OVERVIEW OF REPORT

This report is prepared pursuant to T.C.A. §49-4-903(b), which directs the Tennessee Higher Education Commission (THEC) to:

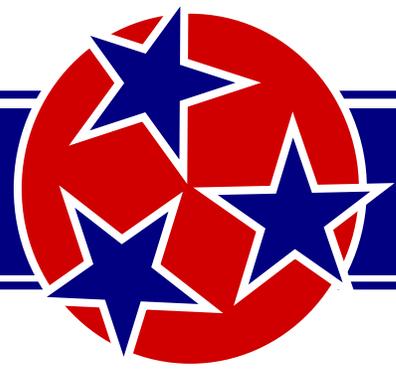

“...provide assistance to the general assembly and to the Tennessee Student Assistance Corporation (TSAC) by researching and analyzing data concerning the scholarship and grant programs created under this part, including, but not limited to, student success and scholarship renewal.”

The Tennessee Education Lottery Scholarship (TELS) program was designed to meet the unique needs of the State of Tennessee, while also incorporating the hallmark elements of existing merit-based aid programs in other states. Developed through a process involving elected officials and members of the academic community, the TELS program aims to address the following broad public policy objectives:

- Improve academic achievement in high school through scholarship incentive (GAMS, HOPE, ASPIRE);
- Provide financial assistance as a means of promoting access to higher education (ASPIRE, Access);
- Retain the state’s “best and brightest” students in Tennessee colleges and universities (GAMS); and
- Enhance and promote economic and community development through workforce training (Wilder-Naifeh).

The Tennessee Education Lottery began operations on January 20, 2004. Lottery proceeds fund scholarships for Tennessee students attending eligible public or private institutions across the state. Initial qualification and renewal criteria for the program were set in 2003. The legislature adjusted the qualification criteria in 2005 and the renewal criteria in 2008. Additionally, the legislature added a Non-Traditional Student Grant and Dual Enrollment Grant in 2005, and several smaller provisions in 2006 and 2008. Lottery scholarship coverage for summer school enrollments of six credit hours or more began in summer 2012 for students who first received the scholarship in fall 2009 or after. The STEP UP program was created in 2013 for students with intellectual disabilities.

Technical Notes & Definitions

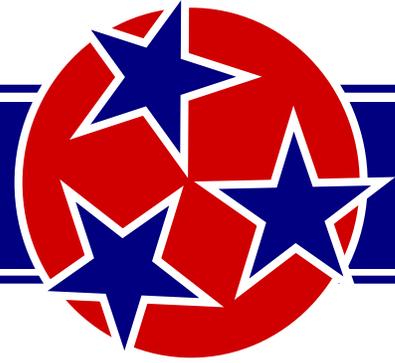

- All data contained within this report are from the Tennessee Higher Education Commission’s (THEC) Student Information System (SIS), as reported to the Commission by institutions through their respective governing board or association.
- THEC’S SIS is a transactional database; therefore, data changes year over year. Each year both historical and current year’s data are rerun, reflecting a snapshot of THEC’s SIS at that moment in time. As a result, data reported in previous years’ annual reports may differ from data in this year’s report.
- Students are identified by higher education sector and scholarship type at college entry.
- Students with inadmissible or missing data values are reported in the Unknown category.
- Unless otherwise noted, all tables and figures include TBR Universities, TBR Community Colleges, UT Campuses, and private institutions, and HOPE, GAMS, ASPIRE, and Access programs.
- When Tennessee Education Lottery Scholarship (TELS) students are compared to the general student population (e.g., in Section 6), the general population refers to public institutions only because THEC data on private institutions are limited to TELS recipients.
- The “6-year graduation rate” is defined as the percent of TELS first-time freshmen who attained either an associate’s or bachelor’s degree, whichever is higher, within six years of enrollment regardless of scholarship status at graduation.
- The “graduation rate with TELS intact” is defined as the percent of TELS first-time freshmen who attained either an associate’s or bachelor’s degree, whichever is higher, within five years of enrollment without losing scholarship eligibility (having the scholarship intact in the fall semester prior to graduation). Five years is chosen for this statistic because that is the maximum number of years for which students can renew a scholarship.
- Renewal, retention, and graduation rates are attributed to the higher education sector and scholarship type at college entry.
- Percentages may not add to 100 percent due to rounding.

