county for the sole purpose of hand-delivering or filing a document.

(g) Counsel appointed or assigned to represent indigents shall not be paid for any time billed in excess of 2,000 hours per calendar year unless, in the opinion of the Administrative Director, an attorney has made reasonable efforts to comply with this limitation, but has been unable to do so, in whole or in part, due to the attorney’s representation pursuant to Section 3 of this Rule. It is the responsibility of private counsel to manage their billable hours in compliance with the annual maximum. [As amended by order filed March 5, 2013; by order filed September 19, 2013, effective January 1, 2014; amended by order filed July 2, 2018, effective July 1, 2018; and by order filed June 28, 2019, effective upon filing.]

Explanatory Comment: Section 2(b) unequivocally provides that only one attorney will be compensated in non-capital cases. Section 2(c) clarifies that appointed counsel will not be compensated for time spent on Board of Professional Responsibility complaints arising from appointments. Section 2(d) has been reorganized for simplicity and clarity. Compensation rates for counsel appointed in juvenile, dependency and neglect, and termination of parental rights cases are now contained in Section 2(d)(6). Section 2(d)(6) further defines the dispositional and post-dispositional phases at which compensation is appropriate and also compensates attorneys appointed pursuant to Tennessee Supreme Court Rule 40(e)(2). Section 2(d)(2)(G) has been added pursuant to Public Chapter 409 of the 111th General Assembly. A claim in an adoption proceeding is separate from a claim in a termination of parental rights proceeding, even if the court appoints the same guardian ad litem in the adoption proceeding. Section 2(e)(1) further delineates the procedure and factors supporting certification of a case as complex or extended, including the mandatory requirement that the order certifying the claim be submitted to the AOC contemporaneously with the claim requesting complex or extended compensation. Section 2(e)(2) reiterates that approval of the director or the chief justice is required and that the determination of the chief justice is final. Section 6 of this rule sets out in more detail the claims review process. Section 2(e)(3)(A)-(D) has been revised to simplify and clarify the language. Section 2(e)(3)(D) has been revised to limit waiver of the $4,000 maximum to first-degree murder cases, rather than all homicide cases. Section 2(f) precludes compensating attorneys for time spent traveling to and from a clerk’s office in another county for the sole purpose of hand-delivering or filing documents.

Compiler's Notes. Supreme Court order dated July 2, 2018 provided that: "By Order filed June 29, 2018, the Court amended Rule 13, sections 2 and 3 of the Rules of the Tennessee Supreme Court in the form set out in the appendix to that Order, effective July 1, 2018. It has come to the Court's attention that there was a typographical error in amended Rule 13, Section 2(e)(3)(E), as contained in that appendix. It is therefore ordered that the appendix to the Order filed June 29, 2018 is withdrawn, and the corrected appendix attached to this Order is substituted in its place."

Supreme Court order dated June 28, 2019 provided that: "Pursuant to Senate Bill 559/House Bill 628, the General Assembly added a new section to Tennessee Code Annotated, Title 36, Chapter 1, Part 1. Based upon this legislation, the Court has determined that it is appropriate to amend Tennessee Supreme Court Rule 13, sections 1 and 2."

"After due consideration, the Court hereby amends Rule 13 as set out in the Appendix to this Order. These amendments shall be effective immediately upon the filing of this Order."

Section 3. Minimum qualifications and compensation of counsel in capital cases.

(a) For purposes of this rule, a capital case is a case in which a defendant has been charged with first-degree murder and a notice of intent to seek the death penalty, as provided in Tenn. Code Ann. § 39-13-208 and Tennessee Rule of Criminal Procedure 12.3(b), has been filed and no order withdrawing the notice has been filed. Non-capital compensation rates apply to services rendered by appointed counsel after the date the notice of intent to seek the death penalty is withdrawn.

(1) The court shall appoint two attorneys to represent a defendant at trial in a capital case. Both attorneys appointed must be licensed in Tennessee and have significant experience in Tennessee criminal trial practice, unless in the sound discretion of the trial court, appointment of one attorney admitted under Tennessee Supreme Court Rule 19 is appropriate. The appointment order shall specify which attorney is "lead counsel" and which attorney is "co-counsel." Whenever possible, a public defender shall serve as and be designated "lead counsel."

(2) If the notice of intent to seek the death penalty is withdrawn at least thirty (30) days prior to trial, the trial court shall enter an order relieving one of the attorneys previously appointed. In these circumstances, the trial court may grant the defendant, upon motion, a reasonable continuance of the trial.

(3) If the notice is withdrawn less than thirty (30) days prior to trial, the trial court may either enter an order authorizing the two attorneys previously appointed to remain on the case for the duration of the present trial, or enter an order relieving one of the attorneys previously appointed and granting the defendant, upon motion, a reasonable continuance of the trial.

(c) Lead counsel must:

(1) be a member in good standing of the Tennessee bar or be admitted to practice pro hac vice;

(2) have regularly participated in criminal jury trials for at least five years;

(3) have completed, prior to the appointment, a minimum of six (6) hours of specialized training in the defense of defendants charged with a capital offense; and, complete a minimum of six (6) hours of specialized training in the defense of defendants charged with a capital offense every two years thereafter;

(4) have at least one of the following:

(A) experience as lead counsel in the jury trial of at least one capital case;

(B) experience as co-counsel in the trial of at least two capital cases;

(C) experience as co-counsel in the trial of a capital case and experience as lead or sole counsel in the jury trial of at least one murder case;

(D) experience as lead counsel or sole counsel in at least three murder jury trials or one murder jury trial and three felony jury trials; or

(E) experience as a judge in the jury trial of at least one capital case.

(5) The provisions of this subsection requiring lead counsel to have participated in criminal jury trials for at least five years, rather than three years, and requiring six (6) hours of specialized training shall become effective January 1, 2006.

(d) Co-counsel must:

(1) be a member in good standing of the Tennessee bar or be admitted to practice pro hac vice;

(2) have completed, prior to the appointment, a minimum of six (6) hours of specialized training in the defense of defendants charged with a capital offense; and, complete a minimum of six (6) hours of specialized training in the defense of defendants charged with a capital offense every two years thereafter;

(3) have at least one of the following qualifications:

(A) qualify as lead counsel under (c) above; or

(B) have experience as sole counsel, lead counsel, or co-counsel in a murder jury trial.

(4) The provisions of this subsection requiring six (6) hours of specialized training shall become effective January 1, 2006.

(e) Attorneys who represent the defendant in the trial court in a capital case may be designated to represent the defendant on direct appeal, provided at least one trial attorney qualifies as new appellate counsel under Section 3(g) of this rule and both attorneys are available for appointment. However, new counsel will be appointed to represent the defendant if the trial court, or the court in which the case is pending, determines that appointment of new counsel is necessary to provide the defendant with effective assistance of counsel or that the best interest of the defendant requires appointment of new counsel.

(f) If new counsel are appointed to represent the defendant on direct appeal, both attorneys appointed must be licensed in Tennessee, unless in the sound discretion of the judge, appointment of one attorney admitted under Tennessee Supreme Court Rule 19 is appropriate.

(g) Appointed counsel on direct appeal, regardless of any prior representation of the defendant, must have three years of litigation experience in criminal trials and appeals, and they must have at least one of the two following requirements: experience as counsel of record in the appeal of a capital case; or experience as counsel of record in the appeal of at least three felony convictions within the past three years and a minimum of six hours of specialized training in the trial and appeal of capital cases.

(h) Counsel eligible to be appointed as post-conviction counsel in capital cases must have the same qualifications as appointed appellate counsel, or have trial and appellate experience as counsel of record in state post-conviction proceedings in three felony cases, two homicide cases, or one capital case. Counsel also must have a working knowledge of federal habeas corpus practice, which may be satisfied by six hours of specialized training in the representation in federal courts of defendants under the sentence of death imposed in state courts; and they must not have previously represented the defendant at trial or on direct appeal in the case for which the appointment is made, unless the defendant and counsel expressly consent to continued representation.

(i) No more than two attorneys shall be appointed to represent a death-row inmate in a proceeding regarding competency for execution. See Van Tran v. State, 6 S.W.3d 257 (Tenn. 1999). At least one of the attorneys appointed shall be qualified as post-conviction counsel as set forth in Section 3(h).

(j) Appointed counsel in capital cases, other than public defenders, shall be entitled to reasonable compensation as determined by the court in which such services are rendered, subject to the limitations of this rule, which limitations are declared to be reasonable. Compensation shall be limited to the two attorneys actually appointed in the case. Appointed counsel in a capital case shall submit claims in accordance with Section 6 of this rule.

(k) Hourly rates for appointed counsel in capital cases shall be as follows:

- (1) Lead counsel ($100);
- (2) Co-counsel ($80);
- (3) Post-conviction counsel ($80);
- (4) Counsel appointed pursuant to Section 3(i) ($80);

(l) For purposes of this rule, the hourly rate includes time reasonably spent preparing the case and time reasonably spent before a judge on the case to which the attorney has been appointed to represent the indigent party.

(m) Attorneys shall not be compensated for time associated with traveling to a court in another county for the sole purpose of hand-delivering or filing a document. [As amended by order filed July 29, 2018, effective July 1, 2018.]

Explanatory Comment: Section 3(a) clarifies that even if a trial court allows two appointed attorneys to remain on a case, under Section 3(b)(3), after a notice of intent to seek the death penalty is withdrawn, counsel will be compensated at non-capital rates for services rendered after the date the notice is withdrawn. Section 3(b)(1) has been revised to require that the appointment order must specify lead and co-counsel and that the public defender must serve and be designated lead counsel whenever possible. Section 3(b)(2) and (3) previously appeared as Section 3(l) of Rule 13. Section 3 now permits former prosecutors and judges with appropriate experience to be appointed counsel in capital cases. Section 3(c)(2) has been revised to require five years participation in criminal jury trials, rather than three years representation of defendants in criminal jury trials. Section 3(c)(3) has been revised to enhance the educational requirements for appointed counsel. Section 3(c)(4)(E) has been revised to include an experience requirement applicable only to former judges. Section 3(i) has been revised to clarify that its scope is limited to affording compensation to appointed counsel in a proceeding challenging the inmate's competency to be executed. Section 3(k)(7) provides that attorneys appointed in competency proceedings will be compensated at the same $80 rate applicable in other capital post-conviction proceedings. Section 3(l) clarifies that appointed counsel will not be compensated for time spent defending against a Board of Professional Responsibility action that arises from the appointment. Section 3(m) precludes compensating attorneys for time spent driving to and from a clerk's office in another county for the sole purpose of hand-delivering or filing a document.

Compiler's Notes. Supreme Court order dated July 2, 2018 provided that: "By Order filed June 29, 2018, the Court amended Rule 13, sections 2 and 3 of the Rules of the Tennessee Supreme Court in the form set out in the appendix to that Order, effective July 1, 2018. It has come to the Court's attention that there was a typographical error in amended Rule 13, Section 2(e)(3)(E), as contained in that appendix. It is therefore ordered that the appendix to the Order filed June 29, 2018 is withdrawn, and the corrected appendix attached to this Order is substituted in its place."