PRIVACY NOTICE

Throughout this report, THEC seeks to comply with Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) requirements to protect students’ personally identifiable information. Therefore, when tables are presented, individual cells containing five observations or fewer are suppressed. The suppressed information, however, is included in table totals.

Program Overview

- Since the Tennessee Education Lottery Scholarship (TELS) program began operation in 2004-05, program costs and the number of students served have more than doubled from over 40,000 students and $93 million in 2004-05 to over 100,000 students and over $311 million in 2012-13 (Table 4).
- At its peak in 2006-07, the maximum HOPE award covered 78 percent of average tuition and fees at a public 4-year institution, and 77 percent at a public 2-year institution. In 2013-14, the maximum HOPE award, excluding summer, covered 51 percent of the average tuition and fees at public four-year institutions, and 53 percent at two-year institutions (Table 5 & Figure 2).
- Since 2004, the percentage of new freshmen on TELS has increased at public universities and community colleges, possibly indicating better academic preparation and performance by high school seniors during the TELS era (Table 9 & Figure 5).
- Since 2008, the proportion of TELS first-time freshmen that qualified for the base HOPE award has declined from a high of 68 percent to a low of 61 percent in 2012. The proportion qualifying for ASPIRE, the need-based supplement, increased during this time, from 24 percent to 31 percent (Table 8 & Figure 4). To qualify for the ASPIRE supplemental award, a student must have an adjusted gross income of $36,000 or less. This shift was likely related to the economic recession, which is showing some signs of recovery. In 2013, the proportion qualifying for the HOPE award increased to 64 percent, and ASPIRE decreased to 29 percent.

Recipient Demographics

- Since 2004, there has been a shift in the family income profile of TELS first-time freshmen. While the proportion of scholarship recipients with a family adjusted gross income (AGI) below $36,000 was nearly the same in 2013 as it was in 2004, the proportion with a family AGI above $96,000 has increased by 8 percentage points over this time period (Table 12).

- After adjusting for inflation, median AGI has decreased for recipients of all core award types except GAMS, indicating the need to revisit the $36,000 AGI cut-off point for ASPIRE recipients.
- The median family AGI of TELS first-time freshmen has declined for African Americans between 2004 and 2013, and the difference between the highest (Caucasian) and lowest (African American) median family AGI by ethnicity has increased over the same period (Table 14 & Figure 8).
- Less than four percent of TELS first-time freshmen were enrolled part-time in fall 2013 (Table 19).
- The proportion of African American TELS first-time freshmen eligible for a Pell grant has increased from 59 percent to 74 percent from fall 2004 to fall 2013, compared to an increase from 27 percent to 39 percent for Caucasian students (Table 20).
- Sixty-five percent of Caucasian TELS first-time freshmen qualify for a HOPE or ASPIRE award by meeting both eligibility criteria (3.0 high school GPA, 21 ACT), compared to 36 percent for African American first-time freshmen (Figure 10). As shown in Section 3: Scholarship Renewal, students that meet both eligibility criteria have renewal rates higher than students that meet only one eligibility criterion.

Scholarship Renewal

- Fifty-five percent of 2012 TELS first-time freshmen retained their scholarship in the fall of 2013 (Table 24 & Figure 11).
- Beginning in 2004, the UT system's one year renewal rate increased 14 percentage points, from 55 percent to 69 percent in 2011. This increase coincided with an increase in freshmen ACT composite scores over this same timeperiod. However, UT's renewal rates have decreased over the past year to 62 percent in 2012. TBR universities, community colleges, and private institutions have seen slight increases or maintained renewal rates over time (Figure 11).
- There is a positive relationship between students' AGI and one year renewal rates, indicating that students with higher AGIs tend to have higher renewal rates (Table 27).

- In fall 2013, 63 percent of fall 2012 HOPE and ASPIRE first-time freshmen that met both eligibility criteria (ACT & GPA) renewed their award for their sophomore year, compared to 43 percent that qualified on GPA alone, and 22 percent that qualified on ACT alone (Table 28 & Figure 13).
- Scholarship renewal rates are 15 percentage points higher for entering freshmen recipients who do not need remedial or developmental coursework (Table 29).
- Scholarship renewal rates for HOPE and ASPIRE recipients have gradually increased since inception of the program, followed by a slight downturn since 2010. ACCESS recipients have the lowest renewal rates, which have decreased over time: 15 percent renewal in 2012, down from 23 percent in 2004 (Figure 12).