Section 4. Payment of expenses incident to representation.

(1) Appointed counsel, experts, and investigators may be reimbursed for certain necessary expenses directly related to the representation of indigent parties.

(2) The services or time of a paralegal, law clerk, secretary, legal assistant, or other administrative assistants shall not be reimbursed. Normal overhead expenses also shall not be reimbursed.

(3) The following expenses will be reimbursed without prior approval if reasonably necessary to the representation of the indigent party:

(A) Long distance telephone charges, if supported by a log showing the date of the call, the person or office called, the purpose of the call, and the duration of the call stated in one-tenth ($\frac{1}{10}$) hour segments;

(B) Mileage for travel within the state in accordance with Judicial Department travel regulations, if supported by a log showing the mileage, the purpose of the travel, and the origination and destination cities;

(C) Lodging where an overnight stay is required at actual costs, if supported by a receipt, not to exceed the current authorized executive branch rates;

For in-state rates:
www.state.tn.us/finance/act/travel.html

For out-of-state rates:
www.state.tn.us/finance/act/policy.html

(D) Meals in accordance with the Judicial Department travel regulations if supported by a receipt, where an overnight stay is required;

(E) Parking at actual costs up to ten dollars per day if supported by a receipt;

(F) Photocopying — Black and White Copies —

(i) In-house copying at a rate not to exceed seven cents ($0.07) per page.

(ii) Actual cost of outsourced copying if supported by a receipt, at a rate not to exceed ten cents ($0.10) per page.

(iii) Actual cost of providing to client a copy of appellate briefs and opinion.

(iv) The cost of providing to the indigent party a copy of the court file or transcript will not be reimbursed once the appeal is complete because the original file and transcript belong to the client.

(v) Prior approval of the court and the director is required if an attorney, expert, or investigator anticipates that total copying costs will exceed $500.

(G) Photocopying — Color Copies —

(i) In-house color copying at a rate not to exceed one dollar ($1.00) per page;

(ii) Actual cost of outsourced color copies at a rate not to exceed $1.00 per page if supported by a receipt;

(iii) Prior approval of the court and the director is required if an attorney, expert, or investigator anticipates that total copying costs will exceed $500.

(H) Computerized Research at actual cost for case-related legal and internet research if supported by receipts. If actual costs are not incurred, compensation will be limited to time spent conducting the search. Pro rata cost of subscription[s] will not be paid.

(I) Miscellaneous expenses such as postage, commercial delivery service having computer tracking capacity, film, or printing will be compensated at actual cost, not to exceed the fair and reasonable market value, if accompanied by a receipt. Prior approval of the court and the director is required if an attorney, expert, or investigator anticipates that total miscellaneous expenses will exceed $250.

(J) Expenses relating to improving the indigent party's appearance, including but not limited to expenses for dental plates, haircuts, clothing and cleaning charges for clothing, are not reimbursable.

(K) Appellate Record—Actual expenses for an electronic copy of the appellate record (excluding exhibits) and of any transcripts on appeal purchased from the Appellate Court Clerk's Office, not to exceed $100.00.

(b) Expenses not listed in Section 4(a), including travel outside the state, will be reimbursed only if prior authorization is obtained from the court in which the representation is rendered and prior approval is obtained from the director.

(1) Authorization of expenses shall be sought by motion to the court.

(2) The motion shall include both an itemized statement of the estimated or anticipated costs and specific factual allegations demonstrating that the expenses are directly related to and necessary for the effective representation of the indigent party.

(3) The court shall enter an order that evidences the action taken on the motion. If the motion is granted, the order shall either recite the specific facts demonstrating that the expenses are directly related to and necessary for the effective representation of the indigent party or incorporate by reference and attach the defense motion that includes the specific facts demonstrating that finding.

(4) The order and any attachments shall be submitted to the director for prior approval before any expenses are incurred.

(c) The director is hereby authorized to reimburse the Department of Children's Services at the Judicial Department rate for the expense of transcripts in termination of parental rights appeals without obtaining prior approval by court order in each case.

(d) Foreign Language Interpreters and Translators. The appointment of interpreters and/or translators, and the compensation by the AOC for costs associated with an interpreter's and/or translator's services, are governed by Rule 42, Rules of the Tennessee Supreme Court. [As amended by order filed June 27, 2012, effective July 1, 2012; and by order filed February 20, 2013, effective April 1, 2013.]

Explanatory Comment: Section 4(a) provides uniform guidelines and certainty as to expenses that will be reimbursed and delineates the documentation that must accompany a claim for reimbursement. Section 4(a)(3) permits reimbursement without prior approval of certain expenses and is intended to eliminate time previously spent by attorneys and judges considering such expenses. Section 4(a)(3)(F)(iv) clarifies that attorneys will not be reimbursed for the costs of copying the record since the record belongs to the indigent party. Section 4(b) delineates the expenses for which prior approval is required and sets out the requirements and procedure for obtaining prior approval. Section 4(b) dispenses with the former requirement that prior approval be obtained from both the director and the chief justice and makes prior approval of the director essential and final. Section 4(d) cross-references Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 42, which provides the mechanism and method for compensating foreign language interpreters and translators.

Section 5. Experts, investigators, and other support services.

(1) In the trial and direct appeal of all criminal cases in which the defendant is entitled to appointed counsel in the trial and appeals of post-conviction proceedings in capital cases involving indigent petitioners, and in juvenile transfer proceedings, the court, in an ex parte hearing, may in its discretion determine that investigative or expert services or other similar services are necessary to ensure that the constitutional rights of the defendant are properly protected. If such determination is made, the court may grant prior authorization for these necessary services in a reasonable amount to be determined by the court. The authorization shall be evidenced by a signed order of the court. The order shall provide for the payment or reimbursement of reasonable and necessary expenses by the director. See Tenn. Code Ann. § 40-14-207(b); State v. Barnett, 909 S.W.2d 423 (Tenn. 1995); Owens v. State, 908 S.W.2d 923 (Tenn. 1995).

(2) In non-capital post-conviction proceedings, funding for investigative, expert, or other similar services shall not be authorized or approved. See Davis v. State, 912 S.W.2d 689 (Tenn. 1995).

(1) Every effort shall be made to obtain the services of a person or entity whose primary office of business is within 150 miles of the court where the case is pending. If the person or entity proposed to provide the service is not located within the 150-mile radius, the motion shall explain the efforts made to obtain the services of a provider within the 150-mile radius.

(2) Any motion seeking funding for expert or similar services shall itemize:

(A) the nature of the services requested;

(B) the name, address, qualifications, and licensure status, as evidenced by a curriculum vitae or resume, of the person or entity proposed to provide the services;

(C) the means, date, time, and location at which the services are to be provided; and

(D) a statement of the itemized costs of the services, including the hourly rate, and the amount of any expected additional or incidental costs.

(3) Any motion seeking funding for investigative or other similar services shall itemize:

- (A) the type of investigation to be conducted;
- (B) the specific facts that suggest the investigation likely will result in admissible evidence;
- (C) an itemized list of anticipated expenses for the investigation;
- (D) the name and address of the person or entity proposed to provide the services; and
- (E) a statement indicating whether the person satisfies the licensure requirement of this rule.

(4) If a motion satisfies these threshold requirements, the trial court must conduct an ex parte hearing on the motion and determine if the requested services are necessary to ensure the protection of the defendant's constitutional rights.

(1) Funding shall be authorized only if, after conducting a hearing on the motion, the court determines that there is a particularized need for the requested services and that the hourly rate charged for the services is reasonable in that it is comparable to rates charged for similar services.

(2) Particularized need in the context of criminal trials and appeals is established when a defendant shows by reference to the particular facts and circumstances that the requested services relate to a matter that, considering the inculpatory evidence, is likely to be a significant issue in the defense at trial and that the requested services are necessary to protect the defendant's right to a fair trial. See, Barnett, 909 S.W.2d at 423.

(3) Particularized need in the context of capital post-conviction proceedings is established when a petitioner shows, by reference to the particular facts and circumstances of the petitioner's case, that the services are necessary to establish a ground for post-conviction relief and that the petitioner will be unable to establish that ground for post-conviction relief by other available evidence. See Owens, 908 S.W.2d at 928.

(4) Particularized need cannot be established and funding requests should be denied where the motion contains only:

- (A) undeveloped or conclusory assertions that such services would be beneficial;
- (B) assertions establishing only the mere hope or suspicion that favorable evidence may be obtained;
- (C) information indicating that the requested services relate to factual issues or matters within the province and understanding of the jury; or
- (D) information indicating that the requested services fall within the capability and expertise of appointed counsel. See, e.g., Barnett 909 S.W.2d at 430; Caldwell v. Mississippi, 472 U.S. 320, 323 n.1 (1985); State v. Abraham, 451 S.E.2d 131, 149 (N.C. 1994).

(1) The director and/or the chief justice shall maintain uniformity as to the rates paid individuals or entities for services provided to indigent parties. Appointed counsel shall make every effort to obtain individuals or entities who are willing to provide services at an hourly rate less than the maximum. Although not an exclusive listing, compensation for individuals or entities providing the following services shall not exceed the following maximum hourly rates:

(A) Accident Reconstruction	$115.00
(B) Medical Services/Doctors	$250.00
(C) Psychiatrists	$250.00
(D) Psychologists	$150.00
(E) Investigators (Guilt/Sentencing)	$50.00
(F) Mitigation Specialist	$65.00
(G) DNA Expert	$200.00
(H) Forensic Anthropologist	$125.00
(I) Ballistics Expert	$75.00
(J) Fingerprint Expert	$75.00
(K) Handwriting Expert	$75.00

(2) For persons or entities compensated at a rate of one hundred dollars ($100) per hour or more, time spent traveling shall be compensated at no greater than fifty percent (50%) of the approved hourly rate.

(3) Investigators shall not be compensated unless licensed by the Private Investigation and Polygraph Commission of Tennessee or exempted from this licensure requirement, except when an investigator licensed in another state is authorized by a court in Tennessee to conduct an investigation in that other state.

(4) In a post-conviction capital case, a trial court shall not authorize more than a total of $20,000 for all investigative services, unless in its sound discretion the trial court determines that extraordinary circumstances exist that have been proven by clear and convincing evidence.

(5) In a post-conviction capital case, a trial court shall not authorize more than a total of $25,000 for the services of all experts unless in its sound discretion the trial court determines that extraordinary circumstances exist that have been proven by clear and convincing evidence.

(6) Expenses shall not be authorized or approved for expert tests or expert services if the results or testimony generated from such tests or services will not be admissible as evidence.

(1) If the requirements of Sections 5(c) and (d) are satisfied and the motion is granted, the authorization shall be evidenced by a signed order of the court. Unless otherwise indicated in the order, the amount authorized includes both fees and necessary expenses under Section 4(a).

(2) The order shall include a finding of particularized need and the specific facts that demonstrate particularized need as well as the information required by Section 5(b)(1) or (b)(2).

(3) The court may satisfy the requirements of subsection (e)(2) above by incorporating and attaching that portion of the defense motion that includes the specific facts supporting the finding of particularized need.

(4) Once the services are authorized by the court in which the case is pending, the order and any attachments must be submitted to the director for prior approval. Claims for these services may not be submitted electronically.