Retention

- Fifty-nine percent of fall 2012 TELS first-time freshmen that lost their award returned to college for their sophomore year (Table 35 & Figure 14).
- The percent of TELS first-time freshmen that lost their award and returned to college for their sophomore year has decreased for the fall 2012 FTF cohort, compared to the fall 2004 FTF cohort, for all scholarship programs (Table 36 & Figure 15).
- In 2012, 67 percent of African American TELS first-time freshmen returned for their sophomore year after losing their TELS scholarship compared with 58 percent of Caucasian 2012 TELS FTF (Table 38).
- Non-renewing students with a family adjusted gross income between $24,000 and $72,000 tend to return to college the following fall at about the same rate, regardless of their family income (Table 39).
- In contrast to previous years, non-renewing students who initially qualified with both a GPA and ACT score, returned to college at a higher rate than students who qualified based on ACT or GPA alone. (Table 40 & Figure 16).

Graduation

- Thirty-four percent of 2008 TELS first-time freshmen graduated in 5 years with scholarships intact (Table 41 & Figure 17).

- By system, 36.3 percent of 2008 TELS first-time freshmen graduated in 5 years with scholarships intact at private institutions, compared to 42.1 percent at UT campuses, 32.3 percent at TBR Universities, and 26 percent at TBR Community Colleges (Table 41 & Figure 17).
- In 2008, 36 percent of Caucasian TELS first-time freshmen graduated in 5-years with the scholarship intact compared to 18.9 percent for African American TELS first-time freshmen (Table 44).
- Further disaggregation of ACT and high school GPA data indicate that although postsecondary success is influenced by a variety of factors, students with strong high school GPAs and average to below average ACT scores tend to have higher college graduation rates than students with strong ACT scores and average to below-average grades.
- The 6-year graduation rate for 2007 TELS first-time freshmen, regardless of whether they kept the scholarships intact, was 57.1 percent, down from 58.5 percent for the 2006 TELS FTF cohort (Table 51).
- For the fall 2007 TELS first-time freshmen cohort, Caucasian students (59.2 percent) had a higher 6 year graduation rate than African American students (47.7 percent) (Table 54).
- Graduation rates, with and without the scholarship intact, have remained fairly stable across all cohorts (Table 55).
- About 23 percent of first-time freshmen TELS recipients from the 2009 cohort graduated within 4 years with or without the scholarship intact (Table 55). This is a decrease from 29 percent of the 2008 cohort.
- For the 2007 TELS first-time freshmen cohort, there is a positive relationship between students' Adjusted Gross Income (AGI) and their longitudinal renewal and graduation rates, with students with higher AGIs having higher renewal and graduation rates (Table 57).

Section 1: Program Overview

Program Overview: Key Findings

- Since the Tennessee Education Lottery Scholarship (TELS) program began operation in 2004-05, the program costs and the number of students served have more than doubled from over 40,000 students and $93 million in 2004-05 to over 100,000 students and over $311 million in 2012-13 (Table 4).
- In addition to growth in the number of students receiving scholarships and dollars spent, the program has also undergone numerous changes due to legislation (Table 2).
- At its peak in 2006-07, the maximum HOPE award covered 78 percent of average tuition and fees at a public 4-year institution, and 77 percent at a public 2-year institution. In 2013-14, the maximum HOPE award, excluding summer, covered 51 percent of the average tuition and fees at public four-year institutions, and 53 percent at two-year institutions (Table 5 & Figure 2).

Section 2: Recipient Demographics

Recipient Demographics: Key Findings

Recipient Demographics

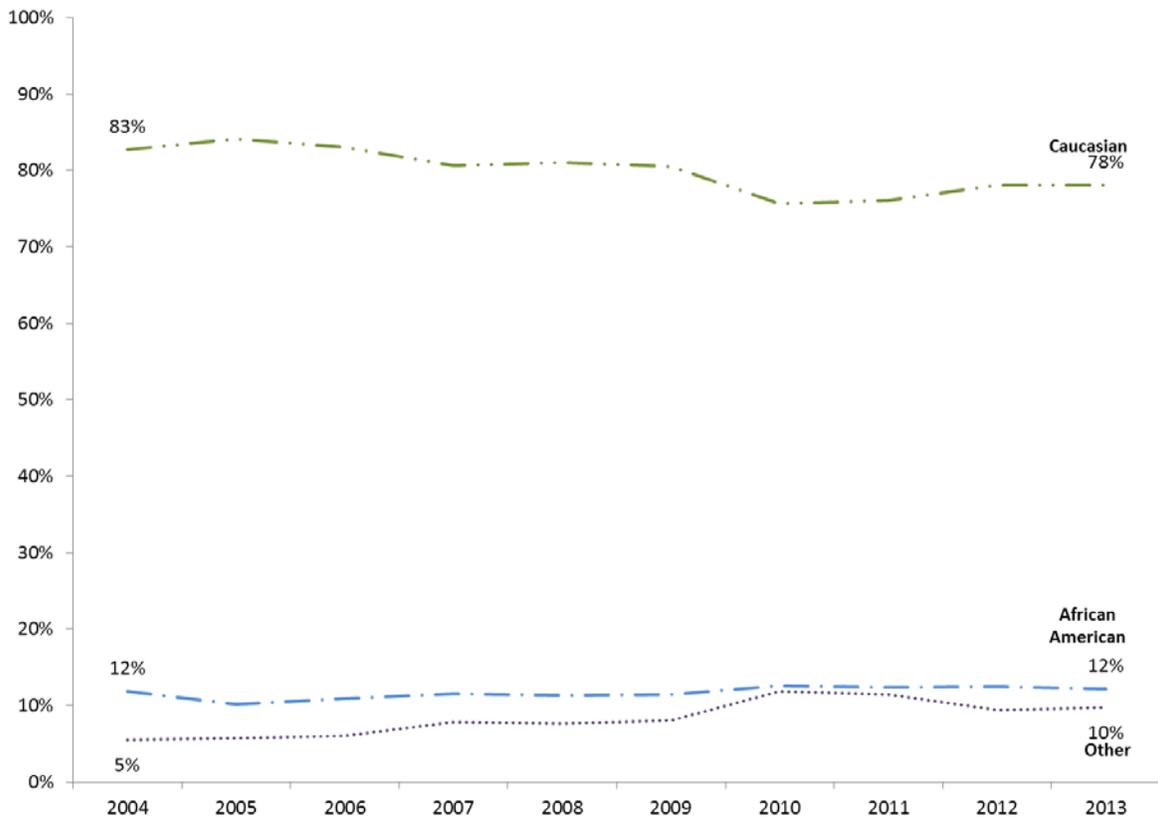

- Since 2004, there has been a shift in the family income profile of TELS first-time freshmen. While the proportion of scholarship recipients with a family adjusted gross income (AGI) below $36,000 was nearly the same in 2013 as it was in 2004, the proportion with a family AGI above $96,000 has increased by 8 percentage points over this time period (Table 12).
- After adjusting for inflation, median AGI has decreased for recipients of all core award types except GAMS, indicating the need to revisit the $36,000 AGI cut-off point for ASPIRE recipients.
- The median family AGI of TELS first-time freshmen has declined for African Americans between 2004 and 2013, and the difference between the highest (Caucasian) and lowest (African American) median family AGI by ethnicity has increased over the same period (Table 14 & Figure 8).
- Less than four percent of TELS first-time freshmen were enrolled part-time in fall 2013 (Table 19).
- The proportion of African American TELS first-time freshmen eligible for a Pell grant has increased from 59 percent in fall 2004 to 74 percent in fall 2013, compared to an increase from 27 percent to 39 percent for Caucasian students over this same time period (Table 20).
- Sixty-five percent of Caucasian TELS first-time freshmen qualify for a HOPE or ASPIRE award by meeting both eligibility criteria (3.0 high school GPA, 21 ACT), compared to 36 percent for African American first-time freshmen (Figure 10). As shown in Section 3: Scholarship Renewal, students that meet both eligibility criteria have renewal rates higher than students that meet only one eligibility criterion.

Section 3: Scholarship Renewal

Renewal Requirements

Tennessee Education Lottery Scholarship (TELS) recipients are evaluated for scholarship renewal following every 24 attempted credit hours. At the 24- and 48-hour check points, students must maintain a minimum cumulative college GPA of 2.75 to remain eligible for the scholarship. Upon attempting 72 credit hours, a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 is required to maintain scholarship eligibility. This continues at each subsequent 24 credit hour check point, up to 120 credit hours. State law permits those with 72 credit hours or above to maintain eligibility even if their cumulative GPA is less than 3.0, as long as they:

- have maintained a cumulative grade point average of at least 2.75;
- have earned a semester grade point average of at least 3.0 for the semester in which continuing eligibility was reviewed;
- have enrolled full-time in the semester when continuing eligibility was reviewed; and
- will enroll full-time in the subsequent semester.
- This is referred to as “provisional” renewal.