(5) If the director denies prior approval of the request, the claim shall also be transmitted to the chief justice for disposition and prior approval. The determination of the chief justice shall be final. [As amended by order filed February 6, 2013, effective July 1, 2013; amended by order filed and effective October 26, 2021.]

Explanatory Comment: Section 5(a)(1) contains the language that previously appeared as Section 5(a). Section 5(a)(2) unequivocally provides that funding for investigative, expert, or other similar services is not available in non-capital post-conviction proceedings. Section 5(b)(1) explains that counsel must make “every effort” to obtain the services of experts, investigators or others who are located within 150 miles of the court where the case is pending. Section 5(b)(2) delineates the information that must be included in or submitted with a motion requesting funding for expert or similar services. Section 5(b)(3) delineates the information that must be included in or submitted with a motion requesting funding for investigative or similar services. Section 5(c) has been revised for clarity and includes in subsections (c)(1)-(4) definitions of particularized need and the standards governing a trial court’s consideration of funding requests. Section 5(d) has been revised to provide certainty and guidance to attorneys, service providers, and trial courts. Section 5(d)(1) establishes maximum hourly rates for certain services, instructs the director and the chief justice to maintain state-wide uniformity as to the rates paid for services, and directs appointed counsel to seek to retain individuals and/or entities willing to provide services at a rate less than the maximum. Section 5(d)(2) establishes permissible compensation rates for travel for experts paid in excess of $100 per hour. Section 5(d)(3) establishes the licensure requirements for investigators. Section 5(d)(4) and (5) impose maximum limits on the amounts that may be approved in capital post-conviction proceedings and permit funding in excess of these amounts only upon clear and convincing evidence that extraordinary circumstances exist. Section 5(d)(6) precludes funding for expert tests or services if the results of the tests or the expert’s testimony is per se inadmissible. Section 5(e)(1)-(3) delineates the information that must be included in or attached to orders authorizing funding. Section 5(e)(4)-(5) sets out the procedure that must be followed in obtaining prior approval of the request. Section 5(e)(5) provides that only those claims denied by the director will be submitted to the chief justice for disposition. This changes prior law which required the chief justice to review every request for funding involving an hourly rate in excess of $150 or an overall amount in excess of $5,000, even those requests approved by the director.

Section 6. Review of claims for compensation and reimbursement of expenses.

(1) All claims for attorney compensation and expenses shall be submitted utilizing the system established by the AOC for electronic submission. Claims of four hundred dollars ($400.00) or more for attorney compensation and expenses shall be electronically submitted, and shall be reviewed and approved by the judge who presided over final disposition of the case prior to payment by the AOC. Electronic claims that total less than four hundred dollars ($400.00) shall be exempt from the judicial review and approval requirement; such claims, however, shall be subject to the AOC’s examination and audit pursuant to this section.

(2) Time spent by counsel on a single case or proceeding shall be included in a single claim for compensation.

(3) Claims shall be supported by a copy of the court order appointing counsel or authorizing the expenditure and, in the case of expenses requiring prior approval, a copy of the approval of the director and/or the chief justice.

(4) Appointed counsel in a capital case shall file interim claims. Interim claims shall be filed at least every 180 days, but no more frequently than every 30 days. Any portion of a claim requesting payment for services rendered more than 180 days prior to the date on which the claim is approved by the court in which the services were rendered shall be deemed waived and shall not be paid. The provisions of this subsection regarding the time frame for submission of claims shall become effective January 1, 2005.

(5) Appointed counsel in non-capital cases are not permitted to file interim claims but shall file claims for compensation no later than 180 days after disposition of the case in each court in which representation is provided. However, claims for the post-dispositional phase of a juvenile dependency and neglect proceeding shall be filed no later than 180 days from the last activity related to the case. Claims for compensation submitted after the 180-day period shall be deemed waived and shall not be paid. The provisions of this subsection regarding the time frame for submission of claims shall become effective January 1, 2005.

(6) Counsel will be held to a high degree of care in the keeping of contemporaneous time records supporting all claims and in the application for payment. Counsel is required to maintain records supporting claims for payment. Failure to provide sufficient specificity in the claim or supporting documentation may constitute grounds for denial of the claim for compensation or reimbursement.

(7) The payment of a claim by the AOC shall not prejudice the AOC’s right to object to or question any claim or matter in relation thereto. Claims shall be subject to reduction for amounts included in any claim or payment previously made which are determined by the AOC not to constitute proper remuneration for compensable services. The AOC reserves the right to deduct from claims which are or shall become due and payable any amounts which are or shall become due and payable to the AOC.

(8) As a part of its examination and audit of claims for compensation and reimbursement under this Rule 13, the AOC shall determine from information provided by the Board of Professional Responsibility whether there are unpaid costs assessed against counsel submitting the claim pursuant to Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 9, Section 31.3. Claims for compensation and reimbursement under this Rule 13 shall be subject to reduction for any such unpaid costs.

(1) The AOC shall examine and audit all claims for compensation and reimbursement to insure compliance with this rule and other statutory requirements. The AOC may decline to make any payment or decline to continue to accept any assignment should either the attorney or the third-party assignee fail to comply with the requirements of Rule 13 and other statutory requirements.

(2) After such examination and audit and giving due consideration to state revenues, the director shall make a determination as to the compensation and/or reimbursement to be paid and cause payment to be issued in satisfaction thereof.

(3) Payment may be made directly to the person, agency, or entity providing the services.

(4) The determination by the director shall be final, except where review by the chief justice also is required. In those instances, the determination of the chief justice shall be final. The chief justice may designate another justice to perform this function if the chief justice determines that a designation is appropriate or necessary.

(5) If the director denies an attorney's fee claim in whole or substantial part, such denial shall be forwarded to the chief justice for review. The determination of the chief justice shall be final. Reductions made during the process of auditing a fee claim which are due to mathematical miscalculations or result from requests for payments not permitted by this rule shall not be forwarded to the chief justice for review.

(1) Appointed counsel may contract with a third-party agent to prepare and file claims for attorney compensation and expenses; provided, however, that counsel shall remain responsible for all filings and communications in connection with such claims;

(2) Appointed counsel may assign the right to payment of claims for attorney compensation and expenses to a third-party assignee; provided, however, that: (i) counsel electing to assign the right to payment shall assign such right for all subsequent cases in which counsel will present claims for payment pursuant to this rule; and (ii) counsel shall provide adequate written notice to the director of counsel's assignment of the right to payment to the third-party assignee. Such written notice shall not be effective unless submitted on the Uniform Assignment of Payment For Services Due to An Attorney form provided by the administrative office of the courts. Upon receipt of adequate written notice of counsel's assignment, the director shall make subsequent payments of counsel's claims to the third-party assignee. An assignment submitted to the director shall not relieve counsel of the responsibility for the accuracy and timeliness of all filings nor shall it relieve counsel of the responsibility to personally respond to inquiries from the administrative office of the courts in connection with counsel's claims. Counsel's written notice of assignment shall remain in effect until the director receives written notice that counsel revokes the assignment. The third-party assignee shall agree in writing to indemnify and hold the state harmless for all payments made by the administrative office of the courts in good faith and without notification that the assignment has been revoked and shall file such writing with the director. [As amended by order filed February 6, 2013, effective July 1, 2013; by order filed September 4, 2013, effective January 1, 2014; amended by order filed and effective March 27, 2020.]

Explanatory Comment: Section 6(a)(1)-(3) has been revised to clarify the requirements and process for submitting claims for compensation and reimbursement. Section 6(a)(4) mandates that appointed counsel in capital cases file interim claims at least every 180 days but no more frequently than every 30 days and provides that any portion of a claim for services rendered more than 180 days prior to the date on which the claim is approved by the court will be deemed waived and not paid. The effective date of Section 6(a)(4) is January 1, 2005. Section 6(a)(5) precludes appointed counsel in non-capital cases from filing interim claims for compensation but requires them to submit claims for compensation no later than 180 days after disposition of the case in each court in which representation is provided, with the 180 day period running from the date of the last case-related activity for post-dispositional phases of a dependency and neglect proceeding. Claims for compensation submitted after the 180-day period will be deemed waived and not paid. The effective date of Section 6(a)(5) is January 1, 2005. Section 6(a)(6) provides that counsel will be held to a high degree of care in record keeping and documentation of the claim. Section 6(a)(7) provides that the AOC reserves the right to review claims that come into question even if they have already been paid and establishes that the AOC may recoup any overpayment by setting off the amount of any such overpayment against claims that may be filed. Section 6(b) delineates how claims are audited, approved for payment, and how payments are made. Section 6(b)(4) provides that the determination of the director and/or the chief justice is final. Unlike prior law, Section 6 does not provide for an appeal to the Tennessee Supreme Court from the decision of the director or the chief justice. Section 6(b)(4) also provides that the chief justice may designate another justice to review these claims if the chief justice determines that designation is appropriate or necessary. Section 6(b)(5) sets out those instances where an attorney may appeal the director's decisions to the chief justice.

Section 7. Contracts for indigent representation. In addition and as an alternative to the procedures for appointment and compensation of court-appointed counsel for services described above, the Administrative Director is authorized to enter into agreements with attorneys, law firms, or associations of attorneys to provide legal services for a fee to indigent persons in: (1) emergency involuntary judicial hospitalization actions brought pursuant to Tenn. Code Ann. Title 33, Chapter 6, Part 4; (2) Title IV-D child support enforcement proceedings brought pursuant to Tenn. Code Ann. Title 36, Chapter 5; and (3) cases under Titles 36 and 37 of the Tennessee Code Annotated involving allegations against parents that could result in finding a child dependent or neglected or in terminating parental rights. Such contracts may establish a fixed fee for representation in a specified number and type of cases; provided, however, that any such fixed fee shall not exceed the rates specified in Section 2.

Any such contracts for indigent representation shall be awarded based on an evaluation to determine the quality of representation to be provided, including the ability of attorneys making proposals to exercise independent judgment on behalf of each client, and to maintain workload rates that allow for attorneys to devote adequate time to each client covered by such contracts.

Attorneys providing legal services pursuant to contracts entered into pursuant to this Section shall be appointed to represent all indigent defendants in these cases unless such representation is otherwise prohibited by the Rules of Professional Conduct. See Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 8. In any such case, the court shall appoint qualified counsel pursuant to the provisions of Section 1 of this rule.

The Administrative Director shall prescribe adequate procedures to ensure compliance with the terms of such contracts and shall report to the Court annually on the effectiveness of the contract process for the provision of indigent representation. [As adopted by order filed June 1, 2004, effective July 1, 2004; and Compiler's Notes. In its order dated February 6, 2013, the Supreme Court provided that: "On March 8, 2010, the Court filed an order adopting Rule 13A on a provisional basis from May 1, 2010, through August 1, 2011. Rule 13A authorized the Administrative Office of the Courts to establish a system for the electronic submission of certain fee claims associated with the representation of indigent litigants and also authorized the Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts to establish a schedule of phased implementation of the system.