The TELS award is available for up to five years, baccalaureate degree attainment, or 120 cumulative attempted credit hours, whichever comes first. The 120 hour cap is applicable only to students who first received TELS in fall 2009 and after. Students in programs requiring more than 120 credit hours for completion are exempt from the 120 hour cap. These students can receive a scholarship until they have attempted the number of hours required to earn the degree, not to exceed 136 credit hours.

Scholarship Renewal: Key Findings

- Fifty-five percent of 2012 TELS first-time freshmen retained their scholarship in the fall of 2013 (Table 24 & Figure 11).
- Beginning in 2004, the UT system's one year renewal rate increased 14 percentage points from 55 percent to 69 percent in 2011. This increase coincided with an increase in freshmen ACT composite scores over this same time period. However, UT's renewal rates have decreased over the past year to 62 percent in 2012. TBR universities, community colleges, and private institutions have seen slight increases or maintained renewal rates over time (Figure 11).
- There is a positive relationship between students' AGI and one year renewal rates, indicating that students with higher AGIs tend to have higher renewal rates (Table 27).
- In fall 2013, 63 percent of fall 2012 HOPE and ASPIRE first-time freshmen that met both eligibility criteria (ACT & GPA) renewed their award for their sophomore year, compared to 43 percent that qualified on GPA alone, and 22 percent of those that qualified on ACT alone (Table 28 & Figure 13).
- Scholarship renewal rates are 15 percentage points higher for entering freshmen recipients who do not need remedial or developmental coursework (Table 29).
- Scholarship renewal rates for HOPE and ASPIRE recipients gradually increased since inception of the program, followed by a slight downturn since 2010. ACCESS recipients have the lowest renewal rates, which have decreased over time: 15 percent renewal in 2012, down from 23 percent in 2004 (Figure 12).

Section 4: College Retention for Scholarship Non-Renewals

Retention for Non-Renewals: Key Findings

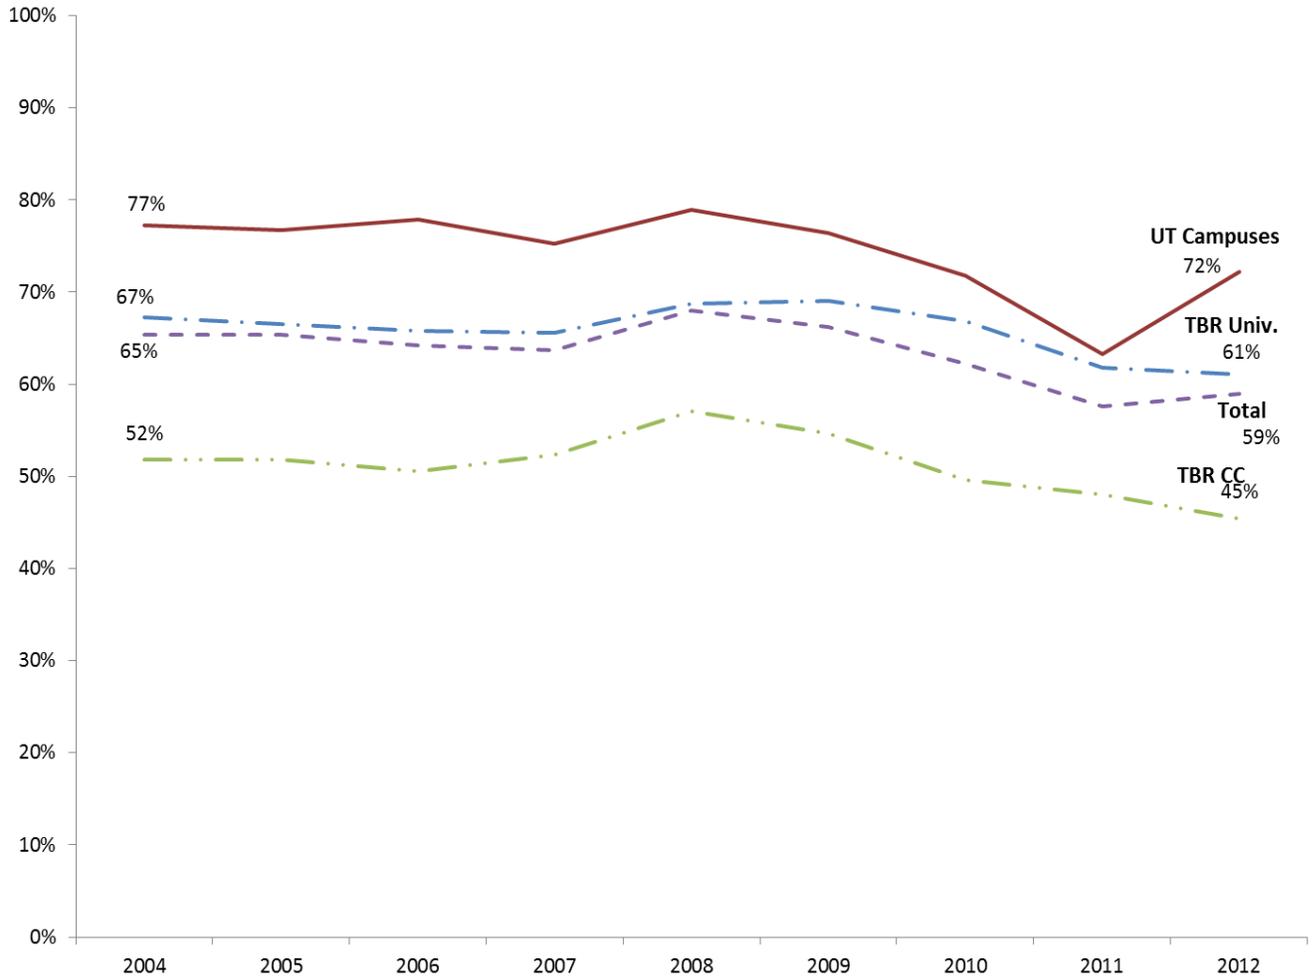

- Fifty-nine percent of fall 2012 TELS first-time freshmen that lost their award returned to college for their sophomore year (Table 35 & Figure 14).
- The percent of TELS first-time freshmen that lost their award and returned to college for their sophomore year has decreased for the fall 2012 FTF cohort, compared to the fall 2004 FTF cohort for all scholarship programs (Table 36 & Figure 15).
- In 2012, 67 percent of African American TELS first-time freshmen returned for their sophomore year after losing their TELS scholarship, compared with 58 percent of Caucasian TELS FTF (Table 38).
- Non-renewing students with a family adjusted gross income between $24,000 and $72,000 tend to return to college the following fall at about the same rate, regardless of their family income (Table 39).
- In contrast to previous years, non-renewing students who initially qualified with both a GPA and ACT score returned to college at a higher rate than students who qualified based on ACT or GPA alone. (Table 40 & Figure 16).

Section 5: 5-year Graduation Rates with TELS Intact

5-year Grad Rates w/TELS Intact: Key Findings

TELS awards are available for up to five years, baccalaureate degree attainment, or 120 cumulative attempted credit hours, whichever comes first. This section explores graduation rates during the last possible year of scholarship eligibility.

- In 2008, 34 percent of TELS first-time freshmen graduated in 5 years with scholarships intact (Table 41 & Figure 17).
- By system, 36.3 percent of the TELS first-time freshmen in 2008 graduated in 5 years with the scholarships intact at private institutions, compared to 42.1 percent at UT campuses, 32.3 percent at TBR universities, and 26 percent at community colleges (Table 41 & Figure 17).
- GAMS students' graduation rate (70 percent) with the scholarship intact is double the intact graduation rates of other scholarship programs for the fall 2008 first-time freshmen cohort (Table 42 & Figure 18).
- Almost 39 percent of female TELS first-time freshmen in 2008 graduated in 5-years with the scholarship intact compared to 28.7 percent for male TELS first-time freshmen in this cohort (Table 43).
- Thirty-six percent of 2008 Caucasian TELS first-time freshmen graduated in 5-years with the scholarship intact compared to 18.9 percent for African American TELS first-time freshmen (Table 44).
- In 2008, HOPE and ASPIRE first-time freshmen that met both eligibility criteria have a graduation rate that is nearly twice as high as TELS first-time freshmen that qualified based on their GPA or ACT score alone (Table 45 & Figure 19).
- Further disaggregation of ACT and high school GPA data indicate that although postsecondary success is influenced by a variety of factors, students with strong high school GPAs and average to below average ACT scores tend to have higher college graduation rates than students with strong ACT scores and average to below-average grades.