"On May 10, 2012, the Court filed an order noting that the Administrative Office of the Courts had implemented the electronic-submission system authorized by the rule, and that the system was being used on a routine basis. The Court also announced its intention to undertake an internal review of the electronic-submission system, with a view toward adopting a permanent version of Rule 13A, and extending the effective date of provisional Rule 13A until further order of the Court.

"After completing its internal review of the electronic-submission system, the Administrative Office of the Courts proposed that the electronic-submission system be made mandatory for attorneys and interpreters, effective July 1, 2013, and that experts, investigators, and other support service providers continue to submit claims in writing after that date. To accomplish this, the AOC proposed amendments to Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 13, 15, and 42, and the deletion of Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 13A (as obsolete).

"On October 23, 2012, the Court filed an order publishing the AOC's proposed amendments and soliciting written comments concerning the amendments from the bench, the bar, interested organizations, and the public. The deadline for submitting written comments was December 14, 2012.

"After due consideration, the Court hereby amends Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 13, Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 15, and Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 42 as set out in the attached appendices to this order [M2010-00520-SC-RL2-RL]. The effective date of these amendments is July 1, 2013.

"With the adoption of the foregoing amendments, Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 13A is rendered obsolete. Consequently Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 13A is hereby repealed, effective July 1, 2013."

In its order filed September 4, 2013, the Supreme Court added Rule 13, § 6(a)(8), effective January 1, 2014.

Supreme Court order no. M2011-01411-RL2-RL, entered July 9, 2014, provided: "On July 1, 2011 the Court filed an order soliciting public comments concerning a proposed amendment to Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 13 to provide for an alternative method of compensating attorneys providing legal services to indigent person pursuant to the Rule. In summary, a proposed new Section 7 of the rule would have authorized the Administrative Office of the Courts ("AOC") to enter into contracts with attorneys, law firms, or associations of attorneys to provide legal services to indigent persons for a fixed fee.

"After due consideration of the proposed amendment, as well as the many comments received during the public comment period, the Court declined to amend Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 13; in the alternative, however, the Court established a pilot project in the Davidson County Juvenile Court to assess the effectiveness of contracting with attorneys for representation of indigent defendants facing child support contempt charges. The project commenced on July 1, 2012, and was conducted during the 2012-2013 fiscal year. By order entered July 10, 2013, the Court extended the term of the pilot project until June 30, 2014, to allow for all data associated with cases assigned during the 2012-2013 fiscal year to be collected.

"Pursuant to the Court's order, the AOC submitted to the Court a report concerning the effectiveness of the pilot project. The report states that the contract approach was very successful and that the cost to the indigent defense fund for representation in the subject cases was reduced by approximately thirty-three percent over the prior fiscal year. At the same time, however, attorneys and Juvenile Court Magistrates who participated in the pilot project reported no decline in the level of representation on behalf of clients.

"In order for the Court to evaluate the information submitted by the AOC and to avoid a disruption in the current working arrangement in each of the three participating courtrooms, the pilot project is hereby extended for an additional six months, through December 31, 2014. The Court will consider at a later date whether to adopt the contract program on a permanent basis in the cases currently covered by the pilot project and also will consider whether to expand the contract program to other types of cases covered by Rule 13."

(2) Confidentiality.

(a) The proceedings governed by this rule shall be confidential, and every effort should be made to ensure that the anonymity of the applicant is protected.

(d) The clerks of the various courts shall undertake to ensure that the applicant’s contact with the clerk’s office is confidential and expeditious to the fullest extent practicable.

(3) Precedence of the Proceeding.

Proceedings under this rule shall be given such precedence over other pending matters to enable the court to render a decision within the time requirements established below.

(4) Commencement of the Proceeding.

The proceeding shall be commenced by filing a petition in the Juvenile Court of any county of this state.

(5) Content of Petition and Assistance in Preparation.

(a) The petition shall contain the following:

(11) Proceedings in the Juvenile Court.

The decision must be in writing, and must include specific findings of fact and conclusions of law. (d) The court may hear the case de novo on the record, or require the witnesses, or some of them, to testify in person. The court may also hear additional witnesses in its discretion.

(e) The court should endeavor to rule at the conclusion of the hearing, but in any event shall render a decision within seventy-two (72) hours of the time of filing of the notice of Appeal, weekends and holidays included, unless the applicant consents to an extension. The decision must be in writing and must include specific findings of fact and conclusions of law. Failure to render a decision within seventy-two (72) hours shall be deemed a denial of the petition, and the applicant may immediately pursue an appeal.

(f) If the decision is not rendered immediately following the hearing, then the petitioner shall be responsible for contacting the clerk of the court for notification of the decision. All notifications pursuant to this procedure may be informal and shall be confidential.

(g) The applicant may appeal the decision of the Circuit Court denying the petition directly to the Supreme Court by filing a Notice of Appeal with the Circuit Court Clerk. Upon receipt of the Notice of Appeal, the Circuit Court Clerk shall immediately transmit the Notice to the Supreme Court Clerk by facsimile. The Circuit Court Clerk shall thereafter contact the Supreme Court Clerk telephonically to confirm that the facsimile was received.

(h) Immediately upon receipt of the Notice of Appeal, the Circuit Court Clerk shall notify the court reporter who shall prepare a transcript of the hearing in the circuit court and file it with the Circuit Court Clerk within forty-eight (48) hours of the filing of the notice of appeal. The Circuit Court Clerk shall prepare the record in accordance with Tenn. R. App. P. 24 and 25, except that the record must be completely assembled by the clerk, authenticated by the Circuit Court judge, and transmitted to the Supreme Court within five (5) business days of the filing of the Notice of Appeal. The record on appeal shall consist of the following:

- (i) The petition;
- (ii) The findings of fact, conclusions of law, and final order of the circuit court;
- (iii) Any other order relevant to the appeal and the papers upon which that other order is based;
- (iv) Exhibits material to the appeal;
- (v) Any other paper or exhibit filed in the trial court that the applicant requests be included in the record;
- (vi) The notice of appeal;
- (vii) The transcripts of the hearings in the juvenile court and the Circuit Court; and
- (viii) The certificate of the clerk.

(13) Proceedings in the Supreme Court.

(a) Upon receipt of the Notice of Appeal, the Supreme Court Clerk shall immediately notify the Chief Justice or his/her designee of the filing.

(b) Filing of a brief. The applicant shall file in the Supreme Court a brief within two (2) calendar days after the record is filed with the Court. The brief shall include copies of the orders and opinions of the lower courts, and may include those parts of the record necessary for determination of the appeal. See Tenn. R. Civ. P. 10.03.

(c) Unless oral argument is waived, the Supreme Court shall conduct a hearing within two (2) calendar days after the brief and record are filed in the Supreme Court. When necessary because of the exigencies of the situation, oral argument may be conducted by telephone, at the Court's discretion.

(d) Oral argument shall be deemed waived unless requested. See Tenn. R. App. P. 35.

(e) The Supreme court shall hear the case de novo upon the record.

(f) If possible, the Supreme Court will render a decision at the conclusion of the argument, if held. In any event, the Court will render a decision no later than forty-eight (48) hours after hearing argument, or after the record and brief are filed, whichever is later, weekends and holidays included.

(g) If the decision is not rendered immediately following argument, then the petitioner shall be responsible for contacting the Supreme Court Clerk for notification of the decision. All notifications pursuant to this procedure may be informal and shall be confidential.

(h) Upon application and for good cause shown, the Supreme Court may order the time periods in this rule reduced in order to ensure an expedited review. The requirement of good cause will be satisfied if the applicant shows that the requested relief may become unavailable and the issue will become moot by the passage of time unless the time periods are reduced. [Adopted by order entered June 22, 1989, effective July 1, 1989; as amended by order filed April 22, 1997; and by order filed February 11, 2000.]

response to the Tennessee legislature's request that the Supreme Court promulgate rules to "ensure that proceedings under ... [the waiver of parental consent to abortion statute, Tenn. Code Ann. §§ 37-10-301 — 307] are handled in an expeditious and anonymous manner..." T.C.A. § 37-10-304(i). Underlying this rule is the fact that a decision on a request to waive parental permission for an abortion must be decided quickly or the issue becomes moot simply because of the passage of time.

The proposed Rule 24 assumes that the process involves three courts: The juvenile court, circuit court, and Supreme Court. The initial petition for waiver of parental consent is filed in the juvenile court, Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-10-303(c), which must rule within forty-eight hours of the application unless the time is extended by the minor. Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-10-304(d). A minor whose petition is denied by the juvenile court may take a de novo appeal to the circuit court. Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-10-304(g). Strict time limitations apply. Notice of appeal is filed within twenty-four hours of the juvenile court's decision. The juvenile court record must be received in the circuit court and the appeal docketed within five days of the filing of the notice of appeal. The appeal is to be heard and a decision rendered by the circuit court within five days of the day the case was docketed in the circuit court. Thus, the circuit court should render a decision no more than eleven days after the decision in the juvenile court.

The proposed Rule 24 adopts the dual principles of an expedited appeal with strict time limitations. Subsection (1) requires the minor appealing from a decision of the circuit court to file a notice of appeal with both the circuit court and the Supreme Court within forty-eight hours after the decision of the circuit court. Of course notice could be filed more quickly. Notice to both courts is designed to advise the circuit court clerk that a record will have to be prepared and should assist the Supreme Court in docketing the case.

Subsection (2) requires the minor's representative to prepare and file the record in the circuit court within three calendar days of the adverse decision. The circuit court clerk must transmit the record to the Supreme Court in three calendar days.

Subsection (3) requires the minor's representative to file a brief in the Supreme Court within three calendar days after the record is filed in the circuit court.

The Supreme Court is to conduct a hearing, unless waived, within three days after the brief and record are filed, subsection (4), and shall render its decision within three days after the hearings, subsection (6).

Upon application the Supreme Court may order the statutory time periods shortened in any given case. These procedures should enable the minor to have a full and fair opportunity to resolve the issue of whether a court should grant a waiver of parental consent to an abortion.

Rule 40. Guidelines for Guardians Ad Litem for Children in Juvenile Court Neglect, Abuse and Dependency Proceedings.

(a) Application. These Guidelines set forth the obligations of lawyers appointed to represent children as guardians ad litem only in juvenile court neglect, abuse and dependency proceedings pursuant to Tenn. Code Ann. § 37-1-149, Rules 37 of the Tennessee Rules of Juvenile Procedure, and Supreme Court Rule 13. By adoption of these guidelines it is intended that they not be applied to proceedings in other courts that involve child custody or related issues.

(b) Definitions.