Note: For the 2008 cohort, the following schools have students included in the initial cohort, but completion/graduation data were not reported, which lowers the private institutions' graduation rate: Vanderbilt University, Victory University, John A. Gupton, Hiwassee College, and Lambuth University. Students with an "unknown" GPA or ACT were excluded from this table. The low number of students in the "unknown" category precipitates suppression of numerous cells and leads to misleading renewal rates. Totals will not sum correctly due to the exclusion of "unknown" students.

Section 6: 6-year College Graduation Rates for TELS Recipients

6-year Graduation Rates: Key Findings

Tennessee Education Lottery Scholarship (TELS) recipients are evaluated for scholarship renewal following every 24, 48, 72, and 96 attempted credit hours. At the 24- and 48-hour check points, students must maintain a minimum cumulative college GPA of 2.75 to remain eligible for the scholarship. Upon attempting 72 credit hours, a minimum cumulative college GPA of 3.0 is required to maintain scholarship eligibility. This continues at each subsequent 24 credit hour check point up to 120 credit hours. College retention for scholarship non-renewals is the rate at which students that lost the scholarship returned to college the following fall semester.

Graduation rates include students graduating anywhere within the public higher education system, as well as some private institutions. For purposes of this analysis, “graduated” does include students who lost the scholarship before attaining the degree.

- The 6-year graduation rate for 2007 TELS first-time freshmen, regardless of whether they kept scholarships intact, was 57.1 percent, down from 58.5 percent for the 2006 TELS FTF cohort (Table 51).
- Almost 79 percent of 2007 TELS first-time freshmen that qualified for a GAMS scholarship graduated within 6-years with or without the scholarship intact, compared with 60 percent of HOPE recipients, 46.4 percent of ASPIRE recipients, and 27.1 percent of ACCESS recipients (Table 52 & Figure 21).
- For the fall 2007 TELS first-time freshmen cohort, Caucasian students (59.2 percent) had a higher 6-year graduation rate than African American students (47.7 percent) by eleven percentage points (Table 54).
- 2007 HOPE and ASPIRE first-time freshmen’s 6-year graduation rate (with or without the scholarship intact) for students that met both eligibility criteria (66 percent) was higher than for students that met the GPA only requirement (50 percent) and students that met only the ACT criteria (32 percent) (Figure 22).

- Fall to fall cohort scholarship renewal and college retention rates have remained fairly stable across all cohorts (Table 55).
- Regardless of whether or not TELS first-time freshmen retained their TELS scholarship after their freshmen year, 79 percent returned for their sophomore year of college. Seventy percent of the original freshmen cohort returned for their junior year, and almost two-thirds (64 percent) returned for their senior year (Table 55).
- Graduation rates, with and without the scholarship intact, have remained fairly stable across all cohorts (Table 55).
- About 23 percent of first-time freshmen TELS recipients from the 2009 cohort graduated within 4 years with or without the scholarship intact (Table 55). This is a decrease from 29 percent of the 2008 cohort.
- Almost half of 2008 TELS first-time freshmen graduated within 5 years, but only 34 percent did so with the scholarship intact (Table 55 & Figure 23).
- For the 2007 TELS first-time freshmen cohort, there is a positive relationship between students’ Adjusted Gross Income (AGI) and their longitudinal renewal and graduation rates, as students with higher AGIs have higher renewal and graduation rates (Table 57).

Notes: Scholarship renewal and college retention rates are fall to fall. Retention means a student returned to a higher education institution the following fall with or without the scholarship intact. Students are only eligible to receive a TELS scholarship for up to 5 years or 120 hours, whichever event occurs first. As a result, for the table, retention rates are not calculated past the fifth year of enrollment. There are students that are still enrolled in year 6 that have not yet graduated; however, they are no longer receiving a TELS award, with the exception of lengthy degree programs. The graduation rates are inclusive (not additive), meaning that the six year graduation rate includes students that graduated within four or five years.

For the 2007 and 2008 cohorts, the following schools have students included in the initial cohort, but completion/graduation data were not reported, which lowers the private institutions' graduation rate: Vanderbilt University, Victory University, John A. Gupton, Hiwassee College, and Lambuth University.