As used in this rule, unless the context otherwise requires:

- (1) "Guardian ad litem" is a lawyer appointed by the court to advocate for the best interests of a child and to ensure that the child's concerns and preferences are effectively advocated.
- (2) "Child's best interests" refers to a determination of the most appropriate course of action based on objective consideration of the child's specific needs and preferences. In determining the best interest of the child the guardian ad litem should consider, in consultation with experts when appropriate, the following factors:
 - (i) the child's basic physical needs, such as safety, shelter, food, clothing, and medical care;
 - (ii) the child's emotional needs, such as nurturance, trust, affection, security, achievement, and encouragement;
 - (iii) the child's need for family affiliation;
 - (iv) the child's social needs;
 - (v) the child's educational needs;

(vi) the child's vulnerability and dependence upon others;

(vii) the physical, psychological, emotional, mental, and developmental effects of maltreatment upon the child;

(viii) degree of risk;

(x) the child's age and developmental level, including his or her sense of time;

(xi) the general preference of a child to live with known people, to continue normal activities, and to avoid moving;

(xii) whether relatives, friends, neighbors, or other people known to the child are appropriate and available as placement resources;

(xiii) the love, affection and emotional ties existing between the child and the potential or proposed or competing caregivers;

(xiv) the importance of continuity in the child's life;

(xv) the home, school and community record of the child;

(xvi) the preferences of the child;

(xvii) the willingness and ability of the proposed or potential caretakers to facilitate and encourage close and continuing relationships between the child and other persons in the child's life with whom the child has or desires to have a positive relationship, including siblings; and (xviii) in the case of visitation or custody disputes between parents, the list of factors set forth in Tenn. Code Ann. § 36-6-106.

(c) General Guidelines.

(1) The child is the client of the guardian ad litem. The guardian ad litem is appointed by the court to represent the child by advocating for the child's best interests and ensuring that the child's concerns and preferences are effectively advocated. The child, not the court, is the client of the guardian ad litem.

(2) Establishing and maintaining a relationship with the child is fundamental to representation. The guardian ad litem shall have contact with the child prior to court hearings and when apprised of emergencies or significant events affecting the child. The age and developmental level of the child dictate the type of contact by the guardian ad litem. The type of contact will range from observation of a very young or otherwise nonverbal child and the child's caretaker to a more typical client interview with an older child. For all but the very young or severely mentally disabled child, for whom direct consultation and explanation would not be effective, the guardian ad litem shall provide information and advice directly to the child in a developmentally appropriate manner.

(3) The obligation of the guardian ad litem to the child is a continuing one and does not cease until the guardian ad litem is formally relieved by court order. The guardian ad litem shall represent the child at preliminary, adjudicatory, dispositional and post-dispositional hearings, including the permanency plan staffings, court reviews, foster care review board hearings and permanency hearings. The guardian ad litem should maintain contact with the child and be available for consultation with the child between hearings and reviews. For a child who is very young or severely mentally disabled, the guardian ad litem should regularly monitor the child's situation through contacts with the child's caretakers and others working with the child and through periodic observations of the child.

(d) Responsibilities and duties of a lawyer guardian ad litem.

The responsibilities and duties of the guardian ad litem include, but are not limited to the following:

(1) Conducting an independent investigation of the facts that includes:

(i) Obtaining necessary authorization for release of information, including an appropriate discovery order;

(ii) Reviewing the court files of the child and siblings and obtaining copies of all pleadings relevant to the case;

(iii) Reviewing and obtaining copies of Department of Children's Services' records;

(iv) Reviewing and obtaining copies of the child's psychiatric, psychological, substance abuse, medical, school and other records relevant to the case;

(v) Contacting the lawyers for other parties for background information and for permission to interview the parties;

(vi) Interviewing the parent(s) and legal guardian(s) of the child with permission of their lawyer(s) or conducting formal discovery to obtain information from parents and legal guardians if permission to interview is denied;

(vii) Reviewing records of parent(s) or legal guardian(s), including, when relevant to the case, psychiatric, psychological, substance abuse, medical, criminal, and law enforcement records;

(viii) Interviewing individuals involved with the child, including school personnel, caseworkers, foster parents or other caretakers, neighbors, relatives, coaches, clergy, mental health professionals, physicians and other potential witnesses;

(x) Engaging and consulting with professionals and others with relevant special expertise.

(2) Explaining to the child, in a developmentally appropriate manner:

(i) the subject matter of litigation;

(ii) the child's rights;

(iii) the court process;

(iv) the guardian ad litem's role and responsibilities;

(v) what to expect before, during and after each hearing or review;

(vi) the substance and significance of any orders entered by the court and actions taken by a review board or at a staffing.

(3) Consulting with the child prior to court hearings and when apprised of emergencies or significant events affecting the child. If the child is very young or otherwise nonverbal, or is severely mentally disabled, the guardian ad litem should at a minimum observe the child with the caretaker.

(4) Assessing the needs of the child and the available resources within the family and community to meet the child's needs.

(5) Considering resources available through programs and processes, including special education, health care and health insurance, and victim's compensation.

(6) Ensuring that if the child is to testify, the child is prepared and the manner and circumstances of the child's testimony are designed to minimize any harm that might be caused by testifying.

(7) Advocating the position that serves the best interest of the child by:

(i) Petitioning the court for relief on behalf of the child and filing and responding to appropriate motions and pleadings;

(ii) Participating in depositions, discovery and pre-trial conferences;

(iii) Participating in settlement negotiations to seek expeditious resolution of the case, keeping in mind the effect of continuances and delays on the child;

(iv) Making opening statements and closing arguments;

(v) Calling, examining and cross-examining witnesses, offering exhibits and introducing independent evidence in any proceeding;

(vi) Filing briefs and legal memoranda;

(vii) Preparing and submitting proposed findings of facts and conclusions of law;

(viii) Ensuring that written orders are promptly entered that accurately reflect the findings of the court;

(ix) Monitoring compliance with the orders of the court and filing motions and other pleadings and taking other actions to ensure services are being provided;

(x) Attending all staffings, reviews and hearings, including permanency plan staffings, foster care review board hearings, judicial reviews and the permanency hearing;

(xi) Attending treatment, school and placement meetings regarding the child as deemed necessary.

(8) Ensuring that the services and responsibilities listed in the permanency plan are in the child's best interests.

(9) Ensuring that particular attention is paid to maintaining and maximizing appropriate, non-detrimental contacts with family members and friends.

(10) Providing representation with respect to appellate review including:

(i) discussing appellate remedies with the child if the order does not serve the best interest of the child, or if the child objects to the court's order;

(ii) filing an appeal when appropriate; and

(iii) representing the child on appeal, whether that appeal is filed by or on behalf of the child or filed by another party.

(e) Responsibilities and duties of a guardian ad litem when the child's best interests and the child's preferences are in conflict.

(1) If the child asks the guardian ad litem to advocate a position that the guardian ad litem believes is not in the child's best interest, the guardian ad litem shall:

(i) Fully investigate all of the circumstances relevant to the child's position, marshal every reasonable argument that could be made in favor of the child's position, and identify all the factual support for the child's position;

(ii) Discuss fully with the child and make sure that the child understands the different options or positions that might be available, including the potential benefits of each option or position, the potential risks of each option or position, and the likelihood of prevailing on each option or position.

(2) If, after fully investigating and advising the child, the guardian ad litem is still in a position in which the child is urging the guardian ad litem to take a position that the guardian ad litem believes is contrary to the child's best interest, the guardian ad litem shall pursue one of the following options:

(i) Request that the court appoint another lawyer to serve as guardian ad litem, and then advocate for the child's position while the other lawyer advocates for the child's best interest.

(ii) Request that the court appoint another lawyer to represent the child in advocating the child's position, and then advocate the position that the guardian ad litem believes serves the best interests of the child.

(3) If, under the circumstance set forth in subsection (b), the guardian ad litem is of the opinion that he or she must advocate a position contrary to the child's wishes and the court has refused to provide a separate lawyer for the child to help the child advocate for the child's own wishes, the guardian ad litem should:

(i) subpoena any witnesses and ensure the production of documents and other evidence that might tend to support the child's position;

(ii) advise the court at the hearing of the wishes of the child and of the witnesses subpoenaed and other evidence available for the court to consider in support of the child's position.

(f) Guardian ad litem to function as lawyer, not as a witness or special master.

(1) A guardian ad litem may not be a witness or testify in any proceeding in which he or she serves as guardian ad litem, except in those extraordinary circumstances specified by Supreme Court Rule 8, §§ EC 5-9, 5-10 and DR 5-101.

(2) A guardian ad litem is not a special master, and should not submit a "report and recommendations" to the court.

(3) The guardian ad litem must present the results of his or her investigation and the conclusion regarding the child's best interest in the same manner as any other lawyer presents his or her case on behalf of a client: by calling, examining and cross examining witnesses, submitting and responding to other evidence in conformance with the rules of evidence, and making oral and written arguments based on the evidence that has been or is expected to be presented.

Rule 40A. Appointment of Guardians Ad Litem in Custody Proceedings.

Section 1. Definitions.

“Custody proceeding” means a court proceeding, other than an abuse or neglect proceeding, in which legal or physical custody of, access to, or visitation or parenting time with a child is at issue, including but not limited to divorce, post divorce, paternity, domestic violence, and contested adoptions.

(b)

“Abuse or neglect proceeding” means a court proceeding for protection of a child from abuse or neglect or a court proceeding in which termination of parental rights is at issue.

“Guardian Ad Litem” means a licensed attorney appointed by the court to represent the best interests of a child or children in a custody proceeding.

Commentary. Under revised Rule 40A it is now possible for the same attorney who is appointed as a Rule 40 guardian ad litem to follow a case and be appointed to represent the child as a Rule 40A guardian ad litem in subsequent proceedings (e.g., a termination of parental rights case in Juvenile Court followed by a contested adoption between competing grandparents in Chancery Court).

Section 2. Applicability.

This Rule applies to all guardian ad litem appointments in custody proceedings pending on or filed after the effective date of this Rule. On or after the effective date of this Rule, licensed attorneys appointed as guardians ad litem under the prior Rule 40A may be re-appointed under the terms of this Rule.

Section 3. Guardian Ad Litem Appointments.

Consistent with Tennessee Code Annotated section 36-4-132, in a custody proceeding the court may appoint a guardian ad litem when the court finds that the child’s best interests are not adequately protected by the parties and that separate representation of the child’s best interests is necessary. Such an appointment may be made at any stage of the proceeding.

(b)

Courts should not routinely appoint guardians ad litem in custody proceedings. Rather, the court’s discretion to appoint guardians ad litem shall be exercised sparingly. In most instances, the child’s best interests will be adequately protected by the parties.

(c)

In determining whether appointing a guardian ad litem is necessary, the court shall consider:

(1) the fundamental right of parents to the care, custody, and control of their children;

(2) the nature and adequacy of the evidence the parties likely will present;

(3) the court’s need for additional information and/or assistance;

(4) the financial burden on the parties of appointing a guardian ad litem and the ability of the parties to pay reasonable fees to the guardian ad litem;

(5) the cost and availability of alternative methods of obtaining the information/evidence necessary to resolve the issues in the proceeding without appointing a guardian ad litem; and

(6) any alleged factors indicating a particularized need for the appointment of a guardian ad litem, including:

(i) the circumstances and needs of the child, including the child’s age and developmental level;

(ii) any desire for representation or participation expressed by the child;

(iii) any inappropriate adult influence on or manipulation of the child;

(iv) the likelihood that the child will be called as a witness or be questioned by the court in chambers and the need to minimize harm to the child from the processes of litigation;

(v) any higher than normal level of acrimony indicating the parties’ lack of objectivity concerning the needs and best interests of the child;

(vi) any interference, or threatened interference, with custody, access, visitation, or parenting time, including abduction or risk of abduction of the child;

(vii) the likelihood of a geographic relocation of the child that could substantially reduce the child’s time with a parent, a sibling, or another individual with whom the child has a close relationship;

(viii) any conduct by a party or an individual with whom a party associates which raises serious concerns for the safety of the child during periods of custody, visitation, or parenting time with that party;

(ix) any special physical, educational, or mental-health needs of the child that require investigation or advocacy;

(x) any dispute as to paternity of the child; and

(xi) any other factors necessary to address the best interests of the child.

(d)

If the court concludes that appointing a guardian ad litem is necessary, the court should endeavor to appoint a person with the knowledge, skill, experience, training, education and/or any other qualifications the court finds necessary that enables the guardian ad litem to conduct a thorough and impartial investigation and effectively represent the best interests of the child.

Section 4. Appointment Order.

Appointment of a guardian ad litem shall be by written order of the court.

(b)

In plain language understandable to non-lawyers, the order shall set forth:

(1) the reasons for the appointment, focusing upon the factors listed in Section 3(c) of this Rule;

(2) the specific duties to be performed by the guardian ad litem in the case;

(3) the deadlines for completion of these duties to the extent appropriate;

(4) the duration of the appointment; and

(5) the terms of compensation consistent with Section 11 of this Rule.

(c)

The court shall provide in the appointment order as much detail and clarity as possible concerning the guardian ad litem’s duties. Providing such specificity will assist the parties in understanding the guardian ad litem's role and will enable the court to exercise effective oversight of the guardian ad litem's role.

There is no right to a peremptory challenge of a guardian ad litem. Allegations that a guardian ad litem appointment is unnecessary, that a particular appointee is unqualified or otherwise unsuitable, or that an appointee is or has become biased should be raised without delay and should be addressed by trial courts through motion practice. Any appeal from a trial court's decision on such a motion shall be prosecuted pursuant to Tennessee Rules of Appellate Procedure 9 and 10.

Commentary. The omission of the original Section 4(d) (conflicts of interests) from revised Rule 40A does not mean that a guardian ad litem may ignore a conflict of interest. On the contrary, a guardian ad litem who runs afoul of the conflict-of-interest provisions of the Rules of Professional Conduct is subject to appropriate disciplinary action.

Section 5. Duration of Appointment.

Appointment of a guardian ad litem continues in effect only for the duration provided in the appointment order or any subsequent order. If no order specifies the duration of the appointment, the appointment shall terminate automatically when the trial court order or judgment disposing of the custody or modification proceeding becomes final.

Section 6. Role of Guardian Ad Litem.

The role of the guardian ad litem is to represent the child's best interests by gathering facts and presenting facts for the court's consideration subject to the Tennessee Rules of Evidence. (See Section 8 of this Rule.)

(b)

The guardian ad litem shall not function as a special master for the court or perform any other judicial or quasi-judicial responsibilities.

Section 7. Access to Child and Information Relating to Child.

Subject to subsections (b) and (c), when the court appoints a guardian ad litem in a custody proceeding, the court shall issue an order, with notice to all parties, authorizing the guardian ad litem to have access to:

(1) the child, without the presence of any other person unless otherwise ordered by the court, and

(2) confidential information regarding the child, including the child's educational, medical, and mental health records, any agency or court files involving allegations of abuse or neglect of the child, any delinquency records involving the child, and other information relevant to the issues in the proceeding.

(b)

A child's record that is privileged or confidential under law other than this Rule may be released to a guardian ad litem only in accordance with that law, including any requirements in that law for notice and opportunity to object to release of records. Information that is privileged under the attorney-client relationship may not be disclosed except as otherwise permitted by law of this state other than this Rule.

(c)

An order issued pursuant to subsection (a) must require that a guardian ad litem maintain the confidentiality of information released, except as necessary for the resolution of the issues in the proceeding. The court may impose in an order of access any other condition or limitation that is required by law, rules of professional conduct, the child's needs, or the circumstances of the proceeding.

Section 8. Duties/Rights of Guardian Ad Litem.

The guardian ad litem shall satisfy the duties and responsibilities of the appointment in an unbiased, objective, and fair manner.

(b)

A guardian ad litem shall:

(1) conduct an investigation to the extent that the guardian ad litem considers necessary to determine the best interests of the child, which can include, but is not limited, to ascertaining:

(i) the child's emotional needs, such as nurturance, trust, affection, security, achievement, and encouragement;

(ii) the child's social needs;

(iii) the child's educational needs;

(iv) the child's vulnerability and dependence upon others;

(v) the child's need for stability of placement;

(vi) the child's age and developmental level, including his or her sense of time;

(vii) the general preference of a child to live with known people, to continue normal activities, and to avoid moving;

(viii) the love, affection and emotional ties existing between the child and the parents;

(x) the home, school and community record of the child;

(xi) the willingness and ability of the proposed or potential caretakers to facilitate and encourage close and continuing relationships between the child and other persons in the child's life with whom the child has or desires to have a positive relationship, including siblings; and

(xii) the list of factors set forth in Tenn. Code Ann. § 36-6-106.

(2) obtain and review copies of the child's relevant medical, psychological, and school records as provided by Section 7.

(3) within a reasonable time after the appointment, interview:

(i) the child in a developmentally appropriate manner, if the child is four years of age or older;

(ii) each person who has significant knowledge of the child's history and condition, including any foster parent of the child; and

(iii) the parties to the suit;

(4) if the child is twelve (12) years of age or older, seek to elicit in a developmentally appropriate manner the reasonable preference of the child;

(5) consider the child's expressed objectives without being bound by those objectives;

(6) encourage settlement of the issues related to the child and the use of alternative forms of dispute resolution; and

- (7) perform any specific task directed by the court.

If the child asks the guardian ad litem to advocate a position that the guardian ad litem believes is not in the child's best interest, the guardian ad litem shall:

(1) fully investigate all of the circumstances relevant to the child's position, identify every reasonable argument that could be made in favor of the child's position, and identify all the factual support for the child's position;

(2) discuss fully with the child and make sure that the child understands the different options or positions that might be available, including the potential benefits of each option or position, the potential risks of each option or position, and the likelihood of prevailing on each option or position.

(3) if, after fully investigating and advising the child, the child continues to urge the guardian ad litem to take a position that the guardian ad litem believes is contrary to the child's best interest, the guardian shall take all reasonable steps to:

(i) subpoena any witnesses and ensure the production of documents and other evidence that might tend to support the child's position; and

(ii) advise the court at the hearing of the wishes of the child and of the witnesses subpoenaed and other evidence available for the court to consider in support of the child's position.

Section 9. Participation in Proceeding.

A guardian ad litem appointed in a custody proceeding is entitled to all rights and privileges accorded to an attorney representing a party, including but not limited to the right to:

(a) receive a copy of each pleading or other record filed with the court in the proceeding;

(b) receive notice of, attend, and participate in each hearing in the proceeding, including alternative dispute resolution proceedings, and take any action that may be taken by an attorney representing a party pursuant to the Rules of Civil Procedure.

Commentary. Current Rule 40A differs from the prior rule in that the guardian ad litem now functions as a lawyer, not as a witness or special master. The guardian ad litem does not prepare a report for the parties or the court, nor does the guardian ad litem make a recommendation to the parties or the court concerning custody. Specifically:

(1) A guardian ad litem may not be a witness or testify in any proceeding in which he or she serves as guardian ad litem, except in those extraordinary circumstances specified by Supreme Court Rule 8, Rule of Professional Conduct 3.7.

(2) A guardian ad litem is not a special master, and should not submit a "report and recommendations" to the court but may file a pre-trial brief/memorandum as any attorney in any other case. The guardian ad litem may advocate the position that serves the best interest of the child by performing the functions of an attorney, including but not limited to those enumerated in Supreme Court Rule 40(d)(7).

(3) The guardian ad litem must present the results of his or her investigation and the conclusion regarding the child's best interest in the same manner as any other lawyer presents his or her case on behalf of a client: by calling, examining and cross examining witnesses, submitting and responding to other evidence in conformance with the rules of evidence, and making oral and written arguments based on the evidence that has been or is expected to be presented.

Section 10. Expediting Custody Proceedings.

To the extent possible, courts shall expedite custody proceedings in which guardians ad litem have been appointed, using available technological and electronic means to speed the process and to minimize costs.

Section 11. Guardian Ad Litem Fees and Expenses.

The guardian ad litem shall be compensated for fees and expenses in an amount the court determines is reasonable. In determining whether the guardian ad litem's fees and expenses are reasonable, the court shall consider the following factors:

(1) the time expended by the guardian;

(2) the contentiousness of the litigation;

(3) the complexity of the issues before the court;

(4) the expenses reasonably incurred by the guardian;

(5) the financial ability of each party to pay fees and costs;

(6) the fee customarily charged in the locality for similar services; and

(7) any other factors the court considers necessary.

(b)

Concerning the allocation of the fee among the parties, the court may do one or more of the following:

(1) order a deposit to be made into an account designated by the court for the use and benefit of the guardian ad litem;

(2) before the final hearing, order an amount in addition to the amount ordered deposited under paragraph (1) to be paid into the account;

(3) equitably allocate fees and expenses among the parties; and

(4) reallocate the fees and expenses at the conclusion of the custody proceeding, in the court's discretion, if the initial allocation of guardian ad litem fees and/or expenses among the parties has become inequitable as a result of the income and financial resources available to the parties, the conduct of the parties during the custody proceeding, or any other similar reason. Any reallocation shall be included in the court's final order in the custody proceeding and shall be supported by findings of fact.

The appointment order shall specify the hourly rate to be paid to the guardian ad litem. If an initial deposit is deemed appropriate by the trial court, the appointment order shall state the amount of deposit, the date of deposit, and the account or location in which the deposit shall be made. The order shall also state whether periodic payments may be drawn from the initial deposit.

(d)

If an initial deposit is required and the trial court deems that periodic payments may be drawn from the initial deposit, the trial court shall:

(1) provide the manner in which withdrawals may be made;

(2) require notice to the parties of the withdrawal, including a statement of services rendered, supported by an affidavit; and

(3) provide a reasonable opportunity to object to the fees charged before the withdrawal is made.

(e)

To receive payment under this section beyond the amount in the initial deposit, if any, the guardian ad litem must complete and file with the court a written claim for payment, whether interim or final, justifying the fees and expenses charged and supported by an affidavit. Any objection to the guardian ad litem's fee claim shall be filed within fifteen days after the claim is filed.

(f)

Failure to object to a statement regarding periodic payments does not constitute a waiver of any objection to the reasonableness of the guardian ad litem's total fees. The guardian ad litem shall file a final written claim for payment within thirty days of the entry of the final order. Any objection must be filed within fifteen days after the guardian ad litem's final written claim for payment is filed.

(g)

If no objection is timely filed, the court shall file a written order approving the claim, or portion thereof, determined to be reasonable and related to the duties of the guardian ad litem.

(h)

If an objection is timely filed, the court shall conduct a hearing and thereafter file a written order denying the claim, or approving the claim, or portion thereof, determined to be reasonable and related to the duties of the guardian ad litem.

(i)

The guardian ad litem must seek court approval before incurring extraordinary expenses, such as expert witness fees. Any order authorizing the guardian ad litem to hire expert witnesses must specify the hourly rate to be paid the expert witness, the maximum fee that may be incurred without further authorization from the court, how the fee will be allocated between the parties, and when payment is due.

Section 12. Appeals by Guardian Ad Litem.

The guardian ad litem shall not initiate an appeal.

Notwithstanding the foregoing sentence, the guardian ad litem may appeal the trial court's ruling on any matter adjudicated under Section 4(d) and also may appeal the trial court's ruling following a hearing specified in Section 11(h). Upon appeal of the matter by one of the parties, however, the guardian ad litem shall have the right to receive notice of the appeal and may participate in the appeal as any other party, including but not limited to, filing briefs, motions and making oral arguments.

Section 13. Effective Date.

The original version of this rule was adopted as a provisional rule and governed all custody proceedings, as defined in Section 1(a) of the rule, from May 1, 2009, through August 31, 2011. This revised rule is adopted as a permanent rule. The revised rule shall take effect on September 1, 2011, and shall apply to all proceedings pending on or filed after the effective date. [As adopted by order filed July 12, 2011, effective September 1, 2011; amended by order filed and effective August 25, 2016.]

Compiler's Notes. In its order filed August 25, 2016, the Supreme Court provided that: "On May 16, 2016, the Court filed an order soliciting public comments on a proposed amendment to Rule 40A of the Rules of the Supreme Court, which governs the appointment of guardians ad litem in child custody proceedings. As stated in that earlier order, the Court was considering the adoption of the following amendment to Rule 40A(I)(a):

"(a) 'Custody proceeding' means a court proceeding, other than an abuse or neglect proceeding, in which legal or physical custody of, access to, or visitation or parenting time with a child is at issue, including but not limited to divorce, post divorce, paternity, domestic violence, and contested adoptions, and contested private guardianship cases.

"The public-comment period expired on July 15, 2016. The Court received no written comments during the comment period.

"After due consideration, the Court concludes that the inclusion of 'contested private guardianship cases' in the current definition of 'custody proceeding,' as set out in Rule 40A(I)(a), results in an apparent conflict between Rule 40A(6)(b)" and Tennessee Code Annotated section 34-1-107(d)(I) (2015)." Accordingly, the Court hereby amends Rule 40A(1)(a) by adopting the proposed amendment set out above; this amendment shall take effect upon the filing of this order (August 25, 2016)."

*Rule 40A(6)(b) provides that "[t]he guardian ad litem shall not function as a special master for the court or perform any other judicial or quasi-judicial responsibilities."

*Tennessee Code Annotated section 34-1-107 (2015) governs the appointment of guardians ad litem in guardianship and conservatorship proceedings. Tennessee Code Annotated section 34-1-107(d)(I) provides: "The guardian ad litem owes a duty to the court to impartially investigate the facts and make a report and recommendations to the court. The guardian ad litem serves as an agent of the court, and is not an advocate for the respondent or any other party."

B. APPEAL AS OF RIGHT

Rule 8A. Appeal as of Right in Termination of Parental Rights Cases. This rule shall govern any appeal as of right in a termination of parental rights proceeding. The other rules of appellate procedure also apply to such a appeal; however, when a provision of this rule conflicts with another rule of appellate procedure, the provision of this rule shall control.

(a) Appeal as of Right; Time for Filing Notice of Appeal. —

(1) It shall not be necessary for a party to file a motion to alter or amend the judgment or a motion for new trial in order to obtain appellate review of the judgment of the trial court.

(2) In addition to meeting the requirements of Rule 3(f) (“Content of the Notice of Appeal”), a notice of appeal in a termination of parental rights proceeding shall indicate that the appeal involves a termination of parental rights case.

(b) Stay or Injunction Pending Appeal. — Any party may obtain review of an order entered pursuant to Rule 62 of the Tennessee Rules of Civil Procedure or Rule 39(g)(4) of the Rules of Juvenile Procedure granting, denying, or altering the conditions of a stay of execution pending appeal, or granting, denying, or altering the conditions of additional or modified relief pending appeal; such appellate review shall be conducted pursuant to Rule 7 of the Rules of Appellate Procedure.

(c) Content and Preparation of the Record. — In addition to the papers excluded from the record pursuant to Rule 24(a), any portion of a juvenile court file of a child dependency, delinquency or status case that has not been properly admitted into evidence at the termination of parental rights trial shall be excluded from the record.

(1) Any transcript of the evidence or proceedings filed pursuant to Rule 24(b) shall be filed within 45 days after filing the notice of appeal. If the appellee has objections to the transcript as filed, the appellee shall file objections thereto with the clerk of the trial court within 10 days after service of notice of the filing of the transcript. Unless the time has been extended by order, if the appellant fails to file within 45 days from the filing of the notice of appeal either the transcript or statement of evidence or notice that no transcript or statement is to be filed, the clerk of the trial court shall provide written notice within 10 days to the clerk of the appellate court of the appellant’s failure to comply with this subdivision, with a copy provided to counsel and pro se parties.

(2) Any statement of the evidence or proceedings filed pursuant to Rule 24(c) shall be filed within 45 days after filing the notice of appeal. If the appellee has objections to the statement as filed, the appellee shall file objections thereto with the clerk of the trial court within 10 days after service of the declaration and notice of the filing of the statement.

(3) If no transcript or statement of the evidence or proceedings is to be filed, the appellant shall, within 15 days after filing the notice of appeal, file with the clerk of the trial court and serve upon the appellee a notice that no transcript or statement is to be filed. If the appellee deems a transcript or statement of the evidence or proceedings to be necessary, the appellee shall, within 15 days after service of the appellant’s notice, file with the clerk of the trial court and serve upon the appellant a notice that a transcript or statement is to be filed. The appellee shall prepare the transcript or statement at the appellee’s own expense or apply to the trial court for an order requiring the appellant to assume the expense. Subdivisions (c)(1) and (c)(2) of this rule are applicable to the transcript or statement filed by the appellee under this subdivision, except that the appellee under this subdivision shall perform the duties assigned to the appellant in subdivisions (c)(1) and (c)(2) of this rule and the appellant under this subdivision shall perform the duties assigned to the appellee in such subdivisions.

(d) Approval of the Record by the Trial Judge or Chancellor. — After the expiration of the 10-day period for objections by the appellee, the trial judge shall approve the transcript or statement of the evidence and shall authenticate the exhibits. If not approved within 20 days after the expiration of the period for filing objections by the appellee, the transcript or statement of the evidence and the exhibits shall be deemed to have been approved and shall be so considered by the appellate court, except in cases where such approval did not occur by reason of the death or inability to act of the trial judge, which cases shall be governed by Rule 24(f).

(e) Completion and Transmission of the Record. — The record on appeal shall be assembled, numbered and completed by the clerk of the trial court and transmitted to the clerk of the appellate court within 5 days of the approval of the record by the trial judge or by operation of the automatic-approval provision of subdivision (d), whichever occurs first.

§ 1901. Congressional findings

Recognizing the special relationship between the United States and the Indian tribes and their members and the Federal responsibility to Indian people, the Congress finds—

(1) that clause 3, section 8, article I of the United States Constitution [USCS Constitution, Art. I, § 8, cl 3] provides that “The Congress shall have Power . . . To regulate Commerce . . . with Indian tribes [Tribes]” and, through this and other constitutional authority, Congress has plenary power over Indian affairs;

(2) that Congress, through statutes, treaties, and the general course of dealing with Indian tribes, has assumed the responsibility for the protection and preservation of Indian tribes and their resources;

(3) that there is no resource that is more vital to the continued existence and integrity of Indian tribes than their children and that the United States has a direct interest, as trustee, in protecting Indian children who are members of or are eligible for membership in an Indian tribe;

(4) that an alarmingly high percentage of Indian families are broken up by the removal, often unwarranted, of their children from them by nontribal public and private agencies and that an alarmingly high percentage of such children are placed in non-

Indian foster and adoptive homes and institutions; and

(5) that the States, exercising their recognized jurisdiction over Indian child custody proceedings through administrative and judicial bodies, have often failed to recognize the essential tribal relations of Indian people and the cultural and social standards prevailing in Indian communities and families.

§ 1902. Congressional declaration of policy

The Congress hereby declares that it is the policy of this Nation to protect the best interests of Indian children and to promote the stability and security of Indian tribes and families by the establishment of minimum Federal standards for the removal of Indian children from their families and the placement of such children in foster or adoptive homes which will reflect the unique values of Indian culture, and by providing for assistance to Indian tribes in the operation of child and family service programs.

§ 1911. Indian tribe jurisdiction over Indian child custody proceedings

(a) Exclusive jurisdiction. An Indian tribe shall have jurisdiction exclusive as to any State over any child custody proceeding involving an Indian child who resides or is domiciled within the reservation of such tribe, except where such jurisdiction is otherwise vested in the State by existing Federal law. Where an Indian child is a ward of a tribal court, the Indian tribe shall retain exclusive jurisdiction, notwithstanding the residence or domicile of the child.

(b) Transfer of proceedings; declination by tribal court. In any State court proceeding for the foster care placement of, or termination of parental rights to, an Indian child not domiciled or residing within the reservation of the Indian child’s tribe, the court, in the absence of good cause to the contrary, shall transfer such proceeding to the jurisdiction of the tribe, absent objection by either parent, upon the petition of either parent or the Indian custodian or the Indian child’s tribe: Provided, that such transfer shall be subject to declination by the tribal court of such tribe.

(c) State court proceedings; intervention. In any State court proceeding for the foster care placement of, or termination of parental rights to, an Indian child, the Indian custodian of the child and the Indian child’s tribe shall have a right to intervene at any point in the proceeding.

(d) Full faith and credit to public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of Indian tribes. The United States, every State, every territory or possession of the United States, and every Indian tribe shall give full faith and credit to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of any Indian tribe applicable to Indian child custody proceedings to the same extent that such entities give full faith and credit to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of any other entity.

HISTORY:

Nov. 8, 1978, P. L. 95-608, Title I, § 101, 92 Stat. 3071.

§ 1912. Pending court proceedings

(a) Notice; time for commencement of proceedings; additional time for preparation. In any involuntary proceeding in a State court, where the court knows or has reason to know that an Indian child is involved, the party seeking the foster care placement of, or termination of parental rights to, an Indian child shall notify the parent or Indian custodian and the Indian child's tribe, by registered mail with return receipt requested, of the pending proceedings and of their right of intervention. If the identity or location of the parent or Indian custodian and the tribe cannot be determined, such notice shall be given to the Secretary in like manner, who shall have fifteen days after receipt to provide the requisite notice to the parent or Indian custodian and the tribe. No foster care placement or termination of parental rights proceeding shall be held until at least ten days after receipt of notice by the parent or Indian custodian and the tribe or the Secretary: Provided, That the parent or Indian custodian or the tribe shall, upon request, be granted up to twenty additional days to prepare for such proceeding.

(b) Appointment of counsel. In any case in which the court determines indigency, the parent or Indian custodian shall have the right to court-appointed counsel in any removal, placement, or termination proceeding. The court may, in its discretion, appoint counsel for the child upon a finding that such appointment is in the best interest of the child. Where State law makes no provision for appointment of counsel in such proceedings, the court shall promptly notify the Secretary upon appointment of counsel, and the Secretary, upon certification of the presiding judge, shall pay reasonable fees and expenses out of funds which may be appropriated pursuant to the Act of November 2, 1921 (42 Stat. 208; 25 U.S.C. 13).

(c) Examination of reports or other documents. Each party to a foster care placement or termination of parental rights proceeding under State law involving an Indian child shall have the right to examine all reports or other documents filed with the court upon which any decision with respect to such action may be based.

(d) Remedial services and rehabilitative programs; preventive measures. Any party seeking to effect a foster care placement of, or termination of parental rights to, an Indian child under State law shall satisfy the court that active efforts have been made to provide remedial services and rehabilitative programs designed to prevent the breakup of the Indian family and that these efforts have proved unsuccessful.

(e) Foster care placement orders; evidence; determination of damage to child. No foster care placement may be ordered in such proceeding in the absence of a determination, supported by clear and convincing evidence, including testimony of qualified expert witnesses, that the continued custody of the child by the parent or Indian custodian is likely to result in serious emotional or physical damage to the child.

(f) Parental rights termination orders; evidence; determination of damage to child. No termination of parental rights may be ordered in such proceeding in the absence of a determination, supported by evidence beyond a reasonable doubt, including testimony of qualified expert witnesses, that the continued custody of the child by the parent or Indian custodian is likely to result in serious emotional or physical damage to the child.

HISTORY:

Nov. 8, 1978, P. L. 95-608, Title I, § 102, 92 Stat. 3071.

§ 1913. Parental rights; voluntary termination

(a) Consent; record; certification matters; invalid consents. Where any parent or Indian custodian voluntarily consents to a foster care placement or to termination of parental rights, such consent shall not be valid unless executed in writing and recorded before a judge of a court of competent jurisdiction and accompanied by the presiding judge's certificate that the terms and consequences of the consent were fully explained in detail and were fully understood by the parent or Indian custodian. The court shall also certify that either the parent or Indian custodian fully understood the explanation in English or that it was interpreted into a language that the parent or Indian custodian understood. Any consent given prior to, or within ten days after, birth of the Indian child shall not be valid.

(b) Foster care placement; withdrawal of consent. Any parent or Indian custodian may withdraw consent to a foster care placement under State law at any time and, upon such withdrawal, the child shall be returned to the parent or Indian custodian.

(c) Voluntary termination of parental rights or adoptive placement; withdrawal of consent; return of custody. In any voluntary proceeding for termination of parental rights to, or adoptive placement of, an Indian child, the consent of the parent may be withdrawn for any reason at any time prior to the entry of a final decree of termination or adoption, as the case may be, and the child shall be returned to the parent.

(d) Collateral attack; vacation of decree and return of custody; limitations. After the entry of a final decree of adoption of an Indian child in any State court, the parent may withdraw consent thereto upon the grounds that consent was obtained through fraud or duress and may petition the court to vacate such decree. Upon a finding that such consent was obtained through fraud or duress, the court shall vacate such decree and return the child to the parent. No adoption which has been effective for at least two years may be invalidated under the provisions of this subsection unless otherwise permitted under State law.

§ 1914. Petition to court of competent jurisdiction to invalidate action upon showing of certain violations

Any Indian child who is the subject of any action for foster care placement or termination of parental rights under State law, any parent or Indian custodian from whose custody such child was removed, and the Indian child's tribe may petition any court of competent jurisdiction to invalidate such action upon a showing that such action violated any provision of sections 101, 102, and 103 of this Act [25 USCS §§ 1911, 1912, and 1913].

§ 1915. Placement of Indian children

(a) Adoptive placements; preferences. In any adoptive placement of an Indian child under State law, a preference shall be given, in the absence of good cause to the contrary, to a placement with

- (1) a member of the child's extended family;
- (2) other members of the Indian child's tribe; or
- (3) other Indian families.

(b) Foster care or preadoptive placements; criteria; preferences. Any child accepted for foster care or preadoptive placement shall be placed in the least restrictive setting which most approximates a family and in which his special needs, if any, may be met. The child shall also be placed within reasonable proximity to his or her home, taking into account any special needs of the child. In any foster care or preadoptive placement, a preference shall be given, in the absence of good cause to the contrary, to a placement with—

- (i) a member of the Indian child's extended family;
- (ii) a foster home licensed, approved, or specified by the Indian child's tribe;
- (iii) an Indian foster home licensed or approved by an authorized non-Indian licensing authority; or
- (iv) an institution for children approved by an Indian tribe or operated by an Indian organization which has a program suitable to meet the Indian child's needs.

(c) Tribal resolution for different order of preference; personal preference considered; anonymity in application of preferences. In the case of a placement under subsection (a) or (b) of this section, if the Indian child's tribe shall establish a different order of preference by resolution, the agency or court effecting the placement shall follow such order so long as the placement is the least restrictive setting appropriate to the particular needs of the child, as provided in subsection (b) of this section. Where appropriate, the preference of the Indian child or parent shall be considered: Provided, That where a consenting parent evidences a desire for anonymity, the court or agency shall give weight to such desire in applying the preferences.

(d) Social and cultural standards applicable.

The standards to be applied in meeting the preference requirements of this section shall be the prevailing social and cultural standards of the Indian community in which the parent or extended family resides or with which the parent or extended family members maintain social and cultural ties.

(e) Record of placement; availability. A record of each such placement, under State law, of an Indian child shall be maintained by the State in which the placement was made, evidencing the efforts to comply with the order of preference specified in this section. Such record shall be made available at any time upon the request of the Secretary or the Indian child's tribe.

(b) Removal from foster care home; placement procedure. Whenever an Indian child is removed from a foster care home or institution for the purpose of further foster care, preadoptive, or adoptive placement, such placement shall be in accordance with the provisions of this Act [25 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.], except in the case where an Indian child is being returned to the parent or Indian custodian from whose custody the child was originally removed.

Nov. 8, 1978, P. L. 95-608, Title I, § 107, 92 Stat. 3073.

§ 1918. Reassumption of jurisdiction over child custody proceedings

(a) Petition; suitable plan; approval by Secretary. Any Indian tribe which became subject to State jurisdiction pursuant to the provisions of the Act of August 15, 1953 (67 Stat. 588), as amended by title IV of the Act of April 11, 1968 (82 Stat. 73, 78), or pursuant to any other Federal law, may reassume jurisdiction over child custody proceedings. Before any Indian tribe may reassume jurisdiction over Indian child custody proceedings, such tribe shall present to the Secretary for approval a petition to reassume such jurisdiction which includes a suitable plan to exercise such jurisdiction.

(b) Criteria applicable to consideration by Secretary; partial retrocession.

(1) In considering the petition and feasibility of the plan of a tribe under subsection (a), the Secretary may consider, among other things:

(i) whether or not the tribe maintains a membership roll or alternative provision for clearly identifying the persons who will be affected by the reassumption of jurisdiction by the tribe;

(ii) the size of the reservation or former reservation area which will be affected by retrocession and reassumption of jurisdiction by the tribe;

(iii) the population base of the tribe, or distribution of the population in homogeneous communities or geographic areas; and

(iv) the feasibility of the plan in cases of multi-tribal occupation of a single reservation or geographic area.

(2) In those cases where the Secretary determines that the jurisdictional provisions of section 101(a) of this Act [25 USCS § 1911(a)] are not feasible, he is authorized to accept partial retrocession which will enable tribes to exercise referral jurisdiction as provided in section 101(b) of this Act [25 USCS § 1911(b)], or, where appropriate, will allow them to exercise exclusive jurisdiction as provided in section 101(a) [25 USCS § 1911(a)] over limited community or geographic areas without regard for the reservation status of the area affected.

(c) Approval of petition; publication in Federal Register; notice; reassumption period; correction of causes for disapproval. If the Secretary approves any petition under subsection (a), the Secretary shall publish notice of such approval in the Federal Register and shall notify the affected State or States of such approval. The Indian tribe concerned shall reassume jurisdiction sixty days after publication in the Federal Register of notice of approval. If the Secretary disapproves any petition under subsection (a), the Secretary shall provide such technical assistance as may be necessary to enable the tribe to correct any deficiency which the Secretary identified as a cause for disapproval.

(d) Pending actions or proceedings unaffected. Assumption of jurisdiction under this section shall not affect any action or proceeding over which a court has already assumed jurisdiction, except as may be provided pursuant to any agreement under section 109 of this Act [25 USCS § 1919].

INDIAN CHILD AND FAMILY PROGRAMS

Section

1931. Grants for on or near reservation programs and child welfare codes

1932. Grants for off-reservation programs for additional services

1933. Funds for on and off reservation programs

1934. "Indian" defined for certain purposes

§ 1931. Grants for on or near reservation programs and child welfare codes

(a) Statement of purpose; scope of programs.

The Secretary is authorized to make grants to Indian tribes and organizations in the establishment and operation of Indian child and family service programs on or near reservations and in the preparation and implementation of child welfare codes. The objective of every Indian child and family service program shall be to prevent the breakup of Indian families and, in particular, to insure that the permanent removal of an Indian child from the custody of his parent or Indian custodian shall be a last resort. Such child and family service programs may include, but are not limited to—

(1) a system for licensing or otherwise regulating Indian foster and adoptive homes;

(2) the operation and maintenance of facilities for the counseling and treatment of Indian families and for the temporary custody of Indian children;

(3) family assistance, including homemaker and home counselors, day care, afterschool care, and employment, recreational activities, and respite care;

(4) home improvement programs;

(5) the employment of professional and other trained personnel to assist the tribal court in the disposition of domestic relations and child welfare matters;

(6) education and training of Indians, including tribal court judges and staff, in skills relating to child and family assistance and service programs;

(7) a subsidy program under which Indian adoptive children may be provided support comparable to that for which they would be eligible as foster children, taking into account the appropriate State standards of support for maintenance and medical needs; and

(8) guidance, legal representation, and advice to Indian families involved in tribal, State, or Federal child custody proceedings.

(b) Non-Federal matching funds for related Social Security or other Federal financial assistance programs; assistance for such programs unaffected; State licensing or approval for qualification for assistance under federally assisted program. Funds appropriated for use by the Secretary in accordance with this section may be utilized as non-Federal matching share in connection with funds provided under titles IV-B and XX of the Social Security Act [42 USCS §§ 620 et seq. and 1397 et seq.] or under any other Federal financial assistance programs which contribute to the purpose for which such funds are authorized to be appropriated for use under this Act [25 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.]. The provision or possibility of assistance under this Act [25 USCS §§ 1901 et seq.] shall not be a basis for the denial or reduction of any assistance otherwise authorized under titles IV-B and XX of the Social Security Act [42 USCS §§ 620 et seq. and 1397 et seq.] or any other federally assisted program. For purposes of qualifying for assistance under a federally assisted program, licensing or approval of foster or adoptive homes or institutions by an Indian tribe shall be deemed equivalent to licensing or approval by a State.
